Already the beginning of the trouble subsequent to the war has been made manifest. Russia objects to England deciding upon the future government of Pharoh's land without the other European powers being consulted. In other words Russia has a good deal to say, and will be angry enough in defining its policy. We have before pointed out the designs of the Czar, and it is safe to say that if his ambassador's opinion goes for anything it will be decidedly anti-British. The Government, however, which suppressed the rebellion should have most to do with Egypt's destiny, and the troops will no doubt be kept where they have won signal success until the point over which diplomats wrestle has been satisfactorily settled. What to do with Arabi is the question now calling for attention, yet it is extremely improbable that he will meet a rebel's fate. He will, however, be disposed of in such a way that in future he can not cause trouble such as it has cost millions of money and many lives to bring to a climax.

In the excitement incident to last week attention may be diverted from the Methodist Union's Committee proceedings at Hamilton, but the fact remains that the meeting is the most important in many years, and that it promises to make very important advance towards the object at which four Conferences have enthusiastically arrived. There was considerable irregularity at the first session of the Committee, but at subsequent meetings harmony prevailed and progress was made towards a basis upon which all branches of the Methodist Church can agree. Fields of labour, Church government and discipline, the principles as to whether a General Superintendent is desirable, the question of ordination of lay preachers and as to whether there should be the separate order of diaconate and elder, presiding elders and just to what extent the lay delegates should prevail in the courts of the Church—all these questions will engage attention. Hurried action is not desired, and the principle of give and take must be expressed also there can be no amalgamation of different bodies into one organic whole. The action already taken is applauded by the western press.

THE EXHIBITION.

The Provincial Exhibition, which opened to-day, with the favor also of Dominion auspices so far exceeds the best of its predecessors, held here that it is a supreme local satisfaction to have regained it. The cattle show is exceedingly good, the cheese exhibit will be the finest ever held in Canada and in nearly every respect the exhibition is above the average. This, for an Eastern city, is no little pride, and we trust it will break down to some extent the bridge of Western prejudice. This much is certain—so long as Kingston can present such a display the Provincial Fair must come east or be abandoned altogether, for want of a general support.

One thing the Exhibition officials will freely grant—that the Corporation of Kingston has carried out its pledges. The buildings asked for have been provided, and where they have failed to tally with the entries received every energy has been shown towards enlarging them. To day there is room and safety for every exhibit. If the good weather last over the great days Wednesday and Thursday, the attendance will well satisfy the Provincial Board. In several departments, notably stoves and carriages, Kingston's industries come well to the front. This is a good sign, and may the show be doubled at our next great fair.

THE BYE ELECTIONS.

The elections for the eight vacant seats in the Legislative Assembly have been appointed for Wednesday, October 18th, and there will, therefore be no general election until 1883. The Tory alarm has thus been a sort of hint of the "all cry and little wood" order. MANITOBA EXHIBITS.

One cannot judge which to admire most, the quality of the Manitoba exhibits at the Dominion Exhibition or the energy with which they have been presented to the public. Not a week has passed since they left the Prairie Province, and this morning they were upon exhibition, being the first attraction and the only one likely to be complete today. This activity is characteristic of the Nor-West. It seems as if it were imbued with the invigorating air of the plains. "Manitoba First" is no mere catch cry. It is a sentiment which pervades every class, since every Manitobian is an enthusiast for his country. Public spirit is keen when it is desired to bring the Province to the front, keener, it must be confessed, than it is.

STEAMER FOUNDERS.

Ninety-Eight Lives Lost—Terrible Sufferings of the Boats—Crews—The Lost.

Bailey Sound, Sept. 17.—Captain A. M. McGregor reached here yesterday by tug from Owen Sound, and reported the wreckage of a steamer off the Limestone Islands. He picked up and brought with him a trunk, a door, and a pillow slip, marked steamer "Asia." About 10 o'clock this morning a boat reached here from Point au Barre, about 35 miles distant, bringing Mr. D. A. Tinkiss, of Manitowaning, and Miss Christy Ann Morrison, from near Owen Sound, supposed to be the only two survivors of the ill-fated steamer.

A SURVIVOR'S STATEMENT.

Mr. Tinkiss makes the following statement. I went aboard the Asia at Owen Sound, midnight, Wednesday. The steamer was crowded, many passengers lying on the sofas and floor. All went well until about 11 o'clock on Thursday morning, when the storm struck us. Dishes and chairs were flying in every direction. We left the cabin and found difficulty in getting on deck. I took a life preserver and put it on. The boat went into the trough of the sea and would not hold water. She rolled over, and I was thrown into the water, and found myself hanging by my hands. I was in the trough for about twenty minutes when she was struck by a heavy sea and founded, going down with the engine working about half past eleven. The Asia was making for French River, and had men, horses, and lumbermen's supplies for the shanties there.

THE BOATS LOWERED.

I saw three boats lowered. I was in the first boat, and about 100 feet wide with me at first. There was no oil to till the boat was unloaded and turned over. Two parts were hanging on to my life preserver, which got displaced and I threw it off. I then left the boat and swam to the captain's boat, which was near by, and asked Mr. John McDonald, the purser, to help me in. He said it was but little use, but gave me his hand. When I got in there were eighteen in the captain's boat, and by that time there was a large number in and clinging to the boat I had left. I know nothing of the third boat. Our boat rolled over, and I remember raising poor John McDonald all the few minutes after he helped me. People were hanging on to the spars and other parts of the wreck.

A MUCH SURPRISED PARTY.

Alexandria, Sept. 18.—This morning the natives around Kafir Zayat furiously attacked a train containing British soldiers and some Egyptian officers under the impression that Arabi was a ruse and that the real attack would be on Kafir el-Dwar. The Sultan recently had communication with Arabi through Damietta. It is believed that the resistance of the Commander of that place originated from Stamboul.

DISARMING PROCESSION.

Alexandria, Sept. 19.—The garrison at Alexandria marched out last evening. The entire regiment with arms removed marched to join Abdallah Paschal at Damietta. The rest of the garrison, four or six thousand, arrived at Kafir el-Dwar at noon, disarmed, and the men dismissed to their homes. The officers were detained. In one place the mob smashed the windows of some inhabitants who illuminated upon the news from Tel-el-Kebir.

NOTES AND COMMENTS.

The Household Cavalry will be soon sent to Egypt. It is believed here that Arabi Paschal will be sent to England.

Suleiman Bey, who is supposed to have instigated the outraging of Alexandria, has been captured.

Throughout the campaign the Egyptians have had a complete system of spies in Alexandria and Damietta.

The Egyptian army seems to be decided on it. It will be at once disbanded, and the Council of Ministers are preparing a decree to that effect.

ESCAPE IN TORONTO.

Miss Morrison and Mr. Tinkiss are being well cared for here, and Dr. Potts thinks neither will suffer materially from their long exposure. There were very probably about one hundred on board the "Asia."
