THE FOLLOWING ADDRESS. My Lord-When we, the Catholics of Wolfe Island, after a long and anxious expectation heard our worthy and beloved pastor announce that Your Lordship was about to honour us with a visit and that we should offer you an address of welcome our hearts at once warmly responded, but we felt at the same time that our words were inadequate to express in a proper manner the respect the esteem and the reverence with which we should offer it. Still we resolved to show as well as we were able our appreciation of a guest so learner and noble and so worthy of our
