MAJOR HERBERT'S DEATH.

It Occurred at Cairo on the 1st--A History Reviewed--The Deceased's Military Career.

With unfeigned sorrow we announce the death, in Egypt, of Major Herbert, "B" Battery. The sad news shocked his numerous friends in this city.

Major Herbert lives but in memory. As a citizen we mourn his loss. As a soldier and a man his demise is the more to be lamented.

The Major was ordered home, but Major Herbert was so desirous of doing some foreign service that he was transferred to "N" Battery, 2nd Brigade R.A., then camped on the outskirts of Cairo.

Here he was prostrated by the fatal fever. His illness could not have been of long duration. He last letters to late comrades in "B" Battery were of an inspiring character.

Next "The Governor General and Princess Louise" Received with applause and drank in bumpers.

"The Arduous, Navy and Volunteers" was offered by Mr. Young in a lively speech. He had himself been a full private in the rear rank of a volunteer corps, and he remained in the service nine or ten years longer might have been advanced to the position of corporal.

Col. Montreuil, Commandant of "B" Battery, replied. He made mention of the recent Egyptian war, and spoke pointedly of the manner in which the surgeons of the army did their work.

Major Short said in no part of the civilized world could soldiers be turned out in better form than in Canada.

Mr. J. Cryan toasted the "City of Kingston." Received with cheers.

Mr. G. S. McGehee said he honored the faculty, a remark that drew forth loud cheers. The professors were unequalled in skill in Canada.

Dr. M. Sullivan thought there had been a dislocation, the right hand had been put in the wrong place. He made a feeling reference to the late Dr. Dickson, and said the respect paid to him by postponing the dinner was very fitting.

Dr. Dupuis followed with a very interesting speech, dealing with many practical subjects. The Dr. always talks well.

Mr. H. J. Emery toasted "Queen's University," claiming that it was second to none in the country as an educational institution. The boys sang "Lisoria" with enthusiasm.

Prof. Marshall received an ovation as he arose. He referred feelingly to the cordiality of the students of Queen's, and it was particularly pleasing to him to be welcomed by the students of the Medical College. The profession of medicine was a noble one and should receive the closest attention of those pursuing it.

Dr. Clark, of Rockwood Asylum, responded on behalf of Toronto University, which he now looked upon as the big sister of Queen's.
