H. M. Deroche, M.P.P., speaking the Ontario Legislature on Monday evening on the Streams' Bill, said : The Mississippi River ran through his riding. and Mr. McLaren's improvements were in the north part of Addington. He was up there last summer and heard it stated that this very year Mr. Caldwell brought down a large quantity of lumber, 60,000 saw logs, it was said, without using Mr. McLaren's improve ments at all, and when Mr. McLaren heard this his foreman offered Mr Caldwell the use of the improvements. but Mr. Caldwell declined, stating that he would show the people of this country that the river could be used at times independently of Mr. McLaren.

J. R. Stratten, preprietor of the Peter bero Examiner, is an applicant for the Registrarship of the County of Peterboro made vacant by the death of Col. Haul tain. In all probability he will be the appointee, for apart from his signal party service, the choice would be popular and there is not a question of his perfect fit ness for the place. Mr. Stratton belongs to a class of journalists who are constant ly laying their fellow-townsmen and their party under an obligation, though that obligation may of times be imperfect ly acknowledged. They do not rest upon the rafe position that established journals usually occupy, but are ambitious and enterprising, ever looking forward to do ing something better, even if it den't pay as well. The Examiner is a happy evidence of steady and great improvement. as the result of a stirring head, while its influence in a public and party sense has increased in proportion. We hope Mr. Stratton as a reward will have the new offering of loaves and fishes for himself years, but we are conscious of the fact be considered dependent upon the bounty of any one or any organization and who are yet devoid of the necessaries of life. There has been so much imposition that the benevolence of our citizens and charitable societies is being carefully dispensed. Grants are not made on the mere application of any person, no matter how indigent he may appear to be, but only after an enquiry has been made into circumstances of the individual and his manner of living. Encouragement three should not be given to professional panperism, and the great safeguard against it is that suggested by us a few days ago. Our friends should not give to callers at their houses. Those who can spare of their means to worthy objects should contribute to the funds of the Associations which are known to exercise discretion in the bestowment of their favours. There are poor and needy, and they would not be such if they could help it. There are some without wood and fuel. These should be kindly remenbered by the wealthy at this Christmas

PRESERVATION OF LIFE.

We are glad that our observations have led some people to seriously pouder over the best means of preserving life and of guarding against the dangers which so many unnecessarily brave. We business with the Express from Lyndare reminded by a valued correspondent of the Act passed by the Ontario Govern ment for the protection of fish and game within certain seasons, and it is asked If the Legislature can enforce such a law would it be upreasonable to expect the same authority to pass an enactment forbidding people to skate or walk upon the ice between dases which may be varied according to the severity of the season and dictated by the local author rities? We think the idea not at all onreasonable; less important suggestionhave been embodied in the measures to which effect was given at the last and preceding sessions of Parliament. An other thought is advanced, and its adoption depends more upon the popularity with which it is received by the people than by any action of the Legislature. It is this : That even when the ice is believed to be strong belt life preservers should be carried by those crossing it. It is pointed out that had Speucer and Robinson carried these belts instead of sticks they would have been enabled to float until assistance reache them. Skaters, of course, do not fee! justified is purchasing life preservers which they can only use for a few days. These who are exposed to dangers in Spring and Fall, not as a matter of pleasure but in pursuance of business engagements, are open to accept or repeat the suggestion, but it is worthy of a passing thought

Return of Drs. Lavell and Sullivan from Montreal-Their Speeches at McGill's Dinner.

Drs. Lavell and Sullivan, of the Royal College of Physicians and Surgeous, have returned from Montreal, where they attended the dinner in connection with the medical department of McGill College. We have already stated why these gentlemen went so far as to acknowledge the courtesies of a sister institution-to express gratitude for the sympathy of McGill's Faculty with that of the Royal College in their late difficulty with the students anent co-education. Both doctors say they were warmly received, and their sentiments, express ed in their speeches, loudly applauded.

during the past fifteen years had commanded the respect of all who appreciate medical science, and he hoped nothing would occur in the future to the teaching of medicine in this country. They had now nine medical schools-four in Ontario, five in Quebec and one in the Maritime Provinces. These were all self sustaining, still there was room for improvement, and he hoped the schools would acquire such wealth as to enable them to carry on the work of medical education. He concluded by expressing a hope that the students would, after they had graduat ed, take up their life work in such a manner as to merit the confidence universities. He spoke of the progress which the Royal College had made in ate years, and said that in an evil hour some ladies had entered it. Usually trouble came with the ladies, and some nttle trouble came to the College through them. The trouble was not expected. None could be kinder than the temale students, but they thought at one We are given by the officers of bene time that the boys were too affectionvolcut societies an insight into some of the (Laughter) Such was not the the suffering that prevails among the case, however. TORONTO LETTER.

Legislative Proceedings Success New Speakers-Our Member's Absence-The Globe, &c.

The opening of the Legislature last week is of course the important event. The Speech from the Throne is still under the consideration of the House. During the debate we have heard several of the new members. Mr. Balfour, who moved the address, is a newspaper man, the second disciple of the quill in the House. He is a young man who will doubtless make his mark in the Assembly, a fluent and easy speaker. Quickwi'ted and ready in debate, energetic and well-informed, he adds another to the list of good supporters of the Administration. The seconder, Mr. Drury, of East Simcoe, is favourably known to the farmers of Ontario. A man of thoughtful views and moderate language, he will give his confidence only to Dr. Lavell said the Dominion swed a Government of houest, patriotic men. a great deal to the Medical Universi-Mr. O'Connor, South Brace, speaks in a ties, and the Province of Quebec a great calm, convincing way and evidently deal to MeGill University. In Ontario relies more on truth and facts plainly the progress made in medical education put, than on rheterical flights of inauguration, such for instance, as the late member for Glengarry was wont to indulge in, whose place appears to have been afforted to Mr. Madill, the member for North Ontario. Mr. Bettes, mar that prosperity which had attended | the member for Muskoka, secured an attentive hearing to the many good points be made. His style, divested as it will be no doubt shortly of something of the tone and action of an exhorter, will be effective. Mr. Deroche deliver ed a telling speech late last night, ex pressing the opinion that although Addington went Conservative in June he could again carry it for Mr. Mowat. His relation of the fact that this year Mr saldwell had floated timber down the Mississippi which runs through part of Addington, without using improvements at all, was greeted with loud heers. This proves the stream navigable at times and knocks away the argument that but for Mr. McLaren's improvements the river would be useless. Mr. Metcalfe, the member for Kingston, feeling which existed between the two was present at the opening, but not | since. His little child is quite ill at ome and this accounts for his absence this week. Mr. Pardee has already given notice of his intention to introduce a bill for the public protection on rivers, streams and creeks. It is the same bill as that passed last session. The Commissioner of Crown Lands devered a telling speech this afternoon. Anyone who wishes to gauge the policy of the Opposition and contrast it with that of the Government had better read Mr. Pardee's masterly and authoritative delivery. The debate will likely close to-night. The adjournment for the holidays will last from Thursday till

THE "GLOBS" AND ITS POLICY.

The second important event, and one which has created a decided sensation, is the deposition of Mr. Gordon Brown from the controlling position on the Glube, which he has held since his brother's death. Mr. Brown Las continged to "run" the paper in the old groves since 1880 rather than allowing it to harmonize with Mr. Blake, the leader of the Liberal party for the Dominion. That Mr. Blake cannot think on all subjects as Mr. Mackenzie or the attended the gathering. He concluded late Senator Brown would think did by hoping that the good feeling which they still lead the party is patent, but as a prominent writer says although the leader was changed the editor was not. The change has now taken place and the Globe will not suffer. It is needless to say that Mr. Gordon Brown stood, by virtue of his appearance and ability, at the head of the Canadian journalism. There was no comparison between him and any other editor in the country. But as he ceased to represent fully the views of the Liberal party he ceased to be editor. His successor has not been named nor will he for some little time. It is quite absurd to connect the name The Archbishopric of Canterbury has of Mr. Johnston, one of the leader writers, with the vacancy. In the meantime the editorial page will be intelligently directed by Mr. Hawke, the news editor, a journalist thoroughly acquainted with the various phases of Canadian

MEDICAL COLLEGE

The Editor, British Whig. DEAR SIR. - Some two or three years ago, when the Royal College of Physichans and Surgeons of Kingssen epened its doors to females for the study of medicine, entertaining as I did very strong objections to such a course, I venbeen asleep. I was behind the times, in fact that I was stranded upon the rocks of Storrington, and that it was only a stray newspaper that found me out. Well, Sir, the same stray newspaper tells me that my predictions are being verified, and I hope my friends in Michigan will note the fact. I am glad to learn that the medical students have awakened to a sense of their duty to that the doors of the College shall be closed to females. R. J. DARRAGH. I remain, &c.,

FIRE AT PEMBROKE.

Pembroke, Out., Dec. 20.-A fire broke out at four o'clock this a.m. in the Ottawa Hotel. The whole building was in a very few minutes enveloped in flames. The house was well filled with guests, servants, &c., whose frantic endeavours to escape, mingled with loud and pitiful appeals from the women, made the spectacle a serious one. No lives are reported lost, although there were very parrow escapes, many of the guests having to jump from the third story windows. The Mayor telegraphed to Mr. Spencer, of the C.P.R., Ottawa, asking for a train to be despatched to Renfrew to procure a fire engine and help. The prompt manner in which the request was complied with reflects great credit on the officials. It was, however, found by six e'clock that the help telegraphed for would not be required, as the fire was Citizens' Committee being formed the | well under control and the train with the fire engine was stopped just as they were about leaving Rentrew.
