Arch. McFaul, Proprietor,

LATE R. A. IRWIN.

THE House has been lately refitted and refurnished throughout, possesses superior accommodation for the travelling public. The management of the Proprietor whose experience has extended several years, will in no small degree add to the comfort and convenience of guests.

The commodious and well lighted Sample Rooms attached afford excellent accommodation for the requirements of Commercial men.

The Bar will at all times be supplied with choicest Liquors and Cigars. The central location of the city, together with the moderate rates charged, will, I trust, secure a large share of public patronage.

T. Rigney's Livery, is in connection with the Hotel, where good horses and vehicles are always on hand at lowest rates.

The Best Field

FOR

EMIGRANTS.

An immense area of Railroad and Government Lands, of great fertility, within easy reach of permanent market, at extremely low prices, is now offered for sale in Eastern Oregon and Eastern Washington Territory.

These lands form part of the GRAIN BELT of the Pacific Slope, and are within an average distance of 200 to 300 miles from Portland, where steamships and sailing vessels are directly loaded FOR ALL PARTS OF THE WORLD.

Grain at Portland, Oregon, commands a price equal to that obtained in Chicago.

The early completion of the Northern Pacific R. R. is now assured and guarantee to settlers cheap and quick transportation and good markets, both East and West. The opening of this new overland line to the Pacific, together with the construction of the network of 500 miles of railroad by the O. R. & N. Co. in the valleys of the great Columbia and its principal tributaries, renders certain a rapid increase in the value of the lands now open to purchase and pre-emption. There is every indication of an enormous movement of population to the Columbia River region in the immediate future.

Lands show an average yield of 40 Bushels of Wheat per acre. No Failure of crops ever known.

Railroad Lands offered at the uniform rate of $2.50 an Acre.

The GREATEST LIVING AUTHORS such as Prof. Max Muller, Rt. Hon. W. E. Gladstone, Jas. A. Froude, Prof. Huxley, R. A. Proctor, Edw. A. Freeman, Prof. Tyndall, Dr. W. B. Carpenter, Frances Power Cobbe, Prof. Goldwin Smith, The Duke of Argyll, Wm. Black, Miss Thackeray, Mrs. Mulock-Craik, George MacDonald, Mrs Oliphant, Jean Ingelow, Thos. Hardy, Matthew Arnold, Henry Kingley, W. W. Story, Turguenief, Carlyle, Ruskin, Tennyson, Browning, and many others, are represented in the pages of

Littell's Living Age.

In 1881 THE LIVING AGE enters upon its thirty-eighth year, admittedly unrivalled and continuously successful. During the year it will furnish to its readers the productions of the most eminent authors, abovenamed and many others, embracing the choicest Serial and Short Stories by the Leading Foreign Novelists, and an amount

Unapproached by any other Periodical in the world, of the most valuable Literary and Scientific matter of the day, from the pens of the foremost Essayists, Scientists, Critics, Discoverers, and Editors, representing every department of Knowledge and Progress.

THE LIVING AGE is a weekly magazine giving more than

Three and a Quarter Thousand double-column octavo pages of reading matter yearly. It presents in an inexpensive form, considering its great amount of matter, with freshness, owing to its weekly issue, and with a satisfactory completeness by no other publication, the best Essays, Reviews, Criticisms, Tales, Sketches of Travel and Discovery, Poetry, Scientific Biographical, Historical and Political Information, from the entire body of Foreign Periodical Literature.

It is therefore invaluable to every American reader, as the only satisfactorily fresh and complete compilation of an indispensable current literature,—indispensable because it embraces the productions of the

ABLEST LIVING WRITERS.

"In no other form can so much thoroughly good reading be got for so little money; in no other form can so much instruction and entertainment be got in so small a space."—Philadelphia Times.

"There is no other publication like it. It is known and read by all who desire to keep abreast with the cultivated thought of the English-speaking world."—Episcopal Register, Philadelphia.

"It reproduces so fully the choicest articles from the foreign magazines, that one who takes it does not feel the need of anything else in the way of foreign periodical literature."—The Advance, Chicago.

"Its frequent issue and ample space enable it to give all that the very ablest of living writers furnish to periodical literature on science, history, biography, philosophy, poetry, theology, politics and criticism, and to add to this the full complement of the best that there is in fiction."—The Interior, Chicago.

"Gives the best of all at the price of one."—New York Independent.

"Teems with the choicest literature of the day."—New York Tribune.

"It is, by all odds, the best eclectic published."—Southern Churchman.

"It enables the reader at trifling expense, considering the quantity and quality of the reading furnished, to keep pace with the best thought and literary work of our time."—Christian Union, New York.

"One cannot read everything. . . No man will be behind the literature of the times who reads THE LIVING AGE."—Zion's Herald, Boston.

"We know of no investment of eight dollars, in the world of literature, that will yield equal returns."—The Presbyterian, Philadelphia.

"It has no rival."—New York Evening Post.

Published weekly at $8.00 per year, free of postage.

COLLEGE POETRY.

Oh, she wears a sealskin sacque
When it snows,
And her stunning suit is black
As a crow's;
Short, and thinks it is a pity.
Charming, jolly, wise and witty,
Has a retrousse—so pretty
Little nose.

In her basket phaeton
When it blows,
With her striking glasses on
Out she goes.
And she's just as sweet as stately,
And she sits there so sedately,
With her cheeks and lips so greatly
Like a rose.

She plays Chopin, Liszt and Spohr
For her beaux,
And she speaks of 'Pinafore,'
Heaven knows!
With a naughty 'D' and 'Never!'
But she's awful nice and clever;
If she liked me, I'd endeavor
To propose.

METHODIST MISSIONS.

Anniversary Missionary Sermons of Revs. Dr. Sutherland and Mr. German.

Yesterday special anniversary missionary sermons were preached in the C. M. Churches, the attendance and collections being large on all occasions.

QUEEN ST. CHURCH.

In the morning Rev. Dr. Sutherland discoursed, in a most excellent manner, upon the thoughts suggested in the first five verses of Matthew [xvii], the transfiguration of Christ, which marked a turning point in His person and teaching. Up to this He appeared simply as a benefactor, and even His most intimate disciples had not a higher conception of His person and work than that expressed by Nicodemus, "We know thou art a teacher come from God." The Saviour did not need the information which His question put to the disciples seemed to call for, "Whom say ye that I am?" but it was designed to bring out the faith of the disciples, and to fix in their minds a distinct conception at once of the dignity and greatness of His work. It was pointed out that the first important feature of the text was the revelation of Christ's glory. It had already been revealed by faith, but now it was revealed by sight, and in such a way as to linger in the memory of the disciples and be to them a source of strength in the dark hours to come. The revelation took place, too, at an important time—six days after He had shown unto His disciples that He would suffer many things and be rejected and crucified. There was a suggestive lesson to be gathered from the arrangement: that God never suffers trial to come to His people

WITHOUT SOME SPECIAL GRACE

to prepare them for it. The disciples had their trials, but there must have lingered in the memory of Peter, James and John that exceptional moment when they beheld His glory and when His face did shine as the sun. The transition took place, also, under impressive circumstances, in an isolated place, probably on the summit of Mount Hermon, and in the night time. In the solitude of this place, surrounded only by the quiet of the mountain fastnesses, above them but the bending heavens and the watching stars, Jesus Christ was transfigured. What is the practical teaching of this suggestive portion of history? That to have the fullest communion and fellowship with Christ we must enter the closet and shut the door. It is to be observed furthermore that it was while He prayed that the fashion of His countenance was altered. We cannot fail to note that in these times almost every doctrine is controverted and denied, and none more frequently than the doctrine of prayer and answer to prayer. Some say: The laws of nature are inseparable, the action of nature is unchangeable, and can we suppose that supplications and prayer can affect them or influence what is termed the physical universe? Some think that answer to prayer is something which interferes with the divine immutability. The idea of prayer changing the

PLANS AND PURPOSES OF GOD

would seem to be preposterous in the highest degree possible. We are told sometimes, perhaps truthfully, that in the physical universe there is something which man call force; and that there are certain varieties of it, such as heat, light, magnetism and electricity, that the whole of them are mutually convertible, but that they never increase nor diminish in the slightest degree. He did not care to dispute the statement, supported as it is by considerable evidence. But let us go further. Suppose that a new force should come into play; what would be the result? It is not at all improbable that at first there would be considerable disturbance, but nature is wonderfully flexible and adapts itself to circumstances, and in time the new force would fall into regular line and work harmoniously. What has all this to do with prayer? it may be asked. He claimed that prayer is a force in the universe just as light and heat and eternity and magnetism are, but it takes a higher sphere. It has interfered with the other forces, has caused a disturbance, but is now working out the grand plans and purposes of Almighty God. It seems good for God to do that for men in answer to prayer which He does not seem disposed to do otherwise. Illusion was made to the competency of the witnesses in whose presence the transfiguration of Christ took place, not only Peter, James and John, His most trusty and best beloved disciples, but of Moses and Elias, witnesses from heaven, the representatives of the law and of the prophecy which the Saviour came to fulfil. The teachings of the whole event show to us some of the blessed results of communion with God. God gives us satisfactory evidence of the divinity of Jesus Christ. The evidence conveyed by the heavenly visitants is most magnificent. The appearance of these men teach us that the

DEPARTED SAINTS LIVE STILL.

Scripture knows nothing of the dark creed of the Atheist that death is an eternal sleep. It knows nothing of the semi-infidel creed that death is sleep from the time the body enters the grave until resurrection morning. The truth here illustrated is that of perpetual life. All those who have passed beyond the veil have not ceased to be, but are living still. We sit beside the bed side of the sick, with deep anguish we bow over the couch of the dying, and when the eyes have closed and the breath has departed we say sadly, sometimes almost bitterly, "Alas; they are dead." They are not dead; they are living still, not in the land of the dead but in the land of the living and enjoying the portion of those who sleep in Christ. We watch a friend departing from the doorway, and as he proceeds further away his form seems to change. Still further off he appears to be smaller and fainter than before. We see him ascend the hill, and as he reaches the summit for a little while his figure appears to be pencilled on the distant sky. By and bye he recedes and sinks and finally passes from sight. Such is our view of the matter. To the departed one, our doorway becomes the ... object, our form that which becomes shadowy. And so as we

SIT BESIDE THE DYING

we are perhaps asked, in a dreamy way, why we have put out the light! We look into their eyes and we think they are dying while to them we are dying, the world and its pleasures and riches are dying, and they are passing on to find other lives beyond. Then the text teaches us that death does not interfere with much less destroy our personal identity. Moses and Elias were not shadowy forms to the disciples. A point raised in this connection had troubled some people a great deal. The doctrine of the resurrection. Such a phrase does not occur in Scripture. There will be found reference to the resurrection of the dead from the dead, of the just and the unjust, but not of the body. Though the body is subject to much change, to final corruption and a probable scatterment in dust, the bible teaches that raised from the dead we shall not be somebody else or something else. Nor will we be able by any process to cut ourselves off from the history of the past. Realizing this tremendous fact it should be ours, in seeking eternal rest, to find out how to

HARMONIZE OUR PAST RECORDS

with our present condition and the requirements of the divine law. Furthermore we find that those admitted to the other world retain an interest in Christ's work here. Moses and Elias spoke of Christ's decease and what it should accomplish at Jerusalem. Still further those who have passed away will be known again. Sometimes whole volumes have been written to prove that hereafter we shall know the loved ones now departed. Such seems to be a waste of time. He (Dr. S.) could not see how there could be a moment's doubt on this point. We knew them here; we shall know there, and such a circumstance serves to attract our feelings and thoughts heavenward. The preacher closed by alluding to the nearness of the future. We are separated from the unknown as by a thin veil, which even the touch of an insect or a breath of infected atmosphere is likely to part, ushering us into the presence of the angels and of God, and if it is a blessed thing to be where Jesus is how unspeakably blessed must it be to serve him for eternity.

EVENING SERVICE.

The missionary sermon in Queen St. Church last evening was delivered by Rev. J. F. German, of Picton. His text was—

"Let us hear the conclusion of the whole matter: Fear God and keep His commandments, for this is the whole duty of man."—Ecclesiastes xii. 13.

The writer of this book had been discussing the subject of man's chief good and had become possessed of the truth that neither man's works nor possessions were sufficient to save the soul. He summed the whole matter up by declaring that man's chief good was fear of God and keeping His commandments. In the text were two leading thoughts:

1. The duty enjoined on man.
2. The reason why such duty is enjoined.

The first duty is to fear God, not the slavish dread of God but a fear which is a loving reverence of Him. For what God is, man should fear him; for what God has done for man He should be loved. Keeping God's commandments is necessary, but not only the ten commandments. There are numerous other laws to be observed. There are the physical, parental, social, civil, intellectual and moral laws to be obeyed. To keep these we must understand them. The speaker next discussed the great purposes which God had in view in creating man. There are three tests to be applied to all matters pertaining to the ultimate destiny of man: (1) a destiny open to all mankind, no restrictions whatever; (2) a destiny that will employ all man's powers and faculties, and (3) a destiny that will embrace all the moments of a man's life. He applied pleasure to this test and demonstrated that it is not applicable. So with riches, honor, acquisition of knowledge, and all things that begin and end in this life. A test was made of the bible. Two relations are necessary, one for this life the other for the life to come. The great purpose of man is to glorify God and develope a proper moral character. It is not necessary, in endeavouring to do right, to live in cloistered walls or continually sing psalms. The preacher rebuked fault finding Christians who are continually telling of the great sacrifices they are making to serve God. If any person can have enjoyment it is in being a Christian. In conclusion he urged his hearers to examine themselves and see if they were living as God would have them, for as we sow so shall we reap.

SYDENHAM ST. CHURCH.

In the morning Rev. Mr. German, of Picton, preached very effectively, and in the evening Rev. Dr. Sutherland occupied the pulpit and gave a most admirable sermon, (from Acts xix.—13, 14, 15, 16 and 17) respecting the casting out of devils at Ephesus. The text narrated that certain vagabond Jews, exorcists, undertook to call over them that had evil spirits the name of the Lord Jesus, saying, "We adjure you by Jesus, whom Paul preacheth," but that the men in whom the evil spirit was not knowing them leaped on them, and prevailed against them, so that they fled out the house naked and wounded. Having given an elaborate description of the geographical position of Ephesus, the magnificent temple of Diana, the image which it contained, and the then popularity of sorcery, Dr. Sutherland proceeded to notice that these facts threw some light upon the character of the miracles which Saint Paul wrought. The apostles were not given power to work miracles at will, but according to needs and circumstances. At Ephesus they were brought face to face with magicians, and confused them just as Moses and Aaron had encountered and confused the magicians and sorcerers long centuries before in Egypt. Reference was made to the unsuccessful attempt of the Jews to imitate Paul in exorcising the evil spirits in the name of Jesus, and here stood out one of the grandest lessons of inspiration—overlooked and misunderstood at the present day—that whom God employs as instruments for the accomplishment of His purposes must be

IN PERFECT HARMONY

with His spirit and plans. Only when spoken by holy lips can the name above all names have power; upon unholy lips it loses its vitality and only confusion comes upon those who invoke it. Proceeding the Dr. remarked that to-day, as in the past, Christianity is brought face to face with men possessed of devils. Evil spirits are at work to-day, operating in a variety of ways. Satanic power is attacking the Church in three ways. First, in the hopeless corruptions of heathendom, of the extent and degradation of which we can have no conception, which is without a redeeming element, without a principle giving promise of improvement. If it has changed any in the course of centuries
