LENTEN SERVICES at St. James' Church 7.30 p.m.

Lecture by Principal Grant at Convocation Hall—8 p.m.

CITY AND VICINITY.

PROBABILITIES.—Winds shifting to north or west, cloudy weather with a continued snow storm to-day in eastern Ontario, and light snow in western, lower temperature.

A COLLEGE CASE.—The body of Gideon Lane will be handed over to the Professor of Anatomy, Medical College. The head of the deceased will be carefully examined.

A MEETING was held in Toronto on Wednesday night to take steps to tender the Hon. Edward Blake a banquet on his return from Ottawa at the close of the session.

GREAT CARPET SALE.—We call attention to-day to Mr. Felix Shaw's seasonable offering of carpets. Spring house furnishers should take a look at the fine show made by the old Glasgow Warehouse.

LECTURE.—This evening Rev. Principal Grant lectures in Convocation Hall, on "A Prophet of the Nineteenth Century," under the auspices of the Alma Mater Society. Notwithstanding the stormy weather the attendance should be good.

FIZZONE CASE.—Some ten witnesses were examined by the Military Commission in Belleville, yesterday, and as a result it is understood that Lt.-Col. Strambenzie will recommend the Government to pay Sergt. Fizzone a reasonable sum for the permanent injuries he has received.

HOUSE OF INDUSTRY.—The collectors are requested to close their books before Monday evening next and report to the Secretary-Treasurer, Mr. Isaac Simpson, in order that all eligible subscribers may be placed on the rolls for the meeting of Thursday next, when directors are to be elected.

COURT OF CHANCERY.—The case of Daly v. Daly was before the Court of Chancery in Toronto on Wednesday. A decree was granted for the payment of amount now due in respect of plaintiff's annuity and growing payments thereof, with costs of suit, in default the land to be sold to realize the same.

EXCURSION TO THE WEST.—Yesterday the train composed of ten passenger coaches and ten freight cars, carrying travellers to Manitoba and Dakota at excursion rates, passed here. A number of emigrants were taken aboard at Kingston. They had tickets for the far west, procured from Folger & Hanley.

THE ICE.—The ice at present in the harbor is in an excellent condition, the crossing between here and Cape Vincent as well as to the islands being the best of the season. There is no prospect of an immediate break up. It will require a prolonged thaw to honeycomb the ice and produce dissolution. It is from 20 to 30 inches in thickness.

POLICE COURT.—A charge of embezzlement was brought against a young man. It was claimed in the information, that he had pocketed money, not his own. The case was remanded for a week, bail being accepted to the extent of $400 from the young man himself and two sureties of $200 each. A lady citizen, for an infraction of snow by-law, had her case adjourned for three days.

PRICE OF HAY.—Hay is valued at from $7 to $8 per ton. A farmer who is said to have upwards of 300 tons of it has been badly fooled. When hay was advancing in price he refused $10 per ton for it, and has now either to hold it over for sometime or sell it at a reduced figure. A contract was made with Mr. Jas. Swift to transport three hundred tons of hay from points on the Rideau to Cape Vincent.

MALT HOUSES.—There is a movement now among the farmers of Prince Edward county for the establishment of a malt house in Picton. Rev. Joseph Young, of this city, writes to a Picton paper in disapproval of such a thing. He thinks there is plenty of drunkenness already. Mr. Young will not, of course, say that a malt house necessarily causes drunkenness in itself. There must be a distillery in connection with it in order to produce whiskey. We have a malt house in this city but drunkenness is not increased thereby.

Important Events.

If the snow storm of to-day is a general one it will sadly interfere with the success of President Garfield's inauguration at Washington and Champion Hanlan's reception at Toronto. The former event must take place pursuant to announcement, but the latter may be postponed for more auspicious weather. If not the out-door portion of the demonstration at least is doomed to certain failure.

A PUBLIC LOSS.

Death of Mr. R. McConnell, Reeve of Loughboro Central Carver.

If one had been asked to choose the most robust and healthy looking of the County Councillors lately in session here, he would have pointed out Robert McConnell, Reeve of Loughboro. Therefore to his friends in Kingston the announcement of his death yesterday was a mournful surprise. Mr. McConnell had been ailing for two weeks with an affection of the kidney, but not alarmingly so until this week. His loss to the township of Loughboro will be felt, for he has for years been an energetic and prudent member of its Township Council, recognized by his promotion to the deputy reeveship, and then to the reeveship in 1880, being also re-elected in January of this year to the latter position. In the County Council he was not a frequent speaker, but his opinion was valued and when he gave it he was attentively heard. Placed upon the most important committees and being a trustee of the Sydenham High School, he did Frontenac a service annually only second to that rendered his own township. Privately the deceased was worthy of the high regard which first won for him public distinction, and a sincere regret fills Loughboro to-day. He was but 48 years of age, and leaves a wife and family of six children to mourn a crushing bereavement. The funeral takes place at ten o'clock on Saturday morning from his late residence in Sydenham village.

Curling Match.

The final game for the medal, won from the Belleville Club, was played yesterday afternoon between the two home rinks. The game was closely contested throughout. ## LAND QUESTION.

Inaccurate Information Respecting the Unsurveyed Land of Frontenac.

The figures given in Mr. [illegible]'s array of figures to show [illegible] is not in progress that [illegible] struction of the forest which [illegible] has repeatedly alleged. It is to be regretted that so far as the counties of Frontenac, Lennox and Addington are concerned the figures are utterly incorrect. For example the large county of Addington gets credit for only 10,000 acres of cleared land against 323,000 acres of forest. This is atrocious enough. The little county of Lennox, comprising Amherst Island, Ernestown, Richmond, Fredericksburg, and Adolphustown, is represented as only half cleared, having in fact 150,000 acres uncleared. The county of Frontenac is set down as having 70 per cent. of its total area unclear[ed]. Let us not be misunderstood to undervalue the

WORK OF THE AGRICULTURAL COMMISSION.

These figures make a very imposing appearance upon paper. They are very readily compiled. The area of a township may be estimated at so many acres without any deduction for several square miles of lakes. In this county we could throw out of account a township, or more for, the size of our watered property. Then it is assumed that all unoccupied land is forest. There are in the aggregate many square miles in this county utterly destitute of growing wood, which have been and will remain unoccupied unless granted by the Crown for pasturage. There are thousands of acres of such land held by speculators who are not assessed; and we have periodic tax sales at which titles change hands like lottery tickets. The hope that a purchaser may get a mine accounts for some part of the speculative fever; but it is undeniable that the majority buy in utter ignorance of the value of their purchases. The management of the lands belonging to the Crown in the older parts of Ontario is the worst that could be devised, with the utmost ingenuity for the PREVENTION OF SETTLEMENT.

It is the impression that there is a desire to hinder the settlement of this county in the interest of lumbermen. It will help materially to effect this object to publish abroad to the emigrating world that ninety per cent. of the area of our neighbour county and seventy per cent. of the area of this is uncleared land, and that of what we have to offer only 25 per cent—twenty three acres in every hundred—is fit for settlement. It is to plain that these statements have been supplied to the commission with sinister design, a design which the traditions and transactions of the Crown Lands' office for the last twenty five years abundantly witness, a design to obtain revenue for current wants at the cost of the destruction of the lasting interests of the Crown lands domain in the older parts of Ontario.

Selection of Jurors.

On Wednesday a motion to abolish the present method of selecting jurors was made by Mr. Ross. It led to a discussion which clearly demonstrated that the time had arrived for a change in the jury system. The debate was adjourned. The motion is not likely to go to a vote. Members of the Government have requested its to withdrawal on the ground that it would necessitate legislation for which there was not time during the remainder of the session, but which will be considered and prepared for the next session of the House.

Returned From Holyoke.

The Mother Superior of the House of Providence has returned from Holyoke, Massachusetts, where she has been assisting in the establishment of a new institution in connection with the sisterhood of that charitable place. Her talents as a Directress have thus been made useful outside of this Province. Her return gave very evident pleasure to her associates and the inmates, and no better tribute could be paid to the kindness of her rule.

Scientific News.

One of the handsomest of publications is the Illustrated Scientific News, published by Munn & Co., New York. Every number is full of engravings of novelties in science and useful arts. Ornamental wood work, pottery, vases and objects of art are finally shown. The March number contains a full description of the manufacture of paper hangings, with engravings, also engravings of Capt. Eads' proposed ship railway across the Isthmus, and many valuable recipes for artisans and housekeepers.

Seamen's Union.

At a meeting of the Seamens' Union the following nominations were made:

For President—Messrs. C.W. Crowley, M. Ryan, and G. Freak.

For Vice-President—Messrs. John Quarts, and J. McCutcheon.

For Secretary—Messrs. John Crowley, Lawrence Ryan, and Jeremiah Hurley.

For Treasurer—Messrs C. Chambers, A. Parker, H. Nicholson, W. Christmas and Jos. Hackett.

GEOLOGY AND CREATION.

A Brief Review of the Errors and Fragments of Sacred Story Ages.

Rev. John Moore gave his second scientific lecture last evening in St. Andrew's Hall, the subject of which was "Geology as revealing the history of the earth and man." The audience was larger than at the previous lecture, and much interest was manifested. The lecturer said that geology forcibly illustrated the saying that "truth is stranger than fiction." It opens up before us the history of the globe, embracing vast ages. It is in reality the history of our earth as recorded in itself. It is natural and proper for us to enquire into the past of our planet, and geology is that branch of science to which we must look for light on this direction. It is evident that the earth was once in a molten state—a blazing star. During this period that fire reigned there was no vegetable life, also no of animal [illegible]

A GREAT WAS ORIGINALLY FORMED, and has been increasing in thickness ever since. The first existence of organic life on this planet was confined to. Low forms of plants and animals, having their home in the waters. Among the numerous fossil remains, representing [illegible] no traces of land animals or vegetation have been found. Following that came several vast periods, each of which had its own appropriate forms of life. In the Darwinian period vertebrate dishes abounded, numerous species of which we find presented in the old red sandstone formation. In the Carboniferous age, in which our coal had its origin, there was a most luxuriant vegetation. The atmosphere was falsely charged with carbonic acid, so much so that no air breathing animal of the present period could have breathed it ten minutes and have lived. But that was food for plants, and then it was stored away for the use of man who was afterwards to be created. We next arrive at the Reptilian age, then the Mammalian, epoch, and finally we reach the period in which

MAN BEGAN HIS EXISTENCE.

Some animals of enormous size have perished. The skeleton of one of these was found not long since near St. Catharines, Ontario, that weighed when alive one hundred tons. One of the tusks weighed 200 lbs., and one of the teeth or grinders weighed 31 lbs. After the earth was prepared for man he appeared, and not before. He was the last and noblest work that came from the Creator's hand. The lecturer gave a vivid description of the glacial or ice age which seems to have preceded the advent of man. In that period nearly the whole of North America was covered with vast

FIELDS AND RIVERS OF ICE,

Traces of this are everywhere. The boulders and scratches or grooves on ledges are proofs. We find this state of thing on a small scale among the Alps in Switzerland, where we see the same effects produced that are ascribed to this agency in this country. The speaker alluded to a large boulder he found on the Palisades, near New York, with the grooves in the solid trap rock, which had evidently been produced by it while imbedded in the glacier before it stopped and melted. He found a large granite boulder near New Bedford, Mass., that had once been part of another boulder, the counterpart of which Prof. Agassiz found near Lowell, Mass. Rocks are divided into three classes: Those of igneous origin, such as granite; second, agneous rocks, derived from the gradual accumulation of sediment under water; third, metamorphic rocks, which consist of the sedimentary class changed by heat, a familiar example of which is marble. The deposit of strata is an exceedingly slow process, and we can form little conception of the numberless ages during which layers of prodigious thickness were composed under water. This is miles in thickness, and abounds with the remains of tens of thousands of species of animals that lived in periods preceding the present. The facts which go to prove the great antiquity of the globe amount to an absolute demonstration. This earth has existed so long that six thousand years or six hundred thousand years would be a mere trifle in its history. When we speak of this we have naturally suggested to our minds a short history of creation found in Genesis, and the question arises. How do these two records stand related to each other? How can they be reconciled? There is no difficulty here. The first verse of Genesis refers to the primary creation, and is a most appreciate introduction to the whole book. It is absolutely indefinite as to time—"In the beginning." It recognizes the existence of a personal God as the cause of all things, which is really the foundation stone of all true science.

PHILOSOPHY AND RELIGION.

Many of the best minds regard the six days in Genesis as indefinite periods, embracing those great epochs indicated in geology. The term day is often used in the bible in an indefinite sense, and may be so understood here. Others regard the days as of ordinary length, in which the work of creation took place, by which the present period was introduced, the epochs intervening between the primary creation in the first verse and the present period being passed over, this being the crowning epoch, the age of man and mind. The question pertaining to the age of man was briefly dwelt upon. Moses represents man as the last creation, and as therefore existing on the earth only a comparatively short time. As Hugh Miller remarks, "Man came into being late on the Saturday night of creation." Geology declares the same thing. No remains of man have been found except in the upper part of the earth's crust. Several discoveries that have been urged in favor of man's great antiquity were noticed. The skull reported in California as having been found at a great depth in one of the mines was alluded to. It was shown that Professor Whitney, who first announced the discovery, was deceived by the miners, who placed the skull at the bottom of the mine and then called his attention to it.

Market Fees' Act.

The granger like speech of the Hon. Mr. Wood and the complexion of the Select Committee he chose for the consideration of the bill regarding the market fees, did not afford much hope of any great modification in the interest of fair play to the cities and towns. Yesterday the bill was taken up by the committee and loyally supported. The section restricting a corporation's power of levying fees to those who actually use the market was passed. The section leaving the power of regulating the sale of articles of farm, garden and dairy produce within the corporation up till between 9.30 a.m. in summer and 10 a.m. in winter was passed. The section making the abolition of tolls conditional on the abolition of fees stood over until to-day.

RAILWAY BONUSES.

Hon. Mr. Purdee on the K. & P. RR. Another Deserving Enterprise.

There is some disappointment because of the Government's refusal to grant additional aid to the K. & P. RR., at the same time there is a feeling that this road has been more fortunate in being liberally assisted out of the Provincial Treasury, than several lines whose interests have been advocated with equal warmth and earnestness. The representatives of the Napanee and Tamworth RR. are particularly unhappy. No later than Wednesday, on which day the railway resolutions were laid before the Legislature, a deputation of influential men, headed by Mr. Rathbun, interviewed the Premier in regard to a grant. It was then pointed out that last year assurances were given that a grant would be made in case the which had been done. The manufacturing interests of the section had been built up on the expectation that the railway would be constructed. In order to effect this municipal bonuses to the amount of $3,000 per mile had been carried. In addition to this the company had paid up stock to the amount of $1,000 per mile, and other stock to the extent of $2,000 per mile. The road was surveyed and located, and the Company was ready to commence the work as soon as a Government grant was secured. Every requisite, in fact, to entitle the road to such a grant according to the conditions heretofore imposed had been fulfilled. Without a Government grant the road would not be built, and the manufacturing and other interests which had sprung into existence on the prospect of the opening up of the country by means of the road would be abandoned. It is needless to add that under these circumstances the present outlook is not very encouraging to the Directors of the road. The Lennox and Addington people think they should have got something, inasmuch as in timber dues alone they have paid over $114,000 to the Provincial Government during the past seven years.

WHY AND WHEREFORE.

The following is the precise reference made to the Kingston and Pembroke Railroad during the enunciation of the railway aid policy of the Government in the House on Wednesday:

Hon Mr. Pardee—Let me for a moment refer to the Kingston & Pembroke Railway. We have been urged to aid that road for a distance of 14 miles, from Madawaska to Renfrew. What is its financial position? It is completed to the Mississippi, 60 miles distant. It will be recollected that a few years ago we placed upon the statute book a law granting a subsidy of $8,000 a mile from the Mississippi to the Madawaska. Between these points it is not built. The uncompleted distance is 44 miles. The answer of the Government to the gentlemen who have been pressing for a further subsidy is, "Take the $8,000 you have been already voted between the Mississippi and Madawaska; spread it over the whole road and you have aid nearly to the extent of $6,000 a mile." We said, looking at their financial position, that they were themselves able to complete that line. I have no doubt it will be completed before the expiration of two years. It has only $180,000 of bonds outstanding. That is only at the rate of $3,000 a mile for 60 miles. They have only $100,000 of stock, which is worth nearly par, and I would not be surprised if its bonds were worth more than par. Therefore, without doing any wrong to the people of that section, I think that we may safely say that it will not be proper to give any further public aid to that road. The Napanee & Tamworth Railway is one which the Government as a Government would be glad to aid. But it is to be remembered that the Government has brought down no hap hazard scheme, but one based upon a principle. We feel it is desirous to give effect to public opinion by ceasing to aid new schemes, and however desirous we are to aid that railway—and I admit they are very desirous—yet they cannot do so without violating the principle laid down.
