REMINDERS.

MONDAY.
CITY COUNCIL.—Regular meeting at 8 p.m.
MINDEN LODGE.—Regular meeting at 8 p.m.
ANNUAL MEETING of St. Patrick's Society at 7.30 p.m.

CITY AND VICINITY.

PROBS.—Light to moderate winds and fine weather.

SUGGESTED PARK.—A correspondent suggests that the old burial ground has been reverently regarded long enough and it is time the land was converted to some new use. He says it would make an excellent park, and agitation, he says, to that end will immediately follow.

REGRETTABLE REMOVAL.—Everybody in Landsowne, and especially those in masonic and church circles, will miss Dr. R. B. Aylsworth. He he removed to Morpeth, Ont., where his prospects are good. His departure was a signal for warm addresses and expressions of regret.

MILITARY SCHOOL.—On Saturday the Toronto Military School closed for the season, and Sergent Hammon, of "B" Battery, the instructor, left for Kingston. Many friends were at the station to see him off, and as the train moved away gave him three rousing cheers and three for "B" Battery.

ST. MARK'S CONCERT.—For this concert, on Wednesday evening, the Rev. Mr. Garrett will have the assistance of Queen's College Glee Club, Misses Bates, Mingaye, Wilson and Walkem, and Messrs. Phipps, Taschereau, Trendell, D. McIntyre, Galloway, Crumley, Walkem and Middleton. A goodly array, indeed.

NAPANEE, TAMWORTH AND QUEBEC RR.—The President of the road was asked to-day respecting the prospects of the road now that a bonus has been refused by the Government. "Its bust," he replied. Some citizens of Napanee think that the company might, with the bonuses now secured, make the road and allow the G.T.R. to equip it.

VICTIMIZED PUBLIC.—Grip's sketch is a good one which represents Sir John studying Puck's cartoon of the Gould-Vanderbilt telegraph monopoly, and remarking, "I don't see how those Americans tolerate such outrages." By the way Grip's illustrations are produced by a new process, the first experiments in which seem to be successful.

RUFFIANISM.—Last evening, although it was Sunday, several young men congregated on the corner of Union and Gordon Streets, insulting passers-by and even going so far as to use obscene language towards some young ladies. It is a pity that some citizen will not lay an information against some of these blackguards that a wholesome example may be made of them.

CLAIMS APPROVED.—The claims of the seamen and cook of the "Flora Corveth" have been proved before the County Judge. The mortgagors contended that a mortgage had priority over wages, but the judge did not hold so. The amount of the mortgage was slightly reduced. There will be but $800 to pay the claims of the hands amounting to $1,200.

DESTITUTION.—A correspondent of the Napanee Beaver reports a sad case near Vader's Mills. A woman about forty-five years of age, living with a daughter of nineteen, in a small house near Salmon river, and who has been entirely dependent on her health and strength for support, has been attacked by small-pox and is destitute. The neighbors dread the contagion and are afraid to go near them, and the plight of the friendless females is pitiable. The municipal authorities should take some action.

Missionary Meetings.

The missionary meeting in connection with this fine mission church was held on Sunday afternoon, with addresses from the Rural Dean, Rev. F. W. Kirkpatrick, and the Secretary of Synod, Rev. A. Spencer. The attendance was large, the offerings encouraging, and the service altogether a hearty one.

This evening a meeting will be held at Trinity Church, Wolfe Island, and on Sunday evening next at All Saints' Church, Kingston.

Recent Fight.

McConnell, one of the principals in the recent fisticuffs, called to-day to contradict in part the statement made on behalf of Wright. He did not ask Wright, he says, for a loan, but for money he lent him at Chicago; that Wright first proposed a fight; that the butcher who accompanied them protected Wright and gave him the fairest of fair play, and that some one called "police" about the time that Wright was getting the worst of it and broke up the engagement.

Mastodon Minstrels.

Seats for the performance of Haverly's Minstrels on Wednesday will surely sell at a premium. The Saginaw Herald, whose opinion is generally endorsed by the press, says the comedians, musicians and minstrels eclipse anything in the line of minstrel show that has ever travelled together, and to sum them up they were all good. Everything is fresh and new—no stale jokes, no stale sketches—everything new, and all of a character to keep the entire audience in roars of laughter from beginning to end.

OBITUARY.

Removal by Death of two Very Highly Respected Persons.

The death of Mrs. Flint, wife of Mr. W. H. Flint, city editor of the Montreal Witness, is announced, which event occurred on Friday, Mrs. Flint was a former Kingstonian, Miss Jennie Linton, whose demise will be a source of much regret in a large circle of friends and elicit sympathy for the bereaved husband.

Another old inhabitant has been taken out of our midst, from the turmoils and troubles of this weary life, to enter into his peaceful rest. Henry Going, of Erinagh, formerly of Somerset, county Tipperary, Ireland, and for over thirty years a resident of Wolfe Island, now deceased, was a son of the Rev. John Going, Rector of Ballamena. He was educated at Trinity College, Dublin, was an original and liberal thinker and a most ingenious man, possessed mechanical ability of a high order, and had a thorough and minute acquaintance with the scriptures, to the study of which he had devoted himself for many years, and in the knowledge of which he was surpassed, in the writer's opinion, by no living theologian. By nature of a most amiable, yea, sportive and playful disposition, and inclined to look at things ever on their sunny side, he retained this characteristic to the last. His mother, Frances Anne Shirley, was a daughter of the Hon. and Rev. Walter Shirley, and first cousin of Shirley, Bishop of Lodor and Man. The Going family was always one of consideration among the landed gentry of Ireland, but there were few men who made less account of such things. His dying hours were full of peace and happiness, for he had long faced death as a conqueror; and at last, without suffering of any kind, he simply fell asleep in the assured hope of the resurrection to everlasting life.

Reception Meeting.

Another very large meeting of the congregation of St. Mary's Cathedral was held at Regiopolis College yesterday afternoon. Dr. Sullivan acted as Chairman, and, after routine business, asked for reports from the Committees on the address, decoration, carriages and music, which, after discussion, were adopted. It is the intention to erect an elegant arch at the Cathedral gate. The congregation will meet the Bishop in a body on the arrival of the train and escort him to the palace. No stated programme has yet been decided upon. No letters having been received from the Bishop since the previous meeting the time of his arrival is not yet known, but no doubt ample time will be given to perfect the arrangements. The greatest unanimity prevailed at the meeting, and an anxious desire was manifested to make the reception a creditable one. The meeting adjourned till next Sunday afternoon, when no doubt something will be stated of the movements of the Bishop. The St. Vincent de Paul Society have consented to act as ushers in the Cathedral, and the young men of the congregation will form a cordon from the palace to the Cathedral door, where the regular service as laid down in the rubric will be entered upon. Mr. P. Walsh was appointed Secretary of the meeting.

Sidewalk Mishaps.

This morning, while Col. Geo. L. Detlor was passing the Custom House, Napanee he slipped, fell and dislocated his hip bone. He was carried to his home and a doctor summoned. The Colonel is an old gentleman of at least eighty years and was formerly in the Government Supply Department at Kingston.

Yesterday morning Mrs. Ann Carson mother-in-law of John Coats, Napanee, died as the result of a similar accident. She had been suffering for over three weeks.

POLICE COURT.

A Clue to Recent Poultry Robberies Found. Several Commitments.

There was a revival of business at the Police Court this morning, and the Court room was accordingly a great centre of interest.

Michael Johnson, an Indian, who was whooping loudly on Saturday under the influence of firewater, was let off, having no money to pay a fine. Two bottles of whiskey, found in his pocket, were confiscated, however, and added to the Policemen's Library, being labelled "Temperance Lectures."

A lady property owner was again brought up for neglecting to remove snow from sidewalks, and once more the charge was withdrawn, upon compliance.

The owner of a wooden barn for hay on market No. 2, was given one month within which to enlarge the building or tear it down. A similar case against another citizen is pending.

Peter Clark was charged with larceny, having been caught in the act of stealing spikes from the wharf of the Montreal Transportation Company. He was let until to-morrow.

LARCENY OF POULTRY.

John McLoughlin, Thos. Howard and William McLoughlin, jr., were charged with stealing on March 4th a hand saw belonging to Rev. J. E. Gilmour, Queen street. Mr. Gilmour deposed that he missed the saw on Monday last and fully recognized it now in court. Wm. David deposed that John McLoughlin offered the saw for sale at his shop, but he would not take it. Joseph King gave evidence that he refused to buy it from John McLoughlin and Thos. Howard. On the same night Pierre Lamoreux, another second hand goods dealer, attested that Howard and John and William McLoughlin came to his store. Howard offered the saw [illegible] the others would not sell. Benjamin Barney, a fourth dealer, swore that [illegible] bought the saw for thirty cents from these prisoners. John McLoughlin gave his name as William Henderson. The prisoners were duly committed for trial.

OTHER CHARGES PREFERRED.

William and John McLoughlin were committed for trial also on two other charges—first for stealing twelve fowl from the poultry house of John Medley, Pittsburg, last week, and, secondly, for stealing 21 hens and three geese from the farm of Ellen Burns, Pittsburg. Thomas McLoughlin was charged with these crimes also, but was dismissed from custody, no connection with the case being proved against him.

The fowl were sold to Mr. Williams, messman at the Barracks, who identified James and William McLoughlin as those he bought them from. They had also promised to bring him three geese, but they said they had sold them elsewhere. The poultry were handed back to the owners and the officers' mess is so much the loser. The messman will now be more careful as to persons from whom he buys.

Nine pieces of children's clothing was stolen from Mr. Gilmour at the same time as the saw. One of the pieces was found at McLoughlin's house.

MEDICAL SOCIETY.

The Subjects Discussed at a Meeting of the City Doctors.

This Society held its regular monthly meeting on Friday evening last at Dr. Dickson's, the following members being present: The President, Dr. Dickson; and Drs. Sullivan, Dupuis, McCammon, Metcalfe, Phelan and Henderson.

The minutes of the last meeting were read and adopted, and the Secretary stated that as yet he had not received any answer from the Belleville Society in response to the changes proposed in the medical tariff of fees.

It was moved by Dr. McCammon that Dr. Metcalfe be requested to postpone his paper on Paralysis until the next evening in order to give all the members an opportunity of being present.

Dr. Sullivan suggested certain changes in the course of study pursued by students during their college career. He claimed that Theoretical Chemistry and the history and preparation of drugs took up much valuable time that could be better spent in studying minute Anatomy and the changes which take place in the body during disease.

Dr. Metcalfe exhibited portions of a brain and its coverings, which showed the changes found in many cases of a common form of insanity.

Dr. Dupuis shewed the brain of Gideon Lane, the man who died in the gaol a few days ago, and whose case has excited considerable interest in the city. He had, after considerable trouble, obtained an examination of the body, and found a tumor weighing nearly two ounces on the under surface of the brain, and the parts in its neighborhood were considerably softened, which was what he had anticipated prior to death.

Dr. Henderson had seen the case some time ago if the hospital and then said that a tumor would account for the patient's symptoms. He quoted authorities, stating how rare it was to find these tumors among the insane, and doubted whether Lane was really a lunatic.

After partaking of refreshments the Society adjourned at 10:30 p.m.

PERSONAL MENTION.

Ex-Cadet Ryan is in Chicago.

Princess Louise has started for Italy.

Mr. W. Harty left for Ottawa this afternoon.

Mr. George Smallridge to-day suffered a bad stroke of paralysis.

Mr. M. Ryan is not a candidate for the presidency of the Seamen's Union.

Mr. D. A. Waddell, of Brussels, is talking of starting business in Kingston.

It is probable that the Rev. T. W Handford will lecture in this city shortly.

The petition against Chief Justice Woods will probably come up in the House this afternoon.

Rev. J. Kines is being inhospitably treated at Sherbrooke. One night a thief walked off with a portion of his winter's meat; the balance was moved to another place in the barn, but on the following night that was taken also. He should retire from such a place at once.

CANADIAN ARTILLERY.

A Few of the Points in Col. Col. Strange's Report to the Government.

In the voluminous report of the Minister of Militia there is a great deal of reading which must prove of much interest to military men. The pages occupied by the report of Lt. Col. Strange, Inspector of Artillery, contain points worthy of note. His comments on artillery generally may be passed over without reference to two facts—(1) that the number of short course men should be doubled in the winter and correspondingly decreased in the summer; (2) that the order requiring officers provisionally appointed to attend the schools within one year from the date of appointment should be carried out. The Col. says he has been told that many do not like to encounter the roughness of barrack life and the necessary hardness of military discipline. Such, he fears, are not the stuff for soldiers, and a rose-water element disturbs discipline among real soldiers. Every provision is made for their comfort and opportunities for study that an ordinary barrack room does not present. The short course men in the Kingston school are in two separate barrack rooms under a specially selected non-commissioned officer, and there are more applicants than there is room for. A pointed reference is made to the Napanee Battery of Garrison Artillery in these words. "The only trace I could find of this battery during a non-official visit was an old gun without sights. They were ordered to train last year, but did not, as reported by the Deputy Adjutant General of the district. They had better be removed from the list, the saving thus effected being expended in the training of batteries concentrated at Kingston for annual drill."

CHANGES AND REPAIRS.

The following is the complete reference to our fort and its equipment:

"Fort Henry is in a fair condition, considering that it was not occupied by 'A' Battery, which rendered extensive repairs necessary. Empty casemates rapidly ruin in this severe climate. Considerable repairs were executed in putting Nicholson pavement on the roof, but the cheapest and only means of preserving casemates in this climate is a shingle roof, such as has been put over a considerable portion of the citidel of Quebec. The towers at Kingston being roofed and occupied are in very good order. I see Lt. Col. Irwin concurs in my recommendation of twenty-five artificers being attached to the battery at Quebec for pointing masonry and petty repairs. A larger force of the same description would be required at Kingston, as they should be utilized to throw up earth works and assist generally in the practical training of the gentlemen cadets. The advantage of having a military supervisor of work done by the Board of Works in repairing fortifications has been, I believe, proved in the employment by the Department of Public Works of Lieut. Imlah, attached to 'B' Battery, who was detached for this duty to Quebec from Kingston. He also superintended the construction of heavy gun carriages by the artificers of 'B' Battery at Quebec to my entire satisfaction, the manufacture being cheaper than importation. The wooden traversing platforms in the advance battery, Fort Henry, are, with the exception of the 56 pounder, so faulty in construction that the rear support is in front of the centre of gravity of the gun and carriage when it recoils with the service charge. The result I anticipated occurred when practising from these guns. They upset themselves by their own recoil with the first round. I obviated accident or damage by previously withdrawing the gun detachments and firing with a double lanyard. I would recommend that these defective platforms in the advance battery, Fort Henry, which are quite unserviceable from their radically wrong construction, which no system of compressors could rectify, be replaced by serviceable ones with the usual raised racers to carry four of the 10 64-32 prs. being converted in Montreal, and that the 56 prs. wanted in the salient be also converted. The terreplein in rear of the advance battery could not be defiladed from the lake, but the men working the guns would be sufficiently covered by the existing parapet if the glacis were raised a few feet in front to protect the masonry of the latter, and traversers constructed. It is a mistake to suppose every fortress useless that is not invulnerable to monster modern guns. Such have never yet been brought into torpedo-studded waters, but torpedoes in turn require a few accurate rifle guns of ordinary calibre, such as our 64-32 prs., to prevent these being dredged up or counter-exploded, a service that must be performed by light craft. Fort Henry would be a secure point d'appui for construction and the safety of stores in sudden emergency. There is considerable bomb-proof accommodation, the only way to preserve which in this climate (without inordinate expense) is to put a shingle roof on the casemates as before stated. Such a roof forms a drill shed in winter as well as a protection for the gun carriages and stores. It already exists on the towers, which are consequently in excellent preservation, but, singular to report, are so placed as to prevent the guns being run back either for firing or drill. Raising the rods a few inches at the central point where they meet would obviate this. I would recommend a couple of the 32 prs. on Cedar Island tower being replaced by two 64-32 prs., otherwise gunboats might shell Fort Henry and Kingston from the shelter of the island. Fort Frederick, a flanked one and without exposed masonry, should be re-armed with four 64-32 pounders. They would, with the 7-inch R.L.R., serve for the instruction of the gentlemen cadets as well as of the Gunnery School; while the tower top would form an excellent gun drill shed in winter, if the little arrangement was made as previously suggested. The embrasures of Fort Frederick are in a ruinous condition."

SCHOOL OF GUNNERY.

During the year ending 20th December 14 officers and 120 non-commissioned officers and men joined "B" Battery Royal School of Gunnery. Of the above 51 were non-commissioned officers, gunners and drivers from the various artillery and cavalry militia corps in Ontario, Quebec and the Maritime Province. In addition 62 non-commissioned officers and men enlisted and re-enlisted in "B" Battery. The Commandant notes the lack of accommodation for equitation, gymnastic exercises and military lectures. The old fuel yard, close to the Tete de Pont barracks, would, he says, be a suitable place for a covered riding school, and a shed built over the casemates for their preservation would afford an excellent gun drill shed.

CITY BATTERIES AGITATED.

Col. Strange writes: "I have received an offer from two gentlemen who formerly served in the Royal Artillery, and in connection with "A" and "B" Batteries, to raise a couple of batteries of artillery in Kingston, but am informed by others that the population of this city is not sufficient to maintain them in addition to the infantry battalion. The loss to the infantry battalion would perhaps be less felt as the Queen's College has applied to form two companies in connection with the 14th Battalion.

SUGGESTED REWARDS FOR FIDELITY AGAIN.

The increased amount of compensation demanded for discharge of men of good character, by recent order, is working badly. The sum is nearly as large as that formerly necessary to obtain release from twenty one years' service in the British army, and far above the value of the half worn clothing for which it is supposed to be compensation. The Canadian service, from its limited character, offers little promotion and no pension, and I think it more advantageous in a new country to let men take their discharge at the end of the year, before the issue of new clothing, without loss to the Government, when they can obtain employment in civil life, otherwise desertion or bad conduct may by some be selected as a means of discharge. A land grant, under proper condition, to men of "A" and "B" Battery of good conduct, after a certain period of service and the North West Territory, where trained soldiers may some day be required.

ESTABLISHMENT REQUIRED.

An increase in the number of rank and file is recommended. An addition of 30 gunners and 16 horses is the least number that would be of any avail to afford adequate artillery instruction, in fact otherwise a staff of instructors is being maintained without sufficient men to work upon. Col. Strange concurs in the scheme submitted by Col. Hewitt for the instruction of militia officers at the Royal Military College in connection with a system of practical drill and duties of the gunnery school.

ANOTHER GOOD IDEA.

To enable the gunnery school at Quebec to benefit by such expansion and to secure uniformity in military instruction and certificates therefor, as well as discipline, it would be advisable to form "A" and "B" Batteries into an instructional brigade, with at least one complete field battery of instruction "C," to be stationed at Kingston. Ontario containing more field artillery and cavalry than the whole of the rest of the Dominion, "A" and "B" might be changed every five years, between Quebec and Kingston, to benefit by the broader instruction in connection with the theoretical classes at the R. M. College, and the practical school for all arms which would be thus established at Kingston, and which is hardly possible elsewhere, from the fact of the R. M. College, with its staff of professors, having been here established.

The report concludes with a complimentary notice of the staff generally. He recommends promotion in the cases of Brevt. Lt.-Col. Montizambert and Capt. Short.

Church Services

Rev. D. Ross, of Lachine, preached in Queen's College, Convocation Hall, yesterday afternoon, his observations being founded upon the words, "To whom shall we go? thou hast the words of eternal rest." In the mental unrest which marks the age, and when the conditions and destiny of the soul are a matter of so much anxiety, it was pointed out, that Christ should be approached; that from Him only could there be derived the sympathy and satisfaction and relief for which humanity yearns.

In St. Mary's Cathedral yesterday morning High Mass was celebrated by the Rev. Father Hogan. The Rev. Father O'Brien preached a forcible sermon from St. John xx, 21-22. The rev. speaker traced the origin and heinousness of sin, and pointed out in a clear and effective manner the only remedy by which men can lead pure and holy lives. Frequent confession made men love their country, made them true members of society, and in the end brought them to God. The Novena will continue each evening during the week, and will be brought to a conclusion next Sunday afternoon by the Te Deum. Wednesday, Friday and Saturday being Ember Days fast and abstinence are obligatory. The singing, both at Mass and Vespers, was very fine. The relics of St. Francis Xavier are exposed on the altar of St. Joseph.

HOW TO GET RICH.—The great secret of obtaining riches, is first to practice economy, and as good old "Deacon Snyder" says: "It used to worry the life out of me to pay enormous doctor's bills, but now I have struck it rich." Health and happiness reign supreme in our little household, and all simply because we use no other medicine but Electric Bitters and it only costs fifty cents a bottle." Sold by all druggists.
