A NOTABLE REVOLT.

A Thrilling Incident in Which the Warden Was Overpowered.

The quelling of the mutiny in 1861 in the Massachusetts State Prison is thus described:

"Three convicts had been sentenced, under the rules of the prison, to be publicly whipped in the yard, and were confined in the solitary cells awaiting punishment. An officer, whose duty it was to attend to such cases, entered one of the cells to see that everything was right, when the inmates sprang past him, closed the door and locked him in. He then opened the doors of the cells in which were the other two, and the three, after deliberation, released the officer and ordered him no approach the door leading into the guard-room and give the necessary signal that all was right, while they stood ready on its being opened to rush through and secure the guard and the arms in the room. The officer resolutely refused. They threatened to kill him, and one of them raised a file, sharpened to a point, with the intent of carrying the threat into execution, but the officer remained firm, telling them that they might take his life, but he would not betray his trust. The other two finally interfered and saved his life, forcing him back into the cell and locking him in. The rest of the convicts, hearing the alarm, armed themselves with clubs, knives, hammers and other weapons, and assembled in the dining hall. For a time the prison officials and, the news spreading rapidly through the town, a subordinate officer, of mild and kind disposition, hurried to the scene, and calm and collected went into the midst of the officers. The most equable tempered, the mildest man in the Government, as is usually the case, was in the hour of peril the firmest. He despatched at once a request to Major Wainwright, at the Boston Navy Yard, for assistance, and despite the entreaties of his associates entered the hall with only a little rotton walking stick, for the purpose of calling the rioters to order and peace. He expostulated with them, and asked their reason for violating the prison laws. They replied that the punishment of their associates must be remitted. He said that this was impossible. The convicts, on hearing this announcement, began to prepare their weapons for use, and amid excitement of the most intense nature threatened to kill the officer, who, indeed, stood on the very threshold of death. Just at this moment he saw the feet of the mariners filling by the small lights. He knew it was his only time of escape, before a conflict for life should begin. He stepped backward, still urging the prisoners to depart before the officers were driven to the use

LOST ALL PRESENCE OF MIND

FIRE ARMS AS A LAST RESORT.

Within three or four feet of the door, it was opened and closed instantly again as he sprang through, and so was unexpectedly restored to his friends. It was thought at first that Maj. Wainwright would fire down upon the rioters from the little prison windows but he took a bolder course and marched his little body of thirty men into the dining hall, and formed his line directly opposite where the criminals were gathered. He ordered them to disperse, which they refused unless their request for a remission of the flogging was assented. Turning to the marines, Maj. Wainwright directed them to load their guns and to expose the bullets before putting them in their weapons. "The marines were ordered to take aim; their guns were presented but not a prisoner stirred, except to grasp more firmly his weapon. Still desirous, if possible, to avoid such a slaughter as must follow the discharge of the guns, the Major advanced a step or two and spoke even more firmly than before, urging them to depart. Again and while looking directly into the muzzles of the guns, which they had seen loaded with ball, they declared their

INTENTION OF FIGHTING IT OUT.

The intrepid officer then took out his watch and told his men to hold their pieces aimed at the prisoners, but not to fire until they had orders. Then, turning to the convicts, he said: 'You must leave this hall. I give you three minutes to decide. If at the end of that time a man remains he shall be shot dead. I speak no more.' No more tragic situation than this can be conceived; at the end of the hall a fearless multitude of desperate and powerful men waiting for the assault, at the other a little band of well disciplined marines, waiting with leveled muskets, and ready on the least motion or sign to begin the carnage, and their tall commander holding up his watch to count the lapse of three allotted minutes. For two minutes not a person or a muscle was moved, not a sound was heard in the unwonted stillness of the prison except the labored breathings of the infuriated wretches as they began to pant between fear and revenge. At the expiration of two minutes during which they had faced the ministers of death with unfaltering eyes, two or three of those in the rear and nearer to the further entrance, went slowly out; a few more followed the example, dropping out quietly and deliberately, and before half the last minute was gone every man was struck by the panic and crowded for exit, and the hall was cleared out as if by magic."

The Secret of Happiness.

How often have we longed for perfect enjoyment and how seldom found it. Misfortune has come, or ill health overtakes us. Perhaps a cough has come upon us which threatens that dreaded of all diseases, consumption, and we feel that death is near. With what joy should we be filled then, when such a remedy as Dr. King's New Discovery for Consumption is placed within our reach. It has cured thousands who were nearer the grave than ourselves and made their lives peaceful and happy. Asthma, bronchitis, hoarseness, loss of voice, difficulty of breathing, or any affection of the throat and lungs are positively cured by this wonderful discovery. Now to give you satisfactory proof that Dr. King's New Discovery will cure if you call at your Drug Store you can get a trial bottle for ten cents, or a regular size for $1.00. Sold by all druggists.

A New Principle.

The principle upon which Putnam's Painless Corn Extractor acts is entirely new. It does not sink deep into the flesh, thereby producing soreness, but acts directly upon the external covering of the corn, separates it from the under layer, removes the direct pressure from the part, and at once effects a radical cure, without pain or discomfort. Let those who are suffering from corns, yet skeptical of treatment, try it, and by the completeness of the cure they will be ready to recommend Putnam's Painless Corn Extractor to others. Sold by all druggists in Kingston, and by N. C. Polson & Co., agents for Ontario.

In hot weather the digestive organs are specially liable to get disordered, causing a sickly feeling at the pit of the stomach, nausea, want of relish for food, &c., a few doses of Dr. Carson's Stomach Bitters will at once effect a cure. In large bottles, fifty cents at Heath and Gunn's drug store.

Persons under the operation of Fellows' Hypophosphites should examine their blood under the microscope from time to time, and mark the increase of red and active particles, and diminution of the white or dead ones; these observations are interesting and instructive.

A police sergeant has fallen heir to $20,000, left him in England.

AN ELOPEMENT.

A Faithless Wife and Her Illicit Amours.

A Toronto telegram says:—The wife of a young artificer in glass named Kincade has eloped with another man. He was married seven years ago at Elkland, in the State of Pennsylvania. For a time his married life was happy enough, but after about a year his wife eloped with another man. She was forgiven and returned to her husband, and then the couple came to this city. Everything went well for a few years and then the couple went boarding on Adelaide street. The wife appears to have been very attractive looking and a young boarder flirted with her and she with him. A short time ago she ran away the second time, not forgetting to take a considerable quantity of her husband's jewellery and other effects. Believing that she had ceased to love him, and that it was perhaps better there should be a separation, the husband made no effort to get her back. She went to Chicago, where she is working in a restaurant. After she had been gone a few days, it was ascertained that the young man was to follow her by mutual agreement. In the trunk in the Adelaide street boarding house, belonging to the unmarried husband, were found many of the effects taken by the woman from her husband, among them being his ring with his initials cut on it. Mr. Kincade thinks he has got rid of a very undesirable bargain, and will make no effort to get her or his property back.

Hard to Suit.

The faculty of one of the largest theological seminaries received some time since a letter, in which the inhabitants of a small town in Kansas applied to them for a young clergyman. The long and formidable array of qualifications which the minister must possess, and the extremely meagre salary offered, threw the good doctors of the faculty into something akin to despair. After much thought, one suggested that the reply should run thus: "The only man of whom, we know who could satisfy you is our revered college President, now dead some few years, and who, having accustomed himself to heavenly food (air), could perhaps eke out a bare subsistence upon the salary which you propose." This, after due deliberation, was rejected, and the next proposal listened to: "We know of no one, except ing the Apostle Paul, who approaches to your standard of piety; he might preach of a Sunday, and get his living by sail-making on week days." This was at length also rejected, and the following reply finally dispatched: "We know of no man upon earth good enough for you, or who could possibly live on the salary you mention. We therefore advise you to make an effort to secure the angel Gabriel, who could board in heaven, and come down on Sundays to preach."—Harper's Magazine.

Dyspepsia and Languor.

FROM THE WELL-KNOWN WRITER, MRS. MARY FRANCIS—

(Margaret Blount.)

"Two years ago I began to take Peruvian Syrup. I was in a languid, half-alive state, through incipient dyspepsia and defective circulation of the blood. Three bottles of the Peruvian Syrup changed this to glowing, bounding health. I have a fine appetite, sleep soundly, and can walk five miles easily, without resting, or busy myself out of doors all day long without fatigue. A lady cousin, who resides with me, took the Syrup during her recovery from a serious illness of some weeks. She has been an invalid for years. Five bottles of the Syrup have so built up her system that she now eats quite heartily, sleeps well, and can walk three miles (in fine weather) without fatigue. I consider the medicine so invaluable to persons of sedentary pursuits, or to those who suffer from languor or low spirits, that I relate this experience of its effects to you, leaving you to make what use you please of my letter." Sold by all druggists.

Green's August Flower.

It is natural for people suffering with Dyspepsia and Liver Complaint or any derangement of the digestive organs, such as Sour Stomach, Sick Headache, Habitual Costiveness, palpitation of the Heart, Heartburn, Water-brash, gnawing and burning pains at the pit of the Stomach, Yellow Skin, Coated Tongue and disagreeable taste in the mouth, coming up of food after eating, low spirits, &c., to put off from day to day buying an article that they know has cured their neighbor, friend, or relative, yet they have no faith in it until it is too late. But if you will go to your druggist, J. G. King, and get a bottle of Green's August Flower your immediate cure is as certain as you live. Sample Bottles of this medicine can be obtained for 10 cents to try its superior virtue. Regular size 75 cents. Try it, two doses will relieve any case.

Pains and Griping in Children.

Herrick's Sugar-Coated Vegetable Pills are a sovereign remedy for this ailment, which is not alone confined to children. Nothing can withstand their subtle action and purifying influences. They are purely vegetable, and never inconvenience the patient. They are sold everywhere.

Kicking the Bucket.—The tradition among the slang fraternity as to the origin of this phrase is that one "Bolsover" having hung himself to a beam, while standing on the bottom of a pail or bucket, kicked the vessel away in order to pry into futurity. There are many around us who will "kick the bucket" from dyspepsia, liver complaint, and derangements of the stomach, if they persist in neglect and thoughtlessness in not providing a safe remedy. Baxter's Mandrake Bitters never fail to cure those ailments, and restore to health and strength those who otherwise would have "kicked the bucket."

For Dysentery.—Take a teaspoonful of Perry Davis' Pain Killer well mixed in a gill of hot milk and syrup, or with a teaspoonful of castor oil, at the same time bathing the bowels.

"Must say it's the nicest thing I ever used for the teeth and breath," says every one having tried "Teaberry," the new toilet gem. Get a 5 cent sample.

What John Did.

John said to me the other day
Two heard with wages low to pay
These monthly rents they come so fast,
To take away our hard earned cash.

Well John," said I, "what can we do,
Building material is rising so,
But toil away as we have done,
The National Policy will bring no "hum."

"I know," says John," what can be done.
I'll go to H. B. R. & Son;
and there, by paying down the cash,
they just as cheap this year as last.

And then we'll cut down our expense.
And build a house and garden fence,
and thus you see, before are long,
We'll have a home to call our own."

So John starts off, (not on a run,)
To the Yard of Rathbun and his Son
And there, to make success complete,
Buys building material very cheap.
