Daily British Whig.

The re election of Mr. C. H. Mackintosh, as Mayor of Ottawa, seems to be regarded as a foregone conclusion. Mr. Clancy, on whose protest Mr. Mackintosh was lately unseated, and who again opposes him, has laid the foundation for another petition and contest by again entering an objection to his opponent's property qualification. There ought to be no difficulty one would think upon the matter of property qualification in the case of the ex Mayor. After his numerous financial successes in the line of Government printing contracts alone he ought to be easily able to qualify for the civic chief magistracy.

Unlike his Canadian name sake, Chief Justice Tilley, of Queensland, Australia, has declined the proffered honour of knighthood. It is pleasing thus to see that the example set by so many Canadian Liberals is being emulated far the antipodes. The less these artificial distinctions are introduced into colonial communities the better, and the apparent self denial of Chief Justice Tilley in declining to be ornamented with an empty title is worthy of all approbation. He will command just as much respect—and more, too—without the title than with it, and it will teach the Imperial authorities that however coveted these knightly honors may be in England, they are quite unsuited to the Democratic communities by which British colonies generally are peopled.

By the narrow majority of one vote the Albany Legislature resolved upon adjourning to day. Thus a long and fruitless struggle will be brought to a close for the present, unless indeed the resolution to adjourn should be defeated in the State Senate. The fidelity or persistency with which the thirty odd straight Conkling men have stuck to their chief has been something remarkable if not admirable. On a much smaller scale, of course, it is a repetition of the constancy with which Conkling himself and the third termers to the number of 306 voted for Grant at the Chicago Convention until a coalition among the other parties united upon Garfield and defeated the Grant nomination. Adhesiveness and persistency seem to be characteristics of Conkling and his men as exemplified by the Presidential contest at Chicago and the Senatorial fight at Albany.

The Garfield fund is still increasing in proportions, although no doubt the prospect of the President's recovery has something to do with it. Only in the event of the President's death, we fancy, would it be rounded up to the intended quarter of a million and presented to Mrs. Garfield and family. Now that the matter has gone so far, however, it is highly probable that a handsome amount will be presented to the President by his sympathizers and admirers as an expression of the national good will towards him. It has been objected to these testimonial presentations to men high in authority that it impairs their independence by placing them under personal obligation to the donors. O this there is very little danger in Garfield's case, and a handsome testimonial will, we doubt not, be one of the tangible expressions of thanksgiving for his recovery.

It is not easy to see why the emigration clauses of the Gladstone Land Act are being fought with such vigour and virulence by the Land League party in the House of Commons. Judicious emigration from each of the three countries of the British fatherland has been of decided benefit both to those who left and to those who stayed. Certain it is that the condition of many thousands of Irish, Scotch and English people has been vastly improved by coming to Canada, for example, while the elimination of so many from the crowded populations of the old lands must have to some extent mitigated the miseries and bettered the chances of those who remained "at home." No matter to what extent the Land Bill ameliorates the condition of the Irish tenant and peasant, it may be taken for granted that those who leave for this continent will be better off than those who stay behind, and for this reason we cannot see why emigration should be so vigorously opposed.

IMPENDING REVOLUTION.

As will be seen by the cablegrams of to day the internal condition of affairs in Russia is growing not only serious but alarming. The late Czar was assassinated because of the oppressions of the people by the government. What he had done for the Russian people especially in his emancipation of the serfs was lost sight of in the oppressions which still ground down the masses, and his life was the sacrifice of popular discontent culminating in Nihilistic intrigue and conspiracy. Instead of taking warning by the fate of his father the present Emperor followed up the execution of the regicides with a policy of most rigorous repression. Following an ancient precedent of sacred history, the young Czar virtually declared that whereas his father had chastised with whips he would do so with scorpions. Melikoff, the constitutional adviser of the late Czar, and who judiciously mingled moderation with severity, even in his punishments of crimes against the State, was dismissed, and ever since the inception of the present regime a reign of terror has prevailed. This state of affairs is already bearing fruit. Every branch of government is declared to be rotten with corruption, and the masses of the people to be honeycombed with disaffection and ripe for revolution. The Czar is as close a prisoner as though he himself were lying under sentence of penal servitude. His life must necessarily be a burden to him, and the utmost vigilance exercised in guarding it may not be able to protect him against the tragic fate which so suddenly terminated his father's career. Altogether Russia may be said to be a political volcano upon the verge of a terrible eruption which may result in the overthrow of the present system of its long oppressed people.

SUNDAY TRIPS.

A Plea for the Better Observance of The Lord's Day—Offences Quite Numerous.

To the Editor of the Whig.

DEAR SIR,—Some of the newspapers are severely criticising the Governor General's conduct in having made use of Sunday for a journey, chiefly for pleasure, from the maritime province to Quebec; thus showing an open contempt for the sacredness of the day and setting an example which can readily be followed by those inclined to a like desecration. But the Governor General is not the only delinquent, as we have often heard of excursions and amusements which take place on the Lord's day, and only a couple of weeks ago we saw that a boat was advertised to leave Kingston on that day on an excursion to Rochester, and no doubt the owners of it and they who took advantage of the trip can now point with satisfaction to His Excellency's wrong doing as an apology for their own. One would suppose from the work which goes on that it is thought by those having to do with vessels that they have a special privilege when on the water of being exempt from the law which regulates our actions on land, and it is not an uncommon thing to hear of some trumped—up necessity easily invented, for keeping men employed and even painting vessels on Sunday. Canals are also kept open on Sunday, and the questionable plea of necessity has been set up in justification of it. That there may be some instances in which goods would suffer in consequence of their not arriving at their destination in time might be possible, but I think if every agent or master of a boat passing through the canals was required to make a declaration as to the absolute necessity for vessel continuing on its way there would not, perhaps, be many who could honestly do so. So long as people are indifferent, and companies of boats and cars are prompted by gain, so long will these inroads upon the Lord's day continue and the enforcement of the law of the country by those in authority become necessary to check their advance and keep clear of the shame attached to the cities of other countries.

Yours truly,
A CITIZEN.

OUR POLICE FORCE.

Why Should it be Used for County Purposes? Serving the Men who Pay Them—Point At Issue.

To the Editor of the British Whig.

DEAR SIR,—A correspondent has undertaken to defend the detailing of a couple of police officers to act as aides de camp to the officers of the Orange Order on their 12th of July visit to Harrowsmith. He has insinuated that I am not a taxpayer. Therein he is much mistaken, as I am well taxed on personality as well as on real estate. Then it is alleged that the Orangmen were only served as the members of other societies have been. Two wrongs do not make a right. I would have objected to the appearance of policemen at these picnic gatherings before had I been assured, as I am in this case, that such acts had official countenance. The electors are paying much heed to the manner in which their officers and means are being used, and there may be a reckoning all too soon for some people. True the city police are sworn in as county constables, but they are maintained entirely at the city's expense, and the city should have the exclusive benefit of their service. If a couple of men can be spared now and then to supervise operations at a pic nic it is evident that instead of an enlargement there should be a reduction of the force, and Col. Hance is weakened in his application for more men. Ald. Gaskin, C.M., will do well to repudiate the bickering of, "Real Taxpayer," for as an admirer of him I would be sorry to see him endorse sentiments so apt to create bitterness of spirit. The employment of the police is a business and not a party question. As a business man I am not narrow minded.

Yours, etc.,
TAXPAYER.

Thousand Island Park.

Notwithstanding the warm weather and the temptation to seek the cool breezes of the water, the meetings of believers have been quite generally attended by the cottagers and visitors at the park.

The same order of meetings has been observed through the week, except that in addition prayer and conference meeting have been held at 10 a.m. each day. On Monday evening the sermon was preached by the Rev. D. W. Thurston, of Syracuse, Rev. Dr. Hibbard on Tuesday, and Rev. A. N. Fisher on Wednesday evening. These meetings are to continue until July 17th.

On Thursday of next week, July 21st, the Sunday School Parliament is to be opened, conducted by Rev. B. T. Vincent, of Philadelphia, Penn., with a corps of instructors and lecturers which will insure a meeting of great interest and practical value.

The number of cottagers and visitors at the park is slowly but steadily increasing. We notice quite a number of Canadians who are coming in and occupying their cottages near Crystal Bay.

Captain Visger's boat, the "Island Wanderer," began to make regular trips among the islands last Friday.

Bootblacks' Union.

The bootblacks of the city have formed a union and raised the price of shines, "all on account of the N.P.," to 10 cents. The President is a freckled-faced little fellow, very smart and a good writer. He says that the 50 cents demanded each week from the members are to be deposited to their credit in the Post Office Savings Bank. Several boys have refused to enter the union, and in consequence "boycotting" will be resorted to. One of the non-unionists was set upon yesterday, but stood out despite all threats.

Three new members are to-day reported to us as being added to the Kingston Boot Black Union, and two have been dismissed for refusing to pay the initiation fee. This playing of the young boys at trades' unions shows the imitative disposition of young Canada.

Hundreds of keys can be had at William David's, opposite Parkhill's, Princess St bring on your locks.

ANARCHY AT HAND.

Russia in a Demoralized and Chaotic State.

Crisis Near.

St. Petersburg, July 15.—The peasants in the district near Navagord are suffering from constant bleeding at the nose with large black spots on their bodies.

London, July 16.—Advices from St. Petersburg report that Russia is fast drifting into anarchy. The Czar is still a close prisoner at Peterhoff. Occasionally, when the business of the state requires his presence at the capitol, he leaves the fortress and enters St. Petersburg almost by stealth, and returns quickly. The new Ministry has abandoned its promised reforms and is crushing out, by high handed measures, the aspirations of the people for a representative Government and the reconstruction of the municipal system upon a broader, freer, system. The peasants are in a terrible plight. Officials from the highest to the lowest are sunk in corruption. The priests of the Orthodox Church are not much better, and militarism has reached a pitch of annoyance and absolutism unknown in the worst days of Romanoff. The revelation of the Imperial State Attorney, appointed to examine the police system of Orenburg Department and who was stripped of office because he exposed the frightful abuses, has been printed and is being scattered far and wide throughout the country. Some of the State convicts at Siberia have found a way of sending diaries to the revolutionary press and these have a vast circulation. The Czar is either kept in ignorance of the critical condition of affairs, or is afraid to take action. A revolution such as never has been witnessed is not far off.

Paris, July 16.—A St. Petersburg correspondent telegraphs that 119 peasants, women and girls, were burned to death in a barn on the estate of Olgin, in the province of Kursk.

GARFIELD'S STATE.

Reports Continue to be Favorable—Latest Bulletin From Dr. Bliss.

Washington, July 16.—The disagreement between Mrs. Edson and Dr. Boynton and the regular physicians at the White House is denied. The strain which the physicians have been under for two weeks is manifestly over. They now permit themselves long absences from the sick chamber. It is said the electric machine, by which it is hoped to locate the ball in the President's body, is approaching completion, and every successive experiment gives promise of success. It is stated that the physicians now unite in saying that the President is safely over all danger, and nothing but an accident that cannot now be foreseen can prevent the ultimate recovery of the President. He now has his head propped up and a large pillow is under his shoulders.

Washington, July 16.—The following was sent by the attending to the consulting physicians at 1 p.m.: "The President progresses steadily towards convalescence. During the last 24 hours he had but an eighth of a grain of sulphate morphia, in a single hypodermic injection at bed time. He slept well and this morning expresses himself as feeling quite easy. The quinia is continued in three grain doses three times a day. He is taking a still larger proportion of solid food, with more relish than hitherto, and some old port wine has been substructed for Tokay, its favor being preferred by the patient. The febrile rise yesterday afternoon was less than on any day since you saw him. Hereafter our daily despatch to you will be sent after the evening consultation."

RIOTS IN ROME.

Insult to Pius IX—Trials in Court—Scene on the Streets.

Rome, July 16.—Cardinal Jacobini told the Ambassadors of the Ministers accredited to the Vatican that the Pope desired them to inform their Governments how deeply he was pained at the insult offered to the body of Pius IX. Henceforth he must consider himself more than ever a prisoner in the Vatican. Jacobini read the circular to Papal Nuncios abroad, which is to be handed to respective Ministers of Foreign Affairs. Part of the Pope's message relating to religious services in the basilicas confirms the assertion that had the body of Pius IX been peaceably removed the Pope would have found early occasion for passing the doors of the Vatican.

Rome, July 16.—Six men were fined and imprisoned for disturbing the funeral procession of Pope Pius IX. There was great disorder at the trial. The court was cleared twice. The sentences were received with shouts and hisses. A crowd of 3,000 cheered the prisoners coming out of court and followed them shouting "Down with the Clericals." The soldiers dispersed the mob which re-assembled at the office of one of the clerical newspapers and tore down the bulletins. They then started for the railway station to protest to the King and Queen arriving from Naples, but the police prevented the demonstration.

It is stated that the disturbances attending the removal of the body of the late Pope were because the promise of the archbishop of the Vatican, that the cortege should consist solely of a funeral car and two or three carriages, without outward show was not observed.

A Bloody Fight.

About one o'clock this morning residents on Wellington street, in the vicinity of the Post Office, were awakened by loud screams, oaths, and cries of "Police." One gentleman rushed to his window, and looking out, saw a fight in progress. He, too, yelled "Police," but the officers were not convenient. The girl, Pearl Reed, mentioned elsewhere, was mixed up in it, and was using very bad language. The fighters separated, but resumed the disturbance near Johnson street. The sidewalk was sprinkled with blood. The police did not succeed in arresting the pugilists. It is thought that the girl Pearl Reed came here with the gamblers who had to fly from Rochester.

Fifty Hours on a Perch.

On Thursday morning at 4 o'clock a maltese cat was chased by a dog and climbed a telegraph pole at the corner of Brock and Barrie streets. It got out upon one of the cross bars which supports the wires, and it was there this morning. Several times boys have climbed the pole for the purpose of taking the feline down, but they have been afraid to touch it. Residents of the vicinity fear that it is mad, and that when taken down it will bite the children.

This afternoon one of the policemen was ordered to shoot it and end its misery.

EUROPEAN TELEGRAMS.

Prince of Wales' Debt—Labor-Bradlaugh's Case.

London, July 16.—Before leaving the agricultural show at Derby to-day the Prince of Wales visited the department of Canadian agriculture, and manifested great interest in the exhibits from that colony.

Mr. Egan has returned to Paris after consulting with the executive of the Land League, chiefly on the subject of the allocation of funds during the existing crisis for the evicted families.

The efforts of the Prince of Wales' friends to induce the Government to vote a lump sum for the extinction of the Prince's debts, or to increase his income, have been unsuccessful.

A terrible storm occurred on the Lake of Geneva and vicinity to-day, doing great damage to vessels, and also to crops and swamping towns on the borders of the lake. Fears are felt for the safety of the crowded steamers that were out on the lake.

A terrible tragedy occurred in Bishopsgate street last night. A tailor shot his paramour and then embedded a bullet in his own brain. His recovery is considered hopeless.

The Pall Mall Gazette warns Mr. Bradlaugh that his notice to the Speaker of the House of Commons is a menace of lawlessness, and he and his followers should understand that those who support and intend to support his lawful claims through thick and thin can see nothing but mischief and failure in them.

Cork labourers are likely to give the farmers a taste of what the latter have given the landlords. They are determined to strike for higher wages during the harvest, on the ground that they should receive benefit from the reduction in farmers' rents.

The preliminary examination in the case of Lefroy, suspected as the murderer of Mr. Gold on the London and Brighton Railway, took place yesterday. The circumstantial case against the prisoner is perfect. It is probable that his counsel will plead insanity at the assize trial.

London, July 16.—Several deaths have occurred in England from sunstroke. At Greenwich observatory, yesterday, the thermometer registered 97° in the shade. The maximum in the sun was 153°. At Paris, yesterday, the thermometer was 97° in the shade.

London, July 16.—The report that King Kalakua came to Europe to negotiate the sale of the Samiwich Islands to England or France is untrue.

Senatorial Election.

New York, July 16.—The Times' Albany special says it is reported that Police Commissioner French brought a message from Arthur insisting that the Stalwarts must keep up the fight. It is reported that while Miller may be elected by the Stalwart votes the Stalwarts will refuse to vote for Lapham and will demand that they be permitted to name a candidate for a short term. Administration men say they will stick to both caucus candidates. It is said that Hamilton Fish will be the Stalwart candidate for Conkling's place, but the general impression is that they will insist on Conkling's election and carry the fight over into another week.

Albany, July 16.—Mr. Miller was elected on the second ballot to-day on the following vote: Kernan, 47; Miller, 76; Fish, 9; Chapman, 2; Daniels, 1; Staun, 1; Bliss, 1; Adams, 1; Wheeler, 4; Talcott, 1; Tenney, 1. Necessary to a choice, 73. The Legislature then adjourned.

A Destructive Storm.

St. Paul, July 16.—A report shows that the storm which devastated Fairfield was one of the most destructive ever known in Minnesota. It swept and stripped the country a mile wide and forty miles long. Horses, barns and farm machinery were strewn in all directions. Stock was killed by the wholesale. Fifteen persons were killed and wounded. Some were not recovered until the following morning, having been dropped half a mile away. The people are left in a most pitiable plight, without shelter or clothing.

Costiveness, biliousness, dizziness and bad taste in the mouth, yellow skin and eyes, loss of appetite, loss of energy, and low spirits, pains in the back and side, wind and foul stomach; all these create bad blood.
