Daily British Whig.

[illegible] a sensation in the United States with his disclosures as to the history, and objects of the society to which he belongs. We will not say that the representations he gives of the tyranny of the Czar do justify the dreadful remedies which Nihilists seek to apply in the case, but he certainly makes it clear that the shooting down of the President of a free people, as in the cases of Lincoln and Garfield, is a very different thing from the assassination of a tyrant who is the impersonation of one of the most dreadful despotisms in the world. He claims that regicide is resorted to by a people driven by desperation to this only possible means of compelling governmental attention to their oppressed and unspeakably miserable condition.

The Land Bill just passed the British House of Commons is intended principally to redress the grievances of Irish tenants and to protect them from the unjust exactions of their landlords. There is a class, however, of Irish laborers, whose condition requires amelioration at least as much as that of the tenants, and these are already agitating for something to be done in their favour. They have been forced to exist on starvation wages and the demand is now being made for increased remuneration for the labor of this shamefully ill paid class. The same agitation may well spread to the agricultural laborers of England, who, as a rule, get barely sufficient for their toil to keep body and soul together, and who have to look to the "parish" for a bare subsistence when overtaken by sickness or the infirmities of age.

Notwithstanding the general and reasonable fears to which the President's recent relapse gave rise, he has wonderfully rallied since then and now gives good hope again of ultimate recovery. Considering the severity and dangerous character of the wound, however, we cannot share the too sanguine expectation that in a very short time he will be up and around attending to the duties which his high station imposes upon him. The constitution provides that in the event of the inability of the President to discharge these duties, the Vice President shall do so for him. So far no public desire has been manifested to call in Gen. Arthurs for this purpose, but if the President's incapacity continues, there will be nothing for it but to relegate the active duties of the Presidency to the "spare man" who was elected for this purpose. Blaine and the rest of the Cabinet may think that they are quite competent to run the national show during the President's illness, and that nothing short of the death of the President would render necessary the installation of the Vice-President in his room and stead.

Y.M.C.A. CONVENTION.

This is certainly the age of conventions, and if frequent fraternal intercourse between representatives of different countries can do aught to avert ill feeling or smooth away international misunderstanding then these conferences will not be without incidental advantage. Last year the Pan-Presbyterian Council was held at Philadelphia; this year the Methodist Ecumenical Council is to be held in England, and at the present moment a conference of representatives of the Young Men's Christian Associations of all lands is being held in London, England. Being a modern institution it has not perforce to content itself with revering the memory of its founder, that personage being in a two-fold sense a "live" man, and able to occupy the chair of the present convention. Delegates are present in considerable numbers from the United States and Canada, as well as from the various countries in Europe. An association of this kind, drawn not only from all lands but representing all evangelical creeds, cannot but promote not only international but inter-denominational concord, and any association that can do this is well deserving of the general good wishes for its success and prosperity.

METROPOLITAN VANITY.

The Toronto Telegram seeks to impress upon the people of merely provincial towns and cities the duty and necessity to do all in their power to help to enhance the importance and prosperity of Toronto. Instead of this our contemporary complains of the obstructions which many places manifest a disposition to throw in the way of Toronto. "One of the things," we are told, "for which there is really no accounting is the absurd jealousy of Toronto which exists in many Canadian towns and cities." It is quite clear from this that no power has given the people of Toronto the gift to see themselves as others see them. In doing that the alleged absurd jealousy exists. So far from this the people of Ontario are proud of their metropolis, rejoice in its prosperity, and have done not a little to promote it by locating there the public institutions to which our contemporary alludes. It is not the prosperity or the progress of Toronto to which outsiders object. It is the inflated conceit which has taken such possession of the people of Toronto as to believe that nothing good can exist outside of Toronto, and which affects to regard with a supercilious contempt everything that does not emanate from or belong to Toronto that the people of Ontario are inclined to resent. It is the intolerable spirit of civic vanity with which the people and press of Toronto seem to be equally permeated, and which foolishly arrogates to that city everything worth knowing, or having, or seeing, which extols Toronto as the hub of the Dominion and deprecates whatever is good elsewhere, that outsiders cannot away with. So soon as other places get fair play from Toronto so soon will the general wish be reciprocated for unexampled prosperity for a place which all the people of Ontario are willing to see become the "Queen City of the Dominion."

PRISONER PARKER.

His History and Departure for Hamilton County—He is Charged with Bigamy—A Hard Case.

(Watertown Times.)

Last Saturday evening James Platt, of Meriden, Conn., son of Senator Platt, and Warren W. Cole, constable of Long Lake, arrived in Watertown.

Leaving the village of Long Lake Friday evening at 6 o'clock they travelled 42 miles by waggon, reaching North Creek, which is the terminus of the Adirondack railroad, Saturday morning and immediately started for Saratoga Springs, going from there to Albany. From thence they came to this city via the Central and U. & B. RR.

WHO THE OUTRAGED LADY IS.

The lady whom Parker so brutally outraged is the wife of George Bull, one of the most prominent lawyers in Philadelphia, Pa., a sister-in-law of U.S. Senator Platt, of Connecticut. Mr. Platt is no connection to ex-Senator Platt of this state as reported. The Platts have built a house at the head of Long Lake, in the town of that name, Hamilton county, and in the summer they spend much time in hunting and fishing. They always have a number of friends as guests, and on this occasion Mrs. Bull was en route for the Platt residence to spend the summer, Mr. Bull being expected to follow later, being detained by business. The distance from Forked Lake, where Mrs. Bull stayed Friday night, to Platt's house is eighteen miles, and has to be made by boat. It was going from the lake to Platt's that the outrage was committed.

ESCAPE OF THE PRISONER.

Upon their arrival at Platt's, Mrs. Bull fainted and one of Platt's guides took the oars out of Parker's boat and carried them into the house, during which a tussel took place between Parker and Hall, of Troy, who endeavored to detain him. When Parker broke away and saw his oars gone he returned to Forked Lake on foot. Constable Cole and Mr. Platt, the son, immediately started in pursuit, and although Parker was home Sunday, or in the woods near by, he evaded them and succeeded in getting away. On the road Parker told a man that he was in trouble and must get out of the woods. He said he killed a fawn last fall, and the game constables where after him. The man brought his boat, paying him $15 in cash.

WHO PARKER IS.

Cole says that Parker came to Forked Lake about one year ago, and has been employed by the hotels around there to furnish them with game, and he was occasionally been employed as a guide when all of the regular guides are engaged. It is reported there that he is now living with his third wife, the other two still living. He is said to have served one term in the Vermont state prison and now one or two warrants are out for him for forgery and petty stealing. Mr. Cole states that lately a few of this class of men have made their appearance at the woods, but now the regular guides are organizing to rid the country of them.

NAPANEE NEWS.

The Gist of News from our Rural Suburb—A House on Fire but no Brigade to Prevent its Demolition.

Napanee is an excellent place for botanists as on the street nearly every species of weeds can be found.

The glass works are progressing finely. The buildings will be very commodious. They are on the line of the G. T. R. A switch will be laid for the accommodation of the company.

Sunday morning a house in the west end of Napanee was burned to the ground. It was of frame and somewhat isolated. The fire bell was vigorously rang, but neither engine nor firemen appeared. There is an excellent engine in the town, but the members of the brigade are expected to draw it to fires themselves. Water is also a scarcity except along the river front. The need of tanks will be felt some day should the northern part of the town be attacked by fire.

On Saturday evening a party of young men were proceeding up the Napanee river in tow of the str. "Flight," which picked up a schooner on the way. When near Napanee the steamer stopped and the tow line slackened and dropped into the water. The boat occupied by the young men drifted across the line, but before it crossed altogether the steamer started. The rope tightened and hoisted the small boat out of the water. The occupants of it escaped with a wetting; both were excellent swimmers. There was quite a sensation on the "Flight."

A GIRL MISLED.

Fruitless Search for Her by Relatives—Resort to Legal Measures.

Glenburnie is somewhat agitated over a scandal of considerable magnitude. In March a young lady, about 18 years of age, in poor health, was sent from her home, in the vicinity of Belleville, to friends in Glenburnie. She won the esteem of many. She was good-looking, hence had many admirers. About April she became acquainted with a young man who had returned from the States. He got into the confidence of the lady, took her for frequent drives and walks, and is said to have ruined her under promise of marriage. The relations of the young couple were discovered and the girl's relatives notified. She was requested to return home, and for this purpose money was sent to her, but instead of returning she was induced to elope with her lover. That was the last that has been seen of her. She was taken to a house near Collinsby, and there kept. Her stepfather came to this city but a short time ago in search of her. He went to the one whom he believed knew where she was and asked "Are you the person who misled my child?" He said he was not, but the production of a revolver made him promise to get her. When released he secreted himself until darkness came and then escaped. For several weeks the foolish girl has been hidden, but enough is known regarding her movements to show that she is in the hands of badly disposed persons. The girl's family are in great distress on account of her conduct, but whenever any attempt is made to secure her she cannot be found. She visited Kingston and remained here for several days. One of the young men, who is interested in the case, borrowed $100 from an uncle, and is said to be spending it in Kingston in keeping her from her friends. As a last resort a warrant has been issued for the arrest of the principal.

ST. PAUL'S CHURCH.

Another Aspect of the Case as Told by a Member of the Congregation—The Cloud Darkens.

DEAR SIR,—It is happily a matter of [illegible] Church of England to be desecrated as St. Paul's Church was by its Incumbent, Rev. W. B. Carey, on last Sunday morning as described in the columns of your issue of yesterday. If the practice thus introduced is to be continued, we may expect "cheers" and "laughter" to be interspersed in the service as we sometimes hear they are in other places. That the Incumbent should have chosen to pour forth his grievances from the pulpit will appear the more extraordinary when it is remembered that he had ample opportunity of discussing them at recent vestry meetings where, however, he failed to put in an appearance, considering probably that it would be more to his advantage to speak from the pulpit where his misstatements could not be contradicted. That Mr. Carey has thus exposed the sores of his mind to the public gaze is my apology for desiring to give the facts of the case similar publication, for the public will then be able to judge of the truth. I cannot, indeed, undertake to explain all the circumstances connected with the matter, space forbidding; but I will demonstrate incontestably that he himself is the main cause of the chronic discord existing in the church, and that his foul aspersions of the character of several of his parishioners, one in particular, is a device for falsely representing the true state of affairs.

Mr. Carey was appointed Incumbent of St. Paul's at Easter, 1875, when the church was in a flourishing condition, and its members at peace and harmony, as they always were until Mr. Carey's arrival. It has been repeatedly told me that soon after coming here, he boasted that two or three persons had been "running" the church, but that he would soon put a stop to that. This "running" consisted in doing hard work for the church, and at the earliest opportunity Mr. Carey showed how he intended stopping the practice. At a public vestry meeting that was held he rudely insulted those who had been guilty of zeal in the church's work, and their sympathies were to some extent alienated. A family, whose members had been active workers, left the church, and the head of it complained to the Bishop that Mr. Carey had interfered in his private affairs. Matters were smoothed over for a time, but in the fall of 1877 the feeling against the Incumbent became so strong that a petition was presented to the Bishop asking for his removal. In Sunday's tirade Mr. Carey had the insolent presumption to blame the troubles of the church upon a few persons whom he described as the dupes of one arch malefactor. I ask the public to judge whether a sincere Christian minister could incur distrust so deep as to be the object of such a petition, and whether a bad man could persuade thirty two good ones to assist in persecuting a respected servant of God. The petition asking for Mr. Carey's removal was signed by the following members of the church:

R. W. Barker, lay delegate; James Shannon, lay delegate; E. Rose, lay delegate; John A. Charles, W. H. Reid, C. S. Oliver, Jas. Davis, Johnston Orr, Mrs. Anne Aston, J. Allen, Hector McDonald, W. G. Elliott, W. Robinson, jr., Mrs. Robbs, Mrs. Glassup, G. J. Tandy, R. T. Burns, Geo. Carruthers, J. Gaskin, J. Ockley, J. Marshall, J. Kane, T. Miller, H. Dunbar, W. T. Rudston, Wm. Perry, H. Bawden, Geo. McCullough, W. Elliott, J. D. Thompson, H. B. Evans, M.D., T. C. Wilson, Alfred S. Oliver, M.D.

These thirty-three persons complained that the Rev. Mr. Carey had disturbed the peace and prosperity of the Church, that the number of regular attendants had been falling off, and asked that he, the cause of the mischief, should be removed. After some time a reconciliation was effected by the Ven. Archdeacon Parnell, but, as was said of celebrated rulers, Mr. Carey "learns nothing and forgets nothing." He continued to introduce changes in the service offensive to the feelings of his people, he continued to insult them. Four superintendents of the Sunday School have, from time to time, left them, and of these three left because they had been affronted by the clergyman. The person so grievously slandered from the pulpit on Sunday had nothing to do with "running" the schools, consequently, the pastor himself must have been the fountain of disturbance. Strange to say the very friends of Mr. Carey admit that they have been rudely treated by him at one time or another. Shortly after his arrival he grossly insulted his venerable predecessor in St. Paul's, and at present he is not on speaking terms with the senior clergymen of his own Church in the city. The one member of his congregation whom his foul tongue calumniated so rancorously on Sunday, gained his honororable distinction by manfully informing Mr. Carey of the opinion held regarding him by the gentleman himself and the majority of the congregation when these latter were silent. At a late meeting of the vestry a friend of Mr. Carey declared that the church would never prosper during his incumbency. He was immediately requested to tell Mr. Carey so, but declined. Mr. Carey's own church warden lately said that if a petition were got up asking Mr. Carey to remove to Gananoque he would use his influence to induce him to accept. It is only right to say that Mr. Wilmot, referred to in the declaration read from the pulpit; and Mrs. Hooper, said to have been insulted, have been interviewed since Sunday morning, and confirm the accuracy of the original report. If the Rev. Mr. Carey had used the lady's own language concerning his treatment of her, the public could have judged whether she was insulted or not. The broad fact remains that the families of both of these persons have left the church on account of the clergyman's conduct. The statement made concerning the Rev Mr. Spencer being censured is altogether untrue, the action taken by the vestry being simply to send that gentleman a copy of the resolution stating what the custom of the church had been as to which he appeared to labour under a misapprehension. Further the resolution was moved, not by the gentleman who moved the vote of thanks to Mr. Spencer, but by Mr. Creeggan, as the vestry book shows. Mr. Carey slandered the gentleman referred to as causing trouble in the church, while it could easily be proved that for the sixteen or seventeen years he had been a member, during the incumbency of the Rev. Canon Mulock, he had never had the slightest difference of opinion with him. These facts will be sufficient data from which the public may judge whether this man has slandered the character of certain of his parishioners, whether he speaks the truth concerning them, and whether his presence would not be an unspeakable calamity to any church. Apologizing for trespassing so much upon your space

I remain, yours truly,
A MEMBER OF ST. PAUL'S CHURCH.
Kingston, Aug. 2nd, 1881.

Advertising Cheats.

It has become so common to write the beginning of an elegant, interesting article and then run it into some advertisement, that we avoid all such cheats and simply call attention to the merits of Hop Bitters in as plain honest terms as possible, to induce people to give them one trial, as no one who knows their value will ever use anything else.—Providence Advertiser.

PARNELL BOUNCED.

He Uses Intemperate Language in the House of Commons Last Night.

London, Aug. 2.—In the House of [illegible] for offensive language and for disregarding the authority of the chair in persisting, despite the Speaker's ruling, in raising the question of the Irish political prisoners, and declaring that the authority of the House of Commons was always on the side of power. Mr. Gladstone moved his suspension for the rest of the sitting. Parnell interrupted Mr. Gladstone, saying that he would not go through the farce of waiting for a vote, as the Speaker interfered with the freedom of discussion. He then quitted the House. The motion for his suspension was carried by 132 to 14. Parnell's exact words in the House of Commons were, "I call the public to witness that you, Mr. Speaker, have refused us freedom of discussion." Mr. Gladstone said he never before heard such words used in the House.

London, Aug. 2.—After Parnell quitted the House of Commons yesterday the majority of his followers consulted with him. It was decided that the English and Scotch as well as Irish votes in the Supply shall be questioned on the ground that they affect the Irishmen resident of Great Britain. The House last night passed, by 111 to 12, the motion that precedence shall be given to the Government business until the close of the session. The principal business will be that of Supply. Mr. Gladstone intimated that the Irish members will be able to raise the question of arrests under the Coercion Act in the discussion on the Appropriation Bill for the Irish expenses. Mr. Parnell was not satisfied with this postponement of the question, hence the scene when Parnell was suspended.

At a meeting of a hundred Conservative peers at Salisbury's residence yesterday the amendments to the Land Bill, suggested by Earl Salisbury, were unanimously agreed to. In addition to those already stated they include one providing for examination and revision, after six years, of the duties and constitution of the land court.

Messrs. Murphy and Campion, two principal members of Rathdowney, Queen's County Branch of the land league, have been arrested under the Coercion Act.

WASHINGTON NOTES.

Feeling in the South—Spread of Malarial Fever—President Garfield's Condition.

Washington, Aug. 2.—Judge Mackey states that there have been sixty public meetings in South Carolina since the President was shot, at which a general feeling of regret was expressed for the suffering of the President and horror of the assassin.

A commission will shortly be appointed to visit the large post offices of the country to investigate the salaries and allowances, and the general administration of the offices.

Another attendant at the White House was prostrated with a malarial attack yesterday, making seven thus far. Kirkwood is also suffering from a malarial attack.

The continued altitude of the President's pulse is attracting attention. No official explanation has been made. The President's friends say that the normal condition of his pulse is 70°. The attending physicians, however, put it at 80°. Dr. Bliss is reported as saying that it is the intention of the physicians to remove the President from the White House at the earliest possible moment. In reply to a question as to when that would be he said "In the course of two or three weeks." It is thought that the President will be taken on a sea voyage. Mrs. Garfield reads to the President parts of the letters concerning him, and also the daily papers. It is generally the editorials the President wants to hear. It is stated that Dr. Bliss believes that the President will be able to sit up inside of three weeks at the furthest, possibly within a fortnight. He also declares that the President is absolutely free from malaria. Dr. Hamilton is also reported as saying that it looks as if the President in a week or two will be able to give some attention to his executive duties. Dr. Bliss believes that the bullet lies from an inch to an inch and a half below the surface.

Indian Atrocities.

San Francisco, Aug. 2.—Ambrose Lornpraix, who was with a party of surveyors recently killed by Indians, says that the party was attacked among the sand hills. Although well armed they had no leader and did not know how to fight the Indians. The surveyors fought desperately. The Indians numbered 45, of whom six were killed and nine wounded. All the surveyors, numbering 13, were killed, six being despatched while lying on the field wounded. Lornpraix, going behind the train party, was captured before the battle and would have been killed but for the Indians being informed that he would be ransomed. The Indians were commanded by Victoria and were under rigid discipline. After the fight the Indians committed many depredations and murders. Lornpraix finally escaping.

Epidemic in Pittsburg.

Pittsburg, Pa., Aug. 2.—Small-pox and typhoid fever are very prevalent here. It is feared that this winter the former will be an epidemic. A horrible stench arises from the grave yards here used by the colored people. This is due to the interment of bodies one on top of the other, in some instances the body filling the grave to within six inches of the top. During the hot days the graves crack open and foul steam escapes. Almost every night 20 or 30 dogs prawl through the grounds, and the sexton is frequently obliged to cover the boxes which they have laid bare.

Excited Mother.

Fort Wayne, Ind., Aug. 2.—There is a sensation here over the attempt of the widow of Rabbi Rubin to shoot Dr. Bruebach, a prominent physician. Bruebach was engaged to marry Mrs. Rubin's daughter, whose husband recently committed suicide. Mrs. Rubin opposed the marriage because the doctor is a Gentile.

A Trance Broken.

Reading, Pa., Aug. 1.—John Gyumberer, who has been in a trance for 169 days, has recovered consciousness. He remembers nothing that took place during the trance and attributes the latter to some drug given him in Virginia.

Plea Put In.

Liverpool, Aug. 2—McGrath and McKevitt to-day pleaded not guilty to the indictment charging them with having attempted to blow up the Town Hall. The count of attempted murder in the indictment will be abandoned.

Dreadful News.

Peoria, Ill., Aug. 2.—Crowe confesses to a knowledge of the plot to blow up the British vessels, and boasts that after Sept. 1st no English vessel will be safe.

NATIONAL FAIR TRADE.

The Movement Favoured by the Present Conservative Leaders.

London, Aug. 2.—It is thought that [illegible] tially as it left the House of Commons. The programme of the National Fair Trade League which will shortly commence an active campaign against the free trade in England has been issued. The League demands that there be no renewal of commercial treaties unless terminable at a year's notice; that the imports of raw material for home industries be free from every quarter; that adequate duties be levied on the manufactures of foreign states, refusing to receive British manufactures in fair exchange; and that the same be removed in case any nation agrees to take British manufactures free of duty; that a very moderate duty be levied on all articles of food from foreign countries, the same being admitted free from the colonies and dependencies which are prepared to take British manufactures in a reasonable free interchange. The last paragraph further explains the object to be attained by the league and is principally aimed against America. The protection movement already receives encouragement from the Conservative leaders.

The explosion completely demolished the magazine, destroyed many houses in its vicinity, and damaged others. A large number of people were killed. Soldiers and citizens went to work to recover the bodies of those buried in the ruins. 70 have been recovered, among them Francisco Pana, District Judge. Bad Taste in the Mouth.

When the digestive organs do not perform their functions properly, a bad taste in the mouth, accompanied by headache and heaviness, is generally the result. Safe, gentle purgatives are the only remedy, and HERRICK'S SUGAR COATED VEGETABLE PILLS are the ever discovered.

"A SOUND MIND IN A HEALTHY BODY"—The old Roman idea of the highest degree of happiness. The liver rules the roast, indigestion creates anarchy in the physical system. Costiveness, biliousness, dizziness and bad taste in the mouth, yellow skin and eyes, loss of appetite, loss of energy, and low spirits, pains in the back and side, wind and foul stomach; all these create bad blood. Regulate the bowels, stomach, liver, and kidneys with ZOPESA (from Brazil) try a 10 cent sample, and ask Henry Wade or Heath & Gunn about it.
