CITY AND VICINITY.

PROBS.—Moderate winds, mostly between south east and south west, fine hot weather, with local thunder storms.

THERE is at the station a little black curl-an dog which has formed a great attachment for the officers, frequently accompanying them for hours on their beats.

STREET CARS.—It is now reported that the Street Railway Company's stables will be removed to, or rather new ones will be erected on Union Street near the Drill Shed. The situation is more central.

HOUSE KEEPERS, STORE KEEPERS, ETC.,—By leaving your address at this office our agent will call with an assortment of the newest and most handsome window shades in the Dominion. M Staunton & Co., Toronto.

CHARCOAL WORKS.—The charcoal works are now being erected. It is hoped that they will be in operation by the 1st of September. The company will put up the building themselves. They will ask for no tenders.

CRICKET MATCHES.—At a meeting of the Kingston Cricket Club, held yesterday, a team was selected to play the Napanee club a match to-morrow. It was partially decided to have a team visit Prescott at an early date.

INJURY TO PROPERTY.—Wm. Crindle hired a horse from Harry Wells yesterday to go to Cinanoque. He did not do as he said he would, but taking six men into the vehicle drove rapidly around the city. He will answer for his conduct at the court to-morrow.

POLICE COURT.—Joseph Dominick, an Indian, for drunkenness, was dismissed from the Police Court this morning. An uptown citizen was charged with infringing the fire by-law by having a stove pipe running through the roof. The charge was withdrawn, the pipe having been removed.

ST. PAUL'S CONCERT ON THE WATER.—Don't forget this enjoyable affair on Thursday night. The str. "Watertown" with "B" Battery band leaves ferry wharf at 7:30 o'clock sharp. Delightful moonlight trip among the Islands. First class music. Large boat. Tickets limited to 450. 25c each.

SUPERINTENDENT INDUCTED.—Rev. Jas. Robertson, of Knox College, Winnipeg, has been formally inducted into his new position as Superintendent of Presbyterian Missions in Manitoba and the North West, an office which was created by the act of the General Assembly which sat at Kingston last June.

FINE WHEAT.—Mr. Zachariah David sends us a specimen of spring wheat, new species, which is very remarkable for its plumpness and the prolific nature of its yield. The seed was imported from the west, and is found to be well adapted to the soil of this vicinity. The crop will be very heavy. Mr. David resides near Westbrook.

Summer Route.

An attractive excursion route is to-day announced in our advertising columns, embracing the picturesque Ottawa River, and railway journey to Ottawa and from Montreal. As excursion rates over this route are offered at all Grand Trunk Railway ticket offices it will, no doubt, soon be largely patronized, and its merits be widely made known. Next year if the Company would include the option of taking the Rideau Canal steamers to Ottawa from Kingston they would increase the popularity of the trip.

Death of Mrs. Hackett.

Most people who knew the late Mrs. John Hackett will be surprised at the announcement of her death, which took place at L'Hotel Dieu last night, where her husband is also lying very ill. The aged couple bought and dealt in hides and sheep skins for years, and made considerable money, which they carefully saved. Twice they left Kingston for the purpose of ending their days in Ireland, but they remained in the old land but a short time on both occasions. The changes which years had wrought had made it less desirable for permanent residence than Canada, and so they finally settled in Kingston. Mrs. Hackett has not long enjoyed her retired life, and her faithful partner is very much broken down in health.

An Old Friend Speaks.

Rev. J. F. Porter, of London, Eng., writes us that he feels almost a Kingstonian again through having our mutual friend Dr. Dupuis staying with him, and that we will be glad to know that he has finished successfully his examination for the diploma of the Royal College of Surgeons, England. "This is all the more creditable to the Dr., as he has simply walked into his honours," says Mr Porter, "by the ability upon which his practice has depended, without the special study usually pursued by candidates for that degree. You may judge of the examination by the fact that only about 70 candidates out of over 200 passed successfully." At last accounts the weather in England was unusually hot, and of course the comet was getting the blame of it all; and it seemed not only to affect the temperature, but from the crime records it appeared to affect the temper of the people as seriously as the temper of the climate. Murders, suicides and wife beatings were dreadfully prevalent. Mrs. Porter is better in health than when she left this city.

A BICYCLIST'S TRIP.

A Run From Toronto to Kingston—Experiences by the Way.

Mr. F. N. Howland, of Toronto, has travelled to Kingston on a bicycle. He left the Queen's City on Saturday morning at 1 o'clock, and, after a pleasant trip, although the roads were rough at some places, especially west of Newcastle, arrived at Cobourg at 8 o'clock, a distance of 71 miles. After supper he proceeded on to Colborne, where he remained until yesterday morning at 8 o'clock, when he resumed his journey. He arrived in Belleville at 12 o'clock and rested until 2:30 p.m., when he started for Kingston, reaching here at 8 p.m. He put up at the British American Hotel. He travelled altogether a distance of 157 miles, and in time which is considered remarkably good. Mr. Howland speaks highly of the condition of the road between Kingston and Napanee. He considers it singular that there are so few bicyclists in this city when the roads in the vicinity are in such excellent trim. He is connected with a Toronto club which has 30 members. He rides a 56 inch "Premier." He shows the scars of a terrible fall he received while passing down a hill near the Credit River. He was proceeding at a rate of 40 miles an hour, his legs being over the handle. The bicycle struck an obstruction and he was thrown about thirty feet, striking on his face. He was laid up for a week or so, but the little incident did not dampen his ardor. He left this afternoon by the Royal Mail steamer on his return home.

PERSONAL MENTION.

Mr. Gallagher, of McAuley's stationery depot, has taken charge of one of Henry Bros. stores in Napanee.

Mayor Pense has gone on the press Association excursion. The journalists met in Port Hope this morning. His Worship was elected President.

Mr. G. G. Fraser, of Fraser & Mowat, has left for Hamilton to engage in new mercantile pursuits. We wish this popular young Kingstonian a flowing measure of success.

Mr. D. A. Givens, of the Kingston Collegiate Institute, contributes a very readable article to the Citizen, descriptive of the trip from Kingston to Ottawa via Rideau Canal, on the steamer "Gypsy."

Mr. F. X. Cousineau has arrived from the old country, and is now on his way to the Caledonia Springs. He intends returning home about the 15th inst. when no doubt the public will have an opportunity of purchasing dry goods cheaper than ever.

Still An Enthusiast.

The Winnipeg Free Press has a very interesting letter on the "North Magnetic Pole," signed "Magnetograph," which we recognize as the nom de plume of Capt. Kennedy, St. Andrew's, Man. He was formerly a merchant in Kingston some twenty-five years ago at which time he wrote a great deal regarding Arctic expeditions and explorations. So prominently did he figure in the agitation on the subject that he was fitly chosen as one of those who made the Lady Franklin expedition. On his return to England he delivered many lectures, and hail the gold fortune, while detailing his heroic experiences, to win the affectionate regard of a lady in the audience, to whom he was afterwards married. Perhaps few in Kingston remember the circumstance, and but few will recall the interest which centred in his lectures in this city after a long absence and prior to his departure for Manitoba. In the new Province he and his wife have prospered and wield great social influence.

MARINE NOTES.

From Buffalo to Detroit—Sailors Wanted—Arrivals.

The str. John Thorn brought here a large party of excursionists from Aleksandria Bay this morning.

The schr. Pride of America has been placed in ordinary at Milwaukee until there is an improvement in freights.

The Island Belle had the misfortune break a wheel again Saturday afternoon, which caused the passengers to be detained at Clayton. This is the second time the Belle has had a wheel broken this season.

The str. Magnet is bringing over large quantities of fruit from Charlotte and Oswego for trans shipment east. The unloading of it at Swift's dock early in the morning is a really interesting scene. The fruit from Bed at present is principally apples. The peaches will arrive shortly.

The sailors who were brought out from Scotland by Mr. D. D. Calvin, some time ago, are now scattered over the lakes. Some of the men have returned to the salt water and are now engaged on ocean vessels. Others are still employed on the upper lakes. This morning one of the Scotchmen arrived in the city. He has been sailing on the schr. Twilight and just returned from Lake Huron.

There is trouble in Detroit regarding the burial of Dennis Mandeville, the Belleville sailor who died from injuries received by a fall on the schr. Antelope. His widow and three children arrived in Detroit with not enough money to buy a meal. She was provided for and the case referred to the Customs official. The latter refused to bury the body as it was that of a Canadian. The matter was referred to the Canadian authorities at Windsor, but they have done nothing. The State will have the body interred.

A Vessel Ashore.

Last evening the schr. Navada ran ashore on Charity Shoal, which lies to the South east of Pelgrin Island and near to Grenadier Island. The vessel left here at six o'clock last night for Oswego to load coal for Chicago. A telegram was received asking for a tug to pull the vessel off. The M. T. Company prepared the tug Bronson and only awaited permission to be granted to her by the American Government to commence operations. One of the sailors says that when the vessel ran ashore she had full canvass set. There is 4 ft. of water over the shoal. The vessel went ashore at midnight. Two sailors pulled the yawl to Nine Mile Point, a distance of ten miles, and from there, securing a boat, came to Kingston. The distressed vessel will be taken off as soon as possible, as she is liable to chafe in her present position. About noon the Bronson went to her rescue.

THOUSAND ISLAND PARK.

Close of the Parliament—Examinations Passed—Temperance Meeting Begun.

On Saturday morning the examinations of the normal and children's classes were held. In the evening Rev. B. J. Vincent announced in part the result of the children's work. Fourteen passed a very satisfactory examination, only four or five falling below the required standard.

The question would have puzzled older heads, yet a child of six years answered them. The per cent. of the papers is not yet made out, consequently the names of those deserving the prizes offered are not known. The papers of the normal class have not been examined.

The closing exercises of the parliament were held in the evening. Short addresses were made by Dr. Dorchester Mr Platt, Rev. Dr. Taylor, Rev. B. J. Vincent, and Dr. Skinner, of Kingston. In the course of his remarks, Dr. Skinner alluded to the fact that the five gentlemen, who were examined in the morning, were Canadians. Music was furnished by Miss Walty, of Clayton, the quartette which sung during the parliament, and Master Wilder.

Sunday's programme was as follows: 9:30 o'clock, teachers' meeting; 11 o'clock sermon by Dr. Dorchester; 2:30 o'clock, Sunday school; 6:30 o'clock, praise service; 8 o'clock, anniversary exercises of the Woman's Foreign Missionary Society; Mrs. Scidmore, of New York, addressed the meeting. The Sunday School Parliament has been a very profitable occasion, and much credit is due Rev. B. J. Vincent for the able manner in which he has conducted it.

Next is the temperance meeting, opening on August 2, conducted by Rev. D. C. Babcock, of Philadelphia.

Late Sailing Reg ta.

Forest and Stream is much mistaken when it says that in the race between the "Emma" and "Katie Gray," the former shifted ballast, while the latter sailed with fixed ballast. The same paper says the "Katie Gray" will be glad to meet the "Emma" in Belleville waters and sail her "under the recognized rules applicable to legitimate sport." To which Mr. Affords in conversation with our reporter, remarked: "One would be led to suppose that the 'Emma' was the only yacht which shifted ballast in the race here on Dominion Day. All the yachts shifted ballast, and the rule was made to meet the views of those who sometimes agree not to shift and do so. I now state that I am prepared to make a race with any yacht in Canada of the 'Emma's' class, to be sailed under the Royal Canadian Yacht Club rules, in Kingston harbour or upon any neutral water that may be agreed upon, the race to take place within thirty days from date."

ST. VINCENT DE PAUL.

A BRIEF SKETCH OF ITS ORIGIN AND

Changes in a Few Years. Reference to Departed Friends. Revenue and Expenditure. An Appeal for Aid.

To-morrow the St. Vincent de Paul Society will have its annual picnic, and the occasion has suggested a few observations in regard to the claims which it has upon the support and consideration of the public. Excepting in connection with the appeals made on its behalf at long intervals the merits and work of their excellent organization are little discussed, and consequently very inadequately known. Unostentatiously its benevolence is distributed, and hundreds during the past fifteen years have been befriended under circumstances which have made the service an unmixed blessing. From small beginnings the Society of St. Vincent de Paul—named after one of the most pious and charitable priests of whom history gives us record—has become a great in its ramifications as to have existed almost every quarter of the world. It was founded in Paris in 1833 by nine young students of the University of Paris, whose religious fervour enabled them to achieve the ends for which they banded themselves together, despite the mortifying and destructive influences of the infidelity which then prevailed. Branches of the association were soon afterwards formed in many portions of France. This extension of a good cause was largely accomplished by the separation of the original members, whose labours were singularly enthusiastic and unremitting, and to whose influence may be attributed its spread all over Europe within an amazingly short space of time. In 1846 the Society was introduced into Quebec. No sooner had the Canadians been acquainted with the vast services rendered by it than they, compassionating the miseries of the poor, conceived the idea of having it represented, and established the Conference of Our Lady of Quebec on the model of those of Paris. The Catholics of Toronto, desirious of following their fellow Christians throughout the globe in their endeavourings to alleviate the sufferings of the poor, and anxious to share in the many spiritual advantages granted by the Church to the children of St. Vincent de Paul, obtained the sanction of Dr. De Charbonnel, in 1850, to form themselves into the Conference of Charity of Our Lady of Toronto, and applied to the Provincial Council of Canada of the Society of St. Vincent de Paul to be aggregated to that society.

BRANCH FORMED IN KINGSTON.

In January, 1856, St. Mary's Conference of the Society of St. Vincent de Paul was founded in Kingston. Mr. J. F. Murray, a bank clerk, who had been a member of the Toronto association, and who was thoroughly impressed with its utility and benefits, interested himself in having a similar institution here, and his labours were cordially endorsed by Bishop Horan, its best and warmest supporter during his life and episcopal reign. His Lordship was instrumental in a considerable degree in having the inaugural meeting called at which the following persons tendered their names as members: James F. Murray, James Campbell, Owen Tierney, D. Rigney, P. Purcell, J. Davis, Alex. B. MacDonnell, James Gardiner, J. McManus, P. Campbell, B. Morrow, and J. Ryan. Of these twelve as many as seven have passed over to the great majority, leaving memories which are still fresh and fragrant, and examples which have been profitably copied. The first officers of the society were:

President—J. F. Murray.
Vice-President—J. Ryan.
Secretary—Owen Tierney.
Treasurer—J. McManus.

SUCCESSION OF PRESIDENTS.

In about two months afterwards Mr. Murray, who was employed in the Bank of Upper Canada, was removed to Toronto, and this circumstance was quickly followed by the lamentable death of the young man. Mr. Joseph Ryan, then a law student in the office of Messrs. Britton & Price, now a barrister and the representative of Marquette, Man., in the House of Commons, succeeded to the Presidency and remained in that position until his departure from the city. Mr. McManus became the next President. When nominated he declined to act, but it is recorded that "after a few words of persuasion from his lordship he was induced to accept the office." He filled the position for three years acceptably, the practice being to allow one who presided satisfactorily to continue to act until resignation or some other incident made a new appointment necessary. Mr. McManus retired for some years and was then recalled. He was succeeded by Messrs. A. B. McDonnell, John McNaughton, T. H. McGuire, Joseph Swift and P. Brown, all of whom had been greatly solicitous for the successful administration of the Society's affairs. Governed by the same general laws and actuated by the same spirit each executive head has striven to make his term fruitful of good results. Bishop Horan was the constant adviser of the conference; he was its first honorary President, a position which he held at the time of his death, and to which Bishop O'Brien was appointed when he became head of the Church in the Diocese of Kingston.

LIST OF MINOR OFFICERS.

The officers who have occupied positions of honor and responsibility, since the formation of the Society, besides those mentioned, are:

Vice-Presidents—Messrs. J. Ryan; A. B. McDonnell (who died in Montreal, greatly regretted); J. Gardiner, and Dr. Wafer (both deceased); M. Flanagan, Edward Hickey, J. O'Brien and P. Daley.

Treasurers—Messrs. J. McManus, J. Kelly, J. McIlhearn, and P. Smith.

Secretaries—Messrs. O. Tierney, P. Quinn (Advocate, of Montreal, since died); P. Slaven (now merchant, of Napanee); Dr. Ezly (in the United States); J. Brady (deceased); E. Hickey, T. J. Donoghue, P. Brown, J. Conley, and A. Hanley.

All these have rendered good service. Death has been busier than most people have been aware of, and the Society's ranks have been greatly decimated by it. Among the number of those who Penitentiary, James Harty, J. O'Reilly, Dennis Branigan, P. O'Reilly, sr., P. Conroy, Col. Moore, and T. Baker. Those who went in active relationship when summoned hence were John Brady, D. Rigney, John Reynard, T. Quinn, advocate, late of Montreal; C. La Rose, J. Davis, P. Dougherty, B. Somers, John O'Connor, C. Becker, Dr. Wafer and late P. O'Reilly, jr. The great majority of these men were not merely liberal in so far as time and labor were concerned, but in a financial sense contributed to the funds of the society. The late Mr. Davis was a uniform and very generous giver, having for several years been credited with the gift of five hundred loaves of bread. The Society has met, during the winter months, once a week, on Sunday afternoons.

LARDER AMONG THE POOR.

The Society's membership has been about 95. Its benevolence has not been strictly confined to the Catholics, many Protestants having been helped temporarily by the association. If a family or person were found in want he or they had their pressing needs supplied, and then their cases were reported to the churches or organizations from which further assistance was to be expected.

The work of visiting the poor is the distinctive characteristic of the society, according best with its wants, and being best adapted to receive the zeal of its members. By accustoming themselves to sit by the hearths of the poor, to see for themselves their physical and moral destitution, they learned how to love them and relieve the wants. Moreover, it is said that this work was easy, that it did not demand a long apprenticeship or exact time not at the disposal of every one. It is enjoined that the conferences should, above all things, strictly practice these domiciliary visits in the Christian spirit of their beloved patron, St. Vincent de Paul. In this work the clergy are always councillors and helpers.

REPLENISHING THE SOCIETIES TREASURY.

The conference of the Society of St. Vincent de Paul has been obliged to resort to various expedients to raise the funds required for carrying out the work undertaken each year. One favourite method of reaching the purses of the people was to have lectures delivered at stated times by eminent men, including Rev. Father O'Farrell, then of Montreal, now Bishop of New Jersey; Rev. J. Swift, of Troy, N.Y.; Mr. Stephen J. Meaney, Mr. J. J. Curran and Captain Kirwan, of Montreal; Father Graham, Father Masterson, Bishop Lynch, of Charleston; Father McCann, Toronto; Father Langeake, S.J., New York; Father Edward Murray, Cobourg; Father Stafford, Lindsay; Father Stanton, Smith's Falls; the late Bishop O'Brien, Father Leonard and Father Twohey. The two most profitable lectures were those of Rev. Father O'Farrel and Mr. Meaney, which netted, above expenses, $153 and $132 respectively.

A SPLENDID RECORD.

The actual operations of the association cannot easily be got at, but it has been computed that the total income and expenditure during the fifteen years of its existence has been $12,000. The annual average has been $750.

The statistics of the Societies, carefully gleaned from various sources, are as follows:

Average families assisted	75
Average persons assisted	250
Average wood distribution, cords	85
Average cost of wood, per cord	$ 415 00
Total fuel supply, cords	1,358
Paid for wood, total	$ 5,677 12
Bread distributed, loaves, average	1,500
Average price of bread, per loaf	(5¢)
Total number of loaves	24,000
Cost of bread, 15 years	$ 2,380 00
Flour dispensed, lbs., average	1,600
Average cost of flour, per cwt.	$ 285 00
Total flour purchased, lbs.	25,000
Total outlay for flour	$ 750.20
Groceries, rent, medical comforts and burial expenses	$ 199 23
Total amount expended	$ 3,187 68

Now a society which does so much for the community should have the assistance of every generous hearted citizen. What we have said should have a tendency to make the work of benevolence less arduous and trying; it should make the result of an appeal for aid more satisfactory than past experience has indicated; it should cause such a rally of friends at the picnic to-morrow as has not been seen under similar circumstances heretofore. Noble society! Noble cause!
