GOOD SCULLING MATCH.

Four entered for the sculling match; (for two prizes, a clock presented by the 'Prentice Boys', valued at $10; and a silver cup, the present of Worshipful Master [illegible] valued at $1[illegible], namely S. Gray, S. Cox, J. Mandeville and C. T. Gray. The latter pulled a lapstreak, a line boat in which to practice, but unfitted for racing purposes. The course lay in a south westerly direction, in the lee of the island, the wind blowing strongly from the west. A start was made at 6 o'clock. S. Gray took the lead and steered a good course for his buoy, Mandeville and Cox pulling more towards the shore. C. T. Gray fell far behind. In turning the buoys Mandeville made a mistake which cost him one of the prizes. The two men nearest the shore in starting, C. T. Gray and S. Cox, were instructed to turn a blue flag, and the outside men a white flag. Mandeville turned the first he came to, the blue, he and S. Gray being in the act of turning together. On commencing the return to the winning buoy Mandeville took the lead and maintained it until the last quarter had been reached, when S. Grey spurted, passed him and came in about a boat length and a half ahead. Cox was, perhaps, three boat lengths in rear and nearer shore. He would have been a better third had he not miscalculated the distance to the half mile buoy and shot far past it. The committee, however, gave him second prize, holding that had Mandeville turned his own buoy he might have been in a different place in the race, and that S. Gray would have been the winner by a greater odds.

Dancing was kept up by some until the last minute to the music of Montgomery's quadrille band. The 47th band did good service in the city, at the wharf and on the ground. At 9:30 the last of the pic-nicers reached the city. "God Save the Queen" was played and sung by those on board.

"I don't want that Stuff."

Is what a lady of Boston said to her husband when he brought home some medicine to cure her of sick headache and neuralgia which had made her miserable for fourteen years. At the first attack thereafter, it was administered to her with such good results, that she continued its use until cured, and made so enthusiastic in its praise, that she induced twenty-two of the best families in her circle to adopt it as the regular family medicine. That "stuff" is Hop Bitters.—Standard.

Puttner's Emulsion.

We beg leave to call our readers attention to the advertisement of PUTTNER'S EMULSION which appears in our columns, and judging from the high medical reputation it bears, it will merit the confidence of the profession and public at large. The inventor claims it contains a large percentage of pure oil than any other Emulsion, and made in a very pleasant and palatable form so that the most delicate stomach can retain it. It can be had from all drug men.

Burdock Blood Bitters

Cures scrofula, erysipelas, salt rheum, piles and all humors of the blood. Cures dyspepsia, liver complaint, biliousness, constipation, dropsy, kidney complaints, headache, nervousness, female weakness and general debility.

The Old Reliable.

The remedy that has stood the test of time is Dr. Fowler's Extract of Wild Strawberry. Almost infallible to cure dysentery, cholera, morbus, and all manner of fluxes, cholic, cramps, cholera, infantum, and every form of summer complaints.

"A SOUND MIND IN A HEALTHY BODY"—The old Roman idea of the highest degree of happiness. The liver rules the roast, indigestion creates anarchy in the physical system. Costiveness, biliousness, dizziness and bad taste in the mouth, yellow skin and eyes, loss of appetite, loss of energy, and low spirits, pains in the back and side, wind and foul stomach; all these create bad blood. Regulate the bowels, stomach, liver, and kidneys with Zopesa, (from Brazil) try a 10 cent sample, and ask Henry Wade or Heath & Gunn about it.

There is no better family medicine than Dr. Carson's Stomach and Constipation Bitters. They are taken alike by both old and young. They invigorate the system. They should invariably be used instead of those little well-known nauseous purgatives called pills. In large 8 oz. bottles at 50c. For sale by all druggists.

A GREAT SUCCESS IN SERGE FOR SUITINGS.—Z. Prevost, at the New York Clothing Store, is having great success in his serge suitings, having on hand English, Irish and Canadian serges. His English serges at $10 a suit (made to order) are taking the trade in the city.

Daily British Whig.

"Opifer per Orbem Dicor."

There will be no end of Tory boasting [illegible] times together have rolled up a surplus of about three millions of dollars. True statesmanship under such circumstances would take immediate advantage of the existence of a surplus to lighten the burden of taxation upon the people: Gladstone would do it, and why not Tilley? Because to lighten the people's burdens would mean a reduction in the tariff and the virtual abandonment of the principle of protection. And so the inordinate and oppressive taxation of the people must go on until the next election shall furnish the electors with the opportunity to place men in power who will consult the good of the people by lightening their burdens and exacting only sufficient taxation to meet the actual requirements of the public service.

One of the objections Lord Roseberry had against entering the Gladstone Cabinet was lest it might be esteemed a reward for the valuable services he rendered the veteran statesman in his successful struggle with Buccleugh for the representation of Midlothian in the House of Commons. No such reflection can be urged against either Gladstone on the one hand or Roseberry on the other in connection with the entrance of the latter into the Government since he has accepted a post which is considerably below what a man of his rank and abilities might have legitimately aspired to. This is quite in accordance with Lord Roseberry's determination not to accept anything at Mr. Gladstone's hands that might be construed into reward for election assistance, while it is also in complete consonance with the English Premier's own view that a beginner ought to begin at the foot of the ladder and work his way upward.

It was no bid for a passing cheer when Hon. Mr. Blake—recalling the history of confederation at his first meeting in Nova Scotia—condemned the consummation of that great work without intimating it to the voice of the people. It was quite consistent not only with his principles but with his record for Mr. Blake to take this position. His attitude on the recently perpetrated Pacific Railway Syndicate iniquity was precisely a similar one, Mr. Blake most earnestly and vigorously contending from his place in Parliament that a matter of such moment should be submitted to the people for their direct ratification or rejection. It is essentially the Tory idea to govern the people and dispose of them and their interests without consulting them, while it has ever been the practice of the Liberal party to administer government in accordance with the wishes of the people or in other words to permit and encourage the people to govern themselves.

KINGSTON AND THE "GLOBE."

On behalf of the "old limestone city" we much appreciate and thankfully accept the Thunderer's friendly sentiments in a recent article entitled, "The Globe and Kingston." If the discussion anent the overweening vanity of the city of Toronto and the alleged jealousy of the city of Kingston has had no other results than to develope the hitherto unknown fact that the Globe is the best western friend of Kingston some good at any rate has been done and the printer's ink expended has been well invested. Covert sneers stare through the polite veneering of the article, 'tis true, as for example the closing reference to the possibility of Kingston overtaking and distancing Toronto in the matter of population and commercial prosperity but these things were to be expected and will be accepted without "wincing and whining." As proof of the practical friendship of the Globe to Kingston, its advocacy of the Government subsidy to the Kingston and Pembroke Railway and its persistent and consistent efforts to save the city from misrepresentation in the person of Sir John Macdonald are cited as cases in point. For the first mentioned favour we are duly grateful, as also for the last though we question if the Globe would not take higher and more general ground for its opposition to the Tory Chieftain than a mere friendly feeling towards the place he had misrepresented in Parliament for over thirty years. While sincerely obliged for the good will that runs through the article in question it requires no "attack of jaundice" to impel us to repel the charge of inanity in which so many are fond of indulging against the city of Kingston. The particular piece of undeserved depreciation in which the Globe correspondent indulged was totally uncalled for and utterly untrue. You may call it "bandinage," and it may have been intended as a salutary stir to business activity, but it is strange that every town and village down the lakes came in for some complimentary reference until Kingston was reached, when the worst that could be said about its dead-alive inertness was evidently regarded as good enough for the place. Such "bandinage" is not calculated to have the improving effect which is claimed to be the object of it. We object to the everlasting depreciation of our city and for the reason that it is undeserved and unjust. Without claiming for Kingston that it is "a model of business activity and enterprise" it can be successfully maintained that there is as large a proportion of business ability and enterprise in it as in any place of its population in the country. The inception of new enterprises and the extension of old ones prove this, and go to disprove the charge of inanity which is so falsely flippantly and frequently preferred against us.

RUNAWAY ACCIDENT.—The horse of Mr. McFarlane, Portsmouth, ran away this afternoon smashing the buggy and throwing the driver out. Mr. McFarlane had his legs badly injured although able to walk home.

A MYSTERY CLEARED UP.

Remains of a Missing Boy Found in the Water at Cataraqui Bridge.

On Wednesday morning about 9:30 o'clock the youthful son of Mr. Whitcher, painter, Princess Street, left his home. There was during the day considerable anxiety felt regarding his whereabouts. It was at first thought he had gone to a friend's out of the city, then that he had gone to the picnic of St. George's Society; but not returning late in the evening a vigilant search was made for him. Thursday came and went and the distressed parents found no clue to the missing boy, and as one of the last expedients the father, weary of much labour and sick at heart, called at this office and desired that an advertisement should be inserted in the WHIG soliciting information respecting his erring son. The notice was written and ordered to be inserted to-day. It is not now necessary. Yesterday afternoon about 3 o'clock a body was observed floating in the water at Cataraqui bridge. It was fished out, the little arms bent upward and the hands clenched. Around one of his coat sleeves was wrapped a fishing line, which indicated his purpose in visiting the water at such a point. He was known to be passionately fond of fishing. The remains were not known by those who removed them from the water. Dr. Saunders was summoned, and, not deeming an inquest necessary, had given instructions to have the body interred or placed where it would not be exposed to the public gaze but at the same time admit of identification. News of this kind travels fast and ere long it reached Mr. Whitcher, who hastened to where the corpse was laid out, and, with grief unutterable, pronounced it that of his unfortunate son. Of course it was conveyed to the house of mourning, and an affectionate mother has been well nigh distracted by this unhappy conclusion to her three days of terrible suspense.

Last evening another father, one Murphy, called at the police station, anxiously enquiring about his little son, also about 7 years of ago, who was missing, and of whom no tidings could be received.

HARROWSMITH DEMONSTRATION.

A Large and Successful Gathering—Procession and Pic-nic.

Notwithstanding the rainy and threatening aspect of the weather the 'Prentice Boys' pic-nic at Harrowsmith yesterday was highly successful. The village was dressed in a very neat and tasty manner. At 8 a.m. the fine band of "B" Battery, twenty strong, arrived by K. & P. RR. After forming in line they were conducted to breakfast at the Albion Hotel. Satisfying the inner man they serenaded the hotel, playing some spirited airs, which were greatly appreciated.

The Harrowsmith 'Prentice Boys were occupied until about noon in escorting the different lodges as they arrived. The band was quartered in the Township Hall and discoursed melody to those who were waiting for the number to be completed before proceeding to the pic-nic grounds. At 12:30 the procession started for the grove, half a mile away. There were ten lodges in procession. Their uniform consisted of black pants, white vest, white gloves, black hat and cravat, at once elegant and neat, and which appeared to good advantage when they were all formed in line.

After arriving at the grove, where a spacious platform had been erected, among other speakers they were addressed by Grand Master McIlroy, who, in a neat speech, gave good advice regarding their conduct in all circumstances, also their duties towards their country, themselves and society.

After the speech the tripping of the light fantastic was indulged in, the music being furnished by the Battery Band. The band were compelled to leave on the 6 o'clock train. The pic-nicers then dispersed, well pleased with the day's proceedings.

"B" Battery band was eminently satisfactory, the members being well pleased with their treatment.

THOUSAND ISLAND PARK.

Delightful Evening Entertainment—Coming Literary Treats—Excursions.

Artistic entertainments, under the charge of Prof. G. F. Comfort, of Syracuse University, are now being given. No day meetings are held. The programme comprises literary and musical exercises in the evenings. The concert on Wednesday evening was given by Dr. Schultz, of Syracuse, assisted by several young ladies, graduates of the musical department of Syracuse University. The music, consisting of instrumental solos and duetts and vocal solos, was excellent. Dr. Schultz with his rare old violins, delighted the audience with his selections.

Rev. A. J. Durston and Miss M. M. Adams, of Syracuse, read several selections in a very pleasant manner.

Thursday evening Prof. G. F. Comfort delivered a lecture on "Roman Art, Ancient and Medieval," fully illustrated with the stereopticon. A musical and elocutionary programme was given before the lecture.

Chancellor Sims, of Syracuse University, will preach on Sunday next. It is expected that he will give a lecture on "Brush and Chisel," on Saturday evening.

An excursion from the State of Ohio passed down the river early Thursday morning. A portion of the tourists stopped at the park. Excursions from Boonville, Watertown and Lowville were also on the ground during Thursday.

Rough's Attack.

A row occurred at Stella yesterday afternoon owing to the purser of the "Hero" demanding fare from a passenger who shipped at Channel Grove and desired to travel deadhead. Both the purser and captain were thrown over, but an employee named Bloomfield came to the rescue and laid out the granger. He paid his fare, but as the boat was leaving the wharf a number of windows were broken by stones and other missiles.

A RAILWAY ACCIDENT.

A TRAIN OFF THE TRACK—THE ENGINEER'S HEROIC DEATH.

[illegible]—Several Passengers Injured—A Sickening Sight.

The No. 4 express, from Montreal to Toronto, passed Prescott at her usual time (2:20 a.m.) having a large train of coaches well filled. After leaving this station, and when passing the semiphore west of the station, the cow catcher caught a cow, which was one of three or four on the track, and carried her along about 300 feet to the first crossing west of the town. The cow was carried over the cattle guards on the east side of the public road, but fell partially into that on the west of the road. Being evidently lying down she was rolled along for upwards of two acres and actually cut to pieces. The animal's remains were strewn along the track, presenting a most sickening sight. The train was going down grade. It consisted of thirteen cars, five of which were Pullmans. The engine was lifted from the track and thrown over an embankment on the south side. It lies a perfect wreck, with its smoke stack and all its upper furnishings twisted off. The engineer, named Howarth, held loyally to his place and was partly under the engine, with one arm around the whistle and the escaping steam pouring forth on his side. The ground where he lay was saturated with blood. His body now lies in the baggage room of station awaiting an inquest. The two express messengers were also among the injured, but were able to be sent to their friends. Report says six passengers were wounded but as they were transhipped to another train and sent westward this cannot be positively ascertained. The tremendous force of concussion could be partly understood by one standing at the scene and seeing the total wreck of cars and engine. The engine's tender passed about thirty feet farther and with its truck on the north side. Close by the tender, still further into the field, lies the express car, also a total wreck. The agent of the company at this place promptly placed a man to guard the goods which were scattered by the collision. A second class car is piled on the tender, while its rear end is buried in the ground to a considerable depth. The windows of this car were broken probably by the affrighted passengers who made their escape through them. Some of the seats and windows are covered with the blood of the wounded. From the point where the engine caught the cow to where it jumped the track and now lies imbedded in the soil is about 300 feet. The track was torn up for 60 or 70 feet, and was promptly repaired and made ready for the westward express at 1.47 p.m. to-day. The property damaged is engine and tender, mail and baggage express cars, one second class and three first class cars. The LOSS OF LIFE IS SMALL.

LAY A SHAPLESS MASS

When we remember that a heavy train on a down grade was suddenly stopped its live freight piled indiscrimately among wrecked cars. When the train arrived at the Kingston Depot about 11:15 o'clock, it was learned that the morning express going east had only reached Prescott and had taken aboard the passengers of the wrecked train. The mail car which was simply a freight car as was also the baggage car, were first visited and enquiries made as to the accident but none of the employees could give any account of it. They had not seen the wreck. Conductor Morrison boarded the train at Brockville. One of the passengers was interviewed and gave but his details were not any more explicit than those telegraphed from Prescott. He was in the first car, after the baggage car, and he described the trip over the ties as very unpleasant. The trucks on which the car rested were thrown one way and the car another. Five passengers were in the car with him, but none were injured beyond a few scratches. He avers that the scene was terrible. In a Pullman car with darkened windows lay four persons who had been injured by the mishap. These were:

— Greatrix, of Montreal, fireman. He was cut in several places but not seriously wounded.

R. Scarlet, baggage man, of Toronto, a few scratches and cuts.

Expressman King was injured internally and apparently nigh unto death. He was being tenderly waited upon.

A DISTRACTED FRENCH WOMAN.

A French woman from the Lower Provinces had her wrist cut in breaking a window through which to escape with her children. The wound bled profusely. She was en route for Port Hope. As she could not speak a word of English, one of her countrymen, whose destination was Kingston, offered to go to Port Hope with her. His proffered services were gladly accepted.

The driver Howarth who was killed was a resident of Montreal, formerly of Brockville. He was aged about 40 years and was considered a skilful man. His death is regretted by all the employees and officers on the road. He heroically stood at his post until the last. He perished doing his duty.

TWO KINGSTONIAN'S PASSENGERS.

Two Kingstonians were among the passengers on the wrecked train—Mr. Thomas McGuire, of the firm of McGuire Bros., Princess street, and Mr. McCready, a salesman in R. Waldron's. The former was not to be found this afternoon, having gone home for a rest as he had lost two nights' sleep. Mr. McGuire providentially escaped injury. When the train was boarded at Prescott he wanted to enter one car and Mr. McCready another. The car in which Mr. McGuire wanted a seat was upset and wrecked when the accident occurred.

MR. M'CREADY'S STATEMENT.

Mr. McCready was found at the establishment of Mr. R. Waldron. In answer to a question he said that he was in the last first class car and looking out of the window when the accident occurred. He saw the cars go off the track one by one. He braced himself for the shock and aroused Mr. McGuire who was slumbering by his side. The car went off but was not overturned. As soon as he could get out he did so and an exciting scene met his gaze. The track was torn up and portions of the wrecked cars, engine, tender, &c., were lying in various directions. He was one of those who assisted in removing King to the Pullman car. McKenzie, his comrade in the express car, carried him from the wreck to the field. This heroic fellow was also injured internally, but did not feel pain until after he had removed his afflicted comrade from the car. McKenzie was taken to Montreal. The car they were in was splintered, having run upon the tender of the engine. It was miraculous that more fatal accidents did not occur.

POLICE COURT—SATURDAY.

[illegible]—Duties Carried to Extremes—Dismissals.

Thos. Anderson, an elderly man, was accused of drunkenness. He was dis[illegible] officer Jas. Nesbitt when arrested, as he moved, in a serpentine course, up Brock street. He was not prosecuted, as perhaps he deserved to be, and a dismissal followed.

Thos. Farley, an inoffensive citizen, but a decided nuisance when under the influence of liquor, was not fined, incarceration in the cells, and perforce being obliged to snuff in the poisonous atmosphere, being sufficient punishment for a mild offence.

Otho Elliott and Charles Williams were captured last night in the midst of their annoying proceedings in front of Fong Lei's laundry. They were cautioned this time, and allowed to go, but the magistrate is prepared to sit pretty heavily upon future disturbers of the Chinaman's peace.

Thomas Enright was on his defence for domestic misconduct of a very serious character. His wife, forgiving and still affectionate to nature, did not appear against him, and he departed — let us hope to be a better husband.

Agnes Seaton and Agnes Stacey were summoned for allowing their tongues too freely to operate in the uttering of statements which fearfully crushed the sensitive heart of Mary Dumphy. A scene was avoided by the case being withdrawn on the payment of costs.

Wm. Newman was sued by two men for non-payment of wages. The cases was adjourned until Wednesday next.

A cabmen, accused of overcharging a passenger, had the hearing of the complainant adjourned until Monday.

Discontented Police.

To the Editor of the British Whig.

DEAR WHIG,—I notice in the local newspapers some echoes of police complaints regarding summer clothing and lodging quarters. The corporation, indeed no taxpayer, can feel happy in calling forth personal sacrifices from a body of employees, and if the police feel deeply aggrieved and are men they should take the manly course of resigning. They would not embarass public interests in so doing for there are one hundred men fully as good as they are who would willing step into their well made shoes and sport their handsome uniform to-morrow. They would deem, too, that they were making no great personal sacrifice in accepting the posts; and furthermore an active chief could, with eight men, do as effective service as the twelve or thirteen now perform. If the police take the consistent course they will not only retire and remove an irritating complaint, to the mutual benefit of themselves and the public, but give the force the undoubted advantage of a thorough re-organization.

St. George's Yacht Race.

To the Editor of the British Whig.

DEAR SIR,—I see that the crew of the 'Garfield' say that the crew of the 'Emma' were all in fault for the collision last Wednesday. I think if a committee of yachtsmen were formed they would not even give the 'Garfield' a place in the next race. All yachting rules say that when two boats are approaching a buoy the outside one must in all cases give the inside one room to pass or turn the buoy, if not she will be ruled out of the race. If the 'Garfield', by the nearness of the shore, could not give room he had no right to place himself where he could not.

Alarming Rumours.

Washington, Aug. 13.—Dr. Agnew has been telegraphed to come here.

Washington, Aug. 13.—Much uneasiness is felt by the general public in consequence of the high condition of the President's pulse, as reported by this morning's bulletin.

One of the President's Secretaries denies that Dr. Agnew has been summoned.

Washington, Aug. 13, 2.30 p.m.—Many alarming rumours were circulated during the day regarding the President's condition, some of which indicated that it was almost impossible for him to live more than a day or two. From information received from the executive mansion, however, there appears to be no cause for alarm. The fever has been gradually subsiding and the patient is now very comfortable.
