Ouffer per Orbem Diem.

We notice that the "Grant vs. Beaudry" case is still dragging its slow length along. It is about time we heard the last of this controversy. To keep the question alive is only to keep burning the embers of sectarian strife and bitterness. The present case is a continuation of the old action for damages against Mayor Beaudry for the arrest of County Master Grant of Montreal, for asserting his personal right to parade on the 12th of July. We should like to see this question settled if the present case will do it, but more than all we should like to hear the last of what has been an almost interminable dispute.

Evidently "Fair Trade" and "Land Reform" will be the rallying cries of the Conservatives and Liberals respectively at the next general election in Great Britain. By this means the Tories will be angling for the artizan vote and the Reforms for rural support. The Tory Land owners will favour Fair Trade, principally to call off attention from the dangerous Land Reform movement. But before the battle is joined the present depression will all have passed away, and with it the clamour for reciprosity, while on the contrary the Land Reform cry will have been strengthened by the success of the Irish Land Act, and will materially help to sweep the country for the Liberal party.

The movement in Sarnia and elsewhere on behalf of the Michigan sufferers is a commendable one, but the generous hearted should remember that thousands have been desolated by the same scourge in Ontario. These latter will have a first claim on Canadian liberality, for in this matter it will be true that charity should begin at home. Besides the United States is large and rich enough to render all necessary succour to their destitute citizens in Michigan who have been beggared and bereaved by the ravages of fire. All these considerations need not prevent those who are so disposed from extending a helping hand to their neighbours across the line if they have enough for home distress and to spare.

It is no wonder that as a soldier Sherman severely condemns sergeant Mason's act in attempting to shoot Guiteau. No matter what crime a man has committed it is the business of the law to punish him, after a fair trial, and this should hold good in the case of the assassination of a Prince or a President equally with that of the murder of a beggar. It is true there is a sense in which the former crime exceeds the latter as affecting in its results the many instead of the few, the representative character of the victim giving greater heinousness to the crime of despatching him, but so far as lynch law is concerned it is just as seriously to be deprecated in the one case as in the other. The fact of this man being a soldier and actually guarding the prisoner for the purpose of trial, makes his case so much the worse, since besides his breach of trust he attempted what he was appointed to prevent others from doing. After all, however, thousands will secretly applaud his act, and only regret that it was not more successful. And this sympathy will affect his military superiors who will likely reduce his punishment to a harmless reprimand.

It is none of the business of a secular journal to dictate to churches how they shall run their public entertainments, nor to carp at any reasonable arrangements they may make for the pleasure of their patrons. As we took occasion to point out, however, the published list of speakers for the Tremont Park gathering was of such a one-sided and decided political bias that it could not escape being the target of some criticism. In this criticism we felt it our duty to join, and we cannot now forbear expressing pleasure that the political aspect of this perhaps otherwise religious picnic resulted in failure. The failure was largely due to the absence of the advertised politicians themselves, who perhaps had the good sense in this effective way to rebuke the attempt to introduce a political element into what should have been a mixed and pleasant gathering of the people of both parties, and in connection with which nothing should have been done to suggest the idea of party at all.

THE LATE W. H. FULLER.

We cannot forbear again referring to the sudden and untimely demise of the now lamented W. H. Fuller. In the prime of early manhood he has been so suddenly removed from everything calculated to make life enjoyable and happy that we are forced by the event to ponder upon the mysteries of existence and upon the impalpable and uncertain tenure by which that existence is held. Our deceased friend will be sadly missed from the several social and genial circles of which he was a member. Altho' a lawyer by profession, it is principally as a journalist that Mr. Fuller will be publicly remembered, and many had indulged the hope that some time he would emerge from the neutrality of official position into the activities of public life again. The commencement of his career as such was coincident with the change from the former to the present proprietorship of this journal, and his trenchant pen did much to establish the WHIG as one of the influential Liberal journals in the country. Many will be the heartfelt regrets excited by the sad news of Mr. Fuller's death among his erstwhile brother journalists throughout the country and especially in this relation it will be many a day before his name will fade from the public memory. This feeling will be shared by all classes with whom the deceased came into contact, since all alike were charmed by his vivacity and talents of conversation.

A Great Enterprise.

The Hop Bitters Manufacturing Company is one of Rochester's greatest business enterprises. Their Hop Bitters have reached a sale beyond all precedent, having from their intrinsic value found their way into almost every household in the land.

ATTEMPTED RAPE.

The Notorious Jack Coulter Attacks an Innocent Child in a Lonely Place.

To-day one of the most diabolical attempts at rape occurring in the district for years is reported. The fiend who is implicated in the devilish deed is Jack Coulter, son of Mrs. Ann Coulter, now incarcerated in the county gaol, and also brother of the two prostitutes who were sent to the Reformatory for being inmates of their mother's notorious den at the G.T.R. depot. The circumstances of the crime are: This morning a young girl not yet sixteen, named Annie Campbell left her employer's home in Glenbernie for the city to make purchases. She proceeded quietly along the road until about ten o'clock, when the house recently occupied by Mrs. Coulter was reached, at the door of which was sitting Jack Coulter. As soon as the girl passed, Coulter arose and followed her until Grove street was reached, where he approached her and asked, "if she was going to town." She replied that "she was." He asked her to accompany him down Grove street, but she refused. She then went along Montreal st., and when nearly opposite the lime kiln was attacked by the rough, and dragged to the fence, pulled over it and then dragged some distance into the field to a lonely place. Coulter then attempted to commit the heinous crime. The poor weak one fought desperately, but he nearly overpowered her. The girl's underclothing was torn into shreds, and her limbs lacerated and blackened by the fiend's brutal treatment. In her desperation she used her fists vigorously and caused the blood to spurt from Coulter's face, covering her hands, hair and bodice. Her screams were heard by a passing gentleman, who rushed to her assistance and found the fiend upon the prostrate form of the child. With a leap the rescuer seized the villain and tossed him aside and then waited upon the now frantic girl, who suffered terribly from the excitement through which she had gone. The gentleman could not himself arrest the villain, but at once informed P. C. McCormack, who hastened to arrest Coulter. He was chased and finally secured but a few feet from where the horrible deed was almost accomplished. Coulter said he would not run because he was not guilty. He was at once taken to the police station and locked up. The city reporters visited the fellow and at once acknowledged they had never seen a more vicious and brutal looking fellow. He is about 25 years of age, strong as a lion, and has a most notorious character. He has been an inmate of the Penetanguishene Reformatory, and also of a United States prison. He denied any knowledge of the affair, and in talking over it used the most villainous and execrable language. The girl is not quite 16 years of age, is quite large for her age, but not at all strong. Her appearance in the station house was painful to contemplate. Her clothes were torn and covered with blood. She was as pale as death, and all of a tremble from the nervous shock.

THE OSWEGO REGATTA.

Kingston's Champion Yacht Again Leads—A Technical Dispute.

The "Emma" has been successful again in showing the lake yachts her heels. Unfortunately, however, she loses first place owing to a technical fault. At the Oswego Regatta yesterday, though sailed by three young amateurs, she came in first. A telegram from an Oswego friend gives the particulars:—

"The first class race was won by the "Ella," of Oswego, over the "Emma," of Kingston, and "Fascination" of Oswego. The "Emma" led at the finish enough to have won the race by a few seconds, but rounded the home buoy on the wrong side, thus giving the race to the "Ella" by two minutes ten seconds. The "Emma" protested the "Ella" for compelling her to luff on the start when she was on the starboard tack and had right of way. The protest was decided against her on the ground that she should have kept on her course, making the "Ella" responsible for any collision that might have occurred. The "Emma" is still here."

Mr. Offord is entitled to hearty congratulations. The most difficult thing to do is to beat a United States yacht in its home port, for the regatta committee in many cases has to be sailed against as well as the competing yachts. He has swept the board this year, with the exception of this technical loss, gaining a series of victories which recalls the success of the old "Prima Donna," itself a marvel in its time.

BEWARE OF PICKPOCKETS.

A $300 Robbery—No Trace of the Thieves or Their Spoil.

Last evening Mr. D. Kennedy, hotel keeper on Brock street, was robbed of $300 which he had in his pants' pocket in a pocket-book. He was passing down King street, and when near the Chinaman's was jostled by two men, who enquired "for a good hotel." Several times he was shoved around, and finally succeeded in passing on. After a time he felt for his money and found that it was gone. The pocket book which the money was in made the pocket bulge out. Pickpocketing has evidently reached this city in advance of the show, and people should be very careful of how they carry their money. Toronto was made so lively for the thieves that they are glad to escape into the usual official quietude of smaller places. Detective Macauley has made search for the "jostlers," but has encountered none whom Mr. Kennedy can recognize.

Miss Florence Gillette.

To-morrow evening the talented Miss Gillette and company will appear in the Opera House in "Camille." This will doubtless be one of the best representations of the drama yet seen here. The acting of this lady full of force and pathos and the support given by Mr. Griffith and others is of a strong character. The costumes worn are the richest of any travelling company and every detail of the stage appointments is studied with the utmost care to produce the desired effect.

EUROPEAN DESPATCHES.

The Meeting of the Emperors and the Mutual Griefs.

St. Estersburg, Sept. 15.—It is stated that at a meeting of the Czar and Emperor William the Czar promised if ever Germany finds herself dragged into war Russia will maintain the same attitude as in 1870. The Emperor advised the Czar to adopt some means of combatting Nihilism as himself adopted since Nobling's attempt, that is, war to the knife. In the year which followed the adoption of this policy he said the German law court passed sentence on 8,000 socialists. Now, however, socialism is much less frequent."

An official decree convokes various commissions appointed to study the relative situation to the Jews and the rest of the people to show how pernicious to the masses the Jews are in Russia. The word "pernicious" is used in decree.

THE CHOLERA PLAGUE.

London, Sept. 15.—It is stated that the news of cholera at Aden is greatly exaggerated: there are only a few cases.

IROQUIS GUARDED.

So great was the apprehension of some nefarious attack that three police men and two detectives attended Iroquois in his paddock, and no body was allowed to enter the box where he was saddled.

The Ecumenical Methodist Council passed a resolution favorable to international arbitration.

NEWS OF THE DAY.

The tobacco crop is short and prices are going up.

The Hamilton Conservatives intend to give Sir Hector Langevin a banquet on the 28th.

Mr. Scott, Chief Architect of the Public Works Department, has tendered his resignation, which has been accepted.

Some of the Belleville people think that T. Howe was not suffocated by gas in Tymon's Hotel, Toronto, but was murdered. There is no ground for the belief.

Chicago is doing more building this year than any year since the one which followed the great fire. Two millions brick per day are being laid.

Mr. Tilden is preparing to capture the nomination for Governor of New York, with an eye on the Presidential candidacy in 1884.

The Prince of Wales steered his yacht, the "Belle Lurette," in a match on the Osborne Bay in connection with the Corinthian Yacht Club. It came in third.

Chicago lost a million dollars the other day by the burning of a pork packing establishment. This is a calamity that comes directly home to all her people.

Canada has probably given shelter to another rogue, for Mr. Stuart, ex-Secretary of the Brooklyn Board of Education, skipped out the other day. His defalcation amounts to $200,000.

The body of David Crimmins, the Toronto man who threw himself over the Niagara Falls, was rescued by two guides, after having been allowed to drift around in the troubled basin for two days.

Thought to be Remembered.

DEAR SIR,—The fifth and sixth classes of the public schools are frequently alluded to as a recent creation. It will be well for all concerned to bear in mind that this is not so, at any rate in regard to the fifth classes. These constitute the bulk of the senior pupils, and these classes have been in effective existence for more than a quarter of a century. The School Board would certainly incur a very grave responsibility by attempting the disestablishment of such a long standing and in the past, most useful institution. Indeed very many have grave doubts if it lies in the power of the Board to do so at all, inasmuch as the Public School curriculum requires that these branches shall be taught in our public schools. Of course the chief object of the agitation and the change is to keep the numbers of the Institute up to the figure requisite to secure the annual grant of $750 from the Government. This motive may as well be eliminated, however, from the consideration of the question, inasmuch as we believe the Minister of Education from his place in the House last session, virtually declared that soon these special grants would be withdrawn and the funds thus saved be divided among all the High Schools of the Province, according to the value of the work done.

Yours, &c.,

AN OBSERVER.

Sept. 13th.

The School Question.

To the Editor of the British Whig.

SIR,—Mr. Waldron makes another mis-statement about the Collegiate Institute when he says in last night's issue of the WHIG:

"Even if the girls in question had been admitted they would have been compelled to sit virtually idle—at anyrate untaught—while the French class was going on."

The truth is that while some members of our class are being taught French or Latin, Mr. Knight is in another room teaching us and other pupils Chemistry and Book-keeping. We are taught here exactly the same subjects we had in Public School last year.

Yours truly,

ANNIE GIVENS.
NERVA McDONALD.
FRANKIE ADELSTINE.

PERSONAL MENTION.

Sir Hector Langevin left to-day for Richmond en route to Quebec.

It is rumoured at Ottawa that Senator Fabre is about to retire from the Senate.

Mr. Jas Johnson, of the Ottawa Citizen, will arrive here this evening to attend the funeral of the late Mr. W. H. Fuller. Mr. Wm. Harty has also postponed his business tour on the same account. Mr. Nicholas F. Davin, a warm friend of the deceased gentleman, sends his regrets. Owing to the absence of the Canadian Pacific Commissioners he will be unable to be present.

REASON WHY.—If our contemporary did no "twisting," "hitching," "shifting" and "muddling" in the matter of the Deputy Wardenship it was because it made such bungling work of its special Ottawa yarn that it had left no room for editorial gymnastics. The WHIG stated from the start that Mr. Sullivan had been appointed. Events have proven this true, and the contradiction false. When the News says that we have twisted in the least it proves that it does not know plain English. Our unfortunate contemporary will have to twist itself into better favor with the powers at Ottawa or it will be making some more bad "muddling."

TO-MORROW.—The Butchers' Association excursion to-morrow will prove their ability to conduct such a trip in good style. The review of the Major-General will be the prime event of the camp, and will be seen to advantage by the excursionists.

PICTON CAMP.

A March Out of the Brigade—Notes about the Camp.

Picton, Sept. 14.—The paymasters of the different battalions have been busy with their pay lists for the last day or two. In the afternoon a march out of the whole brigade took place. The cavalry led, followed by the four battalions of infantry, with the field battery bringing up the rear. The cavalry furnished the advance and rear guards. The brigade looked remarkably well. They passed through the principal streets of the town, which were lined with people. The roads were very dusty, and the men returned to camp completely whitened over. The 47th were inspected by the Deputy Adjutant General.

The bands are playing to-night at a lawn social in the Court House grounds in aid of the Canada Methodist Church. The grounds are thronged with military and civilians. Last night a spread took place in the mess tent of the cavalry.

Private Meeler, of the 16th, was very ill last night with inflammation of the bowels. This morning he was better. This is the only serious case of illness which has occurred. The nights are cold, and the men find the allowance of blankets very insufficient to make them comfortable at this season.

Had the sanitary condition of the camp depended on the appliances furnished the medical officers by the Government there is no saying how many men would have been in hospital. The medical stores furnished for 1,500 men consisted of a small tin box containing a beggarly array of bottles, the contents of which Dr. Smith, the chief medical officer, declares he could have swallowed without injury. The surgeons sent in a requisition for the medicines required, which have been supplied by a local druggist.

LIFE OUT OF DEATH.

Encouraging Reports from Long Branch—Recovery Confidently Expected.

Long Branch, Sept. 15.—It is stated that all the physicians and attendants of the President privately concur in the opinion that he will get well. It is said that the area of dullness in the lung may remain for weeks, and perhaps for months.

OFFICIAL BULLETIN.

Long Branch, Sept. 15.—At this morning's dressing temperature was 98.4; pulse 100; respiration 20. The President passed the night comfortably, sleeping until 8 a.m., when he was wakeful for two hours.

SITTING UP AGAIN.

Long Branch, Sept. 15, noon.—The President was replaced in bed after remaining in the chair for three quarters of an hour. Dr. Hamilton says he is having a good day, and there has been no material change of the pulse or temperature since the morning bulletin.

Dr. Bliss denies the rumor that it is contemplated to insert an instrument into the body of the President in view of relieving the lung of pus. He says such an operation at this time would not be proper.

Long Branch, Sept. 15th, 3 p.m.—The President's condition continues favourable.

UNITED STATES TELEGRAMS.

Items of General Interest—The Day's Doings.

New York, Sept. 15.—Rafferty & William's fertilizer factory, Hunter's Point, was burned yesterday. Loss $50,000.

Charles Baxter, clock manufacturer, after disastrous stock speculations absconded to Canada with $10,000 belonging to a firm in which he is a partner.

The World's Washington says it is understood that Com. Ridley thinks he discovered a ring in the pension office, whose members by collusion with outsiders, made a large sum out of fraudulent pension claims.

Lewiston, Me., Sept. 15.—Full returns give Dingley, Republican for Congress, a majority.

Death's Doings.

Montreal, Sept. 15.—An immigrant named Johannes Holderson, from Norway, fell under the cars on Richmond street and was killed.

An old man named Sullivan was killed near Richmond, and his son has been arrested pending an inquest.

Condensed Telegrams.

The stock market was easier to-day, except for Montreal Telegraph, which advanced one-half per cent.

A shocking story comes from Bristol, England, that a vessel just arrived from Constantinople is discharging her cargo of three hundred tons of human bones, said to be the remains of the defenders of Plevna, which will be converted into manure by a local firm.

Retained to Prosecute

Montreal, Sept. 15.—Kerr Carter and McGibbon have been retained by St. George's Society to prosecute the young lawyers who outraged an English girl lately landed here.

The Recent Races.

The N. Y. Herald speaks well of Ross, Conley, Hamm, Smith and Gaudaur, and says that with them Canada evidently has strong grounds on which to base her hope of long retaining the world's supremacy at the oar. The unwelcome reflection from the aquatic battle is that just now the United States apparently have no first-class sculler. The Sun, as well as the Herald, says a kind word for Courtney. The former, a most persistant detractor, says his performance will improve his position much in the estimation of lovers of pluck and perseverance.

A correspondent writes: "Hanlan has his faults, but nevertheless, he is not only the best and most successful sculler the world has ever produced, but he is also one of the most honourable. His races have all been fairly rowed and we cannot point to one single charge of double dealing. He may be close in money matters, but that is a private affair and his family are vastly the better of it. No doubt he has a laudable ambition to support them in comfort, and much more credit it does him than if he were "hail fellow well met" with every Tom, Dick and Harry he came across, and spent his hard earned money in treating them. It is these leeches who would fain fasten on him, and who find him not the right kind of man for it, who raise the cry of his meanness, principally."

Z. PREVOST, at the New York Clothing Store, has received all his fall goods, which consist of Canadian, Scotch and Irish tweeds of the latest patterns, also diagonals and serges of all designs. He is taking orders rapidly for the above goods. His tweeds for his $12 suits are good patterns and heavy bodied goods.

BUTCHERS' PIC-NIC.—To-morrow the Butchers' Association will have their first annual pic-nic. Although late in the year, we feel sure that the jolly Knights of the Cleaver will have a good crowd, to whom we can promise an enjoyable time if the skies be at all favorable. The review by Major General Laard will be the most important event of the Camp.

IRELAND'S PLIGHT.

The Agitation To Be Continued To-Day's Convention.

London, Sept. 15.—The Times says: "The route which the Land Leaguers breathe is that of continued agitation. Once and for all Ireland must understand that this kingdom is and will continue a united kingdom. Great Britain will no more tolerate secession than the United States tolerated it in 1860."

A Dublin correspondent says that the National Land League Convention, which meets to-day, is especially interesting as it is the first assembly of the kind since the repeal of the Conventions Act. Its importance as regards the particular object for which the delegates are summoned cannot be over-estimated.

"A SOUND MIND IN A HEALTHY BODY."—The old Roman idea of the highest degree of happiness. The liver rules the roast: indigestion creates anarchy in the physical system. Costiveness, biliousness, dizziness and bad taste in the mouth, yellow skin and eyes, loss of appetite, loss of energy, and low spirits, pains in the back and side, wind and foul stomach; all these create bad blood. Regulate the bowels, stomach, liver, and kidneys with ZOPESS, (from Brazil) try a 10 cent sample, and ask Henry Wade or Heath & Gunn about it.

Cotton Crop Report.

Galveston, Sept. 12.—Of 118 replies received from 80 counties, the average date was Aug. 31st; 18 counties report the weather favorable, and 72 unfavorable; 16 report the weather more favorable, and 78 less favorable than last year. The plant is fruiting well and retaining squares and bolls in 22 counties, and shedding in 67 counties. In comparison with last year the present condition of the crop is reported 18 per cent. better in 4 counties; 8 counties report the condition the same as last year, 80 counties 20 per cent. less. Picking is general all over the State. Worms appeared in 8 counties, but have done no damage. The plant has been greatly injured by drouth. Compared with last year it amounts to 25 per cent. in 29 counties, and 50 per cent. in 56 counties, while 4 counties report the condition somewhat better.

Washington, Sept. 15.—The condition of the cotton crop at Sept. 1st was 72, a decrease of 16 per cent during August, and 19 less than same date last year. The condition of the corn crop at Sept. 1st is 31 lower than Sept. 1st last year. Tobacco crop 65 against 85 Aug. 1st and 84 Sept 1st last year.
