The exhibition of Irish manufactures is not to be held until 1883. Two years may seem a long time to wait for the realization of this happy idea, but it will afford the greater time for preparation and will ensure the greater success when it comes. This exhibition will afford all sects and parties in Ireland a chance to patriotically unite in something which can have no other effect than the promotion of the true interests of Ireland. Already Parnell and several principal Land Leaguers are on the general committee, and it is to be hoped that they and all concerned will do their utmost for the credit and prosperity of the country.

The Scott Act has been adopted in Hants county, Nova Scotia. The almost uninterrupted success of the Act in the Maritime provinces would, of course, indicate the great strength of the temperance element in that region. In this respect the Canadians by the sea are ahead of the inland provinces, or else they have a more stalwart way of asserting themselves—we mean the temperance people—than they have in Ontario. Recognizing this difference Sir Samuel Tilley is doing his virtuous best to equalize matters by enjoining total abstinence upon his Ontario friends as he lately did at Gananoque. While down in Halifax he encourages the brewers and wishes them all sorts of prosperity.

A species of Irish parliament is now in session at Dublin. Over one thousand delegates are in attendance at the Land League Congress, Mr. Parnell presiding. The deliberations of this vast body of delegates and the conclusions they will reach cannot but have a very important influence upon the Irish public mind. The work which the agitators have accomplished will be reviewed, and the work yet to be done will be forecasted and foreshadowed. The Land Act will come in for a good deal of attention, criticism, and, from some, condemnation, but we cannot think that so large a representation of the Land League masses of the Irish people will positively refuse to see any good in the Land Bill merely because it emanated from the British Government, and not from their own leaders.

According to reports the chief bond of union and affection between the Emperors of Russia and Germany is their common fear of Nihilism and Communism and their determination to crush their respective social and political enemies. The fatherly advice of old Emperor Wilhelm of Germany to the new beginner in Russia is that of "war to the knife" against the enemies of his state. He has tried it, he says, in Germany and it has worked like a charm. He advises his young friend from St. Petersburg to go and do likewise, to stamp out with the good old iron heel of despotism all the aspirations of the people after freedom and particularly to punish with an unhesitating severity every semblance of agitation for a larger freedom than he may permit his liege to enjoy. No wonder the Emperors kissed their mutual endorsations of a common policy o repression and tyranny.

The rage for centennials is not yet exhausted. Neither is the material for them. Beginning with the big centennial of 1870, as celebrating the Declaration of Independence, there will be found something to have happened every month of every year thereafter about which the pyrotechnics and the enthusiasm may be "let off." Thus next month there is to be a grand centennial celebration at Yorktown, at which the descendants of Lafayette and others are to be invited. It will thus be seen that a French or foreign name is not to be objected to when it is on the right side, although Guiteau was repudiated as an American because of his French sounding name and parentage. At the Yorktown celebration there is some talk of inviting over several red-coated Canadian regiments. Much as we believe in international reunions, however, we advise the red-coats not to go this time, as they may merely be wanted for the purpose of giving a realistic effect to a re-enactment of a British surrender to the boys in blue.

Notwithstanding all the hopes inspired by the bulletins in reference to the President's prospects of recovery there is a strong under current of grave apprehension, that after all he will not get better. It is eleven weeks to-day since he was shot and he is in really in as critical condition now as the day after the tragedy. Our American exchanges, while hoping for the best, cannot conceal their but too well grounded fears for the future, and yesterday's relapse will only increase the public anxiety. Under the long and tremendous strain upon him the patient's spirits, brave for so long, would seem to be collapsing and his wonderful powers of mind giving way. The marvel is that this did not happen before. There is a limit to the stoutest human endurance, and on this verge the poor President would seem at last to be lying. Hoping for the best, even against hope, the numberless sympathizers with the prostrate President have too much reason to fear the worst.

By challenging the world in general and Wallace Ross in particular for a final trial of aquatic speed Edward Hanlan has done what was due to his own highly honorable and remarkable career as an oarsman. This steps is confessedly taken out of deference to public opinion, which was more than inclined to grumble at the way in which the champion was retiring from the oar. Hanlan's friends and admirers will admire this final expression of his pluck and confidence. It will be strange if Ross does not accept the challenge for he has ever been ready to row, to defeat if necessary in order to try his luck. If a race should be arranged between these redoubtable scullers great will be the public interest excited not only because they are the two greatest living oarsmen but because, whether won or lost, Hanlan declares this will be his last pull.

THE TROT AT PICTON.

"Ned Hanlan" Wins in Three Straight Heats—Not In Good Condition.

The race between the horses owned by Mr. C. Mulvana and Mr. Cousins of Amherst Island, occurred yesterday at Picton, and was witnessed by a large number of sporting men. The stakes were $200, best 3 in 5 heats, driven in harness. There was considerable hesitancy about making bets, and we are informed that shortly before the race the owner of the winning horse wanted to have the stakes drawn. The grey horse "Ned Hanlan," owned by Mulvana, was trained in Kingston and driven by Mr. John Purdy. The chestnut mare, "Nellie M.," owned by Cousins, was driven by J. Allison. She was trained in Picton. The judges were Messrs. J. McCammon, Kingston; Fralick, Picton, and Pruyn, Napanee. The horses got away evenly, but "Ned Hanlan" went to the front and easily maintained the lead nearly all the way round. The official time was 3.09½ minutes. The second and third heats were but a repetition of the first. The time taken was 3.10 and 3.10½ minutes respectively. Neither trotters had a record before. The winner was brought to Stella on the "Maud" last evening.

A spectator writes us: "In to-night's issue we wish you to insert a paragraph about the trotting race that took place in Picton yesterday. The winning horse was in very poor condition for trotting as his fore feet were badly cracked and the owner, Mr. C. Mulvaney, says if he had had a week more he would have shown better what the colt could do. But as it stands the horse won the three straight heats easily. The driver, Mr. John Purdy, had him under his care for only a week. Mr. Purdy had a regular jockey to contend against, but the former got to the front every time easily. The name of the winning horse was wrongly given as "Ned Hanlan" instead of "Butcher Boy."

PERSONAL MENTION.

Mr. Wm. Dunn has been appointed one of the judges at the Provincial Exhibition.

M. H. V. Parmer, special agent of the North American Mutual Life Insurance Company, is in the city on business.

Mr. P. Harty, of the Marine and Fishery Department, is on an inspecting tour of the lighthouses on the River Ottawa.

Dr. W. W. Walkem is in the city en route to Ottawa on business in connection with the British Columbia penitentiary.

Messrs. J. H. Barry, of Rochester, and J. A. Matthew, of Syracuse, N.Y., are in the city, and guests at the British American Hotel.

Rev. J. E. Mavety, of Brockville, will occupy the pulpit of the M. E. Church to-morrow morning and evening. Rev. J. Young officiates in Cobourg.

Hon. Wm. McDougall has been appointed Resident Director of the Great North-Western Telegraph Company, with a liberal salary. He has taken an office in the telegraph buildings.

Rev. Geo. Graftey, of Oswego, the former pastor of the Baptist Church in this city, is spending a few days with friends here, and to-morrow morning will preach for the Baptists in the mission room on Princess street.

Mr. J. E. Tomkins, for some time an operator in the Dominion Telegraph office, has entered the service of the Great North-Western Company. He is a promising operator, and we are glad to see him receive the encouragement which his merits deserve.

Mr. Henry Hunt Hogan, who passed so creditably through the Royal Military College, Kingston, being one of the first four at the last examination, has received a commission in the 78th Highland Regiment, now stationed in Afghanistan. Mr. Hogan will shortly leave Montreal to join his regiment.

MARINE NOTES.

The schr. Bigler, with timber from Point Sauble, has arrived at Garden Island.

Yesterday four union men was shipped on the steamer Cayapana. There was no grumbling about the wages either.

The tug Seymour claims to have run from Cape Vincent to Oswego, on Wednesday, in three hours and forty-five minutes.

The crew of the sunken Regina are said to have been non-union men, not being accustomed to rough weather and to have looked towards their own safety rather than that of the vessel.

A gale blew all this morning down the lake but at noon it had subsided sufficiently to permit of the Algerian leaving Toronto for this port. The three steamers, wind bound here for three days, also started west about the same time.

Arrivals.

Prop. Celtic, Milwaukee, 5,289 bu. wheat.
Prop. Ocean, Montreal, pass. and fgt.
Prop. Africa, Montreal, pass. and fgt.
Str. Alexandria, Montreal, pass. and fgt.
Schr. Richardson, Oswego, 118 tons coal.

Montreal Exhibition.

The Witness says: Mr. Wm. Sawyer shows an oil painting, "Sherbrooke Scenes," which is certainly equal if not superior to anything of the kind exhibited. Its perfect fidelity to nature constitutes its chief charm. The artist, in fact, seems to have reproduced exactly a country scene which one might stumble upon almost any day in summer. There are exhibited by Mr. Spence the designs drawn by the late Roman Catholic Bishop of Kingston, Dr. O'Brien, for a memorial window in one of the churches of his diocese. These designs are both well conceived and well drawn. No one would imagine that they were done by any other than a professional architect.

Doubling the Offices.

Since the lamentable death of Mr. W. H. Fuller the names of various persons have been mentioned as candidates for the position held by him. The vacancy will not be long continued, as by the Judicature Act, under circumstances such as have occurred, the Master in Chancery is required to perform the duties of Clerk of the Crown; and it is understood that Dr. Henderson is quite willing to accept the responsibilities of both offices and act in a dual capacity.

GILLETTE AND "CAMILLE."

A Successful Performance of the Peculiar French Drama—A Well Organized Dramatic Company.

Camille Gaudlow	Miss Florence Gillette
Armand Duval	Mr. Wm. N. Griffith
Count de Varville	Mr. A. H. Hastings
Gaston	Mr. R. J. Dustan
Monsr Duval	Mr. E. Murray Day
Gustave	Mr. Geo. M. Griffith
Arthur	Mr. Chas. Harris
Messenger	Mr. Ward Swift
Mystaine Prudence	Miss Cassie Troy
Mlle Nichette	Miss Mary Richardson
Mlle Olympe	Miss Lucy Belden
Nanine	Miss Ella Southern

Last evening there was a good audience for this early date in the season to greet Miss Florence Gillette in one of her favorite roles, "Camille" is of the French Frenchy. It possesses such a highly colored picture of the freedom and recklessness of fast life in Paris that it becomes more of a fiction than a reality in the eyes of an audience not usually impenetrable to emotional acting. Therefore the feeling of the audience, if not their prejudices, in fact, had to be captured, and hence Miss Gillett's success is a triumph, no matter if the sphere of it may seem too small to dignify such a title. She has had no little success as a star, having won fortune as well as fame in the United States. Her portrayal of the captious, haughty coquette, either in her happy mood or her tantalizing way, was so very natural and artistic as to warrant the fame that heralded her visit. She is the heroine of the play in more ways than one, for she has not only the startling sensations to create but has the largest share of the work, being scarcely absent from the stage. The play is "Camille" throughout, and her several assistants are but very minor stars in her theatrical firmament. Light comedy made but a slight inroad last night into the play, making it all the more difficult to please. The death scene was not as realistic as Genevieve Ward could have made it, but that lady could not have been as natural and free from exaggerated grief as Gillette was. Her acting is entirely free from rant, and yet she showed as deep sorrow as it is possible to imagine. Altogether "Camille" was represented with signal success. The troupe is almost uniformly good, the Count de Varville (A. H. Hastings), being the truly polished Frenchman; and Armand Duval, (Wm. N. Griffith), an able emotional actor. Perhaps the most admired of the gentlemanly roles was that of Armand's father (E. Murray Day,) whose interview with "Camille" was perfect in its way. Madame Prudence, Nanine and Nichette, (Misses Troy, Southern and Richardson,) were capital, as was also the Gaston of R. J. Dustan. Gustave was evidently represented by a new beginner, and criticism may be withheld. "Led Astray" was the matinee piece today. To night there ought to be a large audience for "Frou-Frou."

DESERONTO CORRESPONDENCE.

Launch of a Fine Steam-barge—Built for Passenger Business—A Rebuilt Schooner off the Ways.

The new staunch propeller "Reliance" which has been building here this summer under the supervision of Mr. William Evans, a competent ship builder, was launched yesterday. The dimensions of the steamer are: Keel, 120 ft. 125 ft. over all; beam, 24 ft. and depth of hold 9½. Her capacity will be over 200,000 feet of lumber, or 12,000 bushels of grain. The power will be furnished by one large return flue boiler, of 160 flues, and two engines of 35 horse power each, to which is attached two large propeller wheels each five feet in diameter. She is a perfect model and when fitted out with her upper cabin in first class style for the accommodation of passengers will be one of the finest steamers on the lakes. She is built entirely of first class oak and will be an A 1 vessel. The new steamer will be operated by the Deseronto Navigation Company, and will run between Deseronto and Oswego, making connections with the Bay of Quinte Railway here.

The schooner 'Pinafore' was launched yesterday. She has been made extraordinary strong, with a new frame work throughout and other repairs to the extent of $2,000.

The foundation of the new engine and locomotiva house for the Bay of Quinte Railway was commenced this morning. The work will be pushed forward rapidly and the large store house at the steamboat dock lengthened 70 ft. before the close of navigation.

The Barley Market.

There is not such activity in the grain market as some imagine or expected. Farmers seem to be holding off, being evidently under the impression that higher prices will yet prevail, and that an advantage will be reaped by delay. The rates to-day were rye, 90c, barley, 75c to 80c, peas, 70c wheat, 1.30, oats, 35 to 37c.

At Port Hope the highest figure yet reached for barley is 82c; 80c is the average, but very little has been brought in. The farmers are waiting for a rise, yet a number say they will sell if the prices go up to 85c.

Barley in Napanee is commencing to move a little more freely, but very few farmers are selling as yet, and then only in small quantites; 80c is the highest figure that has been paid, but inducements are being quietly held out that 85c will be paid for A No. 1. Rye still holds firm with an upward tendency, 90c being freely paid. For peas 70c is paid for those free of bugs and not split, otherwise 5c per bushel is deducted. For oats 40c is the ruling price.

A Little Personal History.

Chief Hance, who is at present recruiting in Ithica, writes to the Police Magistrate that he has learned the whole history of the unfortunate woman Pearl Reed alias Carrie Snyder. He has called upon several parties, who say that when sober she was a decent girl of her kind. Her mother and sister are prostitutes and have often been occupants of the police cells. Pearl was the worst of the trio, and was latterly drunk much of her time. The citizens of Ithica who were spoken to said she was in a good place when in the Mercer Institute.

In his appeal for the bush fire sufferers the Governor of Michigan estimates the number of persons who are without shelter at 15,000.

NATIONAL CONVENTION.

Meeting of the Land Leaguers in Dublin—Mr. Parnell's Opening Speech.

Dublin, Sept. 15.—One thousand delegates attended the opening of the National Convention to day. Twenty one members of Parliament were present. Mr. Parnell amid the greatest enthusiasm took the chair.

Mr. Sexton read a number of telegrams particularly from the American branch of the league, exhorting the delegates never to rest until landlordism was abolished, not to pay rent, to hold back their harvests, etc.

Mr. Parnell, in his opening speech, referred to the thinning of their ranks by coercion since the last convention. He said for every ten imprisoned a hundred would join the League. He recapitulated the resolution, and said the question of self government was most important. He had always considered it could never be settled so long as questions in regard to rent remain in dispute. The Land Act left the rent question a continual source of discontent and strife between the different classes in Ireland. He had no doubt this was designedly so arranged by the British Government. He warned the farmers not to trust to the Land Act. It was designed to break the League. Nobody should appeal to the land courts until the test cases prepared by the League had been submitted. They should press forward to the abolition of landlordism and legislative independence. He advised farmers to borrow money under the Land Act so as to give work to the laborers, and invited the latter to join the League. He pledged himself to head the laborers' movement, as the farmers did not give them fair play. He reasserted that a fair rent would be the value of the land in a state of nature before it was improved by the tenant or any of his predecessors. Irishmen should encourage home manufactures, even if they had to pay dearer than for foreign goods. Things not producible in Ireland should be bought in America. English goods should not be bought in any event.

Mr. Sexton moved collectively the Land League's resolutions.

A Dublin despatch says:—From the outset it was apparent that the delegates to the Irish convention are pretty evenly divided between those in favour of accepting the Land Act, and those in favour of rejecting it and relying upon the League to obtain a larger measure.

The Irish National Convention yesterday passed a resolution authorising test cases under the Land Act to be brought before the Commission, provided no money contributions from America be used.

A RAILWAY COLLISION.

The Express From the East Collides With a Locomotive—Two Men Hurt.

Toronto, Sept. 17.—A collision occurred on the G. T. R. yesterday four miles west of Scarboro Junction. The express No. 4 was divided at Belleville, one part of the train, consisting of baggage and first and second-class cars, going ahead and the train of four or five sleepers following. The locomotive, which was approaching the city from the junction, was stopped where the collision occurred, to allow the fireman to pick up his hat, which had been blown off. A moment later, when the driver saw the express approaching from behind, it was and before he could put on steam the express came crashing on and both locomotives ran for a considerable distance along the track with the train of cars following. It is stated that the fireman of the express locomotive got one of his arms broken, and that the driver of the same engine was badly injured, but the company are so reticent that no particulars of the accident could be learned from them.

STATEMENT OF A KINGSTONIAN.

A gentleman from Kingston, who was on the train at the time of the collision, stated to a Globe reporter that about four or five miles this side of Scarboro Junction he was startled by a terrible shock. He was, with the other passengers in the cars, thrown violently forward and the car was filled with black smoke, the air became dark, and there was a hissing noise as of the escape of steam. He knew that their train had struck something, and at first thought that perhaps some of the brakes had fallen and that the train had run over them. The cars kept moving, and must he said, have ran half a mile after they left the track. When the train stopped, he, with several of the passengers, got out and walked forward to see what was the matter. They found the end of the and several other cars more or less damaged. When they got to the front of the train they found two engines telescoped and almost unrecognizable as engines. He walked into the city with about a dozen other passengers. The train came in about three hours late. In concluding this passenger from Kingston stated that he was a frequent traveller over the road; he had never seen such bungling as there was on the road west to Montreal; and he thought that when the lives of so many people were at stake there should be more than a passing censure in a case where the fireman or driver was to blame.

MILLIONS IN DISPITE.

The Will of the Late Detroit Millionaire Harper to be Contested.

Windsor, Sept. 16.—It is said that the will of the late Walter Harper, bequeathing his interest in the present site of the Harper Hospital, Detroit, a valuable business property in Philadelphia, and farms in Michigan to trustees, is about to be contested on account, among other things, of alleged violations of the trust, as well as on the ground that the testator, at the time of making his will, was not in his right mind. Walter Harper had two children, a son who died without issue, and a daughter, Elizabeth, who married George Shipley, once a merchant tailor in this town. The issue of this marriage was a son, George—now dead, but leaving children—and a daughter, now the wife of of James McKenna, a G. W. R. engineer residing in Hamilton. Mrs. McKenna is, in conjunction with the children of her brother, taking steps to secure the property, worth between $2,000,000 and $3,000,000. These heirs have consulted prominent Detroit lawyers, and offered one twenty per cent. of the estate, an offer he is now considering. Should he not accept the case will be put into the hands of a prominent Canadian firm of lawyers. Among the grounds likely to be adduced to prove that testator was of unsound mind is the evidence of an old French domestic who was in Harper's house when the will was made, and will swear he was not in his right mind when the will was made and for some time previous. Another witness will testify to Harper playing marbles with street boys and wrangling and quarrelling in true school boy style. As the success of the plaintiffs would deprive Detroit of one of its great benevolent institutions the case will be watched with interest in that city, and also here, where most of the heirs reside.

WILL HE RALLY?

Last Accounts Represent Garfield as Being in a Precarious State.

Long Branch, Sept. 16.—The President's condition causes a feeling of despondency, and the general situation warrants grave apprehension. The probabilities are that some time will elapse before the patient will show substantial improvement. During the past 48 hours he has made no progress towards recovery, and for the past 24 hours has been slightly but perceptibly losing strength. The process of repair in the wound has again come to a standstill. The discharge is small in quantity and quite watery. His condition is such as to put in question his ability to rally from the present exhaustion. McVeagh to-night notified the members of the Cabinet of the President's condition.

New York, Sept. 16.—Mrs. Edson, who yesterday saw the President, is reported as saying that she did not think the President better than he was a week ago, when she ceased attendance on him, but he was certainly no worse. She says the President, yesterday, when breakfast was announced, said to Mrs. Garfield: "Crete, I really believe that if I could go to the table with you I could eat heartily and enjoy it, but I can't relish it here." Although the President and Mrs. Garfield are both cheerful and hopeful, the condition of the patient is still very precarious, and he requires even more careful nursing than when at Washington.

A Note for the Council

DEAR SIR,—In view of the many attractions on Thursday next (notably the balloon ascension), I beg to suggest that the Mayor proclaim a partial public holiday in order to witness the same.
