OPENING of Midland Central Fair.

OPENING NIGHT of the Keane Troupe at the Opera House at 8 p.m.

SPECIAL MEETING of Public School Board at 3 p.m.

PUBLIC MEETING of Sympathy at City Hall at 8 p.m.

CITY AND VICINITY.

FOR.—Moderate to fresh winds, shifting to the northward, fair cooler weather, possibly showers in a few localities.

JUDGE'S COURT.—Thomas Keates, of Hinchinbrooke, stood his trial this afternoon before Judge Price, for assault. The charge was dismissed.

LADIES should remember that Haines & Lockett now keep the fine lines of kid boots in all the different widths, A. B. B½, C, C½, D, D½, so that every body is sure of a perfect fit.

ARBITRATION SUIT.—The City Solicitor, Mr. T. L. Snook, and a couple of assistants, are engaged in making out the papers required for use in the arbitration case between the city and county.

INCOMING EXCURSIONS.—A large number of Americans arrived in the city to day by the ferry steamers, their object being to attend the fair. To-morrow the rush inward will be far greater.

OFF FOR PETERBORO.—Some of the Athletic Lacrosse Club leave this evening for Peterboro, and the balance of the team, which plays the return match, will leave the city on the early morning train.

RUMOUR NOT VERIFIED.—It was reported to-day that the schooner Norway had met with another accident, that she had been lost in a gale, but the rumour has not been verified. Mr. Calvin had no such news.

NOW IN THE CITY.—Dr. M. Souvielle is now in the city, and may be professionally consulted at the City Hotel. The announcement of his arrival should have originally read the 19th instead of the 18th.

GARROTED AND ROBBED.—Last night two men were received at the police office who complained that while in bed at James McGowan's tavern, two men entered their room, pounced upon them and robbed them of $9.

A FINE OFFERING.—The offer of McCaul & Hiscock, in advertising columns, should attract wide attention, their business being long established, remunerative and reputable. Few better openings have been presented in Kingston for years.

INJURED IN THE LEG.—The horses which ran away on Princess street to-day belonged to Mr. D. Corrigan. They were standing in front of Greenwood's, and started from there after one of them, a colt, had seriously kicked the owner in the leg.

A LEASE CASE.—The market lessee had a man up, a farmer, this morning for selling grain off the proper market, i.e. the railway. The decision of the magistrate was reserved. The lessee is bound to see what he can do under his arrangement with the city.

RUSHING THE ROAD.—The contractors on the K. & P. RR. extension are rushing the work of the extension along as rapidly as possible. It is expected that two more miles of the track will be laid this week. The mosquitoes and black flies do not bother the navies now.

CRICKET MATCH.—On Thursday at 2 p.m., a match occurs on the cricket field between the Montrealers and the Kingston Club. It will be very interesting, as the members of the Montreal Club have a high reputation for skill in the use of the willow. Kingston will turn out its best eleven.

GRAND HOTEL, CALEDONIA SPRINGS.—The most prosperous season ever known at this most popular of summer and health resorts ends to-morrow by the closing of the Grand Hotel not to reopen till the first of June next, when the rally will again take place under even more auspicious circumstances.

A SYMPATHETIC ACT.—The deepest sorrow is expressed from every Canadian city at the death of President Garfield. A public welcome was to have been extended Sir John Macdonald, at Ottawa, this afternoon, but the Reception Committee with the approval of the Premier have postponed the demonstration until after the funeral.

HARD ON GANANOQUE.—A Pittsburgher writes us that a couple of days ago a farmer saw a vehicle halt before an empty house belonging to him, and some persons alight and take possession of the property. They are said to be exiles from Gananoque, being escorted by a couple of constables. Hard on the neighboring village if correct.

OPERA HOUSE TO-NIGHT.—Keene's Comedy and Dramatic Company has arrived and will inaugurate a brief season in the Opera House this evening by the production of "Rip Van Winkle," an old play but decidedly attractive and interesting when the leading characters are assumed by performers of the merit of those who now bid for the approval and support of the public. We can't say too much for Keene, who is an old Kingstonian, and one of the best who have held the boards of the Opera House since the beginning. He has talented aides with whom is sure to entertain his patrons.

WHAT'S THE NEWS?

Laconic Arrangement of Items of Local and General Interest Gossip that is Readable.

The loser of a carriage step will get a trace of it at the Whig office.

The property sold by Mr. Fenwick to Isaac Simpson belonged to the Thomas Hendry estate.

AN EXTENDED notice of the late President Garfield has been crowded on to our fourth page.

The shade trees on the street, near McRossie's, have been cut and hacked in a malicious way, and not by a small boy, either.

Miss McBain, the balloonist, has succeeded in capturing the good opinion of the journalists wherever she has appeared.

The J. H. Keane Comedy Company arrived yesterday from New York and are quartered at the Windsor Hotel. Last evening they spent in rehearsing for this evening's performance.

There was a presentation and wedding at Odessa last evening. The members of the Canada Methodist Church gave the bride a silver tea service in acknowledgement of her service as organist.

An exciting runaway occurred at noon to-day. A team of horses, with pole and whippletrees bumping along after them, made a wild rush down Princess street, but came suddenly to a halt near the City Hall, whereupon of these fell.

Shoals in the Harbour.

Plans of our harbour, shewing where the shoals are located and the depth of water over and around them have been prepared for submission to the Hon. the Minister of Public Works when the civic deputation goes to Ottawa to interview members of the Government in regard to public improvements towards which it is anticipated important financial aid will be granted. In examining the chart we find that the water between the Martello tower and Point Frederick shoal is 15 ft. deep at the shallowest place, and 24 feet at the deepest; on the shoal, when the soundings were taken, there was 9½ ft. of water at one end and 11 feet at the other, but it is safe to say that there has been quite a fall since the survey was made. Between the shoal and Point Frederick there is a depth of from 19 ft. to 33 ft., or an average of 25 ft. There is a depth of from 15½ ft. to 23 ft. between the two shoals, in taking the calculations due north and south. The Carruthers shoal, which is shelving, lies deeper, the distance from it to the surface of the water at the north end being 11½ ft. and the south end 13 ft. Just beyond it there is a depth of 36 ft. These shoals are said to be of limestone, and quite easy of removal. With a moderate expenditure of money our harbour could be vastly improved.

A Sympathetic People.

A universal regret has been expressed that the wounding of the President by an assassin has terminated in his death. Though expected the event came finally as a sensation and absorbed public attention during the day. Several leading citizens called upon the Mayor and requested him to call a public meeting at which they could put their feelings on record, and extend sympathy to their American friends while depressed in consequence of the great bereavement. A public meeting is announced in another column, and we have no doubt it will be well attended. Suitable resolutions will be prepared and passed.

As soon as Garfield's death was indicated by telegraph this morning numerous flags were hoisted at half mast, and will so float until after the funeral of the martyr President. The flags most noticeable were those on Weber & Co.'s piano factory, on the City Hall, Court House, American Consul's office, Golden Lion Block, Custom House, Post Office, Sailors' Union headquarters, Walpole's stationery store, steamers 'Pierrepont' and 'Watertown,' and various vessels in the harbor.

PERSONAL MENTION.

MR. B. T. Farmer, of Toronto, representing the North American Mutual Insurance Company, is still in the city.

Mr. J. W. Dawson, Warden of the county, and wife, of Ompah; and G. W. Dawson, Reeve of Clarendon, arrived here last evening for the purpose of attending the fair. The former will go to London with the county deputation.

President's Garfield's children are five in number. Henry A. and James, the eldest two, are well along in their "teens;" Mollie, who is next, is about 14, and after her comes Irvin McDowell, with Abram following, the youngest of the five. Two other children were born to him, but both are dead.

The Old, Old Story.

Owing to the great scarcity of water in the back townships farmers are now engaged in sinking new wells on their property. A week or so ago a farmer named Fleler, who lives in Clarendon, was thus employed. He had drilled a hole and put in a blasting charge which did not go off. Afterwards the old hole was further drilled, but during the operation a premature explosion occurred, scattering the rock in all directions. A youth named Gurdis was slightly injured. The son of Mr. Fleler, who was holding the drill, had one hand so badly smashed that three fingers will have to be amputated. He was otherwise bruised by the flying missiles. It is miraculous that the four men escaped with so little injury.

Flight of a Rock.

A few days ago quite an episode occurred at the Snow road, on the K. & P. Railway extension. At this place rock blasting was being engaged in with that great power, dualin. A rock weighing some 250 pounds was hurled into the air. It flew across a creek and road some 100 feet and fell crashing through the roof of Mr. Allan's store, making a hole some eight or nine feet in circumference in it. Before the stone was arrested it went through the two floors and deeply imbedded itself in the cellar. It seemed to fight shy of the furniture. Fortunately no persons were in the house at the time of the accident.

MIDLAND CENTRAL FAIR.

AN AUSPICIOUS OPENING IN EVERY WAY—CROWDS OF VISITORS ANTICIPATED.

Best Show Yet of the Old Pioneer Society—Increased Number of Entries—Good Weather and Good Management—Promise of Interesting Season.

The Midland Central Fair opened to-day with as cheerful a countenance as a maiden wears on her bridal morning. The weather is not usually propitious on Kingston Fair days, but there is an old saw "that all signs fail in dry weather." And this season is dry enough in all conscience for the most contrary influences on signs and predictions. Then, again, the entries exceed the numbers of former years considerably, the ravages of the bush fires having neutralized to a small extent only the enterprise of the agriculturists. The Midland Central Fair is peculiarly a Kingston and front township enterprise, the support received from adjoining counties, save Lennox and Addington being far below what it ought to be. Such marked growing success is, therefore, locally all the more pleasing, since it is another good reason why the Agricultural and Arts Association should repair the injury it has done Kingston and itself, indeed, by withdrawing the Provincial Fair from it. In this city the Provincial Exhibition was cradled, the veteran President of the Midland Fair Society of this year, Sheriff Ferguson, being one of its most active foster fathers. Kingston built the first of the Crystal Palace buildings, surrounded by permanent exhibition grounds, and gave the show its first eclat. Since that time it has developed its manufacturing and agricultural spirit until now the city and county hold a better show in proportion to their population and resources than any place in Canada. We say this advisedly and if the Provincial Fair of 1882 falls to their lot, these municipalities will prove these words true.

A FAVOURABLE OPENING.

Shortly before dusk last evening a clouded sky seemed to indicate a break in the prolonged spell of dry weather, attended as it is by unpleasant experiences from which rain can only give relief. But morning came, and with it circumstances, so far as the weather is concerned, of a most favourable character. From an early hour the fair grounds had an animated appearance. The Crystal Palace and its surroundings had previously been made ready for the exhibition so that tolerably rapid progress was made in arranging the entries so as to make the best display. Of course all morning there was great disorder, which was to be expected so long as the exhibitors were engaged in receiving and placing the goods. The most confusion prevailed in the palace building, in which a great variety of material has been deposited, calculated to arrest the attention and interest and admiration of the visitors. The arrangements generally appear to be superior to what they have been in former years. The directors and their efficient staff of officers have profited by long service, and have now the details of the show in a shape which affords satisfaction to all concerned; while the various superintendents have specially devoted themselves to the fitting up of the building, etc., so that there is a convenience and safety guaranteed to these having live stock, or machinery or other property to exhibit. Some of the old buildings, needed quite an overhauling but they received necessary repairs, and the locks on the doors have been provided with keys, the possessors of which can only gain access to the stalls, stables, or departments.

HEADS OF DEPARTMENTS.

The following are the overseers appointed by the association:

Horses—Messrs. John Wilmot and J. M. Fair.
Cattle—Messrs. T. C. Stark and W. Breden.
Sheep and Pigs—Mr. John Simpson.
Poultry—Mr. G. S. Oldrieve.
Roots and Grain—Mr. W. Duff.
Fruits, Flowers, and Vegetables—Mr. D. Nicol.
Dairy Products, Fine Arts, Natural History—Sheriff Ferguson and Mr. J. A. Allen.
Stoves, Hardware, Cabinet Ware—Messrs. W. Harty and H. Wilmot.
Implements, Carriages—Mr. H. Cunningham.
Ladies' Work, Musical Instruments, Miscellaneous—Mr. Isaac Simpson.
General Superintendent—Mr. H. Wilmot, an industrious and most obliging man, whose work, we have no doubt, will be as much appreciated this as in former years.

A FEW INTERESTING REGULATIONS.

Animals or articles brought for the purpose of sale have places apportioned for them, and an auctioneer will be on the grounds at 11 o'clock upon the last day of the exhibition to dispose of the same.

The stabling for horses and stock on the grounds is free of charge and the provender is furnished at cost price.

All persons to whom prizes are awarded must apply to the Secretary for payment thereof before the 30th of November. Prizes uncalled for after that date are forfeited.

The meaning of an extra entry is that of any animal or article not enumerated in the list.

Everything for exhibition has to be on the grounds and placed before 6 o'clock this evening, excepting live stock which must be on hand before 10 o'clock to-morrow morning.

The exhibition closes on Friday afternoon at 2 o'clock, after which time exhibitors are to take charge of and remove their property. The first day is always devoted to the receiving and arranging of exhibits. The second day the judges commence their duties.

LATE DATE PREFERABLE.

In former years the date of the show was held later, but with generally unpropitious weather, hence the change the wisdom of which is quite evident. The grounds are in a fine condition. For several weeks workmen have been engaged in preparing them for use and not for years have the buildings had so good an appearance. All over the grounds numerous tents, have been erected for various purposes.

BOUNTIFUL SUPPLY OF WATER.

Notwithstanding the dry spell there will be no lack of water. For several days teams have been engaged in drawing a good supply, and all the tanks have been filled to the brim. The horse ring has been greatly enlarged, and is now in excellent shape for the speeding of animals. The horse stalls, sheep and pig pens, and cattle ranges have all been repaired and will prove in every way serviceable for the present exhibition.

OFFICERS OF THE ASSOCIATION.

The officers of the association are working industriously to promote the success of the exhibition. They are:

President—Sheriff Ferguson.
First Vice President—David Nicol.
Second Vice President—Wm. Harty.
Treasurer—Isaac Simpson.
Secretary—Thomas Mills.
Directors—Henry Cunningham, John Simpson, William Duff, Henry Wilmot, William Breden, George S. Oldreive, John Wilmot, T. C. Stark, J. M. Fair.
Vigilance Committee—James H. Metcalfe, M.P.P., Charles H. Corbett, J. L. Haycock, Charles Grass, H. M. Grass.
Auditors—John McLean, John Shaw.

ENTRIES UP TO NOON.

The following are the entries, which are far from complete but already the number is ahead of what it was last year. The figures were taken off the Secretary's books at 12 o'clock:

PROSPECTS OF THE SHOW GOOD.

The prospects at the present writing are fine. All the classes are represented and are filling up rapidly.

The poultry exhibit is the finest for years.

The dog show will be the great attraction. The animals are tenderly cared for. One old lady is very particular about her poodle. She has him nicely boxed up to prevent him taking cold, and in bringing him to the ground carried him in herself.

Mr. Edward Mostyn has the restaurant in the Mechanics' Hall, and there provides meals for the judges and visitors. The location is handy. The attendance is not large so far, but to-morrow there will be a rush.

THE BALLOON ASCENSION.

Arrival of the Aeronauts—Prof. Meyers and Miss Pearl McBain Preparing for Operation.

Yesterday afternoon the baloonists, who are interested in the ascension on Thursday at the fair ground, arrived in the city. Prof. Meyers is yet a comparatively young man, but he has a long experience in the business, and has made a specialty of managing a large number of ascensions each year with mall balloons, having during the time he has been so occupied fulfilled more engagements than any other party in the United States. He has been up in the air about thirteen times himself but he finds it more advantageous to prepare for the event and have one whose only duty it is to take an aerial flight. He makes the balloons, too, and has a method of varnishing the cotton some eight or nine times before it is shaped and sewed and made ready for inflation. Being asked about it he said, "By my plan of manufacturing I can make a balloon very light and very tight. The cotton holds the varnish, the varnish closes the pores and holds the gas, and the netting properly adjusted holds the aeronaut."

"The balloon to rise here is a new one, is it?"

"Yes, it has not yet been raised. It is named after Carlotta with whom I have travelled a good deal, and who is now operating in the United States. She is experienced and capable of doing the business, of inflating the balloon, and making the ascension. The basket of the Carlotta is unlike those generally used. It consists of a board bottom suspended to the concentrating ring by hammock twine so that the figure of the occupant is quite visible. The fixture is of the frailest yet safest character."

"What is the weight of the balloon, and how high does it ascend generally?" we asked.

"The weight is about 55 lbs., and usually the baloon rises to a height of from one one and a half to two and a half miles. Our ballast ranges in quantity from 30 lbs to 50 lbs.

"How do you make your gas?"

"In four large whale casks. I don't think they have arrived from Redwood, N.Y., whence they were shipped for Kingston.

"How long does it take to inflate the balloon?"

"The shortest time has been an hour, but it has taken as long as three hours."

"Is there any secret about how you make the gas?"

"None whatever. Knowing how it is made and making it are two different things. The gas will be extracted by first forming a new combination of its oxygen, setting the hydrogen free, which is a hot, damp state passes rapidly through a purifier which relieves it of carbon, vapor and heat, after which it passes into the expanding balloon held down by sand bags attached to the netting. A very conspicuous difference in size exists between the small tanks and the swollen gas bag after inflation. The Carlotta holds 6,000 ft. of gas."

"How long has Miss McBain been engaged in ballooning?"

"Since she was 17 years of age. She is now 22. She made her first ascension at a Soldiers' Reunion, in Dayton, Ohio, in the centennial year. Her last rise was from Redwood, N.Y., in the 'Erial,' which has now made 63 ascensions—oftener than any other balloon in existence."

The party go from here to Mohawk, N.Y., thence to New Milford, Conn., then back to Antwerp, N.Y., at all of which places ascensions will take place.

Prof. Meyer says ballooning is enjoyable, that however stormy the weather drifting with the wind is quite peaceful and appreciable. There is some danger in alighting, but it diminishes according as one becomes more experienced. Miss McBain is good looking and an interesting talker.

DEATH OF ROBERT DOWNEY.

The One who Arrested Vankoughnet no More—Receives Fatal Injuries by Falling into a Culvert.

This morning early the somewhat startling announcement was made of the death of Mr. Robert Downey, who captured Vankoughnet, the murderer, so cleverly some time ago. A Whig reporter was at once detailed to look up the facts and found Mr. Thomas Smith, who had come to the city to communicate with the County Attorney and ascertain whether an inquest was necessary. Yesterday Mr. Downey accompanied by his sister-in-law, Emma Scott, left his home in the third concession of Portland for the purpose of visiting his brother-in-law, Mr. Chas. Silver, who lives on the Portland Road, about six miles from this city. On the way towards Sydenham, at 2 p.m. they were seen by Mr. Grooms. It is thought that they passed down to Murvale on the K. & P. RR., a train there being boarded and the journey made to Glenvale, where it is likely they embarked and walked down the track as far as Letherland's woods, the site of the recent Methodist camp meeting. The night was terribly dark as our citizens well know. While passing down the track both persons, it seems, fell into a culvert, some three feet in depth. They crawled out, Miss Scott not being injured. Mr. Downey feels hurt but after getting out of the ditch said he thought the pain would soon pass off. In the meantime he halted and to Miss Scott remarked, "I'll sit down for a few moments, but you'd better go on to Silver's." She did so, and at Silver's waited some time for Downey's appearing. But he came not. Young Silver and several friends started in search of him. They failed to find him and returning to the house retired for the night. At 5 o'clock this morning the search was resumed and the body discovered stiff in death but a short distance from where Downey sat down to rest. The body was not removed. Smith was detailed to come to Kingston and see a Coroner. Dr. Saunders will hold an inquest this afternoon at 2 o'clock, Constable Floodybeing sent out to summon a jury.

Downey was about 50 years of age, and has a wife and seven or eight children living. Several years ago he lost one of his sons by a fatal accident in a shingle mill at Sydenham. The boy was literally cut to pieces.

There is no foul play suspected in Downey's death. In falling into the culvert he must have received serious internal injuries.

The body was removed this morning to the house of his brother-in-law, Chas. Silver, whom he was about to visit. The house was about one-half mile from where the body was found.

LATER.—The County Attorney has decided that an inquest is not necessary, as the death of Downey was purely accidental.

Daniel Murphy, Thomas Carroll, Michael McGuire, John Kelly, John Wilson, Charles Thompson and Henry Delville, were each admonished and ordered to clear out. The majority of them were either K. & P. Railway labourers or sailors.

John Farrell was not sober enough to appear in court. He was allowed to remain in the cells.

THOROUGH TEST!

IN order to thoroughly test the favorable impression we have made since opening our Branch Boot and Shoe Store in Kingston, we decided after January last to advertise only about one third as much as formerly. The result has been most satisfactory to ourselves and shows an increase of from 25 to 40 per cent on each week's sales, as compared with last year. We believe this mainly to be due to our large business connections, enabling us to place goods into the consumer's hands at about prices ordinary dealers pay wholesale for them, and to the fact that we do a STRICTLY CASH TRADE, both in buying and selling. The public are well aware that this CASH SYSTEM offers great advantages to buyer and seller over the old time Credit System. Our stock is now larger and more complete than at any time since opening, particularly in finer lines for Ladies', Misses' and Children's.
