Quifer per Quipos sepsit.

Hon. Mr. Blake's visit to Quebec city seems to have had as happy an effect as his tour through the sea-board provinces. It is not altogether the popularity of the Liberal leader, however undoubted as that is, but the extreme unpopularity of the Government, its administration, and its tariff, that largely accounts for the enthusiasm which has been evoked by the visit of Mr. Blake to the ancient capital. So strong is the feeling there that the Mercury declares no bleu or "hunkist" candidate would have the smallest chance of success in that city should an election immediately ensue.

It is pointed out that the thanksgiving day this year—20th of October—happens to fall upon the date when the Princess Louise sails for Canada. The more sentimental loyalist among us can include this incident in their thanksgiving and continue therewith their ardent prayers for the safe transit of the Princess hither from the old land for which she betrays an incurable home sickness. All Canadians will join in the aspiration for her safe arrival here, and will hope that barring runaway accidents and nervous shocks Her Royal Highness may be patient and willing enough to put up with Canadian life and fare during the balance of her husband's vice-Regal term.

The attempt to accord Sir John Macdonald a public reception at the Capital well nigh came to grief, partly because his too sudden arrival disarranged the plans of his admirers, and partly because of a difference of opinion among themselves as to the propriety of a public reception at all. The address of welcome home again to the Premier was to be of an entirely non-political character, and if this was so we heartily subscribe to it. We are perfectly free to congratulate Sir John Macdonald on his safe return with health and spirits restored to their former buoyancy. We rejoice as much as his most devoted followers could desire at his complete restoration to health, and sincerely hope that he may long be spared to enjoy the happiness of a green old age. His recovery from the illness which threatened his life will silence the unseemly rivalry between Tupper and Tilley as to which of them should step into the sick Chieftain's shoes, and the fact that he will continue at the head of his party will enhance the glory of the Liberal victory of 1883.

THE ASSASSIN.

The public grief at the sad and tragic end of President Garfield has been too deep and absorbing to permit a desecration of the sacred sorrow by thoughts of the wretch who perpetrated the crime. The question will soon arise, however, as to what shall be done to the assassin of America's first and best citizen. So long as the President's life trembled in the balance there was a corresponding uncertainty as to the fate of his would-be murderer. The death of the President has literally made his act, in deed as well as in intent, murder in the first degree. There can therefore now be no question as to his suffering the extreme penalty of the law for his crime. For that matter whether the President survived or died should make no difference in the assassin's punishment, inasmuch as his act was in any case murder with malice of one thought and without the slightest vestige of cause or provocation. Had the President lived, however, there might been a chance for Guiteau's neck. Now there is none unless somebody more successful than Sergeant Mason anticipates and cheats the hangman by putting a bullet through his heart. Although hanging is too good for him it is to be hoped that the law will take its course, and that Guiteau will be permitted upon the gallows to make his inadequate expiation for the vilest crime on record.

THE NEXT PROVINCIAL FAIR.

A strong representative delegation from this city and locality is to-day in London, Ont., to press upon the Provincial Agricultural and Arts Association the fairness and propriety of placing the Provincial Exhibition here next year. It is high time this tardy justice were done to this city and vicinity. So long as the relative plan is recognized and followed it should be fairly carried out. Public money is awarded for the support of these Provincial Expositions, and this being so all sections of the country should enjoy a share of its public benefits. This meed of justice Kingston and the Midland and eastern counties of which it is the centre have been denied, and it is high time reparation were made to Eastern Ontario in this regard. From the fact of having so long been deprived of first recognition, our deputation to London will be able to ply a strong and unanswerable argument in favour of getting the Provincial Fair held here next year. The plea that it is not advisable to carry the Fair too far east may apply with some force to Ottawa, which is right on the Provincial line but not to Kingston, which is central enough for all practical purposes, especially for Eastern Ontario, and which is not any farther east than London is west for the purposes of the exhibition. In this connection it is equally noteworthy and praiseworthy that Toronto, which has so seldom been known to expend a generous thought upon any other locality than its own, feels the force of Kingston's claim and shows signs of conceding it. The Globe waives the demand of the Queen city for the holding of the next Provincial Exhibition, and goes the length of saying that it should next be given to this "deserving section of the country." This is good and for it we are duly thankful. Under all the circumstances we hope and expect that our local deputation will fully accomplish the object of its mission to London.

JOURNEYMEN TAILORS ON STRIKE.

Their Demand Conceded by the Employers, A Very Substantial Gain to the Men—All Now Peaceful.

A number of the journeymen tailors were on strike yesterday. The agitation caused by them was for a time quite interesting. They caucussed at the corners and held sundry interviews with their employers, and are said to have actually won the point for which they contended. Most of them had been employed by the week and wanted piece work; those who had had the latter demanded extra rates for work which had not before been taken into account. Dunbar's men seem to have ceased work first, and during the afternoon those of three or four other shops joined in the movement for an advance of wages.

"Did you sign the new bill?" we asked of one employer who had been embarrassed by the strike of yesterday.

"I did, and all my men are at work to-day. They had been receiving $10 a week, and I thought they were satisfied."

"What increase did you concede?"

"I haven't figured it down fine, but I think it will run from 25 to 30 per cent. The extras are the items on which the money will be made.

"What extras do you mean?"

"The binding, pockets and preparing for fitting. Heretofore a man got so much for a coat without regard to these things. Now the binding is a separate item for which I have to make an allowance of 50c.; for each pocket, when more than three are made, 15c.; for basting for trying on, 15c. A sack coat which formerly cost me $2.75 will now cost probably $3.50.

"What will be the wordman's gain per week?"

"From about $2.50 to $2.75 per week."

"How many of the boss tradesmen have been affected by the agitation?"

"All excepting two, and the men employed by them are engaged by the week and so far as I know are contented. One of them lost a striker. Five of us signed the new terms. We are very busy now with Fall work and can't stop to haggle about a trifle of wages."

NOTICE OF THE MEN.

The men, at noon, gave notice that they were still on strike. On enquiry we learn that the resistance is only offered in one or two shops. Tweedie, Prevost, Sands, and Tillinghast readily consented to the advance. The latter two inform us that the demand is quite reasonable.

AN INTERESTING COMPARISON.

The Staff Expenses of the Kingston and St. Vincent de Paul Penitentiaries Compared Greatly to Favor of Kingston.

Some time ago we gave a few extracts from the reports of the Inspector and Warden relative to the management of the Kingston Penitentiary. These all showed a very satisfactory state of things and spoke well for the efficiency of the chief executive officer of that institution.

Since then there have been cropping up in various forms in the public press, as well as in our own columns, several notices of escapes and unfavorable incidents connected with the sister penitentiary, St. Vincent de Paul, which has been far from assuring to the public that every thing is comme il faut down there.

We have, therefore, dipped into the official reports of 1880 again to see what proportion of staff expenses the one penitentiary bears to the other. The following are the results:

KINGSTON PENITENTIARY.

The salaries in all 72 persons employed, 42 Protestants and 31 Roman Catholics at an aggregate salary of $41,840, apportioned as under:

1	receives	2,600 equals	2,600
1	"	1,800 "	1,800
1	"	1,400 "	1,400
2	"	1,200 "	2,400
2	"	1,000 "	2,000
1	"	800 "	800
1	"	780 "	780
5	"	700 "	3,500
1	"	650 "	650
1	"	600 "	600
4	"	560 "	2,240
6	"	500 "	3,000
42	"	450 "	18,900
4	"	350 "	1,400
1	"	300 "	300
1	"	250 "	240

The average daily convicts for the year is 737, which gives a cost per capita for staff $56.75 per annum. The Warden in his report makes this item $55.99 which shows that he has under-paid the full roll. Since 1874 there have been 216 convicts pardoned and 4 who succeeded in making good their escape. From the same date there have been no fewer than 42 deaths.

ST. VINCENT DE PAUL.

The full staff of this Penitentiary numbers 59, all being Roman Catholics except one of the Chaplains, the Deputy Warden and Chief Keeper. Their aggregate salaries total up to $35,440.00 distributed as follows:

1	receives	2,600 equals	2,600
1	"	1,400 "	1,400
3	"	1,200 "	3,600
2	"	1,000 "	2,000
1	"	800 "	800
1	"	780 "	780
4	"	700 "	2,800
1	"	650 "	650
2	"	600 "	1,200
1	"	580 "	580
3	"	560 "	1,680
10	"	500 "	5,000
24	"	450 "	10,800
3	"	350 "	1,050
2	"	250 "	500

None of the reports give us the cost per capita, but presuming all have worked full time and been paid therefor it is easily found. The daily average of prisoners for the year is 326 which gives us an expense of $108.71 per head. Since 1874 there have been pardoned 78 and 8 have effected their escape, but there have only been 4 deaths.

RESULT OF THE ANALYSIS.

From this analysis we find that it is neither the want of funds granted to secure officers nor through the lack of pardoning influence, that has brought about the unsatisfactory state of things at St. Vincent de Paul. The staff costs nearly double in proportion to the prison population, and the pardons granted are only a trifle less compared with the number of convicts at Kingston. Still they have had, as the nett result of the numerous attempts to escape, three that have never been recaptured, which entitles Kingston to lose nine instead of four. The death rate is the only redeeming feature it has. Kingston, according to their proportion, should only have had nine deaths instead of forty-two, but we are more inclined to place this difference to the debit of Kingston than to the credit of St. Vincent de Paul. Whatever may be the untoward elements producing the unsatisfactory results in the sister institution, and whatever may be the final results of the investigation our readers are now in a position to see that it is not the want of money and officers that has contributed to, or caused its inferiority.

POLICE COURT—THURSDAY.

Michael Hogan and Joseph Nesbit, the latter from the United States, were dismissed. They may not receive the same leniency on the next introduction to the Magistrate.

John Kelly was guilty of making a show of himself while intoxicated. He wanted to leave the city on the vessel on which he came here on, and was given his liberty for that purpose.

Ellen Wells was charged with larceny, but no one appearing to prosecute she was bowed out of court.

Charles Green, one of the laziest of men, was released on promising to live soberly and to impose a little on his respected papa.

George Gallaway was one of those who went to the Picton camp, and since his return has been constantly drunk. He was fined $2, which will leave him with little or no funds.

PERSONAL MENTION.

Miss McBain, the mronant, is good-looking. She has splendid nerve.

The Chief of Police, Col. Hance, is expected to reach the city this afternoon, improved, we hope, in health.

Mr. Lecourt, father-in-law of Mr. Joseph Tasse, junior member for Ottawa in the Commons, is to receive the appointment of Chief Architect of the Government, to fill the vacancy caused by the retirement of Mr. Scott.

Dr. Dupuis returned home last evening. He has had a most extensive tour and been very much improved in health. He visited England, Holland, Switzerland, Germany, Belgium, and France. He has written for the WHIG some of his impressions, and will conclude them as leisure occurs. He has reached the city as soon as a letter written by him and descriptive of London life. It will be published in a day or two.

Vice-Regal Tour.

Fort Calgarry, N.W.T., Sept. 12., via Benton, Montana, Sept. 19.—Says that His Excellency and party arrived all well, having left Battleford on 1st inst. The journey was much longer than had been expected, and many of the Police horses gave out on the road, owing mainly to a very severe rain storm to which they were exposed for over twelve hours.

GARFIELD'S OBSEQUIES.

Lincoln's Burial Revived.

A Magnificent Funeral Car.

LAYING OUT OF CORPSE.

Family Farewell View.

Cabinet Not to be Disturbed—A Noted Rier—Arthur Will Not Attend the Funeral.

Solon, Ohio, Sept. 20.—The news was broken to grandma Garfield at 9 o'clock this morning. At first she was very much shocked, but soon came to, and talked calmly. She said, "It was probably all for the best." She then said, "It is not possible that my son James is dead. I do not wish to live any longer. I will soon be with him."

NEWS TO GUITEAU.

The news of the President's death did not reach the gaol in which Guiteau was confined until midnight. Everything was tranquil, Guiteau resting quietly in his cell, and there was no excitement in the neighbourhood, nor was trouble apprehended by the officials. General Sherman said he did not expect an attempt would be made to mob the prisoner.

LINCOLN'S HEARSE.

St. Louis, Sept. 21.—The hearse used at Springfield, on the occasion of the burial of Lincoln, is here in good order, and has been tendered by the owner for use at Cleveland on Monday. The vehicle is a magnificent one and cost $4,000. At President Lincoln's funeral the main platform was 14 feet long by 8 feet wide, and 15 in height. On this platform, which was five feet from the ground, was a dais six inches in height on which the coffin rested. Above the dais was an elegant canopy supported by four columns curving upwards at the centre and surmounted by a miniature Temple of Liberty. The platform was covered with black cloth, which falls at the sides nearly to the ground, and was edged with silver bullion fringe. Festoons of black cloth also hung from the sides festooned with silver stars and edged with silver bullion. The canopy was trimmed in like manner, with black cloth festooned and spangled with silver bullion, the cornice surmounted by a rich plume of black and white feathers. At the base of each column were three American flags, slightly inclined, festooned and covered with crape. The Temple of Liberty was represented as deserted, having no emblems of any kind in or around it except a small flag at the top at half mast. The inside of the car was lined with white satin fluted. From the centre of the room was suspended a large eagle with outspread wings, having in its talons a laurel wreath. The platform around the coffin was strewn with flowers. The car was drawn by sixteen grey horses, covered with black cloth trimmings, each led by a groom.

PRESIDENT'S FUNERAL CARS.

Long Branch, Sept. 21.—The President was laid out in the suit of clothes he wore at the inauguration. The left hand was laid across the breast. The body was so greatly shrunken that artificial means had to be resorted to to give the clothes the appearance of fitting. In addition to shrinkage from illness, the autopsy had left the body in even a more emaciated state. A plaster cast was taken of the face yesterday as well as the right hand.

DAY OF MOURNING.

Denver, Sept. 22.—The Governor has designated Monday as a day of mourning and prayer.

REVIVING AN OLD PROMISE.

Cleveland, Sept. 22.—Years ago Garfield, Dr. J. Robinson, Rev. Dr. Errett, Cincinnati, and Chaplain Jones, of Garfield's regiment, agreed that when one died the others would attend the funeral. Yesterday Robinson received from Mrs. Garfield the following: "Fulfill ment of an old promise. Please have Errett, Jones and yourself meet me at Cleveland."

A VERY REMARKABLE SCENE.

Long Branch, Sept. 22.—At Franklyn cottage yesterday, just as the minister was about to begin the service, Mrs. Garfield leaned towards Rockwell and whispered or made a significant gesture. The Colonel raised his hand to bid the minister wait, and said in a low tone: "Mrs. Garfield wants to look into the coffin before the service." Immediately the widow, taking her daughter by the hand arose and without aid approached the coffin and stood hand in hand for what seemed a very long time and gazed on the face of the dead. Mollie's feelings were beyond her control, but her mother was motionless in attitude and features as a statute. "I stood and gazed at her in wonder," said Rev. Mr. Young to a friend afterwards; "it was a marvellous sight to see that woman standing there looking into that coffin holding herself under such perfect control, but of course her face was like marble. I never saw anything like it, for except Mrs. Garfield's there was not a dry eye in the room. Blaine wiped his eyes again and again, and McVeagh and Rockwell wept as they stood leaning against the wall."

POSSESSION OF MINING STOCK.

New York, Sept. 22.—It is stated that Garfield owned 10,000 shares of stock in a mining company.

It is supposed that Arthur's sister, Mrs. Mary McIlroy, Albany, will be the lady who will preside in the White House.

WASHINGTON SPECIALS.

The New York Times: It is believed that Arthur has not come to any decision in regard to the expediency of calling a special session of the Senate. There are trustworty indications that the Cabinet will not be disturbed for the present.

The World says: The bier on which Garfield's remains are lying in state are the same upon which rested the remains of Lincoln, Chase, Sumner and Stevens.

The Sun says: Arthur, before being formally sworn into office by Chief Justice Waite to-day at the Vice-President's room in the Capitol, authoratively stated that the President will not attend the funeral services of the late President in Cleveland. Two or three members of the Cabinet will go.

A Serious Fire.

St. Louis, Sept. 22.—The houses of cellier, whitelead and oil were burned yesterday; loss $20,000. Jerry Wagden, an old man was, perhaps, fatally burned. A woman and two children are reported as missing. Many dwellings were burned; 30 families are destitute. The fire was started by two little girls and a boy who applied a match to a bundle of straw piled against the building.

A Noted Marriage.

Carlsruhe, Sept. 21.—The marriage of Gustavus, Crown Prince of Sweden with Princess Victoria, only daughter of the Grand Duke of Baden, was solemnized yesterday.

WELL MERITED PROMOTION.

Another Candidate for the Position of Steward of the Kingston Penitentiary—Claims of J. Weir.

To the Editor of the British Whig.

SIR,—For the benefit of that individual, well posted, who has tried to raise the wind on behalf of a quartet centenarian I would say if his qualifications are so very much in his favour how is it that he has not had any promotion for such a long period of apprenticeship? But the position of Steward of Kingston Penitentiary is filled by a man of rare qualifications. That gentleman I am proud to say is Mr. James Weir. He has served a good apprenticeship of 5 years as Mr. Wm. Sullivan's assistant, and I am sure gave entire satisfaction or he would not have gained the favour of the Warden. By the shrewd and able manner in which he has proved to control that department, and his experience among the criminal class of men, he has proved lately to be a shrewd and deep thinking man, capable of taking in a criminal's move at a glance. I refer to the action of a convict who thought he would take him in a snare and frustrate his chances of getting the promotion. It looks as if there was some mean and detestable plotting about to be tried. But he proved able to frustrate their fiendish design, and the poor convict came out—well about third best. "He got a rest."

Furthermore I have it from very good authority that Mr. Weir is the only available officer in the Penitentiary who is capable of filling the position with satisfaction to the Government, and of coarse to the public. We don't want to put men in the public service who are not men of genuine and undoubted qualifications, and now I am glad to have the opportunity of letting the public know that the right man is in the right place and a genuine man of merit he is.

Hoping that you will pardon me for encroaching so far upon your valuable time and columns,

I remain yours,

A FRIEND OF THE UPRIGHT.

Sept. 22, '81.

We may state that Mr. Weir has been appointed steward, and that this controversy is, therefore, at an end. Mr. Weir will make an efficient steward.

THE OLD TRUTHS REVIVED.

The very interesting sermon of Rev. Dr. Wilson, printed in the WHIG, showing how much in our country has been brought to light by the truth of God, which had seemed buried for so many thousand years in old Egypt, and how even the dead seem to be rising from their graves to rebuke infidels and strengthen the faith of believers, has brought to mind a lecture upon the Great Pyramid, delivered in 1878 by Rev. M. Low, a sketch of which was made at the time in the following imperfect lines:

What more than magic in our English tongue,
To clothe with light some earnest speaker's thought;
Or give to melodies before unsung,
The harmony by angel choirs taught?

Words, burning words, with all their subtile power,
Have rolled for us the mighty ages back,
And in one little nineteenth century hour,
Have shown the hoary wonders in their track.

Four thousand years like some vast curtain rose
Years in which mighty empires rose and fell
And many a city in its ruin lies
Buried, with none its sepulchre to tell.

But all untouched by time's remorseless hand
Bearing its summit to Egyptian skies,
We see the Pyramid of Jeezah stand,
And hearth its lessons modern folly dies.

Tradition says Philitis, Shepherd King,
For twenty years, with hundred thousand men,
Wrought this sublime, imperishable thing
For Cheops, who was King of Egypt then.

Down the fair Nile those wondrous stones were brought,
Which modern skill could scarcely hope to move,
Raised to the dizzy height they baffle thought,
And lost mechanic art distinctly prove.

Here learned men of every race and clime
Have brought their measurements and science rare,
Striving to prove this treasury of time,
And gather secrets firmly hidden there.

Call it not chance but in our later days,
New light should on this mighty problem shine;
Science and revelation join their rays
To prove the Pyramid a work divine.

No slightest hint of hieroglyphic scrawl,
No sphynx-like faces mar its polished tome,
No blackened mummy without shroud or pall,
No heathenism claims this for its home.

Here the rejected corner-stone is chief—
The very stones cry out in this vast pile—
Measures compared with dates compel belief,
God's truth is standing here beside the Nile.
VERITAS.

"A SOUND MIND IN A HEALTHY BODY"—The old Roman idea of the highest degree of happiness. The liver rules the roast, indigestion creates anarchy in the physical system. Costiveness, biliousness, dizziness and bad taste in the mouth, yellow skin and eyes, loss of appetite, loss of energy, and low spirits, pains in the back and side, wind and foul stomach; all these create bad blood. Regulate the bowels, stomach, liver, and kidneys with ZOPESA, (from Brazil) try a 10 cent sample, and ask Henry Wade or Heath & Gunn about it.
