Daily British Whig.

Office 232 Ontario Street.

The rumor that the restive Boers are stipulating for a practical reestablishment of slavery would indicate that their temporary success over the British forces has completely turned their heads. They could not take a likelier course to endanger and forfeit the quasi independence conceded to them by the British power. The English Government's response is the announcement that an officer will at once be despatched to South Africa to take command of the troops should hostilities again break out, and that the Boers will be held strictly to the terms of the convention. Rather than temporize with a question involving the resurrection of the slavery monster in any form Gladstone would go for the ejection of the Boers bag and baggage from South Africa, cost what it might.

Weather wisdom, in the best sense of the term, has made great strides during recent years, and its warnings and signals have largely reduced the terrible tribute of human life and property which man pays for his occupancy of the main. In spite, however, of every care which human prudence, taught by enlightened science, can take, the storm-king comes down with a fury so sudden and so overwhelming as to give no chance to dispute his power or to escape his fury. What a tale of death and resulting domestic woe is summed up within the simple statement that more than fifty Berwickshire fishing smacks were at sea during the recent gale, and that most of them it is feared are lost; and in another item that "twenty fishermen were drowned at Dunbar. These are but solitary instances of a devastation which has been raging round and across the British Islands. In the loss of human life Great Britain pays dearly for her proud sovereignty of the sea.

Will Canada ever be regarded as the criminal's paradise, or at the least as his city of refuge where killing will no longer be accounted murder, and where "hanging is to be played out?" Such a view will, we fear, be largely favored by the strange issues of some recent murder trials in our country. We will not just now comment upon the singular difficulty of the jury in the Vankoughnet case to arrive at either the guilt or innocence of the prisoner. The entire acquittal of the quartette of roughs who were charged with the murder of the old man Weatherall, although they were sworn to be the last at the charivari where the victim met his fate, is a most glaring failure of justice as we take it. The fellows had in turn made avowals that implicated each other; but confessions will hereafter be considered rather an advantage than otherwise to a prisoner charged with capital crime and will doubtless be more than ever indulged in as a capital plan of furnishing capital for the defence on the day of trial.

Another case of "not proven" is that of the trial of Browne, a public official in Chatham, who stood charged with the murder (by abortion) of Buddie McCrae. The girl died in Buffalo and there the trial was held, Browne being extradited from Canada for that purpose. The previous seduction was notorious enough, but for this, with a shameful neglect, the law neither here nor across the line provides any penalty. That the girl's death was brought about by contraband means seemed to be clear enough, but there was no direct means of connecting the defendant with it, and so he escaped with a whole skin to his wife who is lying sick at home, and no wonder. A proof that abortion is not regarded so seriously in the States as in Canada transpired from the addresses of counsel, that for the defence contending that death by abortion, was not murder, and he of the prosecution asking that although the indictment was murder, yet that the prisoner or "defendant" as they more politely term him be found guilty of manslaughter in the fourth degree! Browne's acquittal may be all right, but we hope lax justice on on this question will never be the order of the day in Canada.

AN ILL-TIMED CENTENNIAL.

The people of Great Britain and her colonies the world over were the deepest and sincerest of mourners with their kinsmen of the United States in the recent great bereavement with which the latter have been visited. This opinion has been much expressed, especially on the other side of the line, that the genuine and general grief which has permeated the British empire at the death of Garfield, would quite erase the last remains of unkindly feeling between the nations. Having, it might fairly be supposed, quite sufficiently indulged in glorification in the great centennial of 1876, and the series of smaller centennial commemorations which have succeeded it up to the present time, this certainly would have been a most appropriate time to drop this now quite monotonous centennial nuisance. No better opportunity could have possibly offered to reciprocate the sympathy which the British people have felt and expressed than by cancelling the centennial celebration of the much exaggerated Yorktown surrender. No thought of abandoning this commemoration either for the reason we have given, or from a sense of public decency during these early days of mourning for the late President, seems to have entered the American mind. On the contrary, the delegates from old France are over here to represent Lafayette and his compatriots of a hundred years ago, who helped the Americans loss from a love of their cause than from hatred of, and as a war measure against Great Britain, which was then and thereafter the most formidable foe of France by sea and land. Not only so but our cousins have had the good natured assurance to send over to the Province of Quebec, a British colony, urgent invitations to join officially in a celebration of what they consider a very great disaster to British arms! All this is not in the best of good taste and might have been much better omitted at a time like the present.

A POOR MAN SPEAKS.

He Feels That He and Those Situated Like Him Have Been Seriously Ignored.

Dear Sir,—I am simply amazed at the conduct of some of our Aldermen, especially those who profess to represent the poor men. Ald. Allen, from purely disinterested motives, brings in to the Council a by law designed to legalize the sale of pigs' head, pigs' feet, spare ribs, and so on, and it is voted down unceremoniously and by whom? Those who are unlike the writer and others, who have not to wait until Saturday night for their wages, and who can at any time or place, day or evening, on the market or off it, pay for a luxurious cut of surloin steak. Of course they don't want to pick pigs' heads, nor delight and dissect a porcine's pedal extremities, but I do; the core of them comes more within my means. Of all men in whom I am disappointed, one Alderman heads the list. Just now he smells disposed to do some wild things. He has evidently been fishing for the votes of the boys, forgetful of the fact that there are others who have a right to exercise the franchise and whose feelings should be consulted. The uptown residents, the keepers of clean little groceries, the poor men forsooth, have their eye on him and are bound to get in their work when it will do the most good.

Yours,

A POOR MAN

PERSONAL MENTION.

Mr. G. A. Kirkpatrick, M.P., is in Toronto.

Sir Richard Cartwright is the guest of Mr. David Glass, Q.C., at London.

Hon. Alex. Morris, M.P.P. for East Toronto, who has been dangerously ill, is now convalescent.

Dr. Grant lectures in the Opera House on the 1st of November on the "North West." Don't forget the date.

The Kennedys will sing in the City Hall on the 4th of next month under the auspices of the St. Andrew's Society.

Mr. Eli M. Tree left for Niagara today. His genial countenance will be missed at the British American Hotel.

Mr. John Kidd, Chief Clerk in the Governor General's office, at present in England, will probably be superannuated.

Mr. Edmund Hooper, M.P. for Lennox, has been permitted to retire retaining the rank of captain, he having held that position in the late Napanee Battery of Garrison Artillery.

Mr. Geo. B. Phelps, Watertown, one of the first contractors of the K. & P. RR., has declined to take the nomination of State Senator which was tendered him by the Democratic convention at Pulaski.

A Successful Church Festival.

The first of the season's church socials took place last evening in the Methodist Episcopal Church, and resulted most successfully. After a very enjoyable tea the audience was called to order and the government of the event delegated to Dr. Dupuis, who made an excellent chairman. He made a brief and spicy address. He was followed by Rev. T. W. Jolliffe who dilated upon "Mistakes" and Rev. F. Chisholm, P.E., who discussed "Organization." Messrs. J. S. Woods, I. Woods, and D. McArdle contributed very much to the evening's enjoyment by their readings. The representation of Fitz James and Roderick Dhu by Messrs. McArdle and J. S. Wood was extremely well rendered and loudly applauded. Mr. McArdle was dressed in kilts, and Mr. Woods assumed the uniform and bearing of a soldier. The combat between them was well executed and elicited loud applause. The choir rendered appropriate selections, and several ladies also sang solos which generally merited compliments.

A Hardware Store Burglarized.

This morning the hardware establishment of Thomas Rudd, Princess street, was discovered to have been entered during the night and relieved of a large quantity of hardware. An entrance was first gained from the rear. A large pane of glass was taken out and through the opening thus made the person or persons who committed the burglary crawled. A show case, containing a number of valuable revolvers, was cleaned out. Knives from the show cases and shelves were also stolen. The missing goods are valued at about $100. The burglars were evidently boys. They made their egress by the same way they entered, whereas they could have unbolted the back door and got out much easier. A sum of money was in the till but it was not taken. In the flight of the burglars they dropped several of the revolvers in the yard.

Severe Illness of Mr. Bowen.

Mr. A. C. Bowen, the book keeper of the locomotive works, was attacked by a serious illness on Friday last, and is so low that a journey to Colorado has been prescribed for him. He is arranging to break up house here, and will visit his old home at Iroquois before taking the western journey. In his trouble he has received great consideration from Mr. Wm. Harty, Managing Director of the Company, and Mr. Jas. Pyke, its Secretary-Treasurer, who have been the embodiment of kindness. The local directors granted Mr. Bowen six months' leave of absence and three months' salary, a very liberal act for a new company who have had his services for a few months only. But Mr. Bowen deserves such an acknowledgement of faithfulness to duty and general worth.

Football at Montreal.

The Cadets were again favored with the most unpropitious weather on Monday afternoon, for their match with McGill. Notwithstanding the steady downpour of rain, however, the game was keenly contested throughout and eventually resulted in favor of McGill by one touch down. The gentlemen Cadets left the same evening for Kingston by the express, and as the train did not start until 12 o'clock, song and choruses were the order of the night. The young fellows were in full dress uniform, and in appearance and behaviour are a credit to the country. The Star says a large number of their Montreal friends accompanied them to the depot to wish them bon voyage.

Puttner's Emulsion.

The medicinal properties of Cod Liver Oil have long been recognised as superior to any of the agents employed in the cure or arrest in the incipient stages of affections of the throat, lungs, etc. Modern science has taught that this valuable substance may be advantageously combined with phosphorus, iron, lime, soda and other medicinal articles in such a way as to make each and all more thoroughly effective than if employed alone. Dr. Puttner had made the matter of combining these elements a study, and has evolved from his studious experiments the combination which he denominates "Puttner's Emulsion of Cod Liver Oil." In another column will be found his advertisement, accompanied by certificates as to its merits which cannot be doubted. A careful perusal of these is invited. A trial of the Emulsion can be made through J. G. King Kingston, or other druggist.

Holloway's Ointment and Pills.

Much watchfulness must be exercised at the present time, and the earliest evidences of ill-health must be immediately checked, or a slight illness may result in a serious malady. Relaxed and sore throat, diphtheria, quinsy, coughs, chronic cough, bronchitis, and most other pulmonary affections will be relieved by rubbing this cooling Ointment into the skin as near as practical to the seat of mischief. This treatment, so simple and effective, is admirably adapted for the removal of these diseases during infancy and youth. Old asthmatic invalids will derive marvellous relief from the use of Holloway's remedies, which have brought round many such sufferers, and re-established health after every other means had signally failed.

Scotch Patterns.

EVENTS IN IRELAND.

Manifesto of the Land League—Its Evident Purpose to Fight it Out with the Government.

Dublin, Oct. 9.—The Land League manifesto says "There is only one constitutional weapon now remaining in the hands of the League. It is the strongest of all. We hesitate to advise our fellow countrymen to employ it until the savage lawlessness of the English Government has provoked a crisis in which we must to either consent to see the Irish tenant farmers disarmed of their organization and land once more prostrate at the feet of the landlords and every murmur of suppressed with an armed hand, or an appeal to our countrymen to at once resort to the only means now left in their hands of bringing this false, brutal Government to its senses. Fellow countrymen, the hour to try your souls and redeem your pledges has arrived. The Executive of the National Land League, forced to abandon its policy of testing the Land Act, feels bound to advise the tenant farmers of Ireland from this day forth to pay no rents under any circumstances to their landlords until the Government relinquishes the and restores the constitutional rights of the people. Do not be daunted by the removal of your leaders. Do not let yourselves be intimidated by the threats of military violence. It is as lawful to refuse to pay rents as it is to receive them. Against the passive resistance of the entire population the military power has no weapon. Funds will be poured out unstintedly for the support of all who may endure eviction in the course of the struggle. Our exiled brothers in America may be relied upon to contribute, if necessary, as many millions more as they have contributed thousands.

STARVE OUT THE LANDLORDISM

and bring English tyranny to its knees. You have only to show you are not unworthy of their boundless sacrifices. Once more struggle for your land, your homes, your lives, a struggle in which you have all the memories of your race, all the hopes of your kindred and all sacrifices your imprisoned brothers before you.

Dublin, Oct. 19.—The signatures to the Land League manifesto were not actually written by the prisoners but virtually appended by their authority.

RIOTING IN DUBLIN.

Dublin, Oct. 19.—During the rioting last night a number of passengers and policemen were wounded. There were many arrests. Forty policemen have been disabled by the injuries they received in the recent riots.

CIVIL WAR INTENDED.

London, Oct. 19.—The Post says: "We consider that the issue of the manifesto by the Land League is a direct motive to civil war.

The Standard says: "War to the knife is proclaimed explicitly. So far there is no flinching on either side."

The Telegraph says: "Nothing can be more explicit than the determination of the Land League to maintain a fierce conflict with the Government."

LEAGUE MEETING.

The Land League yesterday held its last public meeting for the present. The attendance included Sullivan, Biggar and Leamy. The week's receipts were £2,237, of which £1,764 were from America. Rev. Mr. Cantwell, who presided, announced that although weekly meetings would be discontinued the business of the League would as far as possible continue to be transacted at its rooms in Dublin. He urgently advised the people to avoid a collision with the armed forces.

FORCE MET BY FORCE.

Lord Carlingford (Liberal), who as Mr. Chicester Fortescue was twice Chief Secretary for Ireland, said at Radstock last evening that there was no ground left for an agreement between the Government and the people on one side and the Land League and its leaders on the other. The Land League had unhappily chosen to carry the issue into quite a different field of force. He trusted there would be no armed insurrection in Ireland, and that no excited body of men would compel an armed force to shed blood; but still the the methods of the League were such as could only be met by force in some shape.

MISS PARNELL'S MESSAGE.

New York, Oct. 18.—Miss Anna Parnell, Secretary of the Ladies' Land League of Dublin, telegraphs: "A young girl was deliberately shot in her parlour by constables in Limerick yesterday. The Government has established a reign of terror in the streets of Dublin. Secret information has been received that the Government is trying to create an opportunity to let loose six thousand troops on the citizens. Thousands of more arrests are expected, though already the gaols are overflowing." She appeals the brethren in America for aid for the widows and orphans, and for the homeless and starving and wounded victims.

NOTES AND COMMENTS.

Mr. Forster is now guarded by police. Four persons engaged in the Dublin had their legs amputated.

Earl Cowper, Lord Lieutenant of Ireland returned to Dublin yesterday.

A council of war had been formed in Dublin, headed by Gen. Steele, to consider the military situation in Ireland.

At a meeting of the Privy Council just concluded, it was decided to proclaim Dublin under some police act.

The Land League's manifesto is signed by Messrs. Parnell, Kettle, Davitt, Brennan, Dillon, Sexton, and Egan.

The police force at Hawarden Castle, Mr. Gladstone's residence, has been strengthened to insure the safety of the Premier.

At a meeting at Liverpool of 4,000 Land Leaguers and Home Rulers resolutions were passed protesting against the arrests in Ireland. Mr. O'Donnell, member of Parliament, called the Premier "William Judas."

Prof. Goldwin Smith has published a letter saying that native Americans are holding aloof from the dynamite Land League movement. The Americans wish justice done to Ireland, but they must know that Parliament is trying to do it.

Mr Healy has been interviewed and thinks that the effect of the arrests will be to strengthen the League. He is of opinion that there will be a general refusal to pay rents so long as Mr. Parnell is in gaol.

Mr. Sexton has declined an offer of the Government to release him on account of his health, provided he leaves the country. It is not considered probable that the members of Parliament in Kilmainham gaol will be detained beyond three months.

Probable Liberal Victory.

Laverair, Que., Oct. 19.—There was here last evening a meeting of the principal Liberals of the county of Drummond. Mr. Walls, M.P.P., was present and accepted of the candidature offered to him. Mr. Prefontaine, of South Durham, was also a candidate in the Conservative interests, but by all prospects Mr. Walls will be returned by a large majority. Voters seem to think that bigoted politicians ought to stay at home.

GUITEAU'S DEFENCE.

The Question of Jurisdiction Scoville's Plea of Insanity—Later Revelations.

Washington, Oct. 16.—Mr. E. T. Merrick, one of the most prominent lawyers at the National Capital, has finally yielded to the persistent appeals of Mr. Scoville, Guiteau's brother in law, to become associated in the defence of the assassin of President Garfield, and a programme has been decided upon. They propose to argue fully the question of jurisdiction before Judge Cox, taking the ground that inasmuch as the President died in a foreign state, his assassin cannot be tried in the city where the fatal shot was fired. In case this is decided adversely, as appears to be the general impression, Merrick and Scoville will allow the trial to proceed to conviction and take an appeal to the Court of General Term of the District on the question of jurisdiction. Should they meet with a reverse here also they announce that they will carry the matter to the Supreme Court of the United States for a final adjudication of this much mooted question among learned members of the bar. This programme, if carried out, promises a long delay in executing the sentence of the trial court on Guiteau.

Washington, Oct. 19. Scoville is reported as saying that he waives the right to demur to the jurisdiction court, and would not make malpractice the ground of Guiteau's defence. He would seek the defence upon the grounds of insanity alone. He received a letter from General Butler declining to enter on the case. Dr. Hammond wrote to Scoville: "My opinion relative to the surgical treatment of the President does not in the least lessen my sense of Guiteau's criminality." It now transpires that the assassin obtained the money with which he bought the pistol from Geo. C. Maynard, a well known worthy citizen. Maynard knew Guiteau when the latter was a boy, and let him have the money supposing he was starving.

TERRIBLE OUTRAGE.

A Murder Unparalleled For Brutality—Vengeance Dealt Out.

Beckville, Texas, Oct. 19.—Lum White, a negro, accused the children of a family named Sloan of stealing pea nuts from his patch. He tried to whip the children but was prevented by Mrs. Sloan and her daughter, aged 15. Next day Lum's wife enticed the girl to a deep ravine, and while the wife held the girl Lum outraged her and then, with his pocket knife, cut her bowels both lengthwise and crosswise, deliberately cutting off pieces of the entrails as they protruded and scattering the fragments far and near. He then cut the girls throat from ear to ear. At the inquest the woman confessed, and a man named Hart shot Lum dead. Lum's wife and an old negro man, living in the same house, were started on the way to Carthage, but were shot by the crowd.

Disgusted Guests.

Yorktown, Oct. 19.—It is stated that French guests landed yesterday and remained nearly an hour under the hot sun waiting for somebody to receive them, but nobody came, so they finally returned to their ships thoroughly disgusted and highly indignant. There is ill feeling reported between the French and German guests.

"Great Eastern" Sold.

London, Oct. 19.—The steamship "Great Eastern" was put up at auction to-day and bought for £30,000.

Lost His Tools.—Mr. F. Tracey left some of his blacksmith's tools on a bench near his shop door while he went some distance away on business. When he returned they were gone. To-day he traced them to a pawn shop, and with the assistance of a policeman recovered them. The thieves (boys) are known and will be prosecuted.
