Ayer's Cherry Pectoral,

FOR DISEASES OF THE THROAT AND LUNGS, SUCH AS COUGHS, COLDS, WHOOPING COUGH, BRONCHITIS, ASTHMA AND CONSUMPTION.

The few compounds on which have won the confidence of mankind and become household words among all classes of society, must have, extraordinary merit. Perhaps no one ever secured a wider & more world-wide & reputation, or accomplished more real good than AYER'S CHERRY PECTORAL. It has long been known to the people, and for about forty years, it has been constantly curing the various throat and lung complaints which prevail in every climate. Many of the remarkable cures in our own country have been so public as to become widely known in every community, and there are few persons who have not been benefited by it themselves, or have not some friend or relative who has been restored to health by its use. Indeed, the CHERRY PECTORAL has long been regarded as the best remedy that could be found for the relief and cure of Coughs, Colds, Consumption, that can be made by medical skill. Indeed, the CHERRY PECTORAL has rarely failed these dangerous diseases of their earliest stage, and given a feeling of confidence from their painful effects, that is well founded, if the remedy be taken in season. Every family should have it in their closet for the ready and prompt relief of its members. Sickness, suffering, and even life is saved by this timely precaution. The prudent should not neglect it, and the wise will not. Keep it by you for the protection it affords by its early use in sudden attacks.

GREAT EASTERN.

Record of a Gigantic and Expensive Failure—Her Owners Gladly Sell Her Her Cost and Career.

On Wednesday the Great Eastern was sold for the very small sum of £30,000, her late owners, who had lost millions upon her, gladly parting with her even at that figure. The Great Eastern is an eighth of a mile in length. She is 22,927 tons builder's, 18,915 tons gross, and 13,344 tons net register. The brokers state that she is fitted with four cable tanks, occupying some cargo space and most of the dining saloons, but that all can be easily removed and the ship fitted as originally. The nominal power of her paddle engines is 1,000 horse, and her screw engines are of 1,600 horse power. Her boilers, which are tubular and situate amidships, are eight in number, of which six, by Forster, were new in 1867, and the other two, by Humphreys, Tennant & Co., were new in 1870. The number of plates in the hull is 30,000, and about 3,000,000 rivets were used in fastening them. No less than 10,000 tons of iron were used in her construction, and she was the first vessel fitted with steam steering gear. Her history is by no means a happy one. As to her motion it was good. To those who have crossed the Atlantic on board the Great Eastern it is needless to state that she was the

DEBUT OF MARINE CONVEYANCES.

On her return to England as a passenger ship from Quebec, after she had carried out two thousand British soldiers to Nova Scotia, when the seizure of Messrs. Mason and Slidell by Captain Wilkes rendered war between the United States and Great Britain more than probable, it was recorded that not a single person on board had to endure the discomfort of sea sickness. While steaming against a hard wind and sea, the Rock of Gibraltar was hardly more steady than the Great Eastern. As a commercial or passenger steamer, however, she was soon found to be a failure. Built with a view of carrying eight hundred first class, two thousand second class, and twelve hundred third class passengers, together with a crew of four hundred hands, she could not command sufficient custom to FILL HER MAGNIFICENT CABINS.

No market in the world was so big that a cargo thrown upon it suddenly by the Great Eastern was not sure to glut it, and the huge ship was seen to be a white elephant. Sensational incidents began to enliven her history before she entered the water for the first time, seeing that it took nearly three months, that is from November 3, 1857, to January 31, 1858, to launch her. When she first left her moorings at Deptford, on September 7, 1859, an explosion took place on board while she was off Hastings, killing ten firemen, and seriously injuring many other persons. After undergoing repairs, she was taken to Southampton, where, in command of her, Captain Harrison, one of the ablest officers of the Cunard fleet, lost his life by drowning in the harbor. Her very name became an anomaly, for, instead of proceeding to the East—she was originally

INTENDED FOR THE AUSTRALIAN TRADE

—her head was pointed in her first voyage for New York on June 17, 1860, under the command of Captain Vine Hall. She was only ten days on her return trip from New York to Liverpool, which was then regarded as a capital passage; but in the April of 1861, the first of many law suits to which she gave occasion, handed her over to the tender mercies of the Sheriff. Rescued from his clutch, but not without a fresh demand for capital from her unfortunate shareholders, she was doomed to cross the Atlantic to and fro many times upon voyages which were always unremunerative. Although, in the Spring of 1864, she was bought by Messrs. Glass & Elliott, and seemed to have fallen into the proper hands, as she enabled the submarine cable between the Old and New Worlds to be successfully laid. Having completed this important work, she was again tried as a passenger steamer to New York in 1867, and upon her return to England, the luckless Leviathan was seized by the seamen on board of her, clamorous for wages. Long, indeed, and disastrous is her record, nor is it a profitable or pleasant task to enter into a computation of the enormous sums of money which she has swallowed up. What may be the fate ultimately awaiting her?

Holloway's Ointment and Pills.

Never at fault.—In all irritations of the skin, sores, ulcers, burns, and scrofulous enlargements of the glands, Holloway's Ointment presents a ready and easy means of cure, which never disappoints the most favourable expectations. It manifests a peculiar power in restraining inflammation, removing stagnation, cooling the heated blood, and checking all acrimonious or unhealthy discharges. Whilst thus acting locally, the Pills are now less remarkable for their power in improving the general condition and habit of body, which renders the cures complete and permanent. Under the general influence of these potent remedies, the puny infant becomes the robust child; the pale and emaciated regain color and rotundity, and the dyspeptic eats freely, without fear.

Puttner's Emulsion.

The medicinal properties of Cod Liver Oil have long been recognised as superior to any of the agents employed in the cure or arrest in the incipient stages of affections of the throat, lungs, etc. Modern science has taught that this valuable substance may be advantageously combined with phosphorus, iron, lime, soda and other medicinal articles in such a way as to make each and all more thoroughly effective than if employed alone. Dr. Puttner had made the matter of combining these elements a study, and has evolved from his studious experiments the combination which he denominates "Puttner's Emulsion of Cod Liver Oil." In another column will be found his advertisement, accompanied by certificates as to its merits which cannot be doubted. A careful perusal of these is invited. A trial of the Emulsion can be made through J. G. King Kingston, or other druggist.

AN INSURANCE CASE.

A Queer Excuse for Refusing Payment—A Proceeding That Will Be Applauded.

(Ottawa Free Press.)

Sometime ago the heirs of a Toronto gentleman named Moore commenced proceedings against the Connecticut Mutual Insurance Co. to recover the amount of a policy of $25,000 on the life of the deceased. The company refused payment upon the ground that the deceased had deceived them by misrepresenting to them his true physical condition when he made application for insurance. It seems that Mr. Moore had received some injury to his skull a great many years ago, which necessitated trepanning. A short time before his death he accidentally struck his head against something in such a manner as to the knock in the silver plate, which coming in contact with the brain caused death. This the company considered a sufficient ground upon which to resist payment of the claim. The company fought the claimants through all the courts until the case came before the Privy Council in England, where it was finally decided against the company. The time for the satisfaction of the judgment having elapsed without a settlement the plaintiffs (by Kate Douglas Moore, a daughter of the deceased insured) has notified the Minister Finance that application will be made to the Court of Chancery to have the company declared insolvent, and $100,000 assets of the company in the hands of the Government distributed among the policy holders. The amount in Canada on December 31st last, was $3,800,000, for which the Government only hold $100,000. The reason for the smallness of the deposit is that the company has transacted no new business in the Dominion since 1878 and previous to that time the law (which has since been amended) only required the deposit of that amount. The Insurance Act of 1877 makes provision for such a case as this. Under its provisions the Court of Chancery may declare any company insolvent, order the amount deposited with the government to be applied pro rata towards the discharge of all claims of policy holders in Canada duly authenticated against the company, for the purpose of making which distribution an assignee must be appointed by the court. It is necessary, however, for the applicant to give the company sixty days notice of his intention to apply to the Court of Chancery. This notice has been given and has yet about thirty days to run.

Engineer's Certificates.

(To the Editor of the Globe.)

Sir,—A correspondent of your paper, signing himself "S. B. Engineer," has been engaged in a laudable work. He has undertaken to lay before the Government his grievances, hoping by publicity to lead to an agitation which will have the effect of making it and its officials do their duty in regard to the supervision and licensing of steamboat engineers. I concur in much of what "S. B. Engineer" says, but I do object to a statement which concerns me, and having no foundation in fact is calculated to do me a great injury. He says (in your issue of the 11th), "The Chief Engineer of the steamer 'Armenia,' running between the Bay of Quinte and Ogdensburg, has only a first-class assistant's papers, which do not qualify him to take charge of a boat of her class."

Your correspondent is mistaken as to the papers which entitle me to act in my present capacity. I have obtained a permit for the season, and have the qualifications for service which my assailant says I have not. The facts can be obtained by reference to Mr. Inspector Taylor. I hope "S. B. Engineer" will be more accurate in his statements in future, especially so far as I am concerned.

Yours truly,
R. Marshall,
Eng. of 'Armenia.'
