at book list, and the visitors had taken up a newspaper. "Mallard was just engaged in turning around his chair, and Mr. and Mrs. Macdonald were seated on the floor, looking at the pretty picture over his newspaper," said suddenly.

"The fact is, Annie, you and Marie are delightfully ugly— I mean to have to see no one else in the world; but do you know I want some one else?"

"You do not long to see him more than I do," said Mrs. Macdonald's wife, sadly.

"It is strange! Where can he be? He has not even written."

"But coming is better by a long way— don't you think so?" exclaimed a laughing voice.

Will Morelith walked in and shook hands with George, who had started off after which he addressed Mrs. Morelith.

"Oh Will, I say, exclaimed, "I am so happy you have come back."

"You will be glad to see my better half also I hope."

"Your better half."

There was a shadow behind the door.

A figure passed the speaker quickly, and a laughing face confronted Mrs. Morelith and George.

"Nellie!" said Will Morelith, "it is the simplest thing in the world—I made the acquaintance of this amiable young person in—where I tried to pass her, my sister Annie was attracted by the relationship, and I have captured the prize. We have just been married, and I thought we had better come to see you. Are you going to stay?"

Mrs. Annie Morelith walked up to the speaker, and, taking her arms around him, kissed him.

"Yes, brother Will," she said.

"All right," said that gentleman, "and now, I say, brother George, you never took that trip, after all?"

THE EXHIBITION QUESTION.

Mr. F. W. Stone, of Guelph, was one of the few Western men who stood out prominently for Kingston on the Provincial exhibition question at London. "That boy did so well," said a public groundswell in his favor.

Mr. Wm. Peacock, of Guelph, of the same village, was taking him to an Island on Saturday evening, and bringing him home again, having被捕.

Wm. Peacock, who appeared by the evidence to have been the deviser and leader of the outrage, and Louis Pecor were brought up before the Magistrate on Tuesday.

The girl was sworn and stated that three weeks ago Riley asked her to marry him, and she consented; he then fixed upon last Saturday evening as the time of the marriage, and told her to be ready. On Saturday evening she met Riley on the street, near the Albany hotel, and he asked her to walk up and down while he went and changed his clothes, and then they would go and get married.

She did as he requested, but when he came out he wanted to go to Kingston or Clayton.

TO BE MARRIED.

She refused to go out of Gananoque, after failing to get her consent to go away, went back to the hotel on presence of some errand, and then came out again and asked her to take a walk; she agreed, and they strolled down to Mr. Brough's wharf. There she saw Hardy with a boat at the landing, and believed that Riley's errand to the hotel had been to send Hardy down to get the boat.

She refused to go farther. Riley dropped the persuasive and assumed the peremptory style, and ordered her to go on, threatening to slap her mouth if she cried out. She resisted, and he forced her along into the boat, which was then swerved off and rowed to the Island. Here she was pulled out of the boat by Riley, taken a short distance from the shore and brutally forced. Riley appears to have had the girl over to Hardy, and then got the other three young men, all of whom in turn were allowed to participate in the outrage. And when either of them failed to succeed by his own efforts, Riley was prompt to the attack, throwing the girl down and holding her for their convenience. She was finally brought home about three hours on Sunday morning.

AN UNSAVORY REPUTATION.

It is justice to say that the girl has not borne the brunt of character, and was once taken from some of the same young men by a constable, and carried her with the desire to remain, with them in a deserted place until late at night, and once claiming to be the wife of Riley. But latterly she has been apparently trying to do better, though still evincing a weakness for Riley, who returned her feelings of affection "with a vengeance." Both the prisoners were committed for trial. In the case of Louis Pecor, who is only a boy, the girl could not positively swear that he was criminally guilty, she believed he was one of two who forcibly took her into a boathouse on the island and assaulted her, but as the place was very dark she could only judge by his voice. There was no doubt about it in her mind, but legally there could not be absolute certainty. Therefore the Police Magistrate consented to take bail for his appearance, his brother, Charles Pecor, becoming security in $400. Riley's case was considered too aggravated a nature to admit of bail being taken, and he was sent to jail to await the Assizes.

Millions Given Away.

Millions of bottles of Dr. King's New Discovery Consumption, Coughs and Colds have been given away as trial bottles of the large size. This enormous supply would be sufficient to supply every home if not for the rare merits possessed by this wonderful medicine. Call at J. G. King's Market Square, and get a trial bottle free.

Diseases and Nervous Headache.

Chronic, sick or nervous headache is generally dependent on, or accompanied by impaired function of the brain, the digestive and nutritive parts of the body are deranged, and the nervous centres irritated. The Peruvian Sarsaparilla, by reinvigorating the digestive powers, lays the axe at the root of the tree; the brain is duly nourished and the nervous symptoms cease, and the headache disappears. Sold by all druggists.

Cured of Drinking.

"A young friend of mine was cured of an insatiable thirst for liquor, which had so prostrated him that he was unable to do any business. He was entirely cured by the use of Hop Bitters. It stayed all the time he was away, and when he returned to his home, under the same circumstances, he was as sober and steady man for more than two years, and has now no desire to return to his cups. I know of a number of others that have been cured of drinking by it. From a leading R. H. Official, Chicago Ill.—Times."

Falling Leaves.

"There is something inexplicably touching in the fallen leaves," sighs an esteemed author. "There is, there is, indeed! It is when you sit on the bank of the river, wet morning, with the unimpassionate gulls. But there is in reality touching language—language uttered from the heart, yes, from the depths of the soul, in the many thousands of testimonials and letters (unpublished) that come from those who once were sufferers from lung diseases, asthma and consumption, and who have used N. H. Down's Vegetable, Palermo Extract, and have been restored to their perfect health and activity."

LAND COURT WORK.

Tremendous Reductions in the Rent of Some Estates—A Comparison.

The retirement or more property speaking the removal of Major Ridout from the staff of the Royal Military College has been the subject of considerable public discussion, and the claim for the facts has been such that we have, as journalists, been unable to guess to whom the reduction amounts to about twenty-five per cent on an average over all the property. The proviso that the landlord is to pay half the reduction is to be paid by the lessors, who have engaged Dora Edelman, white, 18, San Antonio, Texas, has been sentenced to be hung.

The New York Herald denies that the Royal Danish of the navy came to London to arrange the expedition to search for the Jeannette.

It is reported that there has been a speculation of $100,000 in the public robbery, by two other clerks in a failed bank in Newark, N. J., and that yesterday Harrison Wines, ex-member of the Legislature, shot and mortally wounded John Reach, clerk of Camden county, Mo., in a quarrel arising out of an old feud.

Henry Lovett, colored, was hanged at White Plains, N. Y., yesterday for the murder of Archibald Williams, colored.

The culprit was calm and collected and there was a large crowd of spectators.

The store of Mr. Harrah, on Radcliffe-street, Montreal, was broken into last night and eighteen pieces of cloth worth $300, stolen. This is the second burglary in the same premises within three months.

In the revised rent the landlords pays half the county costs, equal to one-half on the pounds. There are now 13,000 applications before the Land Court, and the only hope of the lessors is that the commissioners will make some arrangement with the landlords finding that keeping reductions are being made to their tenants, while the tenants are not so far as to commit the statement to writing. The Commissioners are forcing each side to pay their own costs, will agree to an arrangement in order to save the costs. McAlvany's costs were $25, which cuts up the benefit of the reduction for the next five years. This does not include the costs of the appeal, which is yet to come on. Other decisions on the estate of Robt. Tension were delivered late in the day. They are equally sweeping. The following table shows the amount of the reduction. The acreage on the Tension estate is 73 acres. # roads, 29 perches.

A NEW DOGGER.

London, Nov. 5.—A curious plan has been adopted in the West of Ireland with a view to keeping the meat market manifesto before the tenants. It takes the form of the pronunciatory note which has been circulated among farmers at tending the fair. At Moate, county West Meath, the note is a promise to pay meat on the day of the fair.

David, and other suspects are released; and it is intended that the note shall be signed by the tenants and sent to the landlord.

Graveyard Case.

Sainton, Pa., Nov. 5.—George Pfeiffer and Adolph Fleischer have been arrested on a charge of forging the name of Eva Pfeiffer, mother of one of the conspirators, to an application for a pension on her life in the Graveyard Insurance Company. Mrs. Pfeiffer, who was 75 years old, was living at the time and a knowledge of her son's act hastened death. Her son Christian is the prosecutor in this case, in accordance with the mother's last request. This is the first graveyard prosecution in the county and is beginning a harvest of lawsuits.

U. S. Naval Service.

New York, Nov. 5.—The Naval Advisory Board, which has been considering the reconstruction of the United States Navy, has concluded its labors. The report will recommend Congress to appropriate $40,000,000 for the construction of a certain number of vessels, which will compare favorably with any modern war ships. The report favors the construction of several classes of vessels. It is rumored that there will be cruising ships, ironclad harbour vessels, &c.

The Governor's Departure.

Quebec, Nov. 5.—The Governor General sailed at 10 o'clock by the Saratoga. A number of spectators, including the Canadian Government Minister, the Mayor and City Council, and prominent militia officers of the district, were assembled on the wharf. "A" Battery received the Governor with a salute, and the Lieutenant-Governor read an address to which His Excellency formally replied, immediately after which he embarked.

A New Enterprise.

Toronto, Nov. 5.—A meeting has been held in Liverpool, at which a Chemical Company was organized for Canada. Four Englishmen and five Canadians are known to be interested. The works to be erected will be fitted with the very latest improvements. The company's operations will be very extensive, and what lines they will make is to be kept secret for fear of being foisted.

THE QUEEN'S CUP.

On Monday the freshest sample of Canadian yacht building will make a notable debut in New York, though it is not within the ordinary range of probabilities that the "Atlanta" should win.

With the exception of an afternoon spent with the racing class, and the yachtsmen, all of whom in turn were allowed to participate in the outrage. At the next sitting of the Court of Chancery Colby's will is to be attached by a Mrs. Keefe, who was a legatee under a will destroyed by the late Patrick Conroy in 1878, after he returned from the asylum. Mrs. Keefe will try to prove that he was insane when he made his will in Sept. 1879, that he was also insane when he destroyed his first will, and that he was not revoked by his destroying it. There are many legatees interested in establishing the first will. Messrs. Macdonald and Mulligan, for defendants. Messrs.
