Hancock's Inspirator

IS THE MOST ECONOMICAL APPLIANCE KNOWN for feeding boilers or pumping purposes, on account of the great range of its duties, and the small expenditures of steam required for working it. It is intended to take the place of Pumps and Injectors and may be used in their stead to great advantage. It differs materially, both in its

Construction & Working Qualities

from the class of boiler feeders known as injectors—inasmuch as it has one set of tubes for lifting and another set of tubes for forcing water—a combination entirely new, reliable and efficient. They are simple to operate, always ready for use and altogether a very reliable feed for boilers.

PAMPHLETS OF INSTRUCTION furnished on application; also testimonials if required. We guarantee every Inspirator according to recommendation or no charge.

INFLUENZA and CATARRH

Commonly known as Cold in the Head.

THERE is perhaps no disease that is more prevalent—in fact, has become an

EPIDEMIC

And if not cured or arrested will produce diseases of a more serious character. It has been said that

Puttner's Emulsion

Has proved itself a specific and cure, and its results have been most remarkable in arresting and curing these diseases.

BLOOD TONIC.

It is said and acknowledged by the highest medical authorities that IRON is a constant and necessary constituent of the body, and must be regarded as an important food, and as

Puttner's Emulsion!

Contains this essential constituent in connection with other valuable adjuncts makes it more valuable than any other compound of the kind, in cases of Impoverished Blood, Anæmia, in weak pale and Delicate Females and Young Children.

AS A NERVE TONIC!

There is no substitute for

Puttner's Emulsion!

It is an exceedingly valuable remedy for Nervous Diseases, and especially useful in Neuralgia, Nervous Dyspepsia, Lowness of Spirits, and to Clergymen, Students and Business Men, who are habitually overworked, and subject to severe mental strain derive much benefit from its use.

The Trade Says

The demand for Puttner's Emulsion is larger and gives better satisfaction than all other preparations put together, and they must keep it, which is another proof of its intrinsic worth.

A SOAPSUDS IDYL.

Her arms were white as milky curds
Her speech was like the song of birds
Her eyes were gray as mountain lakes
Where dream of shadow wars and breaks
Her brown was gray—her name was Sally
Her summer years were barely twenty—
She dropped the soap to glands and daily
And then the dimples came in plenty
I pressed her fingers, dripping sweet
Where warmth and whiteness seem to meet—
I make her blush and make her pout,
And watched her wring the linen out.
Oh, to meet her in the valley
Snatch her hand and call her Sally!
Oh, to find her on the hill
Kiss, and call her Sally still!
Oh, to clasp her quite alone,
And call her, Sally of the gown!
Thyme and marjoram were sweet.
All the lavender was blowing
Through the honey suckle heat
Bees were coming, bees were going

COCKNEY HILLINGSGATE.

Extraordinary Scene at a London Municipal Meeting—"A Fool and a Fellow"—Personalities.

A despatch from London, Ont., dated Monday night, says: A meeting of the leading business men and taxpayers was held in the City Hall this afternoon for the consideration of a notice of motion to the City Council applying for permission to reduce the number of members of that body to seven, and abolish ward divisions without the intervention of the Executive Government. Several speakers condemned the barbaric relict of ward appropriations and divisions, and advocated strongly the reduction of the number of aldermen, in order to obtain a better Council than the present one, which was characterized as a disgrace to the city.

Some of the speakers advocated a reduction to five paid aldermen.

All went quiet until Ald. Raynor took the platform, and declared that the finances of the city were shamefully conducted, and that he had been refused an examination of the vouchers.

The Mayor volunteered the information that this was not so, when Ald. Raynor warned His Worship that he was not in Council. This opened a lively performance.

The Mayor created a sensation by informing Ald. Raynor that he was deliberately stating falsehoods, that the worthy alderman was not content to look at the vouchers, but wanted to carry off box and all. This statement was denied in toto.

Ald. Raynor was proceeding to enlarge on his statement, when

Mr. J. B. Laing said: I rise to a point of order—

Ald. Raynor—I am not in the Council and will not sit down. You are saying what is false—

The Mayor—I am not going to sit here and listen to this lunatic.

Ald. Raynor—I am not a lunatic, and I am going—

Mr. J. B. Laing—I rise to a point of order. Is this meeting—

Ald. Raynor—I say again—

The Mayor—I shall not sit here and be treated in this manner by this fellow.

Ald. Raynor—A lunatic and a fellow! I am not going to be called that. If I have been the city chimney sweep I am not going to be insulted—

Mr. Bonser—Is this Bedlam?

Ald. Raynor—Were you present when the Chamberlain said the cash book was in the Auditors' hands?

Mr. Cousins—We have not come here to hear this abuse. Mr. Raynor can make these charges through the papers.

Amidst the greatest confusion and cries of "order," Ald. Raynor and the Mayor sang a duet at the top of their voices, each declaring they could yell as loud as the other. Ald. Raynor's lungs proved the more powerful, and the Mayor subsided somewhat, but was again brought to his feet by the fierce denunciations and invectives of the alderman.

Bedlam ensued; chairs, tables and sticks rattled and clattered; hats went aloft, and a general yell caused passers-by on the street to pause and wonder what had possessed the meeting. Ultimately peace was obtained, and a committee was appointed to consider matters relating to municipal reform, and report to a future meeting. This was one of the liveliest municipal meetings yet held in London.

WEALTH OF SHAME.

An Elegantly Attired and Bejewelled Courtesan Run in for Drunkenness.

(Toronto World.)

Policeman Anson brought an elegantly and richly attired young woman to the central station at 11:15 last night. The officer said she was drunk on York Street. The frail prisoner gave her name as Emma Jourdan and said she lived at 35 Albert Street, a gilded palace of vice kept by Annie Clarkson, who is growing old, fat and rich in the business in this city. The elegant Emma, who speaks with a pronounced French accent, was got up regardless of cost. She wore a $20 hat, a $200 seal sacque, and a pink colored satin dress that was never made for less than $175. Six diamond rings glistened on her fingers, two gold bracelets studded with diamonds encircled her wrists, and her earrings, too, were diamonds of the purest water, her jewellery altogether being probably worth $400. She was well supplied with funds besides, having bills in her pocket to the amount of $810, nearly all of them being greenbacks of large denominations. Sergeant Seymour took charge of her jewellery and money before locking her up in the cell. On the way to the station the bejewelled courtesan offered Constable Anson $500 if he would let her go. She said she was about to start for New Orleans. She was very much dismayed at finding herself in the police station instead of on the train for the southern city.

No Waste, but Thrift.

Falstaff's pun in the "Merry Wives of Windsor" has been read by all readers of Shakespeare: "Indeed, I am in the waist two yards about; but I am now about no waste, I am about thrift." How greatly people err regarding thrift. Members of the family are sick with coughs, colds, lung diseases, asthma, or it may be consumption, the family doctor is called in, and prescribes, and makes visit after visit without any apparent advantage to the patient. A large bill is presented which is often paid with great reluctance. This might have been avoided by the timely use of N. H. Downs' Vegetable Balsamic Elixir. It is without doubt, the most reliable, and safest family medicine ever invented.

An Astonishing Fact.

A large proportion of the American people are to-day dying from the effects of Dyspepsia or disordered liver. The result of these diseases upon the masses of intelligent and valuable people is most alarming, making life actually a burden instead of a pleasant existence of enjoyment and usefulness as it ought to be. There is no good reason for this, if you will only throw aside prejudice and skepticism, take the advice of Druggists and your friends and try one bottle of Green's August Flower. Your sickness relief is certain. Millions of bottles of this medicine have been given away to try its virtues, with satisfactory results in every case. You can buy a sample bottle for 10 cents to try. Three doses will relieve the worst case. Positively sold by all Druggists on the Western Continent.

Life in the Old Dog

There appears to be a good deal of life in England still. A few years ago the cry was raised that American was beating her in the cotton as well as in the cutlery markets of the world, and we heard of American cotton goods being sold at Manchester, just as American cutlery was sold at Sheffield and Birmingham. Now, however, English cotton goods are driving American goods out of foreign markets. In 1870, America sent nearly twice as many pieces of cotton to China as England, while in 1880 the order is reversed, and England sent nearly four times as many pieces.
