THE WORKING MAN

The working man, who is the backbone of the nation, is the one who has the most to lose from the present state of affairs.

It was a splendid spectacle, that famous mass-meeting held, which was given as the valedictory of the old and the salutatory of the new year.

A great war had been waged. The victors were the people, and the vanquished were the aristocracy.

Certain illustrious personages of royal rank or lineage, a Brazilian emperor, a Russian grand duke, and a Bourbon prince, were among the transient and honored guests of the city.

Besides the royal and princely guests, the usual winter multitudes of noted politicians, financiers, authors, artists, beauties, leaders of fashion and queens of society.

They were both young, handsome, gifted, and well-to-do.

The name of the first mentioned was "John," and that of the second "Mary." They were both young, handsome, gifted, and well-to-do.
