

A LUNATIC'S LEAP.
AN INSANE WOMAN JUMPS FROM A CANADA SOUTHERN TRAIN.

Mrs. Stocker, an insane woman, on Saturday night jumped from a train on the Canada Southern, when it was going at the rate of forty-five miles an hour, near Kingsland, in this county. She leaped into a ditch and was making her terrible leap. She was on the way from Detroit to New York, N.Y., and was in charge of Mr. George A. King, who asked for a drink of water, and he accompanied her to the tank at the end of the car. The tank was found to be empty. Mr. King asked her to wait a moment, while he stepped into the next car and got her a drink. He returned in about a minute, and to his astonishment found the lady missing. He inquired of the passengers where she had gone, and they informed him that she had followed him out of the car. The startling suspicion flashed through his mind that she had leaped from the train. He hurriedly sought Mr. Macomber, the conductor, and related the circumstances. The train was stopped and slowly run back in the hope of finding the missing woman. After backing up about three miles, Mrs. Stocker was seen running toward the cars. An effort was made to get her on board, again, but she stoutly resisted. Breaking away, she jumped into a snow bank and was nearly out of sight. After considerable trouble she was finally secured, however, and placed in the cars. She was at first disposed to be violent, but soon became quiet. No further difficulty was experienced with her. On examination it was found that she had sustained no injuries.
