The Montreal Gazette gives the particulars of the case of a swindler, who called upon a gentleman reading in Montreal, and, representing himself as Detective Banning, of Ottawn, induced the first named to pay him $300, to compromise a forgery of which a son in Ottawa was alleged to be guilty. The bogus detective shewed a letter which was a good ASSETS JAN. 1, 1863, imitation of the young man's writing, so innocently impeached, and this fact, together with the official coolsess of his visitor, made little to too willing dupe of Assots Jan. 1st, 1865 a scoundrel. To nan immediately wrote out a check for $300, telling the Assets Jan. lat. 1866, man to make all haste back to Ottawa, and he would follow the next day. The 'detective' draw his money and left the city, and has not been seen since. The true state of the matter did not come to light until last Tuesday. The gentleman sent a telegraphic despatch to his zon, the next day after giving the man the $300, asking him if it was necessary for him to go to Ottawa. The answer came back from a friend of his son's that he had gone to Kingston to spend a few days with a friend. The gentleman became relieved when he learned his son had been released, and waited anxiously for a full explanation, but none ever came. On Sunday last he wrote a-long letter to him, telling all about the visit of "Detective Banning," and wondering Assets Jan. 1st, 1876. why he (the son) did not explain. The young man was considerably puzzled at his lather's letter. To set his mind at rest, he came to Montreal on Tuesday, when he learned all about the affair.
