Now that the particulars of the Cheyenne massacre transpire the severest, strictures of the press upon the barbarism of it are more than justified. It was a piece of butchery of which American civilization may well be ashamed. The soldiers environed the savages and beg his pardon, the Hon. Dr. Tupper, fice. shot them down regardless of age, all of whom are declared to be total absex or mercy. Such a policy and and such a method of Aboriginal extermination is a disgrace to the century. No wonder the poor Indian vows an undying if unavailing revenge upon his palefaced oppressors. The Americans seem have carried so far their Indian policy of end. After their Indians are subdued and distroyed, the history of the way it was done will forever remain a blot upon their national honor.
