CITY COUNCIL.—Special Meeting at 8 p.m.
"THE SHAUGHRAN" at the Opera House at MESTING of St. George's Society Committee of Management at 8 p.m. BATURDAY.

Sals at Wm. David's at 10 a.m. MATIREE at 2 p.m. "Ours' in the evening et the Opera House.

"N.P." may fairly be stated to stand for "No policy," for certainly the present Government has so far given no other clue to the significance of these mystic initials. This country is still kept upon the ragged edge of uncertainty in regard to the fiscal policy which the Government has had more than ample time to mature, but of whose consummation it so far gives no sign. The long and unaccount able delay of the Government in submit ting their much promised amelioration of the distress of the depression is reprehensible in the extreme, and is a down-right breach of pre-election promises.

The American green backers are de termined not to stay extinguished by their late defeat, signal and crushing as the verdict against them recently proved to be. Already they are organizing for the next campaign, determined to make rag money again an issue in the elections as a 'dead beat of long standing and of next fall. We predict that the party gigantic proportions' and turned out of will never be able to make head-way against the shrewd common sense of the American people, who, upon this question his match with poor Regan on Silver at anyrate, have shown that they cannot | Lake last fall made the fastest four miles be easily hood winked. With us the rag on record, intends to challenge any man money party is in its infancy. It is the first-born bautling of the National Policy. In the States the green back fraud is pretty well played out. With us it may yet do duty in galvanizing, into a show of vitality, the National Policy of which it is a legitimate corollary, when that precious swindle is finally and fully exploded as a pretended means of creating universal prosperity.

Conflicting demands of the interested classes, to clap on duties and to take them off the self-same goods, still continue to embarrass the Government in their readjustment of the tariff. For example, the Minister of Finance has been importuned both to impose duties upon and to take them off teas and molasses. So with marble. Three or four wholesale dealers are besieging the Government to impose a prohibitory duty on sawn marble, so as to throw a monopoly in this department into their hands, and enable them to charge to the retail dealers, who constis not pass it by unnoticed. Several justitute the vast bulk of the practical marble outters of the country. The latter are virtually rousing in self-defence, and, resisting the monopolists tooth and nail, sufficient (the they are true) to separate tions which Mr. l'affeson has to make. shall be imposed on what, to them, is "raw material," pure and simple. The conundrum which bothers the vernment is how to comply with the conflicting demands of classes whose interests are directly antagonistic, but to all of whom it stands pledged to afford protection and prosperity.

TARIFF AND TAXATION.

A correspondent of the Manitoba Free Press takes exception to an editorial in that journal, in which it was contended that an enhanced tariff would be an increased tax upon consumers. This fiscal wise-acre while willing to admitt that sup ply and demand had something to do with determining prices, held that an in crease of tariff would have no effect whatever in advancing the cost of anything in the market, citing as apparent proof of his contention that, notwithstanding the be allowed to travel again with "Kent high tariff, prices rated low in the United Mason," as this is a personal affair, allow States. No doubt Sir John regretted the admission the moment he had made it, but truth, in this respect, like murder, "will out" sometimes, and on this occasion Sir John Macdonald himself was actually entrapped into the, for him, unusual accident of stating a fact. NEW PHASE OF COMMUNISM.

ing to the recent condemnation of the 'Oneida Community' by the clergymen of New York State avers 'it is not clear that the arguments adduced for this repressive measure were possessed of any weight whatever.' It is then further explained that while these people are industrious, trifty and frugal, there is among them 'the absence of any marriage tie This, we take it, is quite enough to justify repressive action. Such a state of affairs is several degrees worse than mormonism, in which, though one man may have plurality of wives, his right and duty to look after and care for these and nonothers is distinctly recognized. Mormonism is bad enough in all conscience, and should be stamped out of existance with all possible dispatch, but this unmarried communism is, in our opinion, incomparably werse, and should be summarily and severely dealt with. It is urged, in extenuation, that these people are not se bad as the Mormons, inasmuch as they d not attempt like them to proselyte for converts. There is no palliation whatever in this circumstance, however, since it must be admitted that if a caus, be good one, there can be no barm in extend ing its advantages to others. From neither free-love or polygamy can any good by any possibility arise, and therefore the only proper treatment for either the one or the other, is speedy and thorough extirpation, as being obnexious to the law of the land, and subversive of the public morals.

The primary cause is one who claims to be the brother of Mrs. Clayton, but is not either by birth, kinship or legal adoption. I forbid his corresponding with my wife, which has been regular up to this time, and also desired her not to visit his home at all. My wishes have been disregarded by both of them. I have borne my troubles in comparative silence, hoping for the best. Now I am prepared to lift the cortain. The only cloud which has ever hovered An 'Independent' contemporary alludover the successful Windsor Hotel was a real-estate cloud. This cloud has been going, going' for a long time, and yesterday William Kennelly, the auctioneer, finally pronounced it 'gone.' The lease and buildings which constitute the Hotel property were sold on foreclosure of a mortgage, and purchased by Mayor Belden, of Syracuse. The mortgage had been given by the corporation once known as the 'Windsor Hotel Company.'. This company loaded itself with property at the highest market prices, and built when materials and labor ranged at extreme $750,000 upon land that was leased for of unexpired lease and all the improve
