An American exchange facetiously says that 'The Ohio Democrats may fail to fall back on Oldilliam yet.' If he is as staunch and plucky as the Caturquo Ward Abnerianic veteran of that name is a good man to fall back on.

The Port Hope Guide calls the editor of the Cobourg World a 'thing.' Brotherly love and professional courtesy will be triumphant in spite of the great annoyances of life.

Since the first discovery and invention of the piano no manufacturer has had such unprecedented success in its manufacture and sale as Joseph P. Hale, of New York.

Mr. Hale never has, nor never will, manufacture bogus pianos. All known improvements are always added. The old aristocratic manufacturers of the piano, Chickering & Son, of Boston, Weber, of New York, and a few others, have made millions of dollars by charging high prices, generally from $200 to $750.

Mr. Hale produces exactly as good a piano as was ever made in the United States for $200 and $300, the proper value of first class instruments.

Mr. Hale makes a small profit and an immense popularity.—ADVT.

REV. MR. MCCUAM'S NATIONAL POLICY. SHOWS THE DIFFERENCE BETWEEN RELIGION AND POLITICS.

On Saturday the Mail had a supplement, the bulk of the space of which was occupied in a continuation of the reports of interviews with the business men in different places.

Mr. John McDermott, carriage-maker, thinks that the trade will not be able to increase on an equal ratio to the cost, as the manufacturer is obliged to pay increase to manufacturers of things, etc.

Mr. G. J. Fandy thinks the new tariff a splendid one. He favors the tariff on wool, and when Sir John climbed into power he favored J. G. by a very remunerative appointment—more remunerative than boiler-making, if it would only last.

Mr. S. T. Dreman stated that since the announcement of the increase of the duties, American manufacturers in the habit of exporting to Canada have already made offers to pay freights and discounts equivalent to the tariff increase.

Mr. Samuel Woods, a regular stationer, there is no perceptible difference. As to books, the increase will lead to a decrease in price.

Mr. James Richardson, grain dealer, believes the tariff will increase consumption and value of rye and oats, and will likewise increase the value of wheat.

Mr. Oford thought the competition would keep down the price of the boot and shoeline, while the tariff would benefit the trade.

Mr. Dugan, of the Kingston Foundry, speaks principally of the duty of which will not fall upon the poor man as a rule.

Mr. James Mackee appears to be satisfied with the tariff, but he considers the method of levying the duties vexatious.

Mr. S. P. White wants a duty on imported cigars. The Americans can afford to sell the Canadians, and he does not like that.

Mr. O. W. Robinson, carriage-maker, has been so run for the last six years amongst tanners that stock is often sold at a loss.

Mr. J. McKay, leather dealer, has been understood to say that the staple stock will not be allowed, as competition has been so run for the last six years amongst tanners that stock is often sold at a loss.
