The Canadian Spectator speaks thus candidly: "It would be a good thing for the Onturio electors if they would shake off the tyranny of party, and yote for the best men. Liberal and Conservative are only names; let them seek the mos capable and the least expensive Government. If they do that, the Mowat party will be found to have the best record, and to give the most redeemable pro-

When the men at present in power Ottawa cannot colourably "open" certain situations for their importunate friends and supporters they institute what has been not inaptly termed a "fishing commission," to see if something cannot be unearthed and brought hours to public employees of Reform antecedents so as to furnish a pretext for their dismissal or forced resignation. Such a commission has been for some time in full blast at St. Catharines, where Mr. Bodwell, ex-M.P. for Oxford, and fately Superintendent of the Welland Canal, is on trumped up trial for certain alleged irregularities in his discharge of the duties of his position. The Commission has been for some time at work, but so far with poor success, so far as bringing home the charges against the Superintendent is concerned. We have no doubt that Mr. Bodwell will emerge from the crucible of examination with an untarnished reputation for integrity and efficiency.

. The Railway resolutions of the Government contain among other things practical confession of the injustice to British interests of the new Canadian taciff. There is cropping out of them a palpable consciousness of having roused British ire, by means of the hostile tariff and an evident attempt to allay that dissatisfaction by representing the Government Pacific Railway plan as a grand scheme for the employment of the surplus population of Europe. It is hoped that this affected solicitude of the une employed thousands of Great Britain will prove an offset to the anti-British tariff, and thus smooth away the which has been excited in England by our attitude of hostility to the interests of British manufacturers. The British people are certainly very verdant if they consent to he hood-winked by such thin preteuces. It is too much like the simulated horror of Sir John when five years ago he declared it was Mr. Mackenzie's intention to import the Chinese by the legion to build the Pacific Road to the exclusion of the British bons and sinew of Canada and the parent land. There is just as much buncombe in the solicitude of Sir John for the British navvies now as there was then. Not satisfied with duping the Canadian electors Sir John Macdonald is ambitious to play the Barnum with the more extensive constituency of the people of Great Britain. How far he will succeed time will tell.

CONSISTENT AS USUAL-

With his usual consistency Sir John Macdonald lately joined Mr. Ryan, mem ber for Marquette, in arguing for the enlargement of the boundaries of Manitoba And when the Province was first formed under the auspices of Sir John's former Government, the area of it was restricted to its present dimensions in detiance of the intelligent protest of the best friends of the North West. The Tory Chieftain was then yielding to the presnure of his French Canadian colleagues, who were determined the Province should be se shaped as to maintain and preserve institutions in which they felt in terested. Now he is yielding to the absolute necessity of more Striket has already completed his canvass, elbow room for the rapidly arriving pos and is confident of a good round major pulation, and to include some crown land ity. area also in order to give the Local Government a source of revenne other than that which it has lately been down on its marrow bones to beg from the Federal Government. Although Sir John has granted the Prairie Province the demanded increased subsidy, yet future applications for "more to follow" would grow monotonous, and so Sir John cou cents to the extension of the province as the lesser of the two embarrassments If it were anything new for Sir John t go back upon himself his attitude on this question might excite the public surprise. For Sir John to stultify himself is quite what the people of Canada have been schooled to expect, and the passing remark, " just like him," is all the eneprise his inconsistency will ex-

LIGHT CRIMINAL CALENDAR -- PARADISE OF CANADA.

The Picton Spring Assizes were opened on Tuesday at 1 p.m., the Hon. Jus-tice Cameron presiding, the Crown being represented by Mr. George E. Heuderson, of Belleville.

His Lordship in addressing the Grand Jury, said it was a matter of congratulation that the criminal calendar was so exceedingly light, (only two cases, one for forgery and one for assault). He said the County was one known as the 'garden' of Canada, but from the present appearance of freedom from crime he believed it was entitled to be called the 'paradise' of Canada.

Intercolonial Expenses-Discussing the Supplementary Estimates--Breach of Independence of Parliament,

HOUSE OF COMMONS.

In the House of Commons yesterday after routine, the House resumed con currence of the Estimates. On the item of $1,500,000 for the Intercolonial Railway,

Mr. Tupper explained that he expect ed to effect a saving of $30,000 per annum by reducing the staff of employees on the road, and by the application of the patent nutlocks. The earnings of the road were decreasing, and were $24,000 less the first six months of the present fiscal year than in the similar period last year.

Mr. Mackenzie pointed out that during his term of office he had effected a reduction of 20 per cent, in the working expenses without injuring the efficiency of the road. The proposed reduction was merely illusory, and would injure the efficiency of the road Mr. Anglin said that the preposal as

o the readjustment of the staff should be printed and distributed among the pembers, so as to acquaint them with the true facts. The item was concurred after some complimentary remarks had been made by both sides as to the fitness of Mr. Schreiber, Chief Engineer of the road, for his present position. The item of $230,000 for Prince Edward Island Railway was concurred in without debate. In concurrence on the Supplementary Estimates for the fiscal year, 1879, a brief discussion took place on the item of $1,-000 to Mr. Piche, ex-First Clerk Assistant of the House, as a retiring allowance, but no new light was thrown on the source or cause of dismissal.

On the item of $5,300 to the Ottawa Citizen for printing the library catalogue, discussion took place, during which Mr. Mackenzie objected to the charge because the work was never authorized. Mr. Ross (Middlesex) said that accords ing to contract prices the work should only the former aum be paid. Atter further discussion the Premier agreed that only the contract prices should be paid for the work. On that understanding the amendment was with-
