

SATURDAY NIGHT.

THE TRUE HEAVEN.
Heaven lies about us; if we cease Through life's short day to find the way, We cannot find it, and our hope Grows fainter day by day.
Ah, weary souls, God's heaven lies Not in the skies, but deeper above!
Not in the realms of ethereal skies,
But in the truth-of-love.
No myriad miles of other space Part us from all the dearest ones; Unless they meet us face to face, Helping us up and on.

—T. S. Collier.

We can do more good by being good than in any other way.

Never does a man portray his own character more vividly than in his manner of portraying another.

Our prayer and God's blessing are like bullets in a wall; while the one ascends the other descends.

If the way to heaven is narrow, it is not long; and if the gate be straight, it opens into endless life.

There is no wise or good man that would change persons or conditions entirely with any man in the world.

The real wealth of a man is the number of things which he loves and blesses, and by which he is loved and blessed.

The world is tolerant of sin anywhere but in a Christian. A Christian should be more intolerant of sin in himself than anywhere else.

If you would relish food, labor for it before you take it; if eating clothing, pay for it before you wear it; if you would sleep soundly, take a clear conscience to bed with you.—Franklin.

Carey says that one cannot move a step without meeting a duty, and that the fact of mutual happiness is proved by the very fact of one's existence. No man liveth to himself, and no man dieth to himself.

The damps of autumn sink into the leaves and prepare them for the necessity of their fall; and thus insensibly are we, as years close round us, detached from our tenacity of life by the gentle pressure of recorded sorrow.

We know God only by his most wise and exact knowledge of things and final causes; we admire him for his perfection; but we reverence and adore him on account of his dominion, for we adore him as his servants.

Every real and searching effort at self-improvement is of itself a lesson of humble wisdom. For we cannot move a step without learning and the waywardness, the weakness, the vacillation of our movements, or without desiring to be set upon the Rock that is higher than ourselves.

Beware of him that is slow to anger.
Anger is like a bombshell, it may be safer when it comes and the longer it lurks. Abused patience turns to fury.
When fancy is the ground of passion, that understanding which composes the fancy qualifies the passion; but when judgment is the ground, the memory is the recorder and this passion is long retained.
