WASHINGTON LETTER

IN MEMORY OF WASHINGTON - BANKING CONVENTION - ARMY APPOINTMENTS.

Sailing down the Potomac yesterday as we came near Mt. Vernon, in accordance with an old and fitting custom, the ship's bell began to toll, and a more subdued tone and manner on the part of the passengers on board testified the respect of this people for the name and memory of Washington more effectually than monuments of brass or marble could do. So long as the first tolling stroke of a ship's bell subdues the galety of happy crowds on board, and makes the place and its great occupant, who for a hundred years has lain, in silence, from that place speaking to this people, the general topic of conversation, we can afford to leave the Washington monument unfinished, if, indeed, it is necessary so to have it. But there has of late teen an evident determination on the part of Congressmen and Presidents to complete that work. There is a great deal that is cheering in the evident increase all over the country in the regard paid to the memory of those who helped to "make and preserve us a nation. Every section of every State ought to have representatives at the Banking As sociation's meeting at Saratoga on the 6th, 7th and 8th of August, for it promises to be one of the most important meetings of the kind ever known in this country. There will be full discussion of the anomalous condition of husiness in all sections, with a view of finding a remedy or, if the evil is curing itself, the dis cussion is necessary as a means of enlightening all the people on that point. Hardly any part of the Administration is now here. Two members of the Cabinet are in Maine, enjoying themselves, let us hope. When Mr. Cass was prominent in politics, whether as Cabinet Minister or as Senator, he showed an extraordin ary regard for the Pine Tree State, and frequently foretold great things for her

There are not wanting now signs of Tr vivat in her business and renewed growth in her population. Notice has been given that no more appointments will be made in the army from civil life. That method of making military heroes is not altogether satisfac Instead of it, probably an effort will be made to establish a rule whereby graduates of semi official military schools, like the Michigan Military Academy at Orchard Lake, can be put in the line of promotion. The subject has been brought to the attention of many members of longress, and it makes a favorable in pression. The Michigan Institution was established to provide facilities that are not extensive enough at West Point, and Col. J S Rogers, a former able officer of the army, was appointed Superintendent, and supplied with arms and accourre ments from the U.S. Ordnance Depart ment. It is astonishing, even in these days of peace, to observe what a demand there is for military instruction and ap-
