THE DARIAN CANAL PROJECT-CANDIDATES THE PRESIDENCY-THE ENGLISH

(From our own Correspondent.) There was early opposition to the scheme for constructing a caual across the Inthmus of Darian, to be under the control or patronage of European Governments. This opposition took shape in the Senate in a resolution introduced by General Burnside. There is no doubt so general in this country is the regard for what is known as the 'Monroe doctrine' that political parties would be compelled to make a part of their platform a declars. tion of hostility to a canal under such auspices, if the attempt should be made to build it, but if Captain Eades of the Misc day and Stella—Treesday, Thurs day and Saturday. Close at 7 a.m.; arrive at build it, but if Captain Eades of the Mississippi jetties is to be believed there is no need of a canal at all. He proposes to construct a railway across the Isthmus, capable of transporting from ocean to ocean vessels of large tonnage. But for the reputation Captain Eades has made by the celebrated Mississippi bridge, and the just completed Mississippi jetties, the proposal of such a railroad would be laughed at. But army and other engineers have ceased to laugh at Captain

The New York Sun has as many candidates for the Presidency as there are applicants for the English Mission. In turn it has suggested nearly all the prominent politicians of New York and New Jersey. Its last choice is Secretary of State Evarts. It may not be out of place in this letter to say the Secretary has not been a politician during his term of office, and that he seems to have exhibited a comprehensive knowledge of our foreign offices, and jealous regard for the national honor, whether this fact will aid him in seeking a Presidential nomination from any party is another question altogether. Among the suggestions made to Prestdent Hayes in regard to the English Mission is one to offer the position to ex-President Grant. It is certain the General would be welcomed heartily in England. But it is much more likely that whatever the President's first wishes may be, some Pennsylvania gentleman foreign mission.

The Mississippi River Commission, auwill meet first in this city instead of St.

DR. Evony .- Dear Sir. I am to day truly Catarrh Remedy." For many years I have suffered from the Catarrh—the disease being thankful that you have brought to my notice brought on by a too persistent effort in singing. I had laid myself "on the shelf," having received no benefit from the various nauseous remedies which I had tried. A few trials of your remedy relieved my head at once, and now after a three months' trial I am able to and astonished me. I wish you great success I see a need of its use. Respectfully yours, PROF.
