The Crucial Test.

Which is the best mowing or reaping machine? Some say one, and some say the other. Perhaps it is the old story of Daniel and the lions. "You pays your money and takes your choice." But yesterday a novel idea, introduced by the genial agent of the Toronto Reaping and Mow ing Co., fairly convinced a Frontenac farmer who had invested in a Champion. Both loads of hay were sold to the same individual, and while the hay cut by the Toronto machine realised readily $6.50 per ton, the latter was a drag at $2.50 It appears that the purchaser, exercising his nasal organs on the timothy, decided that one load was thus much superior to the other, and the agent of the Toronto mower explained to the assembled crowd, than "by a peculiar process, solely indigenous to their machines, lower part of the timothy and clover was dissected in such a manner as to cause the generic juices and gums which exude from the decapitated stalk (and which form the pabulum of the food) to coagulate, thus retaining not only all the aroma and fragrance of new-mown hay, but likewise preserving all the qualities necessary for the generation of the lacteal fluid in the feminine species of the bovine breed, and the stamina of the A number of equine race." This he attributed to the Grand Trunk superior quickness of his machine, cutting CHAMPA Gerintendency an acre in 45 minutes. The farmer who owned the Champion and had only re. to have the ceived $2.50 for his fodder, liquored the Warranted Pure fontreal to crowd, cursed his machine, and departed ingston to for home, silenced if not convinced.

THE FUEL QUESTION - SCHOOL REPAIRS. HIGHER EDUCATION FOR MECRANICS. THE MODEL SCHOOL, STC.

A mosting of the School Board wa held last evening in the Council Chamber. It was attended by the Chairman, (Mr. Pense) and by Messrs. J. Wilson, Johnston, Horsey, Woods, Irving, T. C. Wilson, Tandy, Allen, Fee, Oliver, Waldron and the Inspector.

The minutes of the last three meetings were read and confirmed. TENDERS FOR FUEL.

The Chairman presented five tenders for wood and coal supplies, two of which were handed in at the time specified, and three somewhat later, but as a result of not knowing the fact of a date being As the contents of none of the tenders were known to the members, it decided to receive and consider all the propositions offered. Mr. Isaac Noble tendered for wood alone at the rate of $3.90 per cord ; Mr. R. Crawford tendered for wood and coal, the former at the rate of $3.49 per cord.

and the latter at $5.40 per ton ; Mr. W.

Lamb offered to supply wood for $3.90 per cord, and Mr. J. Campbell, wood, at $3.90 per cord. The tender of Mr. Crawford was cepted, on motion of Dr. Oliver.

SCHOOL REPAIRS Dr. Oliver presented the report of Committee on the repairs which were necessary to the Model School building, the tenders of the following having been accepted according to the specifications W. Robinson & Son, painting, $60; J Waddell, carpentry, $22; R. Dawson, masonry, $17. In connection with these repairs a le gal question was raised, a garnishee having been served to prevent the payment for the time being of the amount for carpentry, and the Board decided to hold the money until the Court should decide to whom it was to be given.

A number of other and certified ac counts, for school repairs, were present ed and ordered to be paid, on motion of PROPERTY QUESTION. The question of purchasing the lot ad joining the Queen Street School was Dr. Oliver thought the Board should "absorb" it, so to speak, for the exten-aion of the school play ground. He understood it was about to be sold, Mr. Tandy-It cannot be sold. Dr. Oliver understood it had been sold, and that the purchaser was about to commence upon the foundation of Mr. Tandy-The buyer has been 'sold. The Chairman reminded the Board that the matter had been recently dircussed in the Council, and the City Solicitor was of opinion that the lot cannot be enclosed, that being a public highway any taxpayer can have an occupant ejected. When before the Board before it was said the property belonged to the Herchemer estate, how-

Mr. Horsey replied in the negative, and asked that the matter be left over until the next meeting, otherwise to dispose of it without a Committee report.

HIGHER EDUCATION. The Chairman introduced the question of forming a sixth class in the Model School. It had been suggested to him, and he had asked the Inspector to report upon it, and Mr. Kidd had informed him that some 21 had passed the Entrance examination in Mr. Summerby's room not leaving enough with which to form a sixth class, though such would be an advantage of it were formed. Education, he thought, would be advanced by it, and it would be a great assistance to many unable to enter the Collegiate Institute. If a sixth class could not be formed it might be possible to establish a senior fifth class, which would be a step in advance of what was now in existence. It would be well to make such a move when they had such an efficient Model School teacher as Mr. Summerby. He urged that the matter be left to a committee, to report prior to the re-opening brought up. He said he was surprised the mid-summer examinations that the pearing of new buildings and the turning female departments of the common schools of many scres of the green sod. Roads were in advance of the male departments. He enquired into the causes, and he was told by the Inspector that the difference was in consequence of the head teacher of the Model School having to do fourth as green even as a city lawn. Mr. Tandy-Are they not taught Mr. Irving-They are not. With the assistance of the Inspector and the head teacher of the Model School, at the next meeting of the classes, these advanced branches should be commenced, in der that the coming mechanics may ceive the education they are not now ceiving. Much of the manual labour formerly performed by mechanics now done by machinery, and if mechanic does not receive a good mental training he is little better than the machine which may be in operation along side of him. He thanked the Chairman of the Board for bringing the matter up. Any movement having tendency to advance education for the meeting in full the claims of depositors benefit of the mechanical classes would and bill-holders. He expressed himself be cordially supported. Mr. Tandy observed that Mr. Irving pourtrayed a discouraging state of affairs. Mr. Woods as well as himself could testify that the branches spoken of by Mr. Irving were taught in the male departments of more than one school, and he was not aware that they were exempt from the present curriculum of studies. Mr. Horsey drew attention to the fact that the male departments were being constantly weakened by the drafts made up on them by the Collegiate Institute, and hence they could not be fairly conwhich were not so weakened. The fourth liquidation as it was selling for upon the class of the Model School was principally made up of boys preparing for the tion !" asked our reporter. Entrance examination. As an employed of labour he agreed in the sentiments of Mr. Irving anent the mechanical classes. Mr. Woods remarked that it was unfortunately true that he was ast mished at resulting in our suspension. There was by the boys. It would seem that the male departments of the schools the city are run with the intention of preparing pupils for Entrance examinations. Such was not the object of the public schools, but to qualify many for taking positions in life without any education but that which the common schools give. Instead of this at intervals a number are sent to the Collegate Institute, and the work, or go out into employment improperly gratified to discharge the duties of life. He urged that inducements should be offered the boys to remain in the public schools. In the Collegiate Institute, if the winners of scholarships, they are required to study classics, and amounts to little. He certainly thought the advanced class in the Model School Philosophy and Chemistry. They had the facilities, and it would be criminal negligence if they did not at the earliest opportunity commence a senior fifth or sixth class. The question should be re-

The Inspector found that he could not recommend a change in the system be cause there would not be a sufficient number of pupils necessary to form sixth class after those who have passed Entrance examination leave. He had given Mr. Summerby the best boys in the city schools, out that gentleman's time was mostly taken up in preparing them money will have to be paid over to it for Entrance examination. The drafts of the Collegiate Institute were a great length of time covered by scholarships having been reduced. Eventually Mr. Woods moved, second ed by Mr. Allen, that the matter of opening a senior fifth or sixth class in the Model School be referred to a Committee to report at a special meeting to be held before the re-assembling of the schools.

COUNTY DUES. The attitude of the County on the Model School question was again discuss ed. Some favoured a demand upon the County Council for past dues, others advocated the closing of the school as Model School, and the refusal to admit the County teachers, but the debate closed with the passage of the following reso

Moved by Mr. Tandy, seconded by Mr Woods, that the Model School be reopened in the usual way on the lat of September, and that the County teachers be then admitted on condition that the $100 passed by the County Council be then paid, and not otherwise The Board adjourned at ten o'clock.

The Red River of the North forms the boundary line between Minnesota and Dakota. East and west of it is a large stretch of level, rich and beautful prairie, which is rapidly winning the reputation of being the most productive of "No. 1" wheat of any country in the world. The immense tracts of Government lands have attracted vast immigrations of people seeking free homes. The settlers are Norwegians, French Canadians, largely Scotch Canadians, a few Irish and more English, and people from the States— quite a good representations from the State of New York. THE LAST BANK PAILURE,

WHAT IS SAID BY THE MANAGER AND DIRECTORS OF THE EXCHANGE BANK-THE PROSPECTS FOR REDEEMING BILLS AND PAYING DEPOSITS -A FEW FACTS.

(Witness:)

This forenoon our reporter interviewed the lately appointed cashier of the Exchange Bank, Mr. Thomas Craig, in gard to the prospects for the redeeming of the bills in circulation and kindred matters hearing on the interests of shareholders and depositors. Mr. Craig could not give exactly the amount of the deposits and circulation at the moment. but they would aggregate in the vicinity of $900,000, of which about $400,000 was in circulation. The directors had, he said, determined to liquidate as quickly as possible, and they would at once undertake to transfer the branches of the Bank as the Consolidated Bank had The branches are in Aylmer, Brussels, Exeter, Hamilton and Parkhill, Ontatio, Bedford, Quebec, and the agency in Quebec city. He thought that arrangements would be completed for guardedly when asked in regard to the assets of the Bank, which is scarcely to be wondered at in view of late revelations. He, however, ventured the opintion of the books of the institution that all claims would be paid in full, and shareholders would realize 55 to 60 per cent, on their paid up stack. Notwithstanding such was the favorite condition of things the bank had PULLY DECIDED TO LIQUIDATE. Subsequently our reporter had a conversation with one of the directors of the Bank without any further information of consequence. He was certain the shareholders would obtain at the very lowest estimate as much for their stock by

"Why then did you go into liquida-"Well, you see while we could easily meet all claims were we allowed a little time we could not meet them all in a few days. There are several reasons which led to the run on our Bank the last examination of the Model first the trouble about our late manager; School on subjects of an elementary then the papers made a great "hub bub" about our last annual meeting, then There was nothing in the followed the failure of the Consolidated Bank and the creation of the panicky feeling; then there was the decline of the stock with a rate at twenty this week, although it immediately rose again, and the rather unfriendly acts of some of the

On referring to the report of the last annual meeting on July 14th it will be seen that the circulation at that date to $697, 305, making a total of $1,243, 830. It will be seen, therefore, that in rest have either to go back over the same a little over three weeks deposits and circulation have decreased about $350,000, according to the manager's estimate what they are at present.
