THOUSAND ISLAND PARK.

LODGE OF GOOD TEMPLARS IN SESSION-UNABATED INTEREST IN PARK PROCERDINGS -- LARGE EXCUR-SIONS FROM EVERY QUARTER-THE END

Contrary to expectation and announcement no public meeting was held Thursday evening at the Tabernacle under the auspices of the Grand Lodge now in seasion here. With some people this de parture from the intended programme would be regarded as a perfectly unpardonable breach of faith, and would be set down as so much "malice aforethought" devised for the set purpose of damaging financially some one or more of the many excursions which still make this pleasant spot their destination. must be said in extenuation of this fresh outrage of departure from the original arrangement that the managers of the convention innocently assume the right to recast their programme if they so see fit, and in doing so believe they are acting quite within the scope of the maxim which requires everybody mind their own business. In the Thou sand Island Park Journal of July 15th is is stated in the announcement of the M.C. A. Encampment that the programme therein laid down would be adhered to Subject to slight change in the order of exercises," and if not so stated in every instance it is with this much "mental reservation" that the programme of each meeting is outlined - the bona fide intention being in every case to carry out the spirit if not the letter of the Bill of Fare and if any change should prove to be necessary in the general interest to make that change without either hesitation or bear of anybody's unjust displeasur far as we have heard no excursion party arriving at the grounds yesterday threat ened to sue the Good Templars for ing which was to have been held last

Pressure of business, howev er, compelled the Grand Lodge, as such to take last evening for its final session It is to be hoped that these explanatious, together with the fact that the Grand Lodge consists altogether of New York ers, will prevent any fresh outburst of indignation in this locality. All things human are liable to mutation, especially at Camp Grounds, and it is true philosophy to take things as we find them, and to make the best of that which has been done for the best. When we said that all the meetings of yesterday were of the close communion sort, we should have excepted an open (air) session, in which all the prominent brethren and sisters were ranged in graduated order in front of the Sanitarium, for picture purposes. Many were the injunctions laid upon the

To crown all and to secure that repose and placidity for facial expression, so necessary such an occasion, a Boanerges of the party shouted out in stentorian tones joke which was more forcible than lite. "Keep your mouths shut or they'll see what you've have had for dinner With such incidents as these to prevent it we cannot well see how the photographic representation of the New York Lodge of Good Templars as taken at the Thousand Island Park will begin to pass muster as a success.

YESTERDAY'S DEPARTURES. It is no exaggeration to say that fully

A THOUSAND PEOPLE left the Island yesterday morning-many quite unconnected "officially" with the temperance convention, now that the fun was over having struck their tents and flitted with the rest. The Onondaga Indian band kept up their playing to the very moment of debarkation, and as they steamed away they awoke many a grate ful reminiscence in the hearts of those af oat and ashore by the sacred strains of 'Home-Sweet-Home." A sort of lonesome reaction succeeded yesterday to the prowded and business bustle and stir of the preceding days and weeks. This sensation was partly dissipated, however the arrival of the "Plumb" (not our own Josiah Burr) which brought a huge excursion from Ogdensburg, and by the arrival of another large party from Kingston per the popular teamer 'Geneva.' No wonder the Syracuse Standard man would like to see that ndividual from this city, outside of our prison or asylum, who has not this year visited the Thousand Island Park. Every nhabitant of Kingston may not have gone down this season, but many have repeated their visits to make up for the omissions, and it is quite safe to say that the total number of excursionists from this city to the Camp Ground would equal if not exceed our total population. Having a sort of NIGHT WATCHMAN REPORTER On the grounds for this purpose, we have been able to report many of the noctor nal proceedings at the Island. Thus a few days since we described the midnight Linding of the Temperance Battalion which chose to take the Island rather by stealth than by storm. In that case they certainly loved darkness rather than light, girls in Napanee, and we presume that though we will not undertake to say they were the ones that our informant that the scriptural reason for such a had reference to. We would be the last choice was the prompting motive. Last to attempt to cast reproach upon Napa night as our representative was pacing the grounds at "the hour o' night's black arch the keystane," an unusual racket attracted attention, and proceeding in that direction it was found that, quite contrary to the rule of the Association that tired nature's sweet restorer shall not be disturbed from 10 p.m. till 6 a.m. a band of choice spirits, officially con nected with the institution, but evident

It may be a gratification to those who thoughtlessly infringed at once upon the law and the flower plots to know that one of the laland policemen was waited upon and commanded to 'get up and git' and that he surrendered at discretion, dressed himself and joined the party, of course for the purpose of keeping them in or der! The rule seemed to be that every victim must join the press gang and as sist in its further operations. Espying the WHIG representative in the distance, they swooped down upon him with a

After all, however, this fact of leaving so much pleasure behind is sure to tell well next year, when those who have been there will be sure to return bringing with them their sisters, their cousine, and other friends.

Organ Recital.

Dr. Davies, of St. George's Cathedral gave his first organ recital in Kingston closed after eleven o'clock on Thursday on Wednesday evening last. We have rarely seen a better programme than the dience. Kreutzer's overture "Night in Granada" commences with a vigorous Maestoro, leading to a graceful Andante tranquillo, the effect of which, played as t was on the above stop, was remarkably clear and effective. The last movement, Allegro a la chasse, was bright and sparkling, the whole presenting a munical picture of the higher class. In Mendelsohn's organ sonata Dr. Davies was quite at home with the subject, rendering this superb composition with marvel ous effect and finish. The "Fanfare Militaire," a composition of totally differ ent character, was equally well rendered displaying great versatility of treatment. The same remarks applied to the wonderful imitations in the "violin solo" in Hay dn's serenade. It requires to be heard ere present who whispered to us, "If we onprogramme, being a most ghostly and Sale at TEN o'clock prec'sely. furnished by a competen critic.

SCHOOLS RESUME.

THE CLOSE OF THE MIDSUMMER VACATIONS RE-OPENING ON MONDAY.

On Monday the schools throughout the city will resume their sessions. Vast mprovements have been made in many of the schools, in fact it will be a matter of surprise should some teachers be un able to tell where they belong, there be ing now but a faint semblance of their former appearance. Charred, cracke and smoke-bedimed ceilings have betorn down, and have given place "brighter and better" enes, while black boards that had been defaced with many a hard problem-problems that have taxed the brain and tried the patience many who are now reaping the reward of their youthful struggles for knowledge and renown-have likewise shared the same fate. The end of this week closes the midsummer holidays. On Monday next, there will be heard the chimes of the "old school bell" "metaphorically speaking" as it rings out its familiar tones, and as you listen to the pattering feet of handreds of merry children harry ng to respond to its call, your memory will carry you back to the days you spent in the old school-house and playing grounds, and while you think of these by-gone-days, and happy hours, think also of the influence and power of our schools on society and future generations and all in your power to extend and widen that sphere of usefulness. The following schools will resume on Monday City Public Schools; Collegiste School Kingston Academy; (A Hay's,) Miss Rese's School of Design; Miss Nelson's on
