General Grant has received a great ovation on his return to the United States al ter an absence of many months, during which he has been honoured as well worthy of regal favour and high distinction: He comes back to America the subject of much admiration, and he is just now such a lion that it is not surprising that certain Republicans would willingly adopt him for the Presidential election. But Grant may not consent

The tour of Hon. Mr. Joly and his colleagues through Quebec would seem to imply that a general election will be the result of the present dead lock between the Legislative Council and the Government. We cannot say what may be the action of the Premier on the reassembling of the House of Assembly, bet he has the right to an appeal to the country if forced to it by the atubbornness of what are now called "the tifteen absurdities."

His Excellency and Her Royal High ness are endeavouring to become acquainted with the Canadians as speeddy | the ship. as possible, and to identify thems Ives with, and forward so far as their approval goes, anything which is of public interest and benefit. His Excellency's ability as a speech-maker has been fully tested, and he appears to be equal to the calls that have been made upon him in this respect. During the last two weeks the Vice-Regal party were instrumental in making the Industrial Exhibition at Toronto a success; this week the Marquis up. and Princess favour the Dominion Exhibition by their presence, and there can be no doubt of the result. The Gover nor and his royal lady are as accommo dating as possible, and appear to be gaining in popularity.

Sir John Macdonld arrived at Quebec on Saturday. He was met by a few taith ful allies, who flattered him a bit by tell ing him how happy they were to see him back. Probably a few of them were look. by a committee of citizens who applied a ing for favours. One thing was particularly noticeable, that the Premier was not in communicative mood, and wes in no way disposed to tell the result of his mis sion to the mother country, and none of those who usually speak with authority Mr. Bright, but I would rather meet your were apparently allowed to say anything father." which would embarrass Sir John. He dodged the crowd as quickly as possible, rather sharply declined the demonstration which it was proposed to give in his honor, and bolted for the house of Mr. A. P. Caron, M.P., where he will remain hidden until to-morrow, when he leaves for Ottawa.

The Witness says: "It is to be hoped that England will treat her living lion as his valor and ability deserves. Zululand has been already portioned up into four chiefdoms, over which England has placed rulers, who refused, through fear, to rule until they were assured that Cetewave was either dead or in a place from which they could be certain that he could not return to punish their treason as it deserved. He will therefore be exiled. It is to be hope that his exile will be one honored alike both to England and himself. We suppose that the course of dividing his kingdom is the only one that could, with safety, be adopted. If not occupied in quarrelling with one another, now that they have learned their own strength, a united Zulu people might farmers might well afford to study some sake a terrible revenge for Ulundi.

SEAT OF PARLIAMENT.

The Toronto Telegram thus modestly comments upon an interesting subject "The question of new Parliament buildings will doubtless come up again when the Provincial Assembly meets. If the Government should decide upon erecting new Parliament buildings it would be anew. as well to keep in mind the possibility of their being used for even a more important purpose than the holding of the meet ings of the Provincial Assembly, for the time cannot be far distant when Toront will once more become the seat of Govern ment in Canada. Toronto was the seat of Government once before, but this was be fore Confederation, when the outlying Provinces were not yet united. * . * Ontario lies between Quebec and the Maritime Provinces on the one hand, and British Columbia and Manitobs on the other, and is besides the most important Province in the Confederation, so that the seat of Government in the natural order of things will come back to Ontario. What is of even more toportance than this is the fact that Toropto is the heart of the Dominion, the centre of political, commercial, educational and social life and activity. The country is rapidly developing to the west, and westward the sent of Government on the other side, the schoolmate offered saust eventually come.

The presumption of Toronto has never teen questioned. The queen city has been apecially favoured in many ways and it has its advantages, but it is by no means entitled to absorb all the metitutions which have a tendency draw men together and benefit by their presence the places where they meet. There can be no harm in discussing probable results, but the probability of a remuval of the Parliament buildings from the present Capital of the Dominion is very small and discouraging. The expease would not be justifiable, and other objections would be urged against such a suggestion. If it be again considered expedient to change the location of the seat of Government the representative of Kingston will be expected to precent the claims of this city for an honour out of which it was 'done' in past years. He starts off very nice , having for his subject the neces sity of a direct mail from Newboro to Kingston by way of Bedford Mills and Perth Read, which we all know, without his telling us, would be much to the advantage of all concerned. But this honor able lover could not refrain from making an attack on innocent persons. He says "It is an evident fact that the country is neglected by the authorities. TALMAGE'S RETURN. London, Sept. 22.-Talmage sailed for ome on Saturday. He has lectured and preached 96 times during the past three months in Great Britain. ZULU TREATY OF PEACE.

London, Sept. 22 .- A despatch from oir Garnet Wolseley to the War Office announces that he has signed terms of peace with all the Zulu chiefs, and affected thorough understanding with them which, in his, opinion will preserve the ferent army divisions to the staff of the future peace in South Africa. One of the provisions of this treaty puts an end to the Zulu military system, whereby the young warriors of the tribes were not permetted to marry until they had served pears to have worked dreadful havor in in tatle, and distinguished themselves the Russian ranks. The total actual loss by in every. The chiefs who signed the is as follows: -Officers dead, 453, or 4.3 treaty undertake to prohibit the imper cent, of the whole number; wounded, portation of arms into their territory. 1,663, or 15.8 per cent; missing, 18, or and promise to wake no declara 0.17 per cent ; total, 2,189. Men, dead, tions of war upon other tribes 14,690, or 3.02 per cent .; wounded, 51, without the consent of the British 332, or 10.5 per cent.; missed, 4,456, or authorities at Cape Colony. The terms 0.9 per cent ; total, 70,478. This total is of the treaty, as explained by Sir Garnet divided between regulars, irregulars, and Wolseley, appear to be extremely comprehensive and prudent, and reasonable anticipations are now entertained that Liverpool, Sept. 20 A 1 a ing grain | we have seen the last of warfare between
