midnight on Sunday, Nov. 11th, the people of the town were slarmed by the lischarge of artillery and firearms. The first murder committed seems to have been that of the company of soldiers numbering about one hunlred, who were regular artillery troops; they mutilated the captain in the most horrible manner, and then opened fire with several pieces of artillery upon the Governor's house, directly in front of the barracks. The Governor upon making his appearance, was knecked on the head and escaped. His family escaped almost naked into the woods. The mutineers released the convicts, and altogether numbered nearly two hundred, armed with Winchester and Spencer rifles. On Monday the mutineers seem to have committed the most herrible excesses in the way of wanten killing, bruising and sacking. On Tuesday the mutineers took to the country with all the public funds and much private property. The last heard of them was that they numbered ninety-four, and
