EFFE'S COCOA -- GRATEFUL AND COMPORTING "By a thorough knowledge of the natural laws which govern the operations of digestion and nutrition, and by a careful application or the fine properties of well selected Cocoa, Mr. Epps has provided our breakfast tables with a delicately flavoured beverage which may save us many heavy doctors' bills. It is by the ju-dicious use of such articles of diet that a constitution may be gradually built up until strong enough to resist every tendency to disease. All the recent elections | er had put his fcot in -there being no great political questions in which parties may divide—have demon. strated the fact that the party which had the most complete organization has carried the day. It will not do for either party, if it desires to win a victory, to leave everything to the last minute and then go into the contest with a rush, trusting to lack for success.

We may safely anticipate that among the Opposition criticisms on the Speech from the Threne will be the now pretty hackneyed one of the Chieftain's, that it is a "meagre bill of fare." This was Sir John's opinion of the document last session, but he found ere the close of it that the Parliamentary Board was laden with a spread which severely taxed the digestive powers of the Opposition. Among the unanticipated dishes, the roast from the Northern Railway cow, the rehash of the secret service jebbery, and other viands of his own original preparation, proved to be particularly unsavory to the chief cook of the Tory party. The now opening Parliamentary banquet may adopted to his own confusion on this again seem to be scantily provided for, to the eager appetites to the left of the table. They will all have more than they have bargained for before the repast is over Not that these hungry gentlemen will then be satisfied. Nothing but a return to official provender will allay the gnawings of Tory hunger. As the prespect of realizing such an unspeakable happiness advise them meantime to take what is going and be thankful.

Our readers will perhaps remember that that competent authority on states failure-a decided failure." Now the Mail, in speculating the other day on Mr. others, upon Mr. Young, the able member for South Waterleo. Although Mr. Young is conceded to be an able man, and has already taken a front place in the Reform ranks, yet the Mail affects a shock at the thought of exchanging Blake for Young. "It is a great descent, to be sure, from Blake to Young," are the terms in which the organ expresses its sanse of the difference in the capacity of the two men. Now, if Mr. Young is an admittedly able man, and is yet, in the Mail's opinion, so far beneath Hon. Mr. Blake, what becomes of the ignorant assurance which would pronounce the latter gentleman "a failure- a decided failure ? THE SPEAKERSHIP. Perhaps the most pitiable quibble with which even the 'foremost statesman' ever obstructed the business of the House, was that by which he sought to prevent the re-election of Hon. Mr. Anglin as Speaker. 'None but a member of the House could be elected the Speaker of it, no member elect could become a member proper till he had made his bow to the Speaker.' Such was the gist of Sir John's objection, amplified into a long and bitter speech against Hen. Mr. Anglin and the Government. In a lacenic and pithy rejoinder, the Premier completely cut away the ground from thus relieving University College entirely under the feet of the Chieftain. Mr. BATURDAY EVEN'G, FEB. 9, 1878 Mackenzie was able to quote a higher authority than Sir John Macdenald, en British parliamentary practice, in its bearing on this particular matter. Sir school has for years been doing absolutely Erskine May, is a letter to Mr. Mackenzie nothing but High School work-directing in reference to this very case declared Mr. Anglin eligible for re-election, and that the Clerk of the House was perfectly mistaken, for in yesterday's issue of that competent to announce the returns of paper we read that "no such hint was

The Clerk, heedless of his protest, put the nemination to the House, which adopted it by a majority of 63, or a vote of more than two to one of all the members present. Finding serious journalism, as he conducted it, rather a serious business, Mr. Wilkinson, of noterious West Durham at Montreal. News fame, has embarked in what to him is doubtless a novel department of journis a somewhat distant one, however, we alistic enterprise. He has started a cartoon and comic sheet, after the style of Grip and by name The Lance. It is rather a comical venture, we should say, for the convicted Tory slander-monger thus to engage in a sort of gaerilla warindulgence in his "upsetting sin With his new knofe he may ent even more deeply than he was wont with the blunter weapon in West Durham, and if he should remain as libellous as ever, he will be able to urge before the Judges that his new paper itself and all it contains are only a huge joke, and as such should not be considered to be within the jurisdiction of the Courts. We don't know how far comic license extends in cartoon journalism, but we do know that we tremble lest the West Durham Lancer may gash his hand with his own weapon, and lest the latter may thus prove a more serious joke to himself than to those for blade with the whotstene of revenge.

To the Editor of the British Whig. SIR .- In the last insue of the Collegiate Institute Herald we had the following quotation from the Globe of the 23rd ult. "The University of Minnesota will abolish its preparatory school in June, 1879, and the High Schools of the State will be called upon to do the work of preparing the students for the University.

It would be well for both our Universities and our High Schools if the former would follow the example of the University of Minnesota. HER OWN WORDS.

Mr. H. R. Stevens : Dear Sir,-Since several years I have got a sore and very painful feet. I had some physicians, but they couldn't cure me. Now have heard of your Vegetine from a lady who was sick for a long time, and became all well from your Vegetine, and I went and bought me one bottle of Vegetine; and after I had used Vienna says. Austria insists that Turkey one bottle, the pain left me, and it began shall be allowed to participate in the to heel, and then I bought one other bottle, and so I take it yet I thank God for this remody and yourself; and wishing every sufferer may pay attention to it. VEGETINE SAFE AND SURE.

In 1872 your Vegetine was recommended to me; and yielding to the persuasion of a friend I consented to try it. At the time I was suffer ing from general debility and nervous prestration, superinduced by overwork and irregular habits. Its wonderful strengthening and curative properties seemed to effect my debiliated system from the first dose, and under its perportion of the fleet to Constantinople. | sistent use I rapidly recovered, gaining mere | 20,000 Boneless Bacon than usual health and good feeling. Since then have not hesitated to give Vegetine my most auqualified endorsement as being a safe, sure and powerfu' agent in promoting health and restoring the wasted system to new life and energy. Vegetine is the only medicine I use, and as long as I live I never expect to find a better. Yours truly, your "Blood Preparation" in my family for several years, and think that for Scrofula or Cankerous Humors or Rneumatic affections and spring medicine it is the best thing I have ever used, and I have used almost every thing. I can cheerfuly recomend it to any one in need of such medicir . Yours respectfully, Mrs. A. A. DINSMORE, 19 Russle Street.

EGETINE. WHAT IS NEEDED.

Boston, Feb 13, '71. H. R. Stevens, Esq. Dear Sir .- About one year since I found myself in a feeble condition from general debility. Vegetine was strongly recommended consequence of the weavers' notice that to me by a friend who had been much benefited on Division Street, Toronte, toek fire they intend to leave work because the by its use I procured the article, and, after and discontinued its use. I feel quite confident that there is no medicine superior to it for these complaints for which it is especially prepaired, and would cheerfully recommend it to have who feel they need something to restore hem to perfect health. Respectfully yours, U. L. PETTENGILL.
