TUESDAY EV'NG, APRIL 2, 1878 The Student's Lamentat the Approach

BY A PROPESSOR IN QUEEN'S COLLEGE JOURNAL When Spring draws near all nature amiles. At thought of opening buds, and flowers,
And songs of birds, and merry wiles
Of shildhood's play in leafy bowers.
And out-door life, and pleasant cheer,
Exchanged for winter cold and drear.

Already south winds greet the plain.
The heralds of a fairer scene. And earth refreshed by botto some rain liegins to don her coat of green: The careless ploughboy whisties clear— All things proclaim that Spring is user.

But Spring, bright Spring, most gentle Spring! Though such to others it may be, "Tis uaught!—its praise I cannot sing, It is not "gentle "spring to me! Ite coming footsteps when I bear, My very vitals quake for fear!

As fabled ghosts, to punish crime, De villains haunt at dead of night. So mem ries of my mis-spent time Around me troop, and put to flight My timid hopes, when heartless Spring Examination time doth bring. Having made arrangements to buy and sell Could slighted Winter but return And bring me back my wasted hours,

At Spring's delay I would not mourn, Nor lar guish for her tragrant bowers; Old Grimes is dead "-would be bad died Where I had never heard his name! Then had my talents (msiapplied In singing of his ancient fame,)
Distinguished me in College class,
And made my chances rure to pass.

But all too late I now bewail

The folly of the Winter nights :

For should I in the contest fail, The girl in whom my soul delights.

Would hut, with a contemptuous air,

'A Student 'plucked' I cannot bear.

MARINE INTELLIGENCE. THE TERRIBLE EXPERIENCE OF TH

SCHOONER MARY IN THE ETJRM.

The ressel which passed Evanston on raw and swollen feet and lumbs. The Thursday evening during the storm, fly- poor fellow suffered a martyrdom. It is ing a sigual of distress, and for which reasonable to suppose that under favorthe captain of the life-saving station at able circumstances he can perform the Evanaton telegraphed here for a tug to go | feat. her assistance, proves to have been the schoener Mary (white). Captain E. Stretch, which left Chicago, 'light, bound for Muskegon. She got the full fury of the gale on Wednesday night, and when between Muskegon and Grand Haven, at about 7 o'clock on the morning of Thursday, she sprang a bad leak. Compelled by the wind and sea, the captain put about, and ran fer this shore again. The orew made every effort at the pumps, but the water gained on them so rapidly toward evening on Thursday that it was feared she would be lost. Off Ohicago it was hoped a tug would come to her, but none went out, and the captain was compelledito risk everything and sail in. The crew were worn out, and the vessel had then four feet of water in her hold, and could not remain afloat an hour longer, being even then in danger of capazing. The attempt was accordingly made, and, ha; pily, resulted successfully. A fresh crew (that of the Charlotte Raab) was then engaged, who worked at the pumps until daylight yesterday morning, when gout, frosted feet, chilblains, sore throat, she was towed to Miller Brothers' dry-dock for repairs. The escape of vessel and crew was a narrow one. There has been considerable confusion as to disasters at Kenosha. It finally turns out, as our prompt correspondent Bagh, a small craft in the wood trade, and loaded with wood. She met her trouble a week ago -last Saturday.

A man has been trying to walk himself to death, at Rochester. His name is Ennis. It is thought that he can perform the feat, but be has decided it to be impossible with sore feet. The Union says

At 12:30 Mr. John Ennis yielded to the cruel tortures of torn and lacerated feet and gave up his attempted pedeatrun fest, having walked 364 miles and 8 laps. The wet track had crippled him almost at the start, but he kept his pace horoically calm and bade his physician say nothing about his real condition. 'My feet are bad,' he said, 'but I will bathe them in that best of linament Spunk, and fight the thing out. But he miscalculated both his own endurance and the power of wet shoes and stockings ever the toughest of feet. His feet grew more and more raw and painful and his walk became noticeably stiff. After finish. ing his three hundredth mile he took quite a long rest and then returned to the tract. But his task was now hopeless. He dragged himself wearily along, tried changes of shoes, and even pare feet, and finally, as stated above, gave op and retired. When last we saw him in his dressing room, he was suffering agenies from his
