A PHYSICIAN'S TESTIMONY. 30 Years a Physician. 12 Years a Suf ferer. Tried Regular Remedies. Tried Patent Medicines. Permanently cured by SANFORD'S RADICAL CURE.

MESSES. WEEKS & POTTER.—Size: I have
M practised medicine for thirty years, and have been a sufferer myself for twelve years with Catarrh in the nasal passages, fances and larynx. I have used everything in the material medica without any permanent relief, until finally I was induced to try a patent medicine (something that we allopathists are very loth to do). I fried — and divers others until I got hold of yours. I followed the directions to the letter, and am happy to say have had a permanent cure. Your RADICAL CURE is certainly a happy combination for the ourse of that most unpleasant and dangerous of diseases.

Yours, respectfully
D. W. GRAY, M. D.,
Of Dr. D. W. Gray & Son, Physicians and Druggists, Muscatine, Iowa.
Muscatine, Iowa, March 27, 1877.

The value of this remedy must not be overlooked

SYMPATHETIC DISEASES, Affections of the Eye, Ear. Throat, Lunga and Bronchial Tubes which in many cases accompany a severe case of Catarrh. The inflamed and diseased condition of the mucous membrane is the cause of all these troubles; and until the system has been brought properly there the influence of the RADICAL CURE, perfect freedom from them cannot be reasonably expected.

It is but three years since SANFORD'S RADICAL CURE was placed before the public, but in that short time it has found the way from Maine to California, and is everywhere acknowledged by gruggists and physicians to be the most successful preparation for the thorough treatment of Catarrh ever compounded. The fact will be deemed of more importance when it is coupled with the statement that within five years over 20 different remedies for Catarrh have been placed on sale, and to-day, with one or two exceptions, their names to-day, with one or two exceptions, their names cannot be recalled by the best-informed druggist. Advertising may succeed in forcing a few sales, but, unless the remedy possess undoubted specific medical properties, it is absolutely certain to fall into merited obscurity.

Each package of SANFORD'S RADICAL CURE contains Dr. Sanford's Improved Inhaling Tube, with full directions for its use in all cases. Price $1.00. Sold by all wholesale and retail druggists and dealers throughout the United States and Canadas. WESES & POTTER, General Agents and Wholesale Druggists, Boston, Mass.

The farewell falls from laughing lips On ours that idly eatch the sound, As though our lives were bouyant ships And years were seas sailed swiftly round

From heart to heart the words should pass, When triendly hands clasped closely in; For swift'y runs the fatal glass, And surely comes the last good byc.

ADRIENNE'S MISTAKE,

Good bye ! ah me! The words are frought,

With vanished hopes and broken ties,

With lessons all too rudely taught,

And angry clouds in summer skies.

Adrienne Huntly sat thoughtfully reading two letters. Her father and brother had long since finished their breakfast and departed to their daily avocations. Still she did not move, her barely tasted coffee had grown cold, and the apaniel, Carlo, waited in vain for his usual knob

Very pretty was Adrienne, though now an anxious frown contracted her delicate brow. The male population of Coinwood were not far wrong when they declared her to be the belle of the town. Not often would you meet with such a pure, tinted complexion, such lustrous dark eyes, such a coronal of glossy chastnut of considerable property in the neighborfrom the cousin of her other suitor. He, hewever, had neither land nor money to boast of, being by profession an artist, and at present only an unknown, unaphim by a pretence of affection, when all pregiated one. Hence rose Adrienne's difficulty. She liked her rich lover, but alas! for the contrariety of human nature, she loved her poer one. But then, all her life she | whohad to pinch, and contrive and manage. Her father was a poor doctor, in a poor parish, and every pound his patients paid him was spent in anticipation long be- longer love me

Should she bid adieu to poverty and shabbiness and second-rate living, and accept George Morley, and with him the certainty of a splendid home, carriage, pleutiful jewelry, and all those countless luxuries that wealth can purchase? Or should she-bravely resisting the enticing prospect-consent to become Guy Morley's wife, and her pres-

It was waiting at my sible. Yet, even with her desk open and writing materials ready, she paused. What should she do? Which should it be? At last, with pale face and compressed mouth she dipped her pen in the ink and wrote two short notes. And the one of acceptance was for George Morley, and

These dispatched, she hoped her mind would be Lt peace. But she now felt have been very patient, I think. Sweetwretched and miserable, and in the twilight, when she played to her father and sang his favorite old ballads, her voice had a harsh, strained ring, and suddenly in the didst of the concluding verse of 'Auld Robin Gray,' she broke down com-

'Oh! my darling-my darling!' he murmured, in passionate accents, 'what have I done to deserve such happiness? I searcely dared to hope that you would be mine, and when I had your sweet little letter, I think I was nearly delirious with joy for a time. 'My letter? Why,-it-why, 1-" You expected me before, dearest?

You thought me a tardy wooer, did you not? But I have strange and wonderful news to tell you, my beautiful one!

'Oh! Guy, stay stay. Have you my letter with you! Let me me it, please!'
Reluctantly, and with many fond endearments, he withdrew his arm and produced the precious epistle.

She read it, and her blushes were succeeded by a deadly pallor, as she discovered that she must have put the notes in the wrong envelopes, so that the letter of acceptance had reached G. Morley, Esq. , care of Mrs. Prett, Laburnam Cottage, and the letter of rejection had gone to G. Morley, Esq., Paterwood Hall.' Their initials and surnames being the same had rendered such a miscarriage perfectly easy and undetectable.

Unwittingly she had obeyed the dicrates of her heart. Should she now let things be as they were? Should she say no word, but allow her lover to remain in blissful ignorance of her former mercenary determination? No me had been in her confidence; even her father had been unaware of the receipt of her two proposals. But honor and loyalty whispered nay. She must tell Guy all, and then -and then-
