NOT A MARRYING GIRL.

They were seated together, side by side, on the sofa, in the most approved | Prince Edward Ro. te. lover fashion-his arm eneircling her taper waist, etc.

"Lizzie," he said, "you must have read my heart ere this; you must know how dearly I love you. "Yes, Fred; you have been very attentive," said Lizzie. "But Lizzie, darling, do you love me Will you be my wife?" "Your wife, Fred! Of all things, no!

No, indeed, nor any one else's. "Lizzie, what do you mean! "Just what I say, Fred. I've two married sisters.

"Certainly! And Mrs. Hopkins and Mrs. Skinner have very good husbands, "So people say, but I would'nt stand

"Lizzie, you astorish me." "Look here, Fred, I've had over twenty-five sleigh rides this winter, thanks to Mails. you and my other gentlemen friends." Fred winced a little here, whether at bill, or the idea of Lizzie's sleighing with her other gentlemen friends, I cannot positively answer.

"How many do you think my sisters have had! Not the sign of one-either of them. Such pretty girls as May and Nellie were, too, and so much attention they used to have!"

"Now, Lizzie-"I am fond of going to the theatre occasionally, as well as a lecture or concert sometimes, and I should'nt like it if I proposed attending any such entertainment to be invariably told that times were hard and my husband couldn't afford it, and then to have him sneak off alone." "And then if once in a dog's age he did condescend to go with me anywhere in the evening. I should'ut like to be left to pick my way along the slippery places, at the risk of breaking my neck, he walking along unconsciously by my side, I'm of a dependent, clinging nature, and I need the protection of a strong arm.

"Lizzie, this is all nonsense. "I'm the youngest in our family, and perhaps I've been spoiled. At all events, I know it would break my heart to have my husbaud vent all the ill-temper which he conceals from the world on my defenceless head. "But, Lizzie, I promise you that I "Oh, yes, Fred; I know what you are going to say-that you will be different; but May and Nell have told me time and ever lived; no Fred, as a lover, you are just perfect, and I shall hate awfully to give you up. Still, if you are bent on marrying, there are plenty of girls who have not married sisters, or who are not wise enough to profit by their example, it they have. And don't fret about me, for I've no doubt I can find some one to fill Ontario Street, - - Kingston your place -" But before Lizzie had concluded, Fred made for the door, muttering something "unmentionable to ears polite."

"There'" exclaimed Lizzie as the door closed with a bang. "I knew he was no better than the rest. That's the way John and Aleck swear and slam doors, when things don't go just right. He'd make a perfect bear of a husband, but I'm so sorry he came to the point so soon, for he was just a splendid beau' New Brunsnick Fredonian.
