VERY SUGGESTIVE DOCUMENT, INDEED.

We enjoyed the favor of receiving last Saturday the subjoined circular, addressed "Canadian Post, Lindsay," and proceed at once to share it with the public. The whole production has the real Club flavah, crest, caligraphy, envelope and circular, showing that it did not emanate from any ordinary place. There are some notable things in the circular, but it speaks so well for itself that we reserve comment and give it forth to the world n its native simplicity. It is an exact copy, even to the bold faced type, by which special emphasis is given to a phrase, with the exception that we take the liberty of italicising the sentence commencing "whenever a Grit is dead." Our readers will understand that what in Parliamentary reports is called an "ironical hear, hear," is to be said after the "hope" expressed in the concluding line, by these means "to achieve a majority in
