Passing by the fact that to have reflected upon us the odmin of his political crimes has more than tarnished and eclipsed the honour (1) of sending such a man to the Councils of the country, the citizens of Kingston 'want to know' why this grea man has the proverbial ram-rod in his back every time the interests of his own constituency are up for consideration, and yet can so unbend himself to promote the prosperity of other places, even when, as sometimes happens, it is done at our expense ! Not only has he done this thing but he has done it repeatedly, and boasted of it and claimed credit and political support for it. We have his word for i that he was personal instrumental in placing the seat of Government in Ot tawa, and he has again and again 'felici tated himself' and the Ottawa people of the resulting prosperity of that city, an demanded the support of their members in Parhament on that very score. In like manner he made big promises and gave large representation to the British Columbians for a precisely similar reaton. In these and other cases out Kingston he is not too great man to de very small and very strange things upon occasion, in order to gain support in the House. With poor old Kingston, howcase is different. Su sure of the support of her member so long she returns himself to parliament, and so when the people complace of his cold shoulder, and justly charge him with completely ignoring the very existence of their city, except as a mere pocket borough, they are told to be satisfied with their illustrious member's greatness! Surely, to have given such a man our seat in parliament for thirty-four years, is quite our share of unrequited subserviency. If he must go to parliament again, it is high time some other place disfranchised itself for the quite questionable honor of having him for member. The majority by which he was last returned to parliament was surely a sufficient hint that the one-sided verse, and who are in every way compegame was about played out, and that the tent to represent it in Parliament, renpeople of Kingston at length desired a ders the calling of Sir John-a citizen of change with all that that term implies. once, is much more calculated to win the

The true test of a Conservative in the city of Kingston seems to be his willingness to vote for Sir John A Macdonald at all bazards. It is certainly a crucial test for any "thinking man" who feels that his vote is his own, and that when he gives it he would like to give it for the man who he believes has the welfare of his constituency most at heart. To men who are led by party, or who feel satisned that he equal of John A. for wise statesmanship, just legislation, and interest in the borough that has elected him. will never be found again, the test is easy. To those who are out of office and have "expectations" by the return of Sir John to power again, the test is pleasant But to all men who are free and independent, and whose aim in voting is to se cure the good of their country in general, and of their own t. an equal degree with other cities and corporat ons, the test is hard, cial, and one which men who think for themselves cannot submit to.

Suppose one to be a Conservative, and he finds now that Sir John and his party have forsaken the great principles under which he became Conservative, is bound to abide by his principles, should be abandon his principles and fol low a name and a leader ! If he finds that the party called Grit is carrying cut the very principl's that he admired Conservatism, and to which he adhered and that a large majority of the electors of Canada approve of these principles, and therefore anstain this Grit party in power. and if he finds a'so that Sir John A. and a certain party that are out of power. What care they about their member's but anxious to get in, change their tacgreatness (even if all his worshippers altics, and form themselves into a factious lege upon this point were true) if the Oppo-ition, that does nothing but critinotoriety of the man is to be used, as it cize and find fault with a Government has been, as the apology for his contempthat is doing what they profess they tible and contemptuous neglect of his have done well for our country, ishe to join with such facti us Opposition and cry out with the party "Vire le Sir John. and use his vote and influence for himbecause he is out and wunts to get in. and because leading individuals in his party want to get him in ! Really, we think not, and this is why we consider

"voting for Sir John" a very hard test for an independent Conservative. In the first place, we are satisfied that Sir John ought not to be elected for Kingston again. His long lease of power resulting in so little benefit to this cityhis own little kingdom-does not greatly recommend him; the fact that Kingston has many resident citizens of wealth and sions, whose prosperity is ovexistent with and your friends, and try one bottle of and bound up in that of the city and esce sentinuance of the prosperity which has so recently been inaugurated in the ancient city. In the second place, supposing a Conservative does not agree with Sir John in his "Protection edectrines," is he to throw his convictions saids and vote scording to Sir John's bidging, because he has recently discovered that this is the only hobby upon which he has the remotest chance of riding ever again into power? We should think not.

AN EXPOSURE.

the signature of Sir John Macdonald, the public expenditure for 1877-78, is placed at $26,203,000. We stated in a recent issue that these were false figures. We find, upon examination that the statement of Sir John Macdonald is an impodent falsehood. In the first place the actual expenditure for 1877-78 will not be known until July. In the second place this sum ($26,203,000) is made by the disgraceful and dishonorable trick of addordinary expenditure. There is no likelihood that the actual expenditure will exceed that of 1876-77, which was $23,-

Last evening a musical and dramatic entertainment was given by the pupils of the Convent De Notre Dame, and it was a most successful and pleasant affair. The hall was not nearly large enough for the crowds who attended; many, we are informed, went away unable to gain admission. His Lordship Bishop O'Brien, Vicar-General Farrelly, and other clergy of the R. C. Charch were present, and during the evening Sir John Macdonald presented himself. The music, both voca and instrumental, was very fine, and the dialogues and dramas were excellently performed. The Colligan Case-Orange Procession and Decision-Fenian Raid-The Harney Case.

(By Telegaph To-day.) Montreal, May 19 .- At the Colligan inquest yesterday several parties were examined, including George Elliott, one of the five from the Orange concert who passed Wellington Bridge under the fire. He said one of the attacking party gave a whistle, and firing b gan from the sheds and the railway tack. Mr. Orr Oranges, had, the witness said, a souffle with an assailant on the bridge, but got away from him. He did not see Orr fire his revolver, nor did Orr tell him he had fired. One pistol, fired by a man in the crowd, flashed almost in witness face.

The 'True Witness,' having anounced that some of the five had lett the city, they have desired the press to contradict the statement. A policeman, named Legget, testified that he met, that night, a young man named Page, who had received a blow from a skull cracker. ANTI-TAXATIONIST GOVERNMENT: IMPORTANT ANNOUNCEMENT

Our reporter leatned this afternoon from Honorable Mr. Thibaudeau, who has just returned from Quebec, that the Government have despatched notices to all the members, including Mr. J.J. Ourran, the Secretary, of the Codification Commission excepting Judge Belanger dispensing with their services. With regard to the judge who presides at the Commission, no action will be taken until it is fully decided whether or not the codification of the Provincial statutes will proceed or an end be put to it. Decided action will also be taken with regard to the railway commission, which, however, cannot be abolished until the opening of Parliament, it having been established by an act of Parliament, However these commissioners are to be removed, as well as the Chief Engineers, and our reporter learns that Mr. Walter Shanly has already been appointed to the position of Chief Engineer of the road. He will report directly to the Government. A great saving will thus at once be brought about.
