THE "CREAT COBBLER."

Last Thursday evening, at the meeting held in behalf of the endowment Queen's College, Mr. George Kirkpatrick referred in warning terms to the "gob. bling propensity" of the city of Toronto. He said that, as Secretary of the Board of Trustees for the Collegiate Institute, he knew what difficulty had been experienced in preventing Toronto from monopolizing the whole of the money accruing from the sale of the public lands which had been appropriated for the purposes of higher education! This fact is significant, coming, as it does, from the member for Frontenac, who is known to be a worship per of the Toronto knight, John A. Macdonald, and who would gladly elect him as member for Kington; but Mr. K. did not think of the "long range" of that truth, or he would never have uttered it. We and others in this city are doing all we can to warn the people of Kingston against the usurpations of the "great gobbler," Torento. High Schools, Arts College, Medical School, everything would be taken from us for the upbuilding of Toronto could the Torontonians do it Fitteen members of parliament are now comprised within its greedy bounds, and not satisfied with these, it would add to the number the member for Kingston. Voters of Kingston, see to it, and be determined for once, that the member for Kingston shall never be a citizen of Toronto, although Sir John A Macdonald may re main there till the end of his days.

It is not likely that the British people will be awerved from their course even by the potent suggestions of the influential local organ of the Tory taxatiomats.

THE BARLLY QUESTION.

Protectionists love to humbug the peoprice for what they happened to have. By the time another barley season came round the news of "a higher price for barley" would have caused all the farmers in the country to sow more, and thus there would be an increased amount of barley for sale. This extra quantity would have the effect of lowering the price at once; and by the time the second or third barley season came round barley, and it would be a "drug" on the with the East, but they never dreamed of The cars traverse the most picturesque Apprehensions increase that the Em-

A LINE FROM SHAVINGS.

DEAR SIR :- The writer in the News of last week, styling himself "Common Sense," in giving vent to his spleen, has exhibited to the public an exemplification of the spirit which characterizes the Conservative party in their struggle for political supremacy.

If the letter of "Shavings" was distasteful to him-if it contained twaildle which, to his distorted mind, was unjust or untruthful, why did not "Common Sense" exercise a little of that commodity and reply to it in the sober language of a gentleman ! Why did he "Shavings" and shoot with his Literary fact that the victim of his misraken vengeance is butlet proof is no mitigation of the offence committed. But I do not wish to add to the discomfort of "Common Sense. It must have been horribly galling ment. when he found that he had pitched his hand-grenade through the wrong parlor window on Princess street. He had, no doubt, anticipated the pleasure of annihila ing a worthy alderman, and then shouting for the admiration of the public the exultant exclamation of the Virginian nigger: "There! didn't I told you so?" No: withstanding the amount of twaddie, etc., contained in the letter of ing one Conservative rat out of his hole; ston's representation in Parliament within the bounds of decorum.

"Common Sense" evidently has not sufficient sense to know that in slinging envenomed ink around he damages the cause he wishes to befriend. If the in dustrial classes of Kingston had not beore been fully aware of the spirit of arrogance which marks the Conservative element, the letter of "Common Sense" Pacific Railway, within a period of ten would tend to open their eyes to it. The vindictive malice which runs through this epistle is the same that led a great Conservative member to curse, and swear, and shake his fis s lately, in the House of Parliament; and when people get malicions, make false accusations, swear and shake their fists, it is a sure sign that gress. they and the cause for which they are
