SANFORD'S RADICAL CURE For CATARRH A purely vegetable distillation entirely unlike all other remedies.

IN the preparation of this remarkable remedy every herb, plant, and bark is subjected to distillation, whereby the essential medical principle is obtained in vapor, condensed and bottled. What remains in the still is inert, valueless, and totally unfit for use in an organism so delicate as the nasel passages. Yet all snuth are insoluble compounds of wood, fibre; all tinetures, saturated solutions. SANFORD'S RADICAL CURE

Is a local and constitutional remedy, and is applied to the hasal passages by insuffiction, thus allaying influention and pain and at once correcting. Internally a sministered, it acts upon the organs of circulation, beeps the skin moist, and neutralizes the acid poison that has found its way into the stomach and thence into the blood. Thus a cure progresses in both directions, and it does not seem possible for human ingenuity to devise a more rational treatment.

ment. C SURPRISING CURE. Gentlemen. — About twelve years ago, while travelling with Father Kemp's Old Folks Concert Troupe as a tenor singer, I took a severe cold and was laid up at Newark, N. J. This cold brought on a severe attack of Catarrh, which I battled with every known remedy for four weeks without avail, and was finally obliged to give up a most desirable position and return home, unable to sing a note. For three years afterwards I was unable to sing at all. The first attack of Catarrh had left my hasal orman and throat so sensitive that the slightest cold all. The first attack of Catarrh had left my hasal orgams and throat so sensitive that the slightest cold would bring on a fresh attack, leaving me prostrated. In this way I continued to suffer. The last strack, the severest I ever had, was terrible. I suffered the most accruciating pain in my head, was so hoarse as to be scarcely able to speak, and conghed incessantly. I thought I was going into quick consumption, and I firmly believe that had these symptoms continued without relief they would have rendered me an easy victim. When in this distressing condition, I commenced the use in this distressing condition, I commenced the use of Banford's Radical Curr for Catarria, very reluctantly, I confess, as I had tried all the advertised remedies without benefit. The first dose of this wonderful medicine gave me the greatest relicf. It is hardly possible for one whose head aches, eyes It is hardly possible for one whose head aches, eyes sche, who can scarcely articulate distinctly on account of the choking accumulations in his throat, to realize how much relief I obtained from the first application of Sanyond's Radical Curr. Under its influence, both internal and external, I rapidly recovered, and by an occasional use of the remedy since, have been entirely free from Catarth, for the first time in twelve years.

Respectfully yours,

GEO. W. HOLBROOK.

These Plasters have now been before the public for two years, and, notwithstanding the immense number of remedies in the form of liniments, lotions, pain-curers, and ordinary plasters, they have steadily increased in sale and met with universal approval, as evidenced by over one thousand unsolicited testimonials in our possession. Many remarkable cases have been certified to by well-known citizens in all parts of the United States, copies of which will be sent free of charge to any one desiring them. Improvements, in many ways, have been made, as suggested by experience and use, until it is believed that they are now perfect in every respect, and the best plaster in the world of medicine. All we ask from every sufferer in the land is a single trial. The price is 25 cents, although the cost is double that of any other plaster. But, notwithstanding the efforts of the proprietors to make the best plaster in the world for the least money, any similar remedy can be bought, numbers of unscrappious dealers will be found ready to substitute others. His form was bent, and his gait was slow.
His long thin hair was as white as snow.
But a wonderful twinkle shone in his eye; And he sang every night as he went to bed,
"Let us be happy down here below;
The living should live though the dead be dead.
Said the jolly old pedagogue, long ago.

He taught his scholars the rule of three.
Writing and reading and history. too;
He task the little ones up on his knee.
For a kind old heart in his breast had he. And the wants of the littlest child he knew, Learn when your young," he often said. "There's much to enjoy down here below; Life for the living and rest for the dead," Said the jolly old pedagegue, long ago, With the stupidest boys he was kind and coo

(Hon. Mr Laurier at Lindsay.)

Twas a glorious world down here be'ow;

Gently, gently he bowed his head: There were angels waiting for him. I know de was sure of his happiness living or dead, This jolly old pedagogue, long ago, THE TRADE QUESTION.

Select the Tories from all parts of the country-from Ontario, from Quebec, from Nova Scotia, from New Brunswick -and let them endeavor together to frame a tariff, and it would be just as impossible for them to agree upon a tariff as it would be possible for the seventeen a review in the Bosi de Boulogne at wives of the late Brigham Young to agree together. (Loud laughter.) It 1868-June 10-Prince Michael of was said that poor Brigham, in order to have a little perce in his household, was obliged to resort to the expedient of building a separate cottage for each of his seventeen wives. (Renewed laughter.) If they could separate the protectionists of the different Provinces-if they could separate the different classes and give to 1873-January 1.-President Marales, each its own little tariff-then they might perhaps be able to agree. But suppose they could frame a general protective tariff to suit the manufacturers of Outario and Quebee, the farmers of Ontario, and the miners of Nova Scotia, would they get the manufacturers to agree among themselves ! Not at all. During his last election he met a manufacturer of rope, who said he was badly treated by the Lehmann, the Socialist. Lehmann, it Government; while they gave to all other will be remembered, fired three shots at manufacturers a protection of 171 per cent. he was only given five per cent. Well," he asked the gentleman, "you want an increase in the tariff ?" course I do," was the reply; "but I am not hard to please, and if your Government gives me ton per cent. I will be satisfied." A few days afterwards he met al and Charitable purposes in 1868, with a satisfied." The tax vision from any cause. The American Epo was now aeventy two cents on every bushel of barley used in or sent out of the country as malt, and that it was no wonder that the farmers had hard times whether induced by scrofulous origin or other wise, weakness or defect of vision, diminished in Canada. He says there are many farmers who have from 700 to 1,000 bushels of barley in their barns and do not know what to Jo with it, and expect to have to feed it to their pigs. He expects the Government will next tax the flour they get ground for the use of their families from wheat grown by them- and disinfectant. It is composed of material

He (Mr. Laurier) suspected that this complaint had its origin in the fertile brain of the editor who wrote it, and who, in order to give it an appearance of credibility, put it into the mouth of "an old Grit farmer." Be that as it might the words' expressed the true sentiment of that Tory editor and his party; and what were the sentiments that were expressed there? Why, that it would be a pressed there? Why, that it would be a many names who speak and write concerning grievance, an injustice, and almost, he it:might say, a tyranny, that the Government should impose a tax upon the flour that the people get ground from wheat grown by themselves and for their own consumption. Well, he (Mr. Laurier) quite agreed that it would be a grievance and a tyranny if the Government were ever to be so rash as to put a tax on the flour which the people get, from wheat the flour which the people get from wheat the flour that the flour tha from which the people get from wheat grown by themselves. The farmers of Ontario grow their own wheat and have their own flour, and it would be an infamy if a tax were placed on that wheat Pleasantest. If, then, the Tory farmer of Ontario thought it a tyranny and injustice to put a tax on the bread he ate, did he think it would be right to put a tax on the bread that was eaten in the Province of Quebec! It was said that a duty on wheat and flour would increase the profits of the farmers of this Province. No doubt it would, but it would do so by making the price of them dearer than they are now to others. He was aure that the people of Ontario did not want to wring their profits and wealth out of the Province of Quebec by taking the bread out of their mouths, and that they were prepared to condemn any such selfish policy.
