There is one respect in which Mr Currie's remark is true, though not, of course, in its intended sense. The Liberal party since its accession to power has shown itself much, more disposed and determined than the Conservative party itself to conserve whatever is good in our system of Go vernment and in the resources of the country and its people without for a moment abnegating those fundamental principles of progress and Reform which have ever been the distinguishing characteristic of the great Liberal party the world over. But, taking Mr. Currie at his word, if the Canadian Reformers have all become Conservatives, and all the old-time Conservatives remain such arare and elegant opportunity is now presented of burying the party hatchet and of affecting a general union of all in support of the present Government, and for the promotion of the country's peace | went down the river on the steamer be true then the present so-termed Li- pupils and teachers and friends of the beral Government is decidly a Conserva- Watertown High School-were diaptive one, and hence a Cabinet after pointed because the managers changed his own heart and that of his co-Conser the route and did not call at Kingston, vatives, and therefore should command a place which many desired to visit. universal and cordial Consess port.
