Complimentary Supper.

The Tilsonburg Lileral of this week says : "One of the most pleasing affairs that we have attended for some time was held at the Royal Alfred Hotel, on Fri. day evening last. It was a farewell supper got up in honor of Mr. H. H. Graham, who is about severing his connection with the Federal Bank here, to take a more responsible position in a branch of the same bank in Kingston. About thirty persons took part in the affair, amongst whom were nearly al! of our business men. * * * * All the speakers spoke in flattering terms of Mr. Graham, and testified to the faithful and agreeable manner in which he had performed the duties of his position. Mr. Cowan, the manager of the bank, also paid a high tribute to his character and disposition.' In another part of the same paper we find the following: Last Saturday a number of the members of the Lisgar Lacrosse Club presented Mr. H. H. ## Canadian Monthly.

The October number of the 'Canadian Monthly' has an interesting look about it, and its appearance, or the im pression gained by a cursory glance at its pages is more than borne out by a careful reading of the contents. The magazine was always good, but since it has been published by the Rose-Belford company, and has passed under the editorship of Mr George Stewart, Jr., it has apparently gained in point of literary excellence. One thing it has the advantage of-the benefit of a large corps of very able wri ters, whose contributions are possessed shich serve to make the articles so at tractive and meritorious. The contents of the number before us are interesting in every particular. The 'Canadian Monthly' should be welcome in the house-

Allen.

This insinuation, no doubt intended to apply to this journal, is worthy of the man who has been jumping the fences. who has blown hot and cold, and who now acts like one that does not exactly of more or less of the vim and pungency know what to do to ease his conscience and make peace with those with whom he has had political differences. Mr. Allen may have been told that for newspaper editors to write communications and publish them as coming from outside sources may be no uncommon thing - that is in the office which he now floods with long winded essays on Sir John's goods ness and Tupper's oratorical and intellectual power-but the innuendo that the jetters exposing Cooke's irregularities and Allen's hypocrisy were planned in this office is as false as some of the other statements which have appeared in our contemporary in the same connection. Mr. Allen may have left his scabbard at home when he entered this contest, and he may have concluded to deal out knocks as hard as he is capable of administering, but at the same time he must remember that the WHIG has unsheathed its tomahawk, and that it wants no quar ter when a collision of forces occurs. Mr. Allen has placed himself in an awkward predicament, and he has only to thank himself for the consequences of his attacks. When the WHIG strikes an oppo-

The Kiss of Peace. Fishwives and other market women have long enjoyed a reputation for trucalence of speech and magner, not only in England, but in most parts of the world A Russian colonel, who has lately been appointed chief police-master of one of the most populous towns of the Baltic provinces, has hit upon a very novel but truly Oriental plan for the civilization of these irritable dames. He knew that preaching a moral homily would be of no use whatever where the hearers were two women who were cursing one another at the rate of 120; words a minute, and who were only prevented from tearing one another's faces by the strong arm of the police. 'You must be locked up in one and the same cell until you have kissed each other.' This was invariably the sentence of the new magistrate in every case of female broil which was brought before him. He knew very well that al though kissing one another is a habit with male Russians, it is not much in use with the woman of Muscovy, least of all with the fishwives. The excited ladies were hurried off, railed for a time louder than ever, protested that they would die sooner than give this humiliating sign of reconciliation, and then, after a few hours confinement, called the gaoler, and in formed him that they had 'kissed.' the conciliatory act was effected in dark, for the sake of procuring libery and without the presence of witnesses the fish-wives were informed that they must repeat the kiss publicly in the open market-place. A small fine was taken from each, and they were marched into the mercantile areopagus, and were then compelled in the midst of their sisters in trade, to kiss each other three times, and to give a public promise of future peaceableness. At the end of six weeks, during which period this curious penalty was frequently imposed, not a single outbrake of a market wife battle occurred within the jurisdiction of the humorous police-master.

RECOUNT OF THE BALLOTS.

This morning Mr. Justice Rainville gave his decision upon the application of Mr. B. Devlin, Q.C., for a re-count of the ballots cast at the election in Montreal Centre, in which he was one of the candidates, and to declare the election null. The judgment was couched in the following terms: Having heard the petitioner on his application asking for a recount of the ballots or votes polled in favor of the candidates for the election of a member to represent the electoral district of Montreal Centre, and having also heard M.P. Ryan, Esq., by his counsel, John J. Curran, the said M.P. Ryan and John J. Curran being present, as well as the Electoral Clerk, Arthur Vendelinde, examined the proceedings and deliberated; considering that by provisions of Section 55 of the Federal Election Act of 1878, the Deputy Returning Officers must put the ballots counted, those rejected and those spoiled in separate envelopes. and to return them to the Returning Officer:

The People Want Proof, There is no medicine prescribed by physicians, or sold by druggists, that carries such evidence of its success and supperior virtue as BOSCHER'S GERMAN SYRUP for severe Coughs, Colds settled on the breast, Consumption, or any disease of the Throat and Lungs. A 1-roof of that fact is that any person affli ted. can get a Sample Bottle for 10 cents and try its superior effect before buying the regular size at 75 cents. It has lately been introduced in this country from Germany, and its wonderful cures are astonishing every one that use it. Three doses will relieved any case. Try i

A BOLD CRIME. - Detroit, Sept. 28, Daniel Howard, a railroad clerk, crossed the river to Windsor yesterday upon a spree.
