ASSEMBLY of the LC.B. Union at City Hall. "LOTTIE" and Company at City Half, 8 p.m. Masting of Masonic Committees at 7:30 p.m.

Mas HACKSTT, Tandy Bros., and Professor

We are glad to learn that Hon. Mr. Campbell's health has improved and he is on the high road to complete recovery. We are told he will not leave the Government. All right. We have been suspected of entertaining objection to Tory Government any way. The suspicion is well founded. We do not at all relish such a fact as the existence of the present Ministry, for example. If, however, we must have Tory Government there is no reason why Hon. Mr. Campbell shouldn't be in it. In recent issues of the WHIG we have specified and urged his claims to ministerial recognition, especially at the hands of the present Premier, and we are glad to learn that failing health is not likely to deprive him of the rewards of office for all his eminent services to the Tory cause in general and to its Chieftain in particular.

Why are Tory organs so reticent about the National Policy? Are they apprehensive of the hollow insincerity of their Leaders! The latter are full of brave words as to what they still intend to do for the country by this means. Str John in Quebec, Bowell at Belleville, and and Mr. Anglin as speaker of the House. others of the new Ministry, have reit- Hon. Mr. Mackenzie did simple justice erated the intention of the new Government to give the country a national policy. What more do our Tory contemporaries require to rally their weakening faith in protection possibilities? Truth to tell, we share their misgivings, and Mackenzie would be the last man in the their manifest want of faith in their own leaders, and we do not doubt that the have simply sought to point out the fact time will soon dawn when the worst fears that while our Montreal contemporary in this regard will be realized. Meantime, however, let Government organs opiniou condemned the late Government put on a cheerful courage. So long as for a certain alleged remissness, their Ministers themselves so stoutly assert successors, from whom much more was their good intentions, it is only fair that expected, have done far less. And this the ministerial press should give them the Pest admits in so many words. the necessary backing. The backing the point at issue, therefore, we are quite lodge lately organized in the planet Merdown will come on in good time.

Mr. White, the alleged member for East Hastings, would like to be consisidered very dauntless for issuing a sort of challenge to Mr. Aylesworth to fight the battle over again at the polls. Why should Mr. Aylesworth by consenting to such a proposition throw doubt on the validity of his own election? Mr. White has no honest right to the seat he holds. The very offer above referred to is a virtual acknowledgment of this fact. Mr. Aylesworth was elected, and so declared Mr. White. Mr. Aylesworth is very a Tory Minister. In this case it to as properly seeking in the courts redress out, curiously enough, that the private from what he deems to be a flagrant in- secretary of the last Premier becomes the justice, and will not be bluffed from his Deputy of the present one-Sir John purpose by any bluster like that out of having taken the office of Minister of the litical capital.

FENIANISM.

The reorganization of Fenianism on the other side has utterly failed to create a flutter of the excitement such a fact would once have occasioned in Canada. The people of this country know too well that the periodical revivals of this fraud are only the various phases of the internal squabbles which are constantly going on within Fenian circles, to be alarmed recent announcements. The late shuffle of the Fenian cards may be simply explained to be a sort of change of adminis tration and the occasion to the Treasury benches of a new set of holders of the purse strings of the Fenian funds. Rather, it is the restoration of an old ring to office. O'Donovan Rossa and his skirmishing fund have been superseded by the 'Stephens' wing of the Brotherhood, who are now to take a turn at the management of the finances of the organisation. Fenianism has had it to day. It is tabooed and repudiated by all respectgreat promiser have been so utterly deable trishmen, at any rate it is thoroughly scouted by those of Canada. Referring to it recently the Post (Iriah Catholic) of Montreal very sensibly says:

CENTRE HURON. SPEECH FROM THE HON. ALEX, MAC-

KENZIE. What crushing effect the downfall his Government in 1872 had upon Sir ohn A Macdonald. Though the farce of re-electing him leader of his party was gone through with and a dinner given him, his first appearance in the public was of the most dejected kind. How different with Mr. Mackenzie! On Saturday he made his first pblic appearance on the political platform since the reverse of his party took place. He was brimful of mirth and in the best of spirits. The picture Mr. Mackenzie drew of the Tories who in the past have gone down on their very knees and begged to be allowed to to return the office from which they could have been ejected had nomination in Centre Huron on Saturday, Hon. Alex. Mackenzie, (the cheers being very hearty)addressd the audience. This was his first public appearance since his defeat. He hoped that no one those signs of despondency that that the Conservatives attribute to him. only acted to secure the proper rights of all and the prevention of the dominancy of any church or party. (Loud applause.) The Conservatives are afraid of meeting Mr. Cartwright in Parliament, as is shown by the flooding of Huron by all classes of emissaries. (Cheers.) Still the Conservatives say the Ministers should not be opposed. They know they cannot defeat Mr. Cartwright in Center Huron but in order to be revenged on him they are willing to do anything and everything to make his election as difficult as possible. Had Mr. Cartwright not given so much of his time during the general election to the country at large, he would not now be seeking the suffrages of the people of Huron-he would be the member for Lennox. (Applause.) It had been said that had the Reformers made concessions in the way of a Protective policy, they would not have been defeated. But he held that the man who was capable of temporizing with a great principle was not worthy of the support of the people. (Loud cheers) Why, if the party sought only office, they could have had it often in the course of the past twenty years. Sir John, when defeated on the question of constitutional changes . afterwards changed around and said they were necessary. Why, he went to the Reformers on his hands and knees and said that he was willing to vote that constitutional changes were necessary. "Only," said Sir John, "let us stay office and we will do whatever you want. (Laughter and applause.) Thirsting for office, indeed! Mr. Mackenzie sald they wanted him to go into the government in 1865, but he felt that he could not go in there and keep his hands clean. George Brown went in, and he barely escaped in There is not a measure Sir John swould not adopt to keep office. He has adopted almost everything he ever opposed. Still we do not care to be charged with 'attacking' the latter when tended or attempted on the part of the WHIG. We may have differed with our contemporary, 'tis true, as, for example, men now in power and those they supplanted, the Post supporting and we opposing the change from a Liberal to a Tory Ministry. But in reference to the personnel of the present Cabinet, we are utterly unconscious of any offensive movement as against our contemporary In the double-barrelled reply of the Post to the Kingston dailies, the precedence has been very properly accorded to the News, since the term 'attack' would perhaps apply to its animadversions upon the Post. We appeal to our fyles, and challenge the reproduction of anything deserving of the appellation from our columns. In order to 'go for' the WHIG. therefore, the Post has been compelled to the pastime of knocking him over. After demolishing the Kingston News the Post "Then we have the WHIG attacking us for somewhat similiar reasons, merely substituting the Hon. Mr. Mackenzie for Sir John A. Macdonald. There is an obvious reason for the rumours that Mr. Buckingham, the lately appointed Deputy Minister of the Interior, will be deposed from his office, although he is eminently qualified for the discharge of its duties. At the for mation of the latter Hon. Mesars, Macdonald (present Lieut.-Gov. of Ontario) and Scott were in the Government and Mr. Anglin in the chair of Parliament. How now! A solitary representative of the complainants has been taken into the Cabinet in the person of Hon.
