REMINDERS.

OPENING of Public Night School at 7 p m. LECTURE by Mr. J. A. Allen at Court House

' The fact that a Liberal has been elected from Peterborough to the British House of Commone by a large majority has given rise to some enumerations and vestigations which go to show that, not. withstanding the apparent and noisy popularity of the Jingo party and policy. an undercurrent of Liberal reaction has been quietly going on. An analysis o all the casual contests held since the general election furnishes an exhibit highly favourable to the Liberal party. a Apropos to the above it is said that Lord Derby will throw in his influence with the Liberal party at next election.

Hon. Mr. Tilley is the forlorn hope the temperance supporters of the present Cabinet. His influence in this direction will be nil, as the career of the party in power has proved, and will again. Mr Tilley was in the last Tory Government, but it was not till the Liberals succeeded to power that any practical move was made in the direction of wholesome Temperance Legislation. As against his colleagues, and in opposition to the dominant feeling of the Tory party in this regard, Mr. Tilley will simply prove t 1 be the self - same Temperanc cypher he was in the Pacific Scradal Govern-

The late attempt on the life of King Alfouso will likely lead to the formation of a sort of mutual defence association among the monarchs of Europe against the intrigues of Communism and the bullets of its assass:ne. The former have been busily interchanging despatches as to how best to repress the Socialism which seems to have marked them for its victims. Our own Prince Alfred was wise in his generation when he declined with thanks the throne of Greece. The assertion "uneasy lies the head which wears a crown," is receiving fresh force from the terror inspired by these hardfaced would-be regicides. ----

The Halifax Herald says 'the door o the party is open' to all who are discontented with the inauguration, so far, of Tory government. Before the elections the help of all was eagerly utilized to win showing to the door all who are dissatis- anything but the most cordial relations ed protectionists a la Phipps, Irish Cathoit s, and all those on whom the fact is be ginning to dawn like a revelation that, in transferring the reins of power to the reckless hands of Sir John Macdonald, a serious, if not an irreparable, public blurder has been perpetrated.

Our local contemporary, true to its self-assigned speciality of laying bare the imaginary inconsistencies of the Reform party, lately charged the latter with hypocrisy in the matter of Catholic representation, and cited in proof of the opposition to be offered to Hon. John O'Connor's reelection. It turns out that this is the very thing that Reformers are refraining from doing. It is also becoming probable that Mr. Tilley will be allowed to walk the course in St. John. A liberal determination we cannot but regretes pecially in view of the serious doubt that still overhangs his first election. This intended magnanimity of Reformers is being requited in advance by the most malignant opposition to the return of Hon Mr. Cartwright in the unquestionably strong Reform riding of Centre Huron.

What would not the plague-smitten people of the South have given for one week of our bracing winter temperature the return of which is regarded by some of us with such aversion ! There the appearance of the first frost been hal ed with demonstrations of the most frau tic delight as the harbingers of long absent health and happiness. As far South as these frosts have extended, so far has the progress of the dreadful epidemic at length been arrested. Worse than the too confident indifference. ordinary mortalities of war have been the ravages of this death-dealing scenrge. In New Orleans alone, since the fever broke out, there have been no fewer than 3,700 deaths from this cause out of a total of 12,500 cases. When the slight frosts which the Southern sufferers have welcomed as their only salvation are working such wonders of improvement. it is safe to say that a single day of real Canadian winter would put an effectual extinguisher on the dreadful depredations of Yellow Jack. Among the couple of planks wide would be better manifold blessings which Canadians too thour desaly enjoy, that of our glorious and nealth inspiring climate should not be forgotten or despised.

The conduct of the Mail in attacking a gentleman of Hon. Mr. Crooks' untarnished personal honor, is dastardly to the last degree. THE POLICY OF POSTPONEMENT.

Why did the Tory press clamour for the resignation of the Mackenzie Ministry if it was not for the pretended reason that the country was suffering from the delay of the National Policy? It was certainly with the avowed intention of applying speedy if not instant remedy that the Tory leaders induced the electors to replace them in power. Now that they are snugly ensconced in office, however, the necessity for protection is far less urgent than it used to be with these gentry. times of great emergency, such as the present financial and industrial crisis was declared to be, it is the British practice to summon parliament to meet in extraordinary session. So far are our present rulers from imitating this Imperial example that they propose to stave off the meeting of the new Parliament till next

February and leave the struggling industries and the suffering country to struggle and to suffer on till then. When the existence of the last Tory Government was threatened, and it was tottering to its fall under the super incumbent weight of its own corruptions, special sessions of parliament were quite possible, and they were utilized to stave off, if possible, the hour of governments; dissolution. Now, not merely a Cabinet, but the whole country has been declared to be in imminent danger, in fact to lie prostrate with commercial depression, So, at any rate, say the men of the new government, and they alone possess the charm which can restore prosperity. it not criminal to the last degree, under

Talk of this on the wheel indeed! Tory postponers precisely answer to that description. They have come to the surface on the wheel of for tune and they are helplessly but hope fully waiting its further revolutions t bring about that prosperity which they well know their vaunted nostrums are so powerless to accomplish.

The return to Canada this week of Mr Sandford Fleming, chief enquirer of the Canadian Pacitic Railway after a leave of absence in Europe, will afford the Tory organs a tempting opportunity to revive the old slander about that fictitious disagreement between himself and Hon. Mr. the triumph. The majority being safe Mackenzie. To be sure the ex-Premier and large the mask is deffed, and Tory denied at the time that between himself tyranny and intolerance are asserted by and Mr. Fleming there had ever existed fied. The door must be thrown wide open It will be remembered, too, that Mr. to permit the egress of already disappoint. Fleming himself wrote a letter (for publication) to the Hon. Mr. Mackenzie most explicitly denying the petty slander, and avowing the uninterruptedly friendly relations that had characterized their official intercourse. All this was well enough as a blind to hood wink simple minde people. Against the asseverations of both men the Mail and its minions can now put the circumstantial evidence that Mr. Fleming temporarily left the Canadian public service when the Hon. Mr. Mackenzie was Premier and has returned to Canada now that Sir John Macdonald has been restored to power. In the face of such an all-convincing FACT it will be universally regarded as simply idle and foolish for the alleged disputants to pretend to know whether they have always been on good terms with each other or

> The Ottawa Free Press to the contrar, notwithstanding, we can see neither inconsistency nor impropriety in Hon. Mr. Cartwright's advice to the Liberal party to buckle on the armour and to close up the ranks in preparation for the ensuing contest for supremacy in the Local House. Hon. Mr. Cartwright visited Kingston the Saturday evening prior to the election, and delivered a telling address to the electors of this city; not, will be remembered, as the then Finance Minister, but as a simple elector of Kingston. As an individual member of th Liberal party he has an equal right sound a note of warning to his fellow Liberals against being again caught napping and paying the price of victory for a

A CLEAN RECORD. - Not one member of the Mackenzie Cabinet is provided for not one has received a Governorship, or a Judgeship, or any other high or lucrative position. Having done what was absolutely necessary, they withdrew from the position to which the voice of a deluded people has called other men, and, a so with drawing, carry with them the respect of all whose good opinion is of the slightest value. There may be room to doubt whether they have done their whole duty to their friends. It is certain that, acting strictly within their constitutional right and following the highest precedents, they might have done much more for their party and their fr.ends than they have done, but in the last days of their administration, as throughout their whole term of office, they have set an example of purity, self-denial, regard for principle and respect for public opinion of which the Liberal party in all, the provinces must feel proud, and which even their bitterest onemies must admire, even though party considerations prevent the expression of that admiration. - St. John Freeman (Irish Catholic).

WHAT POLICS MAGISTRATE CARLL THINKS OP THEM.

Wednesday the keeper of a secondhand store on John street named Mrs. Blumenstiel, appeared before the Police Magistrate as a witness in the Watson larceny cases, and said that she had bought a $15 overcoat for $2 and a pair is sued for, viz, $10,000, and the cost of of buckskin gloves worth 50 for 15 cents. The statement astonished Mr. Cabill and nduced bim to state that it would be very ling much better for the community if there were no such shops permitted, but being | in existence they should be regulated by some law. In the old country parties keeping such places were known as receivers, and when caught in a violation of the laws of justice and honor, were punished more severely than the thief rom the fact that such places fostered and encouraged crime. Without these receivers he believed that the thieving community would be greatly reduced in numbers. In proportion to population Hamilton has probably more second-hand stores than any other city on the continent, and, strange to say, they are not chants of this city, will sell their stock at TORONTO under police surveilance and pay no icense fee.
