THE EYE, EAR and THROAT Successfully Treated with

SANFORD'S RADICAL CURE. SUCCESS is the test of merit, and success in the breatment of Catarrhal Affections, after so many miserable failures, means undoubted specific curative properties in the remedy used. Does Saryonn's Rannal Curz for Catarrh possess such properties? The evidence, in the shape of unsolicited testimonials from the most respectable people in all stations of life, must be conclusive on this point. Never, we believe, in the history of popular medicines has such valuable testimony been offered, freely offered, in favor of any remedy than that in the possession of the proprietors of Rangon of the country daily admit its superiority over any method of cure known to the regular medical profession, but shun the publicity incidental to a published statement. Hence the testimonials in our possession represent but a small part of those withheld for the reason mentioned. The following unsolicited testimonial from Hanny Wells, Esq., of Wells, Fargo & Co.'s Express, is an outspoken indorsement of which we are justly proud.

INVALUABLE. Messra. Where & Potter, Wholesale Druggists, Boston, Mass.: Gentlemen,—I have for some months filt it a duty that I own to suffering humanity to write you, stating the great benefit that I have derived from the use of Banyond's Radical Curn you Catabul. For more than 20 years I have been afflicted with this very troublesome complaint. I have tried all the remedies that I could find, but without material or permanent benefit. Last fall the disease had arrived at that state that I must have relief or die. The entire membranous system had become so inflamed, and the stomach so disordered, that it was a doubtful matter whether I had become so inflamed, and the stomach so disordered, that it was a doubtful matter whether I could go to the Pacificconst, or if I did go whether I should live to come back or not. I saw an advertisement of this medicine, and although being very incredulous about specifics or nostrums of any kind, yet in sheer desperation I tried this, and was at once benefited by it. The changes of climate, a chronic disease of the liver, and my age—over 70—may prevent my cutire restoration, but the benefit I derive from its daily use is to me invaluable, and I am hoping to be completely cured, and at last arrive at a respectable old age.

If this statement of my case can be of any service to those afflicted as I have been, and enable you to bring this remedy into more general use, especially pring this remody into more general use, especially on the Pacific coast (where it is much needed), my object in writing this note will be obtained.

The Montreal Gazette of to-day takes comfort out of Mr. Cartwrights' return. It thinks the opposition to the ex-Finance Minister a mistake, and it says his election in a constituency so pronounced in its political views that it was considered quite safe to open it, could not in any sense after the position. Mr. Cartwright's presence in Parliament is more important to the Conservatives than to his own friends. With such a majority as that which sustains the Government, a vigorous opposition is above all things important, not only in the interests of the country, but in the interests of the majority itself. Morecover, the questions which must largely sugage the attention of the newly-elected Parliament are those which specially belong to the Department of Finance, and it is a matter of great moment that the gentleman who was chiefly responsible, for the policy of the last five years, should be in the House of

This was done, when Judge Monk, to the disgust of the prisoner and his counsel, but to the satisfaction of all law-abiding citizens, sentenced him upon his plea of indecent assault to fourteen years in the penitentiary.

Thursday he seemed to be in better spirits than usual, and talked gaily of his hopes and plans for the future. Dur-ing the early part of the afternoon he was in the parlor of his father's residence playing upon the piano. Toward dark he retired to his room, and was accompanied by his mother. They conversed together for a time, and finally the young man requested her to leave him. She left the room, thinking to return in a few minutes, and, while statding at the head of the stairs, a few feet from the young Grey's room disclosed the fact
