DUFFERIN'S ADMINISTRATION.

just issued from the press by the Ross-Belford Company, "Canada under the Administration of Earl Dufferin," by George Stewart, Jr., now editor of the "Canadian Monthly." The author, in his preface, remarks that he has endearored to present, in a thoroughly impartial way, the various political and social cloudy weather with flurries of snow, staevents which have from time to time arisen during the brilliant administration of the Earl of Dufferin. Political topics, he says he is aware, require delicate handling, and if he has succeeded in keeping out of very hot water he will not be unsatisfied with his labours. Lord Dufferin has very kindly and courteously revised his speeches, but beyond that he had no connection whatever with the composition of the book, nor did he inspire a single line of its contents. In order to afford a convenient vehicle for the beautiful and eloquent specimens of Lord Dufferin's oratory, which this book contains. Mr. Steward has described the different journeys taken by the Governor General through the Dominion, and presented certain aspects of the country as they appeared at the time, and which called forth many of the utterances His Excellency. Lord Dufferin has been careful to familiarize himself with the geography and history of the land over whose destinies he has so gracefully and successfully presided, and his delightful and ornate speeches show the deep interest he has always taken in our affairs. He has presented in an attractive way the unrivalled resources of Canada as a grazing, an agricultural and a mineral country, and his words have borne of the incisive, sparling and epigramatic book in all their freshness, spontaneity and brilliancy, that every one may enjoy and read them for himself. Mr. Stewart has certainly produced a volume whic is of infinite credit, and presents will be in popular demand. Lord Dufferin was such a favorite with Canadians that they will gladly secure what all must accept as an able review of his five year's Government of the Dominion. CARTW RIGHT AT STRATFORD.

Stratford, Nov. 5 .- When it was known that Hon, Mr. Cartweight would pass through Stratford on his way eastward from Centre Hurm, arrangements were made by the Liberals of Perth to give him a rousing reception. The hall of the Liberal Club, though not fully completed, was yet in a sufficiently forward state for the purpose, and it was decided to extend Mr. Cartwright an invitation to meet his friends there. It was certainly unwise in the Conservatives to oppose Mr. Cartwright so bitterly, when they had no better chance of success than the returns show they had. It looked as though they regarded him as a dangerous man in the House. Mr. Cartwright's criticisms may prove a little unpleasant for Mr. Tilley, but is well for him and better for the country, that he should have them. The election in Centre Huron, however, although stated by thr Glob to be the first step towards the retrieval of the 17th September, is not so significant as that for the Ontario Legislature in West Elgin. Centre Huron is a strong Liberal constituency, and the greater majority for Mr. Cartwright is very properly rightly ascribed to increased exertions. In West Elgin the case was different. At the Dominion elections the Liberals had a strong local canlidate in Mr. Casey, the Liberal whip, and they returned him; but they have now returned Mr. McLaws to the Legislature by double his majority. This is most significant as to what will be the result of the local elections, which will have to take place after the next session of the Legislature. Before that election the Mail had been talking of the Conservative party completing its work by sweeping away the Ontario abettors of the Ottawa incapables. The morning af ter it had no comments on the result A change of one hundred votes in each constituency would have deprived about one half of the present Conservative members for Cottario off their seats, and so there can be little confidence on the part of the Conservatives in regard to the next Provincial elections. VIRGINS' BONES.

THE BONES OF ELEVEN THOUSAND OF REPOSE AT COLOGNE.

The virgins' bones are a greater curi osity of Cologne than the cathedral, and yet we rarely hear of them in America. Among thousands of legends of the Rhine is that of the pions St. Ursula and the 11,000 virgins who, 1,400 years ago, went up the river on a pilgrimage to Rome, and, returning, were all murdered by the Huns. Their bones were all buried in a common tomb, over which, mediate construction of the Pacific Rail- long before the hour appointed, eight for many years, was erected the present church of St. Ursula, which is 850 years old.
