The Daily British Whig. FRIDAY EVENING, NOV. 29, 1878. CITY AND VICINITY.

PROBABILITIES.—Fresh to brisk westerly to southwesterly winds and partly cloudy weather, with showers of rain or snow.

See advertisement of M. Egan, of the Feather Renovator Establishment. He has returned here after a year's successful business.

PRESENT.—Captain Webster Augustus has sent the Marquis of Lorne a present which will please and astonish him. It takes the shape of a Canadian apples, forty seven of which filled the barrel.

THE BLONDES.—May Pike's Blondes will appear in Kingston on Wednesday evening next. This will be a peculiar celebration of Thanksgiving Day for Kingston. Of course a great crowd will feel it a duty to celebrate.

RIVE.—D. K. Rine, the Gospel Temperance Evangelist, after a brief sojourn in the States, has determined to return to Canada, and prosecute the work he had concluded upon before he was called away to attend at his wife's sick-bed.

DEBATE.—The subject for Saturday's debate at the next meeting of the Alma Mater Society, Queen's College, will be "Resolved, that the English Government did wrong by opening proceedings against the Afghans." This is a Government measure.

A HARD SENTENCE.—Thomas Kinchler, who was arrested yesterday with a skull cracker in his possession, with which he had smashed the windows of Saunders' "Dublin House" was this morning sentenced to pay a fine of $10 or to undergo six months imprisonment.

YOUTH'S COURT.—This will open at 7 o'clock this evening. Business will be Conservative applications to strike off Reform votes in Frontenac and Ontario. Any Reform votes in these wards, subpoenaed by Mr. Brand, will be struck off if not in attendance.

GOOSE ASHORE.—The schooner "Sweet Home" went ashore last night east of the Oswego lighthouse. She entered the harbor all right, but the tug line parted and she floated outside before the tug could get out another line. She struck and is rapidly going to pieces. The crew are all safe.

WEDDING.—A pleasant episode is noted in our marriage column—the matrimonial union of Mr. Martin J. Walsh, of this city, to Miss Egan, of New York, a lady of accomplishments and amiability. We join with the young couple's many friends in wishing them the utmost felicity in their change of life.

THE MAIN THING.—In selecting men for the Council the electors should give their support to such men as have given evidence of their economy, and of their desire to practice such a thing, at the same time promising a judicious use of the money that is to be expended. Business men are wanted in the Council, men capable and willing to husband the public finances.

YOUNG MEN'S LIBERAL CLUB.—Last evening, at the regular meeting of the Club, nominations were made of officers for the ensuing year. The election will take place at the next regular meeting on Thursday week next, when the members of the Club will sit together with a few of their friends. The old officers are to be re-elected unless nominated otherwise.

MISSIONS.—The anniversary services of the Kingston branch of the Methodist Missionary Society will take place on Sunday next and the following days. Sermons and public meetings will be held in all of the C. M. Churches. For particulars see bills, noting that while the Williamsville meeting will be held at 2:30 o'clock on Wednesday, the Depot meeting will take place at 6:30 o'clock on the 29th and 30th of the month.

THAT AGENCY.—The Ontario does not like what we said about the Belleville Consular Agency, and we did not expect that it would. We hold that Belleville should be attached to the Kingston district, as it was formerly, and we feel satisfied such a connection will be formed as formerly though Mr. Fuller may be a very fine man. It is not a question of competency at all, though on that ground much could be said in favor of Mr. Twitchell.

THE ETHER ALLEN.—The pious owner of the Etalon Ethan Allen, has gone to the horse out a couple of days for exercise, and then shipped him for Belleville for the steamer Hastings, but no one knew the fact. For several days afterwards he carried the horse to the stable as if the horse were there, and when he got an opportunity he picked up his traps and fled himself, taking the Mand for Cape Vincent. He leaves many creditors, the American House, for whom he has a bill of about $300.

THE LOCAL HOUSE.—The Toronto Nationalist remarks: "Mr. D. Calvin, a popular and able man, has been chosen to contest Kingston for the Legislature against Mr. Wm. Robinson, the present Grit member." Our contemporary has things slightly mixed. Mr. Calvin being nominated for the County. The L.C.A. has not yet put a man in the field. There are several aspiring candidates, but there is a manifest hesitancy on the part of the Association to nominate one to oppose the present member. In the meantime the question is perfectly safe.

ANSWER TO JOE.

"HOW SHOULD MAN BE JUSTIFIED WITH GOD?"

In the Synagogue Street Church last evening Rev. Dr. McKay preached a second time. Rev. Mr. Galbraith occupied the pulpit with him, and there were present Rev. Messrs. Pencock, McCaus, S. N. Jackson, W. Jackson, F. W. Dobbs, Jolliffe and A. Wilson. After singing and prayer Rev. Dr. McKay selected as the subject of the evening's address Job, ix., 2: "How shall a man be justified with God? or how can he be clean that is born of a woman?" This was the great question that was before Job's mind. Job lived long ago, far back in the history of mankind, in the land of the Gentiles, and the question was constantly suggested to his conscience, how can a man be justified with God? The question was raised again in the time of Cain and Abel, who both endeavored to solve it. Cain's answer was not acceptable, but Abel's answer was. They found that with the sacrifice of Abel the question was raised, that with the sacrifice of Noah the question was raised, and with the blood which flowed from ten thousand victims, and the blood which rose from the thousand altars, they found the same question, how can a man be justified with God? The question arose again that night. "It was not a reference to the social standing of the man, or his money or influence, fame or fortune, all of which were as nothing compared to this question. What one was worth per annum or his position in life was as nothing compared to it. The rise or fall of empires was as nothing to it. How shall a man be justified with God? The question went onward unswayed until they reached the New Testament.

THEY FOUND THE ANSWER in the Epistle of Paul to the Romans. In the 11th chap. 20th verse they read these words: "Therefore by the deeds of the law there shall no flesh be justified in his sight; for by the law is the knowledge of sin." The law said no flesh can be justified in his sight, but "now the righteousness of God is by faith of Jesus Christ unto all, and upon all them that believe, for all have sinned and come short of the glory of God." There were many different views as to the kind of sin which people have committed. The number, a million, or a hundred thousand, made no difference as to the fact of sin having been committed. It was the quality and not quantity of sin that was under consideration. He that offended in one point was guilty of all. If he had only one sin each it would sink them as surely as if a million were on their backs. If one sin were confessed he asked them to take the only rational course and place themselves as lost sinners. If any one thought he had never sinned in a single instance, then there was no more of his discourse for them, as he proceeded on the ground that all had sinned and came short of the glory of God. He then came to a consideration of the 24th verse of Romans, "Being justified freely by His grace." This was in answer to Job's question. In the v. chap. and 9 verse of the same book, they read of "being justified by His blood," and in the 1st verse of the v. chap. "being justified by faith"—three answers. He then referred them to it James 2nd v. 19: "Ye see then how by works a man is justified and not by faith only." They had to find a place for each of the texts. The theology was not right which did not square with all the statements in the bible. He began then by saying that man was justified with God, by "being freely justified by His grace."

WHAT WAS GRACE? Grace was merit given to undeserving subjects. It was not simply love, because love loved the lovely and lovable, but something planned and devised by God for man: They did not ask God to invent a plan by which they would be justified; it was given freely by His grace. He believed it was the wrong apprehension of their ruin that kept men from apprehending God's redemption. Men did not feel as though they were their own ruin, but they did not see the goodness of salvation. Only a lost man can come to the Saviour; only a condemned sinner can be justified by His grace. He dwelt at some length upon the concept of sin, and the wisdom of Christ in trying the sincerity of professed converts. He asked that he had read of the decretals, that were being made at Montreal for the reception of the Governor-General and Princess Louise. He remembered, too, when a student at Edinburgh University, that the whole of that city was illuminated, from the castle to the palace, in commemoration of the marriage of the Prince of Wales. Device after device was exhibited, with the names spelled out by the gas jets, and as he looked at these beautiful designs he thought of the marriage of God, when thousands and millions of saints will be as so many jets, and when the words "grace" and "grace" will be spelled out in grand illumination. God needed them, and they needed God. The earth needed the sun, and so Jehovah needed works like them to bless, and the foundation and origin of all justification was in this grace. Again he noticed the justification by His blood. The grace alone could not do it. They required the blood. The original having made himself OBNOXIOUS TO THE LAW.

His blood and life must be taken. They read in Deuteronomy that the life was in the blood. If they saw blood oozing from an animal they at once feared that all its life had been taken, and the blood of Christ was taken for their lives which were forfeited. All along, from Eden to the Throne, this was the blood—the blood which made Abel's offerings acceptable. If there was no blood in their theology it was not the theology of Heaven. By the blood Truth met with Mercy, and Righteousness and Peace embraced each other. Calvary, oh wondrous word! The cross of Calvary, oh wondrous sight! The victim of Calvary, oh wondrous lamb of God! The blood of the lamb, oh wondrous anointing blood, which reached to the deepest depths of all man's sin! The blood of Christ was the price paid for their justification. The substance of the Gospel, he said, was to be found in St. Matthew, where it is said that He is called Jesus because he saved the people from their sins, that his name
