The Daily British Whig.

WEDNESDAY EVENING, DEC. 18, 1878. CITY AND VICINITY.

PROBABILITIES.—Rising barometer, fresh to brisk westerly to northwesterly winds, partly cloudy colder weather with snow flurries.

SALE OF FURS.—Another sale is announced by Hutschman. The offering is of fine furs—none could be finer in fact than what he promises.

QUEEN'S COLLEGE.—Tomorrow the meeting of Trustees takes place, for the examination of plans and discussion of the whole question of building.

TO-NIGHT TO-NIGHT! If you would spend a pleasant evening, and profit by it, go to the Victoria Hall. Good music, good singing and good reading. Tickets 15 cents.

THE PUBLIC SCHOOLS.—These close on Friday evening, and the teachers and pupils will have their holidays until the 7th of January. The new teachers will take their places on the re-opening.

REMOVALS.—Mr. J. Dunlop, grocer, has taken the store adjoining the Whig office on Brock street. Mr. W. Osborne, dyer, has rented the vacant shop on Wellington street, adjoining Woods' book store.

SERENING GOOD.—While we are bowling along here upon bare ground, the more fortunate people in Camden, and more especially about Yarker, are enjoying good sleighing. Winter has quite a different feel there.

A NICK DEAL.—Last night Robert Lee got drunk—dead drunk. In this condition P. C. Wootton found him, and on his (Lee's) own cart he was drawn to the police station, thereby saving an expense of 25c. for hire.

CATARAQUE WARD.—Mr. John Maloney is making a vigorous canvass of the electors of Cataraque Ward, and feels sanguine of being elected. We have an idea that next year we will have to add "Alderman" to his name.

CHRISTMAS CHEER.—Clergymen and others are invited to send in the names of deserving English families for the annual receipt of Christmas benefits. The Committee of St. George's Society have prepared for the distribution of beef, bread and fruit cake.

SKATING.—It may not be known that there is excellent skating on Cataraque Bay, below the bridge. During the past week scores have been stretching their limbs upon the ice—a magnificent field, in good condition. In the absence of rinks the young people of the city take every advantage of weather and skating such as are enjoyed at present.

DESTITUTION.—It is said by a Belleville paper that much destitution prevails in that city. The same may be said of other places—even of Kingston. The public has little or no idea of the suffering caused by poverty, and numerous cases of indigency exist of which the Poor Relief Societies know nothing. All this we may regret although we cannot avoid it.

A COUNCIL MISTAKE.—At the meeting of the City Council on Monday evening Mr. A. C. Grant, on Princess street, was named as one of the polling places. Since the meeting it has been learned that Mr. Grant does not occupy the premises designated. The change will be made in the civic proclamation and a new place fixed.

THE REGISTRY OFFICE.—We are informed that the expense of heating the County Registry Office is not three times as much as heating by stoves, as an Alderman hinted on Monday evening, but, on the contrary, less, while the effects are more satisfactory. Hot water is certainly safer than coal fires. We repeat that the suggestion of a change is worthy of consideration.

CIVILITY.—A gentleman, signing his genuine signature, writes us complaining of a neighboring farmer whose cruelty has led to the death of several horses, and whose ill-treatment of a relative was almost the means of very unpleasant and serious consequences. We know nothing of the circumstances, and we could not think of publishing the letter in its original form.

YEAS AND NAYS.—We are requested to publish the yeas and nays upon the resolution in favour of paying Messrs. Oldrieve & Horn's bill, for repairs to the Cataraque Ward flag pole. We have no objection to giving them. Here they are: Yeas—Messrs. Allan, Anglin, Drennan, Clements, Metcalfe, Thompson, Woods, McCammon, Ascheline, McLois and Wilson. Nays—Messrs. Moore, Gaskin, Dupuis, Pense, Carson, Fee, Gilder-sleeve.

NECK OR NOTHING.—An Ottawa correspondent of an American paper states that Col. McNiel, an Esquary or stick of some kind in waiting, has been ordered home for allowing disobedience to the Royal order requiring Canadian ladies to appear at Vice Regal receptions in low necked dresses. The statement of the correspondent has been denied. The founder of the BRITISH WHIG would not have written "neck or nothing," but in view of the array of bare legged gentlemen at such receptions he would have exclaimed, "Breeches or nothing."

ENTRANCE EXAMINATIONS.—Yesterday the exercises in reading, dictation and arithmetic of the 64 girls and boys who presented themselves were completed under the presidency of Messrs. J. Kidd, City Inspector and Mr. Knight, Rector U. L. The class is a superior one to any former years, and probably two-thirds of the whole number will pass, especially as the papers are not so difficult as the last year. The reading of the candidates was a great improvement over former exhibitions, the result of a general advancement in this department in all of the city public schools. The examinations were completed to-day.

PERSONAL.—Mr. Tilley, Model School Inspector, professionally visited Kingston today. To-morrow he will inspect the Madoc Model School.

JUBILEE CHURCH.

A REPORTER FLYING THROUGH THE AIR.

The new church on the corner of Montreal and Brock streets is now only showing its beauty. The corner spires are being put on and the tower has reached the altitude of 100 feet. At noon a reporter of the Whig took a trip up to its top, being carried thither in a bucket, a delightful feeling being experienced while passing through the air. Upon landing at the top a grand panorama met his view, the lake with its numerous islands being in front, and Cape Vincent and Clayton in the distance. The city, with its beautiful buildings, in the middle, shows to excellent advantage. Everything is seen distinctly, the streets appearing about 30 feet wide. Everybody looked small, the boys and men skating on Cataraque Bay especially appearing like so many lilliputians. The Cemetery, which appeared but half a mile away, the Penitentiary and Asylum, which appeared to be near at hand, with the gentle slope which meets one's gaze while looking north, made an appropriate background. After feasting our eyes upon this pretty picture, which lay at our feet, we decided to descend, (because business was urgent) and through the kindness of the engineer we were gently precipitated through the labyrinth of scaffolds to terra firma. The brick work is to go eight feet higher, which will make it the highest in the city. Lathing is being done in the auditorium, and we may look for a rapid completion of the work.

WIND WAFTS.

Slaughtering in the country very good. O'Brien, Democrat, has been elected Mayor of Waterbury.

To-day is the 189th anniversary of the closing of the gates of Derry. The latest expression in London is "Buy Gum." It is made there.

The bazaar is the place for fun. The politicians were in command last night. Mr. J. Bowden has a letter in the Newburg Reporter on "The drowned lands."

The "pooling" arrangement between the telegraph companies is off, one of them declining to abide by the award of the arbitrator.

The days are approaching when it is cheaper for the young man to pick a Christmas with his girl than buy her a Christmas present.

Mr. Taylor would like to know who has his money—the $1,500 for which Hon. Mr. Jones gave judgment in his favour.

Our contemporary drops the selfish point, and now calls for a man qualified to lead a musical society. We again nominate Mr. Stanley.

Can a man be compelled to clean the sidewalk? We have heard several say they will not let the legality of the question during the ensuing winter.

The Reform Association of Prince Edward have a mass meeting at Picton on the 21st for the purpose of selecting a candidate for the Local Legislature.

Last Monday P. O. Inspector held an investigation at Newburg in reference to the management of the post office of that village. The postmaster was vindicated.

This is the season of the year when the girls face death at front gates with the same heroism which has always been one of the chief adornments of the sex.

The Brownies brothers, counterfeiter, have arrived at Kingston. A good many smart men have landed here lately, but they all struck for the Penitentiary, and have managed to stay there.

A young man and woman arrived at the Union Station, Toronto, intending to proceed to Hamilton to get married. The young man got all the girl's money and her gold watch and chain. He then deserted her.

Judge McKenzie, of Toronto, has just decided that it is not lawful for a man to sell fish, vegetables, &c., on a street, or from house to house, without first paying the regular market fees, even though the man has an established place of business in the city, or a stall at the market.

The Bazaar's Success.

Those who have had the management of the bazaar in the City Hall have been pleased with the success that has attended the event so far. The affair has been well patronized, particularly during the evening, when the utmost interest has been taken in it. The voting on the test of popularity, between Mr. Robinson and Mr. Metcalfe, was continued last evening.

It appears that we were mistaken in reference to the state of the pole on the first evening. The tally showed Mr. Metcalfe to have had 180 votes and Mr. Robinson 119, but, singular to say, when the box was opened last night, the result was very different—Mr. Metcalfe 113 and Mr. Robinson 107. We cannot account for the change, unless there has been some Jacques Cartier influence at work, some undue tampering with the ballot box, but such a thing can scarcely be since the Returning Officers were young ladies of pronounced independent views—at the bazaar. However, the polling will be continued to-night, and an issue will be reached. A pair of woolen slippers has been provided for the defeated candidate.

The Court House Flag.

A correspondent writes: It has been a matter of frequent comment in the city the past few days, that whilst the flag of the City Hall and other public buildings were flying at half mast, as a mark of loyal sympathy at the death of the Princess Alice, that of the Court House has been conspicuous by its absence. Can it be possible that Frontenac is less loyal than formerly?

We learn, later, on inquiry from Mr. Ashley, Court House Keeper, that the intentions of the County officials were good but their backs were weak—too weak to open the trap door leading to the Court House roof, it being swollen or frozen down tight and fast. So the flag was not flown. Some one should have been loyal enough to borrow a ladder.

A NICE POINT.—A number of young men in Brighton determined to treat the use of tobacco in any shape. To make their resolution binding they took an oath before a Commissioner in the form described by law. The question now is, suppose they break their oath, can they be liable to indictment for perjury?

MECHANICS' INSTITUTE.

THE RE-ORGANIZATION LAST EVENING.

Last evening three assembled in the City Hall, Mechanic's Institute Rooms, for the purpose of reorganizing the Institute, which had become extinct in all but name since 1874. The President, Mr. W. Powers, occupied the chair, and after a few remarks requested the Secretary, Mr. Wm. Irving, to read the report. A very interesting report was read as far as the state of the Institute is concerned. It was found to be in debt to the amount of $249. They had carefully examined the assets, and found that at a fair selling price, (which is about one-half the value if retained by the Institute) they had in reading room furniture, etc., $139.75, and 1,600 books valued at $280, making in all $419.75. Mr. S. Woods moved the reception of the report in a very flattering address, assuring much prosperity for the future if the mechanics and others of the city would put their shoulders to the wheel. The great aim of the institution was improvement, and that could only be effected with success by dint of hard work. He very kindly offered his services gratuitously for one or two evenings in the week, to take a class on subjects which he was capable of teaching. After being seconded the adoption of the report was carried. Mr. S. G. Curry read a report of the growth of the Institute, which was first organized on March 7th, 1834; Constitution adopted March 14th, same year. In 1835 they possessed 200 volumes. In 1842 the banner which they decked the wall was presented. In 1843 the Institute was presented with the trowel, square and gavel by Sir Charles Napier, who laid the corner stone of the City Hall, and at which the Institute assisted, and which, he was sorry to say, had mysteriously disappeared. In 1858 the Institute was incorporated. The report was of great interest, and was followed by a motion to the effect "that every assistance shall be given by the members, and that they pledge themselves to do all in their power to make the Institute a success." This was unanimously adopted.

Mr. Wm. Robinson, M.P.P., moved, seconded by Mr. J. G. Tandy, that the members present do now form themselves into a Committee of the Whole to canvass the city for members.

Both gentlemen, before the passage of this resolution, made excellent remarks, Mr. Robinson promising his assistance in getting the Government grant as soon as the Institute complied with the Act.

The election of officers was then proceeded with, and resulted as follows: President, Mr. S. Woods, M.A.; Vice President, Mr. Ed. Adams; Treasurer, Mr. H. Ascheline; Secy., Mr. Wm. Barber; Cor. Secy., Mr. Geo. Curry; Res. Secy., Mr. T. Brooks; Board of Managers, Messrs. Power, Prickett, Irving, McCarter, Kirkpatrick, Taylor, Chown, Beard, Barber, Tandy and Horsey.

A Fighting Blonde.

The Montreal Post tells us the particulars of the little rumour that occurred on Saturday night last at the American House, the abode of the celestial blondes, whose airy antics and glowing glances delight the morbid hunters at the Dominion Theatre. It appears from what could be gathered by the reporter that May Fisk and her agent came from the theatre, both somewhat the worse of liquor, having imbibed too much. When they got to their quarters, Mr. Madding, the agent for the troupe, happened metaphorically speaking, to tread on the toes of the chiefest. This aroused her ire, and in the heat of her anger, she hurled, with the strength of a Juno, a water pitcher, weighing something over six pounds, at the head of the unlucky object of her wrath, who dodged in the nick of time, the missile soaring over his head. Seeing her first effort to terminate Mr. Madding's career baffled, she seized him as he attempted to escape from the apartment, and commenced operations with her hands. First she beat him, then she pulled his hair, and not content with that, she even tried to throw him out of the window. Catching him in her brawny arms, she forced him through the window, head and shoulders, and would have tumbled him into the street, had it not been for the double window, which her strength could not master, as she was gradually getting exhausted. By this time the attention of other parties was attracted by the noise, and the combatants were separated after some trouble.

Obituary.

The funeral of the late Richard Alexander Lavell took place to-day, being attended by many of the pupils of the Collegiate Institute and the students (in a body) to say nothing of a large concourse of friends.

At a meeting of the students, held yesterday afternoon in the College buildings, the following resolution of sympathy was moved by Mr. J. Cumberland, B.A., and seconded by Mr. T. A. Elliott: "It is with feelings of the deepest sorrow that we, the students of Queen's College, have heard of the sudden death of our esteemed and respected fellow student, Mr. R.A. Lavell, and we greatly regret that in the dispensation of Divine Providence, one has been taken from our midst at the commencement of a career that promised to be so distinguished and successful, and we respectfully tender our sympathy to the bereaved family in their great affliction."

City Sale.

This afternoon the sale of city property took place in the Council Chamber, Mr. Hutchison being auctioneer. The most spirited bidding was made when the lot adjoining the Engine House and the old House of Industry were in competition, the former being sold for $1,520, and the latter for $1,430. The engine was not sold; $40 was the highest bid for it. All the old hose, pictures, etc., were sold.

Well Provided For.—They raised a fund of $150,000 in and around London for the benefit of the children made orphans by the sinking of the excursion steamer Princess Alice. Imagine the consternation to find, on consulting the papers that there were but a round dozen of them, and that the amount raised would give such of those $12,500—enough, feet to make such of them a millionaire in ten years.

CANDIDATE'S ADDRESS.

At your kind solicitation I shall run for Alderman.

To those who wish to see the best of the best; I'll build your sewers and your streets, and And trees I'll plant on every side to make a summer shade.

No amount of rain shall roam about our public streets. And those who want Protection shall taste of all its sweets; I'll see that roads are thoroughly cleaned, and do away with pills; And those who owe back taxes shall pay their highest bills.

I'll see your children neatly dressed, and that they go to school; A Stock of Economy shall be my steadfast rule. No deficits shall again occur—all honesty and right shall be the motto of my rule.

I'll build a subway structure, to grid it shore with shore. With an automatic engine to bring the people. Our city shall grow wealthy—our people shall grow wise.

The country shall astound me at my vast enterprise. To eliminate our rough-farers with the electric light. I shall use my best endeavors, and work with all my might. Our streets shall be gay. For one shall have to go sleep to tell the tale of his day.

New furnaces and factories shall start on every side. My wealth shall come in thousands to you floating on the tide. Corruption and those 'put up jobs' shall then be. For I'll fight for right and justice 'till the thieves shall have to flee.

We shall all grow rich and happy,—and to make the thing quite clear. Just come with me to Doolan's and we'll have a mug of beer.

STEAM HEATING.

IMPROVEMENT IN THE BRITISH AMERICAN.

Messrs. McKelvey and Birch have just completed a contract which reflects credit upon them. It is that of heating the British American building hotel with steam, the temperature being much more even and comfortable than could be well obtained by any other heating apparatus while the labour and expense is a consideration of no little importance. Heating by steam is not a new thing in this large hotel, but access is a new thing, the old system in use last winter never having given satisfaction. Thus it was that Messrs. McKelvey & Birch, having experience in the work, were required to replace the pipes and boiler in use, and fix in their stead new articles, in accordance with their views and opinions. To commence they put in two boilers in the basement of the new building, beneath the apartment occupied by Mr. Jones, the sportsman artist. One boiler is somewhat longer than the other, for the reason that but in extreme weather the one will be sufficient to do the necessary heating, as the record of the winter so far has amply demonstrated. The two boilers are, however, encased in brick, and have a trim and neat appearance. Near by is a small iron reservoir, about the size of a punch-bowl, for securing a quantity of water on occasions when the Water Works' supply has been stopped, but this reservoir, it may be remarked, is not generally used, indeed seldom wanted, since the steam which heats the building is fully contained from, almost as hot as when it left it, though in the meantime it has travelled through thousands of feet of pipe. The hotel is divided into certain sections any one of which may be heated to any desirable limit or left without heat as the proprietor may decide, while the tenant of each room is in a position to regulate the temperature of his apartment to suit himself. The principle throughout is as simple as it is complete. The two boilers are built side by side and can be operated, as we have already intimated, singly or together. In the latter case they afford a heating volume of 625 feet, while 11,000 feet of pipe distribute the warm air throughout the old as well as the new buildings, in every part of which the feeling is exceedingly pleasant. The absence of any difficulty in returning the water to the boiler is worthy of remark, many failures in this respect being very well known. There does not seem to be any 'hitch' at the British American, and this is owing to the nice calculation and precision with which the connections are made. The boiler may be run day after day without receiving the water, so little is the waste, the steam condensing and being reduced to almost the same quantity of water at the end of twenty-four hours as at the beginning. By adding an extra force about the time of the arrival of the trains, those who visit the hotel, especially during the night, are favourably impressed with their reception, and wherever one goes through the building, the effect is the same—always cheerful and cozy. It may be said of Messrs. McKelvey & Birch, who made all that had to be manufactured, and did the steam fitting themselves (one of their specialties) that the work is such as to afford them a great deal of gratification, and merits the patronage of the public.

ANNALS MEETINGS.

HARPELL'S CORNERS.—At the annual meeting of L.O.L. No. 53, Harpell's Corners, the following officers were elected: Thomas Buck, W.M.; John Boulton, D.M.; Jacob G. Harpell, Secy.; Jonathan Atwell, Treas.; Philip A. Harpell, Secy.; John H. Harpell, D.C.; Committee—James B. Byde, foreman; George H. Buck, Ellis Nails, George Hogan and Isaac Orser.

WOODMAN'S L.O.L., PITTSBURGH.—At the annual meeting of L.O.L. No. 912, the following officers were elected for the ensuing year: Bro. Robt. Brown, W.M. Master; Henry Thomas, W.D. Master; Thomas Elliott, Secy.; Gerald Johnston, Treas.; John Buck, D.C.; Committee—Andrew Brown, D.C. of C. Committee—Bro. John Bell, Robert Irvine, George Forsyth, Walter Bell and Henry Brown.

WELL PROVIDED FOR.—They raised a fund of $150,000 in and around London for the benefit of the children made orphans by the sinking of the excursion steamer Princess Alice. Imagine the consternation to find, on consulting the papers that there were but a round dozen of them, and that the amount raised would give such of those $12,500—enough, feet to make such of them a millionaire in ten years.

SPRIT OF THE PRESS.

It is rumored that Sir John Macdonald is likely to retire to the Supreme Court bench, and also that Mr. Chapleau is likely to be appointed to fill his support from the Dominion Government unless Mr. Letellier is dismissed. A similar action is also said to be threatened against Lieutenant Governor Macdonald in connection with the Glasgow election.—Free Press.

It is reported in Quebec that Sir John Macdonald has replied to Mr. Chapleau's request for the dismissal of Lieutenant Governor Letellier, offering to submit the question for the decision of the Imperial authorities, and requesting His Honor to convene the Assembly in February in order to decide the question of the propriety claimed by each party.—Free Press.

It seems a trifle strange to read in the Mail that "nobody ever supposed that Mr. Mackenzie was either dishonest or disreputable," when, as a matter of fact, the very object of the Mail's existence for the past four years would seem to have been to make the country believe that Mr. Mackenzie was both dishonest and disreputable.—Toronto.

The attempt to saddle Mr. Mowat and his colleagues with responsibility in Dominion affairs is the vilest ruse. They have no control over them, and to charge that the "N.P." cannot be brought into existence while a Reform Administration remains in power in Ontario, is only another way the Tory leaders have of lolling their tongues in their cheeks, and telling the electors they are a parcel of fools.—Hamp. Times.

Sir John Macdonald is said to feel keenly the position in which he has placed himself. He would fain procrastinate in the matter, knowing very well that the dismissal of the Lieut. Governor will stir up a feeling of antagonism in the country that will go on increasing in intensity whether he is or not. Let in the meantime, Mr. Macdonald has lived long enough to know that there is real cause for alarm on the current of public opinion sets in against the party in office.—London Standard.

"Is Protection Rationous?" asks the Mail in yesterday's editorial. We pretend to offer no solution to the difficult problem placed before us, as we are waiting to see whether it is or not. Let in the meantime, we confess to growing fears that this National Policy business is not going to prove quite as great a bonanza as many people expect. The haunting doubt that evidently sits on the soul of the Mail, and causes it to ask in questions as the one given, communicates itself to others.—Exchange.

NEWS OF THE DAY.

Sir John Macdonald is said to desire retirement, and the superannuation of Chief Justice Richards of the Supreme Court of Canada is being discussed. A nice Chief Justice Sir John would make!

There has been a shrinkage in eleven stocks in the Montreal market since the Dominion election, to the amount of six millions of dollars. The 17th of September was a bad day for the country.

It is reported from Quebec that the hero of the $2,000 summary ejected the first party from his house the other day. Government patronage is not to have been the cause. A lively row is brewing all along the Conservative line.

The computation from all sources shows the aggregate wheat crop for the past season was 475,000,000 bushels. The yield of some of the Territories was considerably more than double that of the previous year's crop.

It has been reported by the London Advertiser that Mr. Morris is a synonym for failure, in everything except it may be as a right occupant of that narrow order (and which avoids self-righteousness) of the Conservative line.

The New York Sun says Capt. Watmore's Admiral Porter for 10,000 damages for alleged allegations upon original letters in Porter's handwriting that he (Watmore) captured from his wife.

Goldwin Smith says of Beaconsfield's game, that it consists in intoxicating and brutalizing the nation by a policy of violence and aggression abroad, while it is at home a policy of Parliamentary government at home.

Will some Conservative organ answer this query: If Mr. Cartwright sunk himself into a chafin and a traitor in disposing of the $100,000 of the Province, what crime has Mr. Tilly been guilty of disposing of them at $44?

Is your life worth 10 cents?

AN EMINENT PHYSICIAN of large experience who has made Pulmonary Consumption a specialty says that "although in the worst and most rapid forms of the disease we have still to contend with a medicine almost powerless, yet in those less severe and chronic, and in those more chronic, which happily constitute the greater number of cases, we have been able to adduce many proofs that such may be done to mitigate, to prevent, to retard, and to cure. Few cases without getting relief and cure. If you doubt this, go to Hoath & Gunn, or H. Wade, and get a Sample Bottle for 10 cents and try it. Regular size 75 cents. Two doses will relieve you.
